Graduation Gifts to Make.

Dozens of dainty things can be made at home to please the young girl graduate. Silks and satin, linen and lawn, chiffon, tulle and lace, all lend themselves to the making of dainty articles which the young girl graduates finds attractive.

One of the most useful gift is a shoulder scarf. This can be made of chiffon, net or crepe de chine. One made of chiffon is composed of two lengths of the material, one length pale pink, the other pale mauve. The edges of the chiffon are turned under and run neatly together, and a shirred ruching of chiffon is fastened along the edge on each side. The ruching for the pink side should be of mauve and that for the mauve side of pink.

Many of the net scarfs are bordered with beads, embroidered in a floral design. The net should be of strong mesh. The way to sew the beads in the pattern chosen is to mark the pattern on a paper, baste the paper under the net, and fill in the pattern on the net with the colored beads. Such a scarf can be edged with silk fringe.

Cases For the Traveler.

Traveling cases are almost always useful to the young girl. Cases can be made for toilet articles, shoes, paper and shirtwaists. A case for holding writing materials is made of blue or pink or green linen. Cut a piece of linen fourteen by eight inches and cut two other pieces eight by six inches. Bind one eighth-inch edge of each of the smaller pieces with white Prussian binding, stitching it on by machine. Cut one piece four by eight inches, and bind one-eighth-inch edge of it, and cut another piece two by eight inches, and bind one of its eight-inch edges. Baste one of the smaller pieces on each of the eight-by-six pieces, with the raw eight-inch edges together. Then baste the two-eight by six pieces on the big piece of linen, with the bound edges toward the middle. Bind the outer edge of the whole case with Prussian binding, stitching it neatly and strongly in place. Crease the case through the center and fold it with the pockets on the inside. There are two large pockets, one on each side of the crease, for note paper, one smaller one for envelopes and another for stamps.

A set of useful cases for the suit case or trunk can be made of figured lawn, bound with white braid or tape. They are simply squares, and are supposed to be folded in envelope fashion. Four tapes or ribbons at the corners tie them securely. A big square twenty-four inches each way for shirtwaists, one eighteen inches each way for neckwear, some twelve inches for shoes and slippers, and one six inches square for handkerchiefs make an interesting set.

Handkerchiefs.

Half a dozen hand-made handkerchiefs make a dainty gift. The idea of making half a dozen hemstitched or embroidered handkerchiefs is, of course, rather overwhelming; but a very attractive handkerchief can be made in an hour or so. Buy a sheer handkerchief linen and six skeins of colored mercerized cotton—in pink, blue, violet, green, yellow and tan. Cut the linen and roll the edges and then whip them with the colored thread. Practice a little on a waste piece of linen. These handkerchiefs are specially attractive at present, when the shops are full of colored-bordered handkerchiefs.

FASHION HINT

By JUDIC CHOLLET

There is no quality in any garment that makes a stronger appeal to the masculine mind, old or young, than that of comfort. Here is a blouse that combines that all important feature with smartness. The short sleeves and open neck make the waist an ideal one for tennis, baseball and other sports. The back can be made with an applied yoke if additional strength is needed.

For the eight year size the blouse will require two and three-eighths yards of material with a half yard for collar and cuffs.

The sleeves can be made long in the regulation way, and the neck can be finished with a neck band and worn with any collar. The back can be finished with an applied yoke if the additional strength is needed. In this case striped percale is finished with collar and cuffs of white linen, and the effect is very pretty. Madras is good for such use, too, and linen is always excellent.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes for boys from four to ten years of age. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 7870, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

Some Cookery Suggestions

APPLE SALADS.

DINNER MENU.
Cream of Carrot Soup.
Chicken Pie.
Sugared Sweet Potatoes.
Orange and Apple Salad.
Caramel Custard.
Coffee.

APPLES form the basis of the best fruit salads. By combining them with other fruits an endless variety of these dishes may be devised.

Sweet Apple Salad.—Take six apples, pare, core and slice them. Put a layer in a glass dish, sprinkle with sugar, cinnamon or nutmeg. Add layers of apples and seasoning alternately. Pour over a little sweet fruit juice. Keep quite cold at least an hour before serving.

Salad In Apple Cases.—Take six large red apples, cut thin slices from the stem end so they will set flat, then cut off the blossom end and scoop out the inside. Saw tooth the edge. Chop the apple and mix with cream dressing. Fill the apple into the cups, sprinkle chopped English walnuts over tops and serve in a bed of lettuce leaves.

Combined With Nuts.

Apple Salad With Walnuts.—Take four large tart apples and chop fine with one cupful of walnuts. Whip one cupful of sweet cream, add one-quarter cupful of sugar and pour over apples and nuts. Stand in refrigerator until cold. Serve at once.

Apple and Hickory Nut Salad.—Take rich, juicy apples and cut into dice. Use equal parts of the apple and of celery, also diced. Add a generous portion of hickory nut meats, and just before serving toss with cooked mayonnaise dressing whipped with equal parts of cream fo a stiff froth. This addition of cream to the dressing makes it deliciously mild and light.

With Oranges and Cherries.

Orange and Apple Salad.—Take a tart apple, an orange, one large or two small bananas, one-half cupful of English walnuts, one-half cupful of cherry sauce, three slices of canned pineapple and one cupful of sugar. First peel apple, orange and bananas, cut them in small dices, then add nuts, cherries, pineapples and some of the juice from pineapple and last of all add sugar.

The Daily Press for Thursdays containing the column on Mother's Work will be sent by mail for one dollar a year, in advance.

A meeting of the Board of Managers of the New Jersey Congress of Mothers was held on Thursday June 4, in Camden. Lewis H. Carris talked on "Industrial Education." The work for the coming year was discussed.

A second meeting of the recently organized Parent-Teacher Association of North Plainfield was held in the High School on June 4. A constitution was adopted and a charter membership of 110 was announced. A committee was appointed to attend the next meeting of the Borough Council and ask for as safe and sane a Fourth as could be secured. A special committee is to keep in touch with the Board of Education and with the repairs to be made in the school buildings during the summer.

The Rockefeller Bureau of Hygiene has been incorporated in New York State with the particular object of "the study, amelioration and prevention of social conditions, crimes, and diseases which adversely affect the well being of society."

Our Neighbors' Eyes Upon Us.

Miss Myrtle Garrison, of Columbia University, began an article on Open-Air School by saying that "New Jersey is now in the midst of a period of great educational activity, as the result of a full social consciousness concerning the public education of the State, is not only a well recognized fact but a much discussed fact in her neighbor States."

Mrs. Morris K. Jesup and Miss Kate Cary have volunteered funds for improving the grounds surrounding the homes of the villagers of Lenox.

A minister in Brooklyn asks why a clergyman should demand more of a man about to marry than do the parents of the girl? Should not a minister have a broader, higher view of life than ordinary people? Is it not his duty to instruct the ignorant on the importance of physical fitness and heredity? Why is he a minister?

An article on "Parenthood and the Social Conscience" in the April Forum says on the sterilization law: "In this general willingness of the unfortunates to have their miseries ended with themselves is contained the suggestion that sterilization should always be voluntary; that, instead of a sterilization law, there might better be a parenthood law, embodying both methods. Let it forbid compulsory sterilization, but to those among the unfit who may be safely at large offer the choice between sterilization with liberty, and segregation; and impose segregation upon the remainder without sterilization. The prime essential is a public convinced that hereditary defectiveness is our most awful social burden, and that it is in a large measure preventable."

The Oregon Congress of Mothers has instituted a bureau for mothers where actual practical help is given. One room contains a maternal section where an opportunity will be given to learn the importance of pre-natal culture and infant hygiene. On certain days a nurse will demonstrate the proper care of the babe, including food and clothing. Complete samples of a modern layette will be exhibited and there will be informal talks covering all subjects from birth to school age.

TO REPEAT CANTATA.

The choir of the First Baptist church will sing Maunder's cantata, "Penitence, Pardon and Peace," at the 11 o'clock Sunday morning service. This work was given effectively by the choir two weeks ago and is repeated by request.

Nell—"Young Mr. Saphedde is very agreeable, isn't he?" Belle—"To such an extent that his principal conversation consists of saying 'That's so.'"

Daddy's Bedtime Story—The Old Miser Paid What He Owed.

The Miser Opened His Money Box.

THE children had been talking about Japan. "Yes," said daddy; "the Japanese have many nice stories. Here is one that many a Japanese daddy has told to his kiddies for a bedtime story:

"It is about a very rich and very stingy man who lived in the city of Yedo. The people of Yedo were very fond of broiled eels. Eels are the long squirming fish that Evelyn thinks look so much like snakes.

"Though the stingy man was fond of broiled eels, he would not spend his money to buy them. In order to enjoy them he did a very funny thing.

"He rented a house next door to a fish shop. During the night the man who kept the shop went to the river, caught the fish and brought them home. During the day he cooked them and sold them hot from the gridiron. He cooked them at his door over a fire of redhot charcoal. People ate them as fast as he could hand them out.

"Now, the old miser, who loved eels, but was too mean to pay for them, having moved next door to the fish dealer, could come out every day with his bowl of rice and eat it while he sniffed at the fish cooking on the gridiron.

"The fish dealer did not notice him at first, but when the miser was there every day he began to wonder about it. Then some one told him:

"'When the miser eats his rice where he can smell your eels cooking he says it tastes almost as good as eating fish.'

"'Oh, indeed!' said the fish man, 'and he thinks he can steal the smell of my eels to flavor his rice without paying me for it? Well, we will see about that.'

"So, leaving his wife to take care of the shop while he was gone, he stepped over to the miser's house.

"The miser asked him in, and the fish man soon told what he had come for.

"'I am a poor hardworking man, and you have no right to use the smell of my fish to give relish to your dinner unless you pay for it,' said the fish man.

"The miser agreed with him, and then he asked the fish man how much he would charge for the smell of the broiled eels.

"Thinking he had a chance to get a great deal of money without much trouble, the fish man asked a very large sum.

"The miser smiled and agreed to pay it. Then he had his wife bring in his money box. Opening it, the miser took out the sum the fish man had asked.

"After giving the fish man a few minutes to look at the money the miser put it away.

"'What,' cried the fish man; 'are you not going to pay me, after all?'

"'Why, yes; I have paid you!' the miser answered, with a grin. 'You have charged me for the smell of your eels, and I have paid you with the sight of my money.'"

"MAC" SAYS

Curtain on H. S. Baseball.

Plainfield High School having already laid aside the togs of the diamond for another season and Leal's having followed suit, the North Plainfield High School boys will bring their schedule to a close this afternoon at Bound Brook when they play the third and deciding game with Somerville on neutral soil. On the result of this contest hinges the Somerset County High School title. Thus endeth one of the most successful seasons of the High School sport in this city and the borough.

1914 Outlook.

Although graduation always has more or less of a depleting effect on the High School lineups, this year will perhaps be an extraordinary one for both High Schools. P. H. S. will lost Captain Good, Matty Coughlin, Joe Carty, Art Grisley, Johnny Heron, "Rocky" Davenport and Edson Woodhull, while the boroughites will be minus the services of "Newt" Spencer, George Townley and Carroll Taylor. Plainfield still has Hetfield, Buckle, Sminck, Peacock, O'Leary and Henderson, around which a team may be formed, and North Plainfield's nucleus consists of Ralph Smalley, Ashley Burner, Warren Townley, Stahl, Abrams, Conroy, Newkirk and Captain Dunning.

One Heavy Loss.

When the next scholastic season of athletics opens in this city, one familiar figure who has made his ability felt on field, track, diamond and gridiron during the past four years will be among the missing. Without the services of George E. Webster the North Plainfield High School boys will be like a ship without a rudder and his place will be a difficult one to fill. During the time he has had charge of the borough athletes three local interscholastic basketball championships have been won, also one from Somerset county, and the teams have made favorable showings in baseball, do to his excellent coaching. He takes with him the best wishes of every athlete in the city, especially those of North Plainfield and Plainfield High Schools and the Leal private school, three divisions with which he has been most closely affiliated.

A Partial View.

Although a number of the Plainfield High School's most valuable workers on the baseball diamond during the past season had other engagements for last Monday afternoon, the captain of the baseball team insisted on having a group picture taken of the regulars and substitutes. When the time arrived for "Mugging" the notables there was a plentiful sprinkling of subs on deck to pose before the camera but the battery and other stars were missing, with the result that the picture is now made up of more subs than regulars. It would be rather hard to take a player's picture when he was witnessing a baseball game in Princeton.

New Limbs on the Way.

Many are the bumps and bruises being taken without a murmur by the doctors and dentists of Plainfield in their preparation for the big "baseball" game on Parker Field next Saturday, the proceeds of which will be turned over to the hospital. The "Pillers" and the "Pullers" will provide vaudeville as a side issue for the fans to witness during the afternoon.

COBB THE SAME OLD RELIABLE WITH BAT

Has Hit Safely in Twenty out of the Twenty-four Games He Has Played in.

Admirers of Tyrus Raymond Cobb have a right to be proud of the record amassed by the Georgia Peach during the first month of the present campaign. Participating in twenty-four games, of which his team won eleven, Cobb hit safely in twenty combats and in one of these it should be remembered that he was an added starter and got a chance to bat only once, which opportunity he improved by poling a sacrifice fly.

The gunners who slipped ciphers into the Southerner's basehit column were Ray Keating and Ray Fisher, of the Highlanders, on May 7 and 8, respectively, Harry White and Ted Lange, of the White Sox, on May 13, and Tom Hughes and Tom Dinneen, of the Senators, on May 16.

In the score of contests in which Cobb hit safely he obtained 32 singles, three doubles and three triples, his batting average from April 29 to May 28, inclusive, being .475. He has made three hits five times this season, two hits eight times and one hit seven times. His best record in the way of consecutive clouting came in the games of May 19 and 20 with the Athletics, when he got six hits in the same number of trips to the plate.

Tyrus Raymond, who seems bent on carrying off the Chalmers American League trophy for the third time, has put the finishing touches to fourteen of the Tigers' tallies, scoring in seven on clean hits, four on sacrifice and three on infield outs. He is not the Tigers' leading batter in of runs as yet, for Bobby Veach, who has played in ten more contests, has driven in four more counters. On the percentage basis, however, Cobb outranks Veach as a timely thumper.

Cobb faced thirty American League pitchers from April 29 to May 28, inclusive and only four men succeeded in fanning him. Rob Russell, of the White Sox, whiffed Tyrus on May 13 (that day the Dixie Demon complained his eyes bothered him). Buck O'Brien, of the Red Sox, claimed Ty as a strike-out victim, on May 13, and twelve days later Walter Leverenz, of the Browns, set him down via the strike-out line.

Cobb has drawn seventeen passes in twenty-four games and has been successful in twelve out of sixteen steals he has essayed. The men who turned him back when he tried to steal were Henry, of Washington, twice; Carrigan, of Boston, once, and Lapp, of Philadelphia, once.

WATER BASEBALL IS BECOMING POPULAR

Latest Innovation in Sporting Circles to Be Run on Large Scale.

The latest innovation in sporting circles is a water baseball league, with eight teams in competition for the championship of the American Life Saving Society. Teams have been organized in Sea Gate, Staten Island, Hoboken, Palisades Amusement Park, Allen Point Boat Club, Hackensack, College Point and Bath Beach. Water baseball is a new game originated by E. C. Brennan, president of the American Life Saving Society, and has been played all during last season at several Long Island resorts among bathers. This is the first season, however, that clubs have considered the game as a regularly organized team of players.

The rules are very similar to those of [illegible] governing regular baseball. The bat[illegible] tery and batsmen are perched on [illegible] floating islands, while the baseman [illegible] and fielders support themselves by [illegible] clinging to cork boats. The fielders are permitted to either throw or swim with the ball while attempting to catch a "runner."

Water baseball promises to furnish all the thrills of the national game with a few extra ones thrown in, as a "runner" may resort to swimming if he thinks he will be caught at base. The first game of the season will be played at the Palisades Amusement Park in the new natatorium on June 14 between the Sea Gate and Palisades clubs.

PLAYERS WHO WILL AMUSE BIG CROWD

Doctors and Dentists Picked to Take the Field in Saturday's Game.

In order to avoid as possible [illegible] of the players [illegible] in [illegible] before the great battle on Parker Field next Saturday afternoon, the executive committee of the doctors and dentists yesterday time have ordered their men to pose for the benefit of the camera. A number of the players have already sustained light injuries and the captains desire to keep the combatants intact until the gong sounds for the opening round.

Elaborate programs have been printed for the affair and several of the "pullers" and "pillers" who are not basebalitically inclined have consented to act as peanut and refreshment venders. The teams will take the field in this order:

Pillers: Mancos, 1b, Cregan, 2b, Thompson, ss, Hickey, lf, Watts, 2b, Lilly, [illegible] Burrowes, c, Carman, p, Carrie, rf, Pitts, cf, [illegible] Corbusier, Zoglio, substitutes.

THE WINNERS IN YESTERDAY'S AMERICAN FLAG CONTEST

M. D. Marra ..... 754 E. Front St.
Fritz Hummel ..... 121 Duer St.
George L. Apgar ..... 28 Stone St.

In yesterday's story appeared the names of seven streets of Plainfield. Several answers were received containing names which did not appear and of course these were checked against answers. There were also several who sent in the correct list. In this case neatness, time of receipt of answers and such other things as will fecilitate the handling of answers were given first consideration.

Some were received without the address of sender. All answers must have the street address of sender. No more than one flag will be awarded one family.

In today's story appears several misspelled words. Can you find them. The Plainfield Daily Press will give three American Flags to the first three persons sending in the greatest number of misspelled words appearing in the story relative to the contest only.

SMASHED ALL RECORDS.

All baseball records were broken yesterday during a game played between teams representing Upper and Lower Rossiter, (Pa.), the final score being 112 to 98 in the sixteenth inning, the score being tied in the last six innings. Only the fact that the team representing the upper town quit cold in the last half of the sixteenth inning prevented the game from continuing indefinitely. As it was it took seven hours to play it. The lower town team made 25 home runs, 31 triples, 42 doubles, 33 singles, and 32 errors. The upper town team registered 19 home runs, 22 triples, 31 doubles, 16 singles, made 42 errors and used 29 players as against 26 used by the winners. Eight umpires were used during the battle, one of them being knocked out with a bat, two by foul tips, and four resigned rather than take chances with their lives. Hundreds of spectators went home for lunch and returned to see the wind-up of the game.

FIRST BAPTISTS AT SOMERVILLE

Manager Egbert Fountain, of the First Baptist Sunday-school League team, has taken advantage of the off-day in the league schedule and has booked a game with the Somerville Klinkers to be played at the latter place next Saturday afternoon. The following players will leave on the 2 o'clock trolley: Bailey, Banks, Savage, Smith, Stine, Fritts, Downs, Townley, Taylor and Burner. Captain Pierson will be out of the line-up in this game and Banks will act as the field leader.

ACCEPT RESIGNATION.

Elizabeth, June 12.—The resignation of General Dennis F. Collins as a member of the Elizabeth Democratic Club has been accepted by the club without comment. It was received several months ago, when the club criticized the Collins followers in City Council for supporting a Republican for chief of police. An effort was made to have the general reconsider his action, but it was unavailing. This means that the Collins-Nugent fight is on again and that Collins will be opposed for re-election to the State Democratic committee in the fall. The resignation of Judge James C. Connolly was also received and accepted.

NEWSPAPER AT ACUTION SALE.

Trenton, June 12.—Announcement of the sale on the afternoon of July 2 of the property and equipment of The Daily True American at public vendue was made yesterday by Receiver John A. Montgomery. Taxes to the amount of $721.35, with interest at seven per cent. from December 20, 1912, together with a $15,000 mortgage with interest at five per cent. from December 31, 1912, and a $10,000 mortgage with interest at six per cent. from March 31, 1913, are given as the liens against the property.

WEDDED NIECE UNKNOWINGLY MARRIAGE TO BE ANNULLED

Trenton, June 12.—Finding that he had unwittingly married his own niece, William C. A. Corner, of Riverton, has appealed to the Court of Chancery to annul the marriage. A report, recommending the annulment, has been filed by Special Master Louis Starr, to whom the case was referred, for the taking of testimony.

It was disclosed in the evidence that Corner paid a visit to his sister in England and there met this present wife, Helen Waters, who had been introduced to him as an adopted child of his sister. He was also told that Miss Waters was the daughter of his sister's husband's brother. Corner bough Miss Waters to this country and subsequently they were married at Atlantic City. Corner's sister and her husband came to this country, and during a quarrel which ensued, the sister told Corner that he had married her daughter. Investigation disclosed that this was the case. The marriage is therefore void under the New Jersey laws although a decree of the court is necessary to free Corner.

CONDEMN LAND FOR ARMORY.

Trenton, June 12.—Condemnation proceedings to acquire a site for the proposed armory of Company H, Third Regiment, in Asbury Park, have been instituted by Attorney General Edmund Wilson. The land involved is owned by Founder James A. Bradley, who refused a tender of $15,000 for the property. The condemnation proceedings are returnable before Justice Voorhees in New Brunswick, Saturday, June 21. The Legislature appropriated $25,000 this year toward the cost of the armory.

J. R. WILSON'S JOB.

Joseph R. Wilson, brother of President Woodrow Wilson, has entered the service of the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company as manager of the promotion and development department, with headquarters at Baltimore. Mr. Wilson's long service with the Nashville Banner and his newspaper work with that journal enable him to bring to the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company intelligent, up-to-date methods and a ripe judgment. This company is represented in Plainfield by Elston M. French.

COMMERCIAL TRAVELERS.

Crookston, Minn., June 12.—The grand council of the United Commercial Travelers, embracing the States of North Dakota and Minnesota, assembled for its annual meeting here today and will continue in session until the end of the week. The annual reports prepared for presentation to the convention show the affairs of the order to be in a flourishing condition. The total membership for the two States now exceeds 4,500, which represents a large gain since the last convention.

MIGRATORY CALF IS CAUSE OF ROW BETWEEN NEIGHBORS

Stewartsville, June 12.—A calf with the wanderlust and a taste for garden truck has precipitated an armed truce between Mrs. William Weller, of Lowes Hollow, and Arthur Unangst, a neighbor. William J. Weller, Mrs. Weller's son, is also in the bad graces of his mother, because she says, he presists in going to the enemy's house.

The calf that caused all the hostility, Mrs. Weller says, has been enjoying itself in her garden, frequently wandering from the Unangst place. The other day, growing tired of driving it home again, Mrs. Weller locked it up in her barn to hold it as a hostage for damage she claimed for her ruined garden. Unangst came for the calf and, it is said, shoved Mrs. Weller aside and broke the fastenings of the stable door.

Mrs. Weller swore out a warrant before Justice of the Peace Philip C. Cock, of Broadway, charging Unangst with breaking and entering and assault and battery. The justice, however, did not consider the evidence sufficient to hold Unangst. Then Mrs. Weller threatened her son with arrest because of his friendliness with Unangst.

PHELPS RESIGNS AS SCHOOL HEAD

Principal in North Plainfield for the Last Six Years Quits Place.

GOES TO HIGH BRIDGE

To Be Superintendent of Schools There—Graduate of Yale and Columbia Universities—His Resignation Takes Effect Today.

Principal Benjamin J. Phelps, of the North Plainfield High School, announced his acceptance this morning of the offer made to him recently by the High Bridge Board of Education to become superintendent of schools in that town and his resignation will take effect at the closing of the present school term. Since the proposition was placed before him the borough principal has been undecided as to whether or not he would severe his connections with the borough schools and it was not until this morning that he signified his intention of taking the High Bridge position. The present unsettled conditions existing in the borough school system and the agitation that is now going on for the transfer of North Plainfield High School pupils to the Plainfield institution are said to be his reasons for accepting the new offer and no successor has as yet been named by the borough Board of Education.

Mr. Phelps came to North Plainfield in the spring of 1907 and during the six years that the High School of that place has been under his supervision much in the way of improvement and educational advance has been accomplished. In speaking of the change to a Plainfield Daily Press reporter this morning Mr. Phelps said that he regretted leaving the borough and its school system but thought that the High Bridge position was a more permanent one, when the present unsettled conditions in the borough are taken into consideration.

Before taking up his duties in the borough Mr. Phelps was vice president of Pennington Seminary, having held that position since the time he was graduated from Yale in 1902 until 1907. Since he has been principal of the North Plainfield High School Mr. Phelps has been studying for a degree of Master of Arts in Columbia University and received his diploma during the past school year.

The public school system in High Bridge is much smaller than that of the borough, the total enrollment of pupils being about 500. The High School has about 120 students and the teaching force is much smaller than the one in the borough.

WANT TO CONNECT WITH LOCAL SEWAGE SYSTEM

J. Hervey Doane, of the Union County Board of Freeholders; Jacob Bauer, the county engineer, and David T. Kenney, representing Mt. St. Mary College, appeared before the Councilmanic street committee last night to discuss the question of connecting a sanitary sewer line from Bonnie Burn Sanitorium and the college with the city's system.

The three representatives explained their plans in detail and finally the committee requested them to put the same in the form of a communication and send it to the Common Council at its adjourned meeting to be held Monday night, when some action will be taken.

It is quite likely that the necessary permission will be given the county authorities, as well as those of Mt. St. Mary College to connect with Plainfield's sewage system as there will be little difficulty in caring for the extra sewage, especially when the new plant is built by Plainfield, North Plainfield and Dunellen.

MANY THIRTEENS IN SCHOOL.

Winchester, Va., June 13.—Thirteen graduates today received their diplomas at the commencement exercises of the Winchester High School. The thirteen who by an interesting coincidence closed their school career on Friday the thirteenth were given their diplomas by Professor N. D. TRADE BOARD BUSY ON ST. WIDENING PLANS

William Jeffery, president of the Board of Trade, has called a meeting of the trustees for this afternoon for the purpose of discussing the proposition to widen Madison avenue, between Front street and the railroad. The commissioners have completed their work of assessing benefits and damages and presented their report to the Common Council. The Dreier Estate and others oppose the widening on the present basis of assessment, believing that it should be allowed a large sum for damages.

Believing that the Board of Trade should present its opinion in a matter of so much importance, the trustees will meet to discuss the subject in detail with a view to expressing their views at the meeting of the Common Council Monday night. They will have the report of the commissioners to guide them in their deliberations.

FUNERAL SERVICES OF MRS. HANNAH WEBB

The funeral service of Mrs. Hannah Webb, wife of George E. Webb, and daughter of the late Rev. Dr. and Mrs. David J. Yerkes, who died suddenly at Saratoga, N. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends and a beautiful display of floral tributes.

During the servivce Mrs. Robert Giddis sang two selections. Dr. Strong referred to numerous Scriptural selections, and Mr. Goodrich offered prayer. The burial was made in Hillside cemetery.

VICTIM OF CRASH DIES OF WOUNDS

Raritan Men Seriously Hurt When Their Motorcycle Crashes into Wagon.

SURVIVOR MAY DIE

Edward McCarron's Life Sacrificed and Frank Cook is in Critical Condition—Wagon Had no Lights, it is Alleged.

Raritan June 13.—Frank Cook and Edward McCarron, both of this place, met with a serious accident about midnight last while returning from a festival at North Branch, and the latter is dead. The young men were riding a motorcycle, which Cook, the owner, was guiding, and in some manner ran with full speed into a delivery wagon in which were Joseph Bell and others from Somerville. McCarron was injured so badly that he died at 7:30 o'clock this morning. Cook's condition has grown steadily worse and besides a broken hip, it is feared he has been injured internally. He is unable to move any part of his body, and is in a dying condition.

Just how the accident occurred is not known, although it is reported that there were no lights on the wagon. At the time of the accident it was believed that Cook's injuries were the worst as he had a broken hip but McCarron, it was learned later, had suffered internal injuries. The machine was a complete wreck and was left abandoned on the road.

McCarron was about 20 years old. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. McCarron and was an estimable young man. WEEKLY DANCES NOT ALONE FOR MEMBERS OF THE CLUB

A special meeting of the social club organized among the colored folk who attend the weekly receptions at the Washington School last week will be held in the school auditorium tonight, the purpose being to select a name for the new organization. A number of committees to promote the social work now being carried on will also be appointed at that time.

Following the business session a program of vocal and instrumental music will be rendered. Dancing will follow. Owing to the organization of this club, the colored populace in some instances has had occasion to think that the dance and social evening was limited to club members. This, however, is not the case and the public in general is welcome.

ACCEPTED CALL TO PHILADELPHIA CHURCH

Rev. Royal A. Stout Decides to Leave Netherwood Reformed Church.

Rev. Royal A. Stout, pastor of the Netherwood Reformed church, has decided to accept the call to the pastorate of the Green Hill Presbyterian church, Philadelphia. There will be a special meeting of the Consistory of the Netherwood Reformed church tonight at which time a joint application will be prepared by Mr. Stout and the Consistory to be sent to the Classis of Newark, requesting that the latter's pastoral relationship be severed here so that he may accept the call from the Philadelphia church.

Rev. J. Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, will be the moderator of tonight's meeting. A call has been issued for a special meeting of the Classis of Newark to be held in the North Reformed church, Newark, on Wednesday, June 18, at which time action will be taken on the joint application which will be prepared tonight and acted upon by the Consistory of the local church.

Mr. Stout has not decided just when he will leave his present charge, but it will probably be arranged so that he can enter upon his new pastorate following the summer vacation season. Mr. Stout has been in his present charge about two years, during which time he has done an excellent work.

PLAN TO ORGANIZE A MUNICIPAL BAND

Orchestra of Three Classes to Be Drilled by Martin A. Korff.

Members of the Public Recreation Committee met in the Public Library building last night for the purpose of effecting the organization of a municipal orchestra for this city whose purpose it will be to give public concerts and to promote public interest in music among the children and "grown-ups." By forming three groups, classified according to ages, it is proposed to reach music-lovers of every type and ability. When the plan was suggested at last night's session the large number of those interested in the furtherance of recreative facilities in Plainfield became enthusiastic over the proopsition and many valuable additions were made to the original plan during the evening.

Three classes, one for those under eighteen years of age, a senior class and a class for colored musicians will be formed and if the interest warrants a fourth class, or one limited to women will be added. Martin A. Korff, who led the local Y. M. C. A. orchestra successfully for six years, was present at last night's meeting and consented to take charge of the musicians and go ahead with the formation of what will be known as the Plainfield, N. J. Municipal Orchestra. The initial meeting of the orchestra has been set for next Tuesday night and it is proposed to have the body together every Tuesday and Thursday night thereafter in the Washington School auditorium which will be used as the place for rehearsing. Tuesday night will be devoted to the senior band and on Thursday evenings the juvenile musicians will practice. Although the new idea was recently formulated and is unknown to many at the present time, about fifty have already signified their intention of joining the municipal orchestra and do what they can to make the affair a success.

The public in general is invited to attend the rehearsals and until a sufficient number of women become interested in the formation of a female class, they will hold their rehearsals in the senior class. The membership is opened to all musically inclined persons and the public in general is welcome to all of the meetings. Every player will be required to furnish his own music and stand but the committee will furnish the necessary music and instruction. It is planned to give a public demonstration in the form of a concert on or about Labor Day. Plainfield is the first city in the State to adopt a plan of this kind and the result of the experiment here will probably be the cause of its introduction in other parts of New Jersey.

A business meeting of the committee was held last night at which time the budget was presented and accepted by the body. Miss Edith Mellick was selected as chairman of the music committee and J. W. Sanford will head the publicity body.

GAHAGAN'S WILL GOES TO PROBATE

Caveat Filed by Daughter by First Marriage is Dismissed by Orphans' Court.

FEES FOR LAWYERS

Contestant's Counsel Hints of Appeal—All Executors Are Retained—His Estate is Estimated at $300,000.

Elizabeth, June 13.—Judge James C. Connolly sitting in the Orphans' Court, this morning, admitted to probate the will and codicil of the late William Gahagan, of Belvidere avenue, Plainfield, thereby dismissing the caveat which was filed by Mrs. Melissa Homan, of Jersey City, a daughter of Mr. Gahagan by his first marriage. J. Fred Hermann, of counsel for Mrs. Homan, intimated that he might take the matter to the Prerogative Court, but it is considered doubtful.

William A. Coddington, representing Mrs. William Gahagan; William R. Codington, representing Augustus Sheelen, one of the executors under the original will; Judge Robert Carey and former Judge Edwin, representing Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gorman, relatives, and J. Fred Hermann, of counsel for Mrs. Homan, were each allowed $500 as counsel fees. By the decision all of the executors are retained, they being Mrs. William Gahagan, the widow; Edward Gahagan, a son; Walter Gorman, a son-in-law, and Augustus Sheelen, of Fanwood.

Mrs. Homan opposed the admission of the will and codicil to probate because her share of the estate was left in trust, she to have the interest on the same during her life time and upon her death the balance was to go to her children. The estate is said to be valued at $300,000.

The freeholders wer requested in renewing their application to specify all details of the plans and suggested that they embody in the petition their willingness to allow residents of the township to connect with the sewage main.

The New York Telephone Company was given a franchise to operate in the township, provided it fulfils all requirements of the township ordinances and rights of property-owners.

TRADES COUNCIL THANKS MARTINE AND TUTTLE

Martine and Congressman William E. Tuttle, expressing its token of gratitude and pledging its support to them in all their undertakings because of their interest in behalf of the labor unions.

SOME MAY QUIT MINISTERS' BODY

Clerical Ass'n Refuses to Affix Label "Evangelical" —Resignations Expected.

MAJORITY WON'T VOTE

Only Four of Ten Present at Meeting Go on Record and They Favor Amendment—Rev. Maguire Says He Will Leave Organization.

The resolution offered by Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, at a previous meeting of the Plainfield Ministers' Association, to amend the constitution of the association by prefixing the word "evangelical" to the word "minister," the purpose being to include in the membership only those who are considered evangelical ministers, was defeated at a meeting of the association in the Y. M. C. A., yesterday afternoon.

There were ten members present, of which number four voted in favor of the resolution, and the other six declined to vote. Mr. Maguire who drafted the resolution, was called from the city and could not attend the meeting. However, it was the opinion of those who favored the resolution that the matter would not drop with yesterday's decision. It is said that the resignations of several members may be expected within a short time. Rev. Mr. Maguire stated yesterday to a Daily Press representative that he would quit the body unless the amendment was made.

Mr. Maguire's action in preparing the resolution to change the constitution, is said to have been prompted by the fact that Rev. Arthur E. Wilson, of All Souls' Unitarian church, was elected a member of the association soon after he came to Plainfield. When Mr. Wilson was spoken to about the matter in question, he simply remarked that he had been elected a member of the association, had paid his dues and had no thought of resigning from the body.

A few years ago at a union Thanksgiving service held at the First Baptist church, one of the local ministers refused to sit on the pulpit platform because Rev. A. C. Nickerson, then pastor of All Souls' church, was invited and did take part in the service by reading the Scripture lesson.

Some of the ministers have pronounced views on the subject as to who shall be elected to membership in the association, while others take the stand that the organization should be continued along broad lines, and that ministers of all denominations should be entitled to membership.

It was generally understood following yesterday's meeting that those who favored the resolution which was defeated, do not intend to let the matter drop there, and something further will be heard about it at the association's next meeting.

The association voted to recommend that the third Sunday in February be designated as "Hospital Sunday" in the local churches and to recommend that the churches supporting the Plainfield Rescue Mission double their apportionment.

These officers were elected for the coming year: President, Rev. Frank Fletcher; vice president, Rev. Evarts C. Conover; secretary-treasurer, Rev. Edwin Shaw.

COUNTY TITLE FOR N. P. H. S. PLAYERS

Boroughites Wind up Their Schedule With a Whirlwind Finish.

Although defeated in their fight for the interscholastic championship and Collier cup, the North Plainfield High School baseball team fully redeemed itself yesterday afternoon and captured a title as great if not greater in the estimation of borough athletic critics, by scoring a 10 to 7 defeat over the Somerville High School nine and thus winning the Somerset County High School title significant of the 1913 diamond supremacy. Consistent uphill fighting by the N. P. H. S. nine counteracted the spasmodic scoring of their rivals, and timely hitting in the last quartet of innings won the contest and the handle that goes with it. Twice before this season have these two teams faced each other in a diamond struggle, Somerville losing the first on Hyde Field and winning the second at Somerville. Yesterday's game was played at Bound Brook, on neutral soil, and the game was one of the kind that are decided on merits exclusively.

All three pitchers were hit hard and consistently, Spencer bearing the brunt of the battle for N. P. H. S. during the greater part of the game but finally relinquished his place to Stahl, while the heralded Kershaw was touched for an even dozen bingles by the borough swatsmiths. Warren Townley, the little third baseman of the victorious nine was the star performer on the field, pounding out a trio of lusty bingles and scoring four put-outs and one assist with one slip. Although the boroughites were outhit by one bingle, the Somervillians could not seem to connect with the pellet when hits meant runs, except in the fifth stanza when they brought four counters across the platter. Schomp and DeMont were the leaders at the bat for the losing side, each getting a trio of bingles, two of Schomp's being double sackers.

STATE'S WARDS NUMBER 11,879, SAYS J. P. BYERS

Trenton, June 13.—Statistics compiled by Commissioner Joseph P. Byers, of the Department of Charities and Corrections, show that on April 30 last, there were 11,879 inmates in the penal, correctional and charitable institutions of the State. This is eight less than at the beginning of the month.

The report shows that at the beginning of the month there were under custodial care, 7,156 males, and 4,731 females, while at the close of the month there fere 7,143 males and 4,736 females. During the month there were ceived at the various institutions 276 males and 124 females, a total of 400. LICENSE ATTACK ON CLUBS.

New Brunswick, June 13.—An investigation will be made by the Middlesex County Grand Jury of a charge made in a letter from Samuel Wilson, of the New Jersey Anti-Saloon League, to Prosecutor George S. Silzer, in which he says fifteen clubs in this county are operating under a government license and have no county liquor license.

HIS FIRST TASTE OF WAR.

The Time When Schley Was Almost Scared to Death.

"The late Admiral Schley admitted in conversation with me one afternoon, sitting on the veranda of an Atlantic City hotel, that the first time he was under fire he was frightened almost to death," remarked Victor Murdock of Kansas.

"'When Admiral Farragut at Mobile bay boarded my ship I was a young officer,' said Admiral Schley, 'and in the height of the battle the captain of my vessel was killed. I suddenly found myself face to face with a situation which for the moment seemed to take away all of my nerve.

"'I was in a moment elevated to the command of a battleship in actual engagement. If I had been unnerved by the shot and shell before, I was almost terrified at that instant. In the midst of my predicament—for that is what it amounted to—Admiral Farragut boarded the ship. I do not know what thought came to him when he saw me, for my face must have betrayed my fear.

"'Just at that moment a shell whizzed across the deck, cutting a line as cleanly as if it had been done by a chisel. Farragut turned around to me and said: "Lieutenant, let's take our stand on this line. They say that lightning never strikes twice in the same place."

"'I was mighty glad to follow,' said Admiral Schley. 'Farragut stood there with the shells bursting all around, and I shall never forget how big and grand he appeared.'"—Washington Post.

Lion For Dinner.

On Christmas, 1874, a curious dinner took place in Paris. Some score of contributors and draftsmen of the Chasse Illustree dined at Magny's restaurant under the presidency of M. Firmin Didot, the publisher, to taste the ham and heart of the last lion killed in Algeria by Constance Cheret. The flesh was found to be particularly firm and close grained, like that of a horse, but nevertheless quite palatable. The ham was preferred to the heart, which, although skillfully prepared with truffles, was pronounced somewhat tough and difficult of digestion.

Mighty Texas.

"Texas is a big state," remarked the native. "A man from the eastern part of the state is a southerner; a man from the other side of the state is a westerner."

"How about a man from the northern part of the state?"

"He's a Yankee."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Another Mystery Explained.

A woman frequently changes her mind. That's why she is able to give a person a piece of it and still always have enough left for the next one.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Interpreted.

"That tramp talks funny, ma'am. He says he castigated his itinerary from Boston."

"He only means he beat his way."—Baltimore American.

AN EXECUTIVE MANSION.

It is rather surprising that Acting Governor Fielder should express himself as opposed to any proposition looking toward the purchase or erection of an executive mansion for New Jersey. His reasons are even more surprising. His objections are to the expense it would entail both to the State and to the Governor. Insofar as the State is concerned we do not imagine that considering the two millions and more New Jersey receives annually in the shape of corporation taxes and the millions more pouring into the treasury each year from other regular sources our State would be considered extravagant in providing a suitable mansion for its Chief Executive; certainly it would not "go broke" by doing so. And as to the excuse that it would be too costly a home for the Governor, we cannot imagine that any Governor would not be able to conform to a mode of living within his means and at the same time command the respect and esteem of his fellow citizens.

In recent years the impression seems to have prevailed that an American ambassador should be the personification of hospitality and that his manner of living should be most luxurious. That idea is fast being dispelled by a President who has returned to the custom of the earlier Presidents whose ambassadors, like Franklin, for instance, lived modestly and gained renown by their learning and diplomacy and not by their lavish entertainment. Certainly our governors would and could do likewise.

It is not a matter of record so far as we are aware that Woodrow Wilson ever took a decided stand on this question, but two of his predecessors in the gubernatorial chair, John Franklin Fort and Franklin Murphy, on divers occasions urged that there be an executive mansion and if our memory serves us right they made recommendations to that effect in messages to the Legislature.

CAN'T KEEP 'EM DOWN.

North Plainfield has been mighty fortunate in having able and progressive men at the head of its public schools system but the trouble has been that other municipalities have been only too eager to secure their services. As a result, they have stayed but a short time, for the schoolmaster is just as human as the rest of us mortals when it comes to getting as much as we can. North Plainfield lost a first rate superintendent when Dr. Wightman resigned and his salary in a Pennsylvania city today is thrice what it was in the borough. Then came Dr. Krebs, a splendidly equipped and scholarly man, and he was forced to leave because the State solons had ordained that a pedagogue could not be a district school head and a county superintendent at one and the same time. The hard luck so far as "Canada" is concerned, also effects the principalship of the High School. Benjamin J. Phelps, who has occupied that position with credit alike to himself and the borough for the last six years, tendered his resignation today since he has accepted an offer from High Bridge. As a "stepping stone" for the "schoolmaster," North Plainfield is an alluring resort.

ALWAYS THE FIRST.

Each succeeding summer, the Women's Society for Christian Work of the Seventh-Day Baptist church is the first to send to this paper a contribution for the season's work of the City Union of The King's Daughters, The Daily Press annually raising a fund for the purpose. The church society, living up to its reputation, today sent its check or $5.00, which is thus acknowledged.

Heretofore, The King's Daughters have conducted a camp on the mountain where the babes of the poor were cared for during the heated season. It has been found, however just as satisfactory and more feasible to keep them at the splendidly appointed and well located Day Nursery and therefore the change has been made this season. But the expense goes on just the same and to meet it the only recourse is to appeal for voluntary subscriptions. Contributions sent in care of this paper will be promptly acknowledged through these columns and immediately transmitted to the proper authorities.

Note that President Jeffery, of the Board of Trade, has named A. E. Force as chairman of committee to investigate poor trolley service and equipment. If A. E. F. wants to take a day off he need not go to Coney Island and "loop-the-loop" for there the bump-the-bump known as the Netherwood trolley line and while the cars are not quite as old as Noah's ask they are rather venerable.

The Plainfield Daily Press will be issued at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, not as Scoop thinks, because the doctors and lawyers are going to play ball, but since it is our custom during the summer season for people want their paper earlier at this time of the year and really we don't begrudge having a half holiday ourselves.

If you do not advertise people will not know that you are doing business and it won't be long before you will not know it yourself. The best business insurance for a local merchant is to advertise in The Plainfield Daily Press.

Mrs. Sherman B. Joost, president of the Plainfield Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage, will be the contributing editor for tomorrow's issue. Mrs. Joost will present some arguments against "Votes for Women."

The jinx is boss today for this is Friday, the 13th, '13, but don't let a little matter like that bother you The Daily Press costs but $5 a year and it's the live wire in progressive newspaperdom.

Correspondent asks: "Of what use is the Congressional Record?" It's bully for wrapping paper.'

WORLDWIDE USE OF FINGER PRINTS

System Should Be Universal, Says Argentine Expert.

NOT ONLY FOR CRIMINALS.

Dr. Vucetich, Who Perfected Modern System of Identification, Would Extend It's Use to Include Every Individual—Would Prove Invaluable In Many Cases, He Asserts.

Every large city should have a great central department of identification, not merely for criminals, but for every one of its inhabitants, in the opinion of Dr. Juan Vucetich, chief of the bureaus of identification of the province of Buenos Aires and of the Argentine war department, who is now in this country.

Dr. Vucetich is the originator of the first complete system of finger print identification, and he asserts that it is his system, with modifications, which is in use throughout the world today. He says that even Bertillon, who applied anthropometry to criminal identification, has adopted his system in spite of the fact that Bertillon two years after Dr. Vucetich had successfully inaugurated his own system in the city of La Plata, Argentina, said that a system of finger print identification was impracticable.

Dr. Vucetich asserted that the American idea in regard to the system of identification was all wrong. We regard it as stamping us as criminals to have a complete identification of ourselves in existence, he said.

He pointed out that the description of every citizen of Buenos Aires was recorded on the government records and that in the office of the minister of war and the minister of the interior there were on file 2,000,000 identifications, which were used not necessarily for criminal, but for military and political purposes.

System of Identification.

"I invented my system of identification twenty-five years ago," said Dr. Vucetich in giving an outline of his life work. "At that time I was chief of the bureau of identification in La Plata, Argentina. It had been recommended to me that I study the various systems of identification in use and adopt the best. I discovered there was no system in existence but what was deficient. There arose instances to which none would respond. What interested me most was Bertillon's anthropometric system. I found it was not sufficient. At that time a magazine, the French Revue Scientifique, fell into my hands. That was on the 2d of May, 1891. It contained an article on 'Papillary Lines in the Hands,' in which the author went on to show that these varied in different persons. The article referred to some studies Mr. Galton of London had made, which I believe went to prove that the differences were due to heredity. Galton drew his conclusions from the use of only the finger and the thumb. I got the idea of applying the test to all the fingers of the hand.

"I had many criminals at my disposition. I started in using printer's ink to get my impressions. Here," added Dr. Vucetich, producing a big card, "is the first finger print identification made in the world. You see it is dated 'Sept. 1, 1891.' The first man so identified was a prisoner in La Plata named Francisco Cerchulo. I kept up my experimenting until in 1897 I was able to announce that I had perfected my system. Previous to that time, however, my finger prints had thousands of times proved their efficiency.

First to Adopt It.

"As early as 1903 I was in communication with Lombroso, the celebrated Italian criminologist, and he made reference to my system in some of his papers. The Argentine government was the first to adopt my system, and its example was almost immediately followed by the other South American countries. Since then almost every country in the world has adopted it in some form of other.

"I am surprised and somewhat disappointed to find here that identification seems to be regarded altogether from the point of view of the criminal—that is to say, an ordinary man appears to think it a disgrace to be on record on an identification card. If your people could realize what an assistance this has been to us in Buenos Aires in other than criminal matters, you would clamor for it. I understand that your morgues are sometimes filled with unidentified dead, and that not infrequently bodies brought there are never identified, but are buried in a potter's field. Perhaps more than one of those mysterious disappearances, which I understand are frequently chronicled in your newspapers, might be explained if you had on hand the means of identification we possess in Buenos Aires."

Breaks Record With Woman.

Aviator Perryon, with a woman passenger, at Versailles, France, ascended in a monoplane to a height of 16,368 feet, or three and one-tenth miles, establishing a new world's record for altitude. Perreyon also holds the world's altitude record for an aeroplane carrying only a pilot, having risen to a height of 19,650 feet at Buc on March 13 this year.

A BLIND STUDENT IS PHI BETA KAPPA

CALVIN S. GLOVER

Among the names of those to be elected to the high honors of Phi Beta Kappa at Columbia appears that of Calvin S Glover, a blind student. The students are elected to this honorary fraternity only for the highest attainments in studies, and it is only twenty men out of a class of more than one hundred and fifty who can achieve to this pinnacle It is therefore a remarkable feat when a student who has had to fight his way against the handicap of total blindness is elected to the ranks of honor students.

A Crusher For Conkling.

Roscoe Conkling was a capital boxer and quite proud of his skill. One evening after considerable banter he induced Senator Chandler to "put on the gloves" with him. He played with Chandler for a few rounds, much to the discomfiture of the latter. Chandler bided his time and some time later quietly brought a professional pugilist to dinner where Conkling was a guest. In the course of the evening "Mr. Smith" was induced to engage in a boxing bout with Mr. Conkling. The professional danced around the senator, landing when and where he wished, playing with him as he would with a punching bag. The elegant New York senator was dazed, overwhelmed, humiliated, crushed. When he surrendered and called enough, as he did at last, Senator Chandler smiled blandly and presented the pugilist in his true colors.

SENATE PROBE TO GO DEEPLY IN COAL STRIKE IN WEST VIRGINIA

Committee Will Investigate Question of Infringement of Constitutional Rights.

Conditions at Paint Creek Collieries Will Be Thoroughly Aired.

AFTER occupying the attention of the country for nearly a year the industrial situation in the bituminous coal region of West Virginia is at last to undergo a thorough investigation. A committee of the United States senate has begun its hearings at Charleston, W. Va., with full powers to conduct a searching probe into the conditions that exist there, with especial reference to the recent labor disturbances in the Paint Creek collieries.

What this committee will learn is, of course, still problematical. For months past charges and countercharges have been sent flying broadcast by miners and mine owners alike, and now for the first time since the beginning of the strike there is a probability that the real facts will be brought out. Whatever the final result of the investigation may be, it is certain that the whole matter will be given a thorough airing and that steps will be taken to correct such abuses as have existed or now exist.

The committee, which is a subcommittee of the senate committee on education and labor, was appointed upon a resolution of Senator Kern of Indiana and is composed of Senator Swanson of Virginia, chairman, and Senators Borah, Shields, Martine and Kenyon.

Points of Investigation.

The resolution which created the committee and ordered the investigation urges that special attention be given to the following points:

First.—Whether or not peonage exists or has existed in the coal fields.

Second.—Whether or not the postal facilities have been interfered with and, if so, by whom?

Third.—Whether or not the immigration laws have been violated and whether or not there has been discrimination against the district in the administration of these laws.

Fourth.—To investigate and report all facts and circumstances relating to the charge that citizens of the United States have been arrested, tried and convicted contrary to or in violation of the laws of the United States.

Fifth.—To investigate commercial conditions with a view to discovering possible infractions of the Sherman anti-trust law.

Sixth.—To investigate and report whether or not firearms have been imported into the disaffected district for the purpose of excluding the products of said coal fields from competitive markets.

Seventh.—To investigate the causes leading up to the alleged conditions.

It is the fourth section of the resolution that contains the most important provision, for under it the question whether a citizen may be arrested, tried and convicted by the military authorities when the civil courts are open will be decided. This, it is declared, is the most serious offense against the constitutional rights of a citizen which has been an outgrowth of the strike in the coalfields.

The Miners' Side.

In an article in the current issue of the Metropolitan Magazine Allan L. Benson graphically sets forth the miner's side of the situation. He outlines the causes that led up to the strike and lays stress on the fact that the miners have never had any rights which the operators were bound to respect. After describing the insanitary and ramshackle cabins in which the miners were forced to live (for which they paid from $6 to $12 monthly to the companies) Mr. Benson tells about the so called "pluck me" stores, where the miners were compelled to buy all their supplies at exorbitant prices. These are all owned by the companies, and as the companies own all the land they will permit none but themselves to engage in the business of selling merchandise. The result of this system, as Mr. Benson points out, is that the miner is always more or less in debt.

As there are no police in the district the companies employ armed guards to do what policemen do, as well as—to quote Mr. Benson—"to do what no policeman fit to be outside the penitentiary would think of doing." These guards (who are known as "Baldwin" guards from the name of the detective agency that employs them) are valuable to the companies in many ways. Principally, declares Mr. Benson, they are used for the purposes of intimidation, and he does not hesitate to lay many dark crimes, even murder, at their door.

But it was the matter of weighing the coal, upon which the miners' slender earnings were based, that ultimately led to the strike. Under the state law miners are entitled to have a check weighman, who is supposed to verify the companies' figures. But for a miner to ask for one in the West Virginia coal district meant a probable "beating up" by the "Baldwin" guards, dismissal and the blacklisting of the miner by other companies.

How It Began.

In telling about this phase of the situation and the beginning of the strike Mr. Benson says:

"The matter of check weighman has long been a sore spot with the miners. The state law declares that if miners demand a check weighman the company for which they work must consent to the installation of such a man. But it has been worth a miner's job to make such a request, so there have been no check weighmen in the Kanawha district. Meanwhile the miners knew they were being compelled to mine as much as two and a half tons of coal in order to get pay for one. The companies never weighed a pound of coal as it came from the mines—everything was measured by the car. But the solemn fact was that the cars that were said to hold a ton and a half held two tons and a half, and the cars that were said to hold two tons held three tons and a half. Miners could see, of course, and did see, but it did no good to see. If they complained they were beaten up or discharged and blacklisted.

"The wrongs that I have so briefly and inadequately described resulted in a strike on April 19, 1912. In Paint Creek one of the few companies whose employees had been organized by the United Mine Workers of America had a misunderstanding with its men. The men contended that the company refused to sign the union scale for another year. The company contended that the men had broken their agreement. The facts seem to be that the company tired of paying union wages and resolved to go back to nonunion conditions. At any rate, the miners struck.

War Upon Women.

"The breaking out of the strike was speedily followed by extraordinary activity upon the part of the 'Baldwin' guards. These gentlemen, armed to the teeth themselves, invaded the homes of strikers to search for firearms. When the wives of the miners objected, as they often did, to the ransacking of their houses, they were beaten up. They were not only beaten up, they were cursed and reviled. Hundreds of such assaults occurred."

Mr. Benson goes on to give a number of specific instances of the brutality of these guards and continues:

"Violence on the part of the mining companies made the mine owners fear violence upon the part of the miners. From the very first the mine owners feared violence. Early in the struggle they caused their armed thugs to search the persons and houses of miners for firearms. Nor would this fear down. So Governor Glasscock was persuaded to send troops into the district and put the Kanawha region under martial law. At first, the miners welcomed the troops as protection against the murderous guards. The troops justified expectations only to the extent of disarming the guards. To make the performance seem impartial, the troops also disarmed the miners. But the guards found means of arming themselves as frequently as they were disarmed. Somebody continued to furnish them with guns. Perhaps not all of the guards were furnished with more guns. All of the guards were a little more careful to keep their weapons under cover. But that many continued to be armed was shown by the wanton murders that occurred during the following winter."

Strike Breakers Brought.

Later the companies brought strike breakers, obtaining them upon any pretense that proved sufficiently plausible, says Mr. Benson, and these strike breakers, some 2,000 in number, soon were in worse case than the miners themselves. Neither these men nor the numerous other means that the companies resorted to served to intimidate the strikers, however, or frighten them back to work.

In concluding his article Mr. Benson tells of the arrest of "Mother" Jones and other labor agitators and also of the habeas corpus proceedings later brought before the supreme court of appeals of West Virginia. He criticises sharply the decision of this court, from which Justice Robinson strongly dissented and which held that the governor was acting within his constitutional rights in arbitrarily declaring martial law and thus depriving citizens of their constitutional rights, including the right to be tried by a jury of their peers. Justice Robinson took the ground that the court was wrong and the prisoners right.

Since that time "Mother" Jones and the others have been freed, solely by reason of the force of public opinion, but the coal fields still remain under martial law. Governor Hatfield, who succeeded Governor Glasscock, has refused to recall the troops up to now in the face of insistent demands, but with the opening of the senate investigation in Charleston, W. Va., it is probable that the authorities will do something to relieve the situation.

LIABILITY SUITS ARE SETTLED.

New Brunswick, June 13.—Judge Peter F. Daly, in deciding the employers' liability suit of James Theodoru against Johnson & Johnson, allowed Theodoru $200 for an injury received when Theodoru's hand was caught in a carding machine in the defendant firm's factor. The court allowed Mrs. Frank McKeon, mother of Edward McKeon, $1,500 for his death in a Public Service trolley accident at Berdine's Corner, in January, 1912, when the car of which he was motorman crashed into a tree upon leaving the track. Henry Euker, a Perth Amboy carpenter, whose nip was broken when a ladder fell, received $10 a week for 300 weeks less $280 paid on account. Joseph Ulan got $2,520 for the loss of sight of the left eye by molten metal and a broken jaw as the result of an explosion at the United States Metals Refining plant at Roosevelt.

HYSTERIA CAUSE OF ILLNESS.

Elizabeth, June 13.—Hysteria is given as the cause of the strange illness of Miss Tessie Barkowsko, who, after being four days in a coma, regained consciousness at the Elizabeth General Hospital Wednesday afternoon. The first thing she did upon reviving was to burst into tears. The girl lapsed into a trance-like state again, however, to the surprise of the physicians. Her condition, however, is no worse. A few days ago the girl visited Rev. John Wetula, curate of St. Adelbert's church, whom she informed she was subject to spells of illness. She is a Russian, eighteen years old, and formerly lived in Buffalo. She has a brother, Julius Barkowsko, living in Ripley place. The girl will leave the hospital within a few days.

AMERICAN MEDICAL MEN IN CONVENTION

National Ass'n Delegates of U. S. and Canada Gather for Their Big Session.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 13.—Eminent physicians and surgeons from every part of the United States and Canada, with a number from foreign countries, today filled page after page of the Minneapolis and St. Paul hotel registers with their signatures. They are the delegates and visitors to the annual convention of the American Medical Association which, with the meetings of affiliated bodies, will hold forth here during the ensuing seven days.

With clinics arranged for every department of medicine and surgery and with daily sessions planned for fourteen different departments or sections, a week of splendid scientific work is anticipated. For extensiveness of preparation and elaborateness of detail no such assemblage has been held in Minneapolis for many years.

The proceedings of the week began this afternoon with the opening of the thirty-eighth annual meeting of the American Academy of Medicine, which specializes in medical sociology. Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, of San Francisco, president of the Academy, occupied the chair at the initial session. Dr. Helen C. Putnam, of Providence, R. I., presented the report of a committee appointed to investigate the teaching of hygiene in the public schools, and Dr. John L. Keffron, of Syracuse, presented a report from a committee named to investigate the teaching of sanitary science in medical schools.

The meeting of the Academy will continue over tomorrow. Monday will be devoted to various conferences and on Tuesday the sessions of the American Medical Association will begin. The work of the convention will be divided among the house of delegates, which transacts the business for the association; several general meetings of the association, and the daily sessions of a dozen departments at which will be read about five hundred papers on subjects of medical and surgical interest. The allied organizations that will hold their annual meetings during the week include the American Association of Milk Commissions, American Association of Medical Librarians, American Association of Teachers of Pediatrics, American Association of Anesthetists and the American Proctological Association.

With the exception of the opening session of the American Medical Association convention all of the meetings and conferences of the week will be held at the University of Minnesota. The opening session of the association convention will be held in the Minneapolis Auditorium, which is the only available building capable of accommodating the 5,000 or more delegates in attendance.

A special committee has prepared clinics for the convention and these will occupy a large part of the time of the visiting physicians as will the social programs that have been prepared for the visitors and the wives and families of the physicians.

FESTIVAL ENJOYABLE.

A strawberry social was held yesterday afternoon and evening on the lawn of the Temple Baptist church. The affair was largely attended and proved a social as well as a financial success.

Several questions have been asked of the contest department during the past week and for the benefit of all candidates we are answering them through the contest columns.

Will the total number of votes each candidate has be published after June 18?

Who will the judges be?

Answer:—The judges will be chosen from a list of well known and highly reputable residents of Plainfield.

When will the autos be awarded?

Answer:—Immediately after the count on June 18. There will be no delay.

Why is it so hard to get subscribers to The Daily Press?

Answer:—It is not hard to get subscribers to The Plainfield Daily Press. Candidates make it hard for themselves. Hypnotize yourself to believe that the Daily Press is worth

READY TO RACE.

Cincinnati, O., June 13.—What promises to be one of the most successful spring meetings that the Latonia Jockey Club has held in recent years will be opened tomorrow afternoon with the classic Latonia Derby. Seldom before has there been such an abundance of high class horses on hand, and the jockey talent is of the very best. A dozen or more good stakes are to be run during the meetings and the entries include practically all of the horses that distinguished themselves in the recent meetings in Lexington and Louisville.

Queries, Comment and Answers

Sporting Editor:

Query—Who holds the record for pitching the fewer number of balls in a game?—G. K.

Answer—Christy Mathewson is credited with the record—he pitched sixty-seven balls to make it.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Can you tell me what causes the gasoline mixtures used in a gasoline engine to fire back through the carburator, when this mixture is too weak, that is, when there is too much air in proportion to gas?—S. E. D.

Answer—In explaining this it must be remembered that the weaker the mixture is down to a certain percentage of gas, the lower the temperature of ignition. Therefore a very rare mixture coming into contact with the heated residue from the exhaust remaining in the compression space of the cylinder, when the exhaust valve closes and the inlet valve opens, is ignited and fires back through the inlet manifold.

Sporting Editor:

Query—To settle a dispute, will you please publish the number of people that can be seated on the Parker Field stands?—D. F.

Answer—Since the new additions to the stands have been recently erected it is estimated that 1,200 people can find seating space.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Did Rube Oldring, the present outfielder of the Philadelphia Athletics, ever play ball in this city?—B. M.

Answer—Oldring was a member of the Old Crescent A. C. and played on Crescent Oval when Philip Daab was the manager.

Sporting Editor:

Query—What is the open season for brook trout?—F. I.

Answer—The season opens April 1 and closes July 15.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Are the Scottish Clans going to hold an athletic meet in this city during the coming summer and if so, when?—J. F.

Answer—The Scotchmen are planning to hold their annual meet at Parker Field October 13.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Please tell me why the milk is in the cocoanut and how it gets there?—H. M.

Answer—The milk gets in the cocoanut the same way the seeds get in a lemon and brains get in the bean of some of us. It belongs there (but brains sometimes do not belong where they are put).

CARLSTROM AND BRUGGY ARE MAKING GOOD AT LAWRENCE

Albin Carlstrom, the former Plainfield shortstop, made his first error in twenty-six consecutive games yesterday while playing with the Lawrence team of the New England League against the Worcester Club at the latter city. This was his second error of the season. Fuller, who twirled for the Lawrence team, which won by a score of 12 to 5, is a spitball artist and it is charged that the wet pellet had a deal to do with the wild heave into the grandstand. Albin registered a brace of hits, scored a run and accepted fifteen chances at the initial bag.

Frank Bruggy, the former Bound Brook catcher who is also playing with Lawrence, used his war club with effect against Pitchers Van-Dyke and Scanlon. In four trips to the plate, Bruggy rapped out three safe drives, one of which was a double He tallied four times and accepted a quartet of chances in centre field. Lawrence is again leading the league by two and one-half games.

WESTFIELD STILL ON THE MAP.

That Westfield will once more have a baseball team to represent it against other nines of this vicinity was made known this morning when announcement was made of a game between the Mt. Ararat delegation and the South River ball tossers to be played at the latter place, Sunday afternoon. It is understood that a number of local players will appear in the Westfield lineup and that the playing will be confined to Sundays. Thorn, who pitched for Johnstown in the Tri-State League last season, will oppose the Westfielders in a South River uniform.

TWO GOOD GAMES IN CITY LEAGUE

West Ends and Saurers and Royals Against the Spicer Aggregation.

	W.	L.	P. C.
Saurer	2	0	1,000
West Ends	1	0	1,000
Royal Giants	0	1	000
Spicer	0	2	000

Two of the greatest rivals in local baseball circles will meet tomorrow afternoon for the second time this season when the Spicer and Roya Giants teams come together in connection with the playing of City League contests. On the previou occasion Spicer was whipped by the dusky ball tossers of Pete Simmons but the joint makers are hopeful of reversing the decision on this trip.

West Ends will meet Saurers in the second contest of the league schedule and this also promises to be a hummer as each aggregation has enlisted the services of several new players since their previous battle.

ANOTHER ROUND IN THE S. S. LEAGUE

Two Contest Booked for Tomorrow Afternoon—Hope and Monroe Meet Again.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL BASEBALL LEAGUE.

Hope Chapel	2	0	1,000
First Baptist	1	1	500
Monroe M. E.	1	1	500
First Presbyterian	0	0	000
Park Avenue	0	2	000

Another attempt will be made tomorrow afternoon to play off the third round of games in the Sunday-school League, last Saturday's contests all having been called off on account of the existing weather conditions. Hope Chapel will meet its old rival Monroe Avenue, and the enthusiasm produced at the contests played between these two aggregations in the league last year will probably be renewed again tomorrow. In the championship race of last season, Hope Chapel and Monroe Avenue were the main participants in a bitter fight for the highest honors, the Chapelites finally winning out. To date Hope Chapel has not lost a game in the league schedule and are holding on to the top berth with two wins and no losses.

Owing to the Doctor-Dentist clash on Parker Field, the First Presbyterians and Park Avenues have been forced to look elsewhere for a playing field and their battle will probably be staged on Hyde Oval.

PLAINFIELD PLAYS BOUND BROOK TEAM

No Central League Game Booked for This City Tomorrow Afternoon.

Standing of Clubs.

	W.	L.	P. C.

Somerville	2	1	.666
Plainfield	2	2	.500

Bound Brook	0	0	.000

Plainfield goes to Bound Brook tomorrow afternoon to lineup against Charlies Newhouse's clan in what will be the initial contest between these two old rivals on the baseball diamond this season. This will also be the first game played by the Bound Brook nine since its entrance into the Central New Jersey League and Newhouse is out to burn up the circuit from forthcoming reports.

Many local fans will probably go to Dunellen to satisfy their baseball appetites for at that place High Bridge is due to appear with Jennings, the former Rutgers College heaver, on the firing line. At Somerville the New Brunswick Stars will take the field against the Torpey crew.

AFTER MOTORCYCLE RECORD.

Jersey City, June 13.—William Kettig, of Birmingham, Ala., and Cranford Bryant, of St. Paul, Minn., yesterday left, on motorcycles, the home of George E. Blakeslee, Jr., at 2568 Hudson Boulevard, a fellow-student at Lawrenceville Academy, in an effort to break the record for the run between New York and Buffalo. Young Blakeslee is the son of the president of the New Jersey Automobile Trade Association. Leaving Buffalo, Kettig and Bryant will ride to Detroit and thence to Chicago. From Chicago they go to French Lick Springs, Ind., and thence to the home of Bryant at St. Paul. After a stay in St. Paul they will ride to Louisville, Ky., making the entire trip by motorcycle. They wil spend some time in Louisville, after which they will ride to the home of Kettig in Birmingham.

LOCAL SCHOOLS IN BRUNSWICK RESUME

North Plainfield and Plainfield Were Both Victorious Over That Aggregation.

In connection with the closing of the school comes the finishing of the baseball season at the New Brunswick High School and incidentally a long string of defeats. The team has had more than its share of losses this season for out of ten games played but two were put in the win column.

The season started off with an overwhelming defeat by the team representing North Plainfield High School at Hyde Oval by the score of 11 to 1. North Plainfield later went to Brunswick where they again defeated the team of that place by the score of 7 to 1.

Plainfield also went to that city and were lucky to get off with a 6 to 5 victory over the Brunswick nine.

The summary:

MISS WILDEY WINS WAY TO THE FINALS

Local Player is Also Victorious in Third Round of the Doubles.

Some very good and some rather poor tennis was shown in the women's championships of the United States at the Philadelphia Cricket Club yesterday. The weather was perfect and a large and appreciative audience was in attendance.

The matches in the semi-final round of the singles between Mrs. A. J. D. Paul and Miss Edna Wildey, of this city, and Miss Dorothy Green and Mrs. Robert Williams were watched with the keenest interest, but in a measure they proved disappointing, especially the match between Mrs. Paul and Miss Wildey. The Plainfield player has had much experience in tournament play and invariably shows good generalship and it was in this respect that she proved herself greatly superior to her opponent. She has many good strokes and given the opportunity of playing regularly with first-class players she would assuredly make her mark in the tennis world. Miss Wildey played a steady and cool game and qualified for the final round by winning 6-1, 6-2.

In the third round of the championship doubles Miss Wildey again distinguished herself, for when paired wih Miss Green, she defeated Miss Kennedy and Miss Baker with apparently no effort. There were two of the most one-sided sets of the day, Miss Wildey and Miss Green taking two lone sets. The finals in the singles will be played this afternoon and the winner will meet Miss Browne, the champion, in the challenge set.

STODDARD TO LEAD SECOND POLO GAME

No Over-confidence Among the Ranks of the American Four.

America will be represented in the second match for the international polo trophy tomorrow at Meadow Brook, Westbury, L. I., by the same team that finished the first contest with England last Tuesday. After J. M. Waterbury, Jr., retired with a broken finger, Chairman H. L. Herbert and Secretary W. A. Hazard, of the Polo Association, announced the lineup of the American team after each member of the Executive Committee of the Polo Association was communicated with over the telephone, it being impossible to arrange a meeting of the committee. The American lineup will be:

No. 1, Louis E. Stoddard; No. 2, Lawrence Waterbury; No. 3, Harry Payne Whitney, (Captain); back, Devereux Milburn.

Substitutes, Rene La Montagne, R. L. Agassiz, Malcolm Stevenson, and H. S. Phipps.

The selection of Stoddard was made only after mature consideration, and Rene La Montagne was favored by several members to succeed J. M. Waterbury, Jr. La Montagne's work in practice has attracted the attention of the polo authorities, and it was not until the merits of the respective players were thoroughly discussed that Stoddard received the distinction of playing against the British team. La Montagne, however, has been placed first on the list of substitutes, and should Stoddard fail to play up to expectations he will be supplanted by La Montagne.

In spite of the overwhelming victory of the Americans in the first game, there was no overconfidence at Meadow Brook yesterday. It is expected that tomorrow's game will be a much more closely contested struggle than the first match, especially in view of the fact that after the first three periods the invaders seemed to recover from their fright and held the Americans even. It was recognized, however, that neither team on Tuesday played perfect polo, although the Meadow Brook quartet showed to much greater advantage than the Britishers, and approached the perfect stage nearer than was expected. The brand of polo displayed by the Americans was good enough to win handsomely, and unless the visitors show a remarkable improvement, it is felt that the same brand will be good enough to win again tomorrow. It is, however, pointed out that the British army officers were playing on a strange field for the first time, and that an improvement can be expected with their second appearance.

The betting yesterday reflected the feeling of the followers of the game. Odds of 10 to 6 were offered on the American team, which is in striking contrast to one week ago, when the British players ruled favorites at 2 to 1. Several big wavers are reported to have changed hands at 10 to 7 and 10 to 6.

Y. M. A. A. WILL ONCE MORE TRY TO DEFEAT Y. M. A. NINE

For the second time this season the Y. M. A. team, of South Bound Brook, will be the opponent of the local Y. M. A. A. aggregation, but this time the contest will be staged on the Centre street field in this city. In the former contest the Bound Brook ball tossers were victorious but Manager Conger has the best lineup that has been placed on the field this season ready to do battle tomorrow and predicts a reverse.

Among the new players is Matty Coughlin, the Plainfield High School pitcher, who will play the difficult corner for the Y. M. A. A. combination. An almost entire new lineup has been announced by Conger and it looks about one hundred per cent. superior to the old one.

The teams will lineup as follows:

Y. M. A. A. W. Clark p, Clark c, Green or Lambertson 1b, Huff or Clark 2b, Coughlin 3b, Smith ss, Meyers lf, Hadley or Parrott cf, Matthewson or Raffanillo rf.

Bound Brook Y. M. A.—O. Mathews ss, W. Mathews c, Koechlein 3b, Green 1b, Hall 2b, E. Mathews p, Whitenock cf, Walfrig rf, F. Mathews lf.

PRODIGAL RETURNS TO DUNELLEN FOLD

"Home Run" Wolf Will Be Back in the Game Against High Bridge.

Preparations are being made by Manager Bob Bogardus, of the Dunellen Central New Jersey League team, to handle a record mob of fans in his new ball park tomorrow afternoon, when the Dunellenites lineup against High Bridge players. This will be the second home game of the season for the Bogardus clan and the army of spectators who witnessed the great ninth inning victory over Somerville two weeks ago will likely be doubled tomorrow. Dunellen now leads the league and the enthusiasm is rife in that little burg, one of the enterprising merchants having gone so far as to offer a solid gold watch for the player clouting out the first home run on the new field.

Chances of the merchant losing his timepiece have become greatly boosted since the announcement of the return of "Home Run" Wolf to the Dunellen fold, for this prodigal is a notorious character in the wagon league. He has traveled the circuit three times this season on a single wallop and the fans would not be a bit surprised to see him turn the trick again tomorrow. The Dunellen will have a stiff proposition to reach when High Bridge takes the field is a foregone conclusion for that aggregation has been rejuvenated and made to look like a big league contingent. In Frederickson's place on the mound will be Jennings, the wonderful Rutgers College heaver, who appeared at Scotch Plains in a New Brunswick uniform two Sundays ago. Eddie Craig, who plays Sundays with the New Brunswick team, will be in charge of the keystone bag, Jack Walton going to the shortfield. Henry Alberts will be replaced by Middleton, of the Bucks County (Pa.) League, in center field.

Dunellen will also be treated to some new facial expressions, none of which will be more welcome than the announcement of the return of George Wolf, the heavy hitting specialist; Schiller and Clough, two former members of the fast Lakeside A. A. a fast semi-professional combination having a home diamond at Elizabeth. Bob Bogardus has a scout working for his Dunellen aggregation in the wild and woolly parts of Jersey, and according to this new members of the league leaders' club, the Schiller addition is a wonder. Clough appeared on the Parker Field Saturday afternoon but did not get much of a chance to show his real ability before the rain came.

The teams will lineup as follows tomorrow:

Dunellen—Giddes 3b, J. Wolf ss, Dixon c, G. Wolf cf, McLaughlin p, Schiller 1b, Doyle 2b, Lindbloom rf, Clough, lf.

High Bridge—Craig 2b, C. Walton 3b, J. Alberts lf, Hand c, Middleton cf, Handerson rf, J. Walton ss, Howley 1b, Jennings p.

NOTES FROM LABOR FIELD

The Building Trades Council of Plainfield and vicinity is now permanently located in its new meeting rooms, 226 West Front street. All local unions in the building trades now hold their meetings at that place. The members appreciate the good work of the trustees of the council in securing such a commodious place of meeting, and the brother members who assisted in fitting it up. The rooms are provided with every convenience and are comfortable.

It is reported among the trades that a number of new houses are under way in Plainfield, which is encouraging to the master builders as well as the local unions of various crafts, whose aim is to control work in this city, whereby local merchants will receive a direct benefit, rather than to have the work go out of the city to concerns who leave a small percentage of wages received in this city.

Chicago barbers are making a fight to have the barbers' sanitary law enforced.

There are more than 240,000 women stenographers in the United States.

Two-thirds of the adult males in New Jersey earn less than $600 a year.

Philadelphia trade organizations are discussing plans to merge into one large body.

The Uruguay Chamber of Deputies has approved a measure providing for an eight-hour day for workmen.

The White Rats Actors' Union of America will hold its annual convention in New York city, beginning next Monday.

International Printing Pressmen and Assistants' Union of North America will open its annual convention at Rogersville, Tenn., next Monday.

The Industrial Workers of the World are endeaving to organize the textile workers of Philadelphia preparatory to calling a general strike for an eight-hour day and a two-loom system.

The German Metal Workers' Union is the largest and most thoroughly centralized union in the world. Its annual report shows a membership of 561 547, an increase of 36,402. There are 27,876 women members.

President H. B. Perham, Secretary L. W. Quick, and all the old vice presidents of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers have been re-elected. An additional vice president, E. J. Menion, of New Haven, was elected.

The labor unrest throughout England is becoming acute. Leaders of various trades unions are denouncing the Government for not passing a minimum wage bill affecting all industries, and a national walk-out may be the outcome.

Aberdeen, Wash., unionists have organized a Labor Temple association for the purpose of erecting a Labor Temple. The directors are now negotiating a loan with an eastern firm and it is stated that the work of construction will soon begin.

The annual convention of the Women's International Union Label League, to be held in Birmingham, Ala., during the week of June 16, promises to be the largest in the history of the organization. More than 200 delegates have sent in their credentials.

The Canadian Pacific Railway announces that all the employes of the mechanical and car departments on the company's Eastern lines, some 9,500 in number are to receive an advance of 10 per cent. in wages. Time and a half will be allowed for overtime and for work on legal holidays.

Steps are being taken to organize a union of bootblacks in New York city. Their number is estimated at about 60,000, or one to every 100 persons. In many cases their earnings are as low as $5 a week and those who are employed by stand owners are complaining of long hours.

Governor Tener, of Pennsylvania, approved the bill creating the department of labor and industry, and appointed Professor John Price Jackson, of State College, as the commissioner. The new department will take over the duties and powers of the department of factory inspection. Three bureaus are created by the bill—inspection, statistics and arbitration.

KNOCKED UNCONSCIOUS.

Morris Plains, June 13.—Jumping out of a wagon near the Lackawanna Railroad station here yesterday, Fred Miller landed squarely in the path of an automobile driven by Howard Millen, of Littleton, and was knocked unconscious. Mr. Millen, who had not been driving rapidly at the time, stopped, picked up Miller and drove with him to Memorial Hospital, Morristown, where he later regained consciousness and was pronounced out of danger.

Here's an Economical Boiler

If you are interested in house-heating at minimum up-keep cost, look at this sectional view of a Square Pot Boiler. It shows a deep, square firepot, surrounded by water surfaces down to the grate line. It shows interior water connections built low in contact with fire and trending easily upward to facilitate circulation. It shows a large body of fire in a square cornered pot, which increases heat radiation about 20%.

These are features that produce efficiency at an actual lessening of running expense—they make Square Pot Boilers a paying proposition for interested parties to investigate. Any BOYNTON dealer will show you.

NEW MULLINS FURNITURE STORE OPENS TOMORROW

A year ago a serious fire drove John Mullins & Sons out of their store at 218-220 Market street, Newark, where they had carried on business for about fifty-three years.

During the rebuilding the firm has occupied an emergency store at 234, and it says much for the values given that despite the inconveniences of limited room, Mullins has continued to be sought by those who know good furniture when they see it, and who recognize the advantages of easy terms without extra charges.

The new Mullins store at 218-220 Market street, Newark, is now ready for business, and will be opened tomorrow. It will be found the most magnificent equipped furniture house in the State, utilizing 100,000 square feet of floor space and displaying complete lines of all that is best in modern furniture and carpets at prices within the reach of all.

The building is absolutely fireproof, and there is so much room that customers can look around and make their selections in absolute comfort.

In celebration of the opening day, Mullins will present a handsome souvenir to all who make purchases, this present taking the form of a large-sized bread dish.

It need scarcely be added that Mullins prices will remain the lowest possible for reliable quality furniture, and that as usual the firm will study the convenience of its customers in regard to deferred payments.

One cannot be too careful in buying furniture, and it is well to remember, therefore, that John Mullins & Sons have been giving satisfaction for upwards of half a century.—Advertisement.

CLOSE WATCH ON CHARLTON.

Jersey City, June 13.—Since the United States Supreme Court decided to surrender Porter Charlton to Italy for trial on the charge of murdering his wife at Lake Como, the prisoner's guards have been instructed to keep him under constant surveillance. Charlton appears moody, his jailers report. Yesterday his brother Robert Charlton, spent some time with him, and his father, Judge Paul Charlton, is expected to arrive in a few days from Porto Rico. Pierre P. Garven, who represented the Italian Government in the proceedings, said today that under the law Charlton will not start for Italy before July 10.

HEARING ON SON'S ARREST.

Elizabeth, June 13.—The hearing which was to have been given Rev. C. A. R. Janvier, of Philadelphia, by Mayor Marvlag yesterday in reference to the arrest of Ernest Baxton Janvier, his son, did not take place. Rev. Mr. Janvier wrote the Mayor that he would not be here. According to the Mayor the clergyman said he would leave the case in the hands of a local friend, who would discuss it with him at some future time. Young Janvier was arrested here several weeks ago, while seeking aid from a Presbyterian clergyman. He said he had no money, but the police found several bills on his person. He was later discharged.

PLACE ON HUDSON'S TAX BOARD.

Jersey City, June 13.—John Rotherham, of this city, former county clerk and former chairman of the Hudson County Republican Committee, is being boomed for appointment as the successor of Mark M. Fagan in the Hudson County Tax Board. The appointment is to be made by Acting Governor Fielder and the appointee must be a Republican. Mr. Fagan was elected Tuesday as one of the new city commissioners for this city and he resigned from the Tax Board at Wednesday afternoon's meeting. Mr. Rotherham was a candidate for one of the commissioner nominations, but was badly beaten.

"HITCHIE-COO," A NEW DANCE.

Atlantic City, June 13.—The "Hitchie-coo," a combination of the "one step" and "tango" with a graceful kick as the final feature of each set, was introduced as the latest dance creation at the annual convention of the International Dancing Masters' Association in session here. F. W. Scott, of Michigan, the oldest member in attendance, declared that "trots that necessitate the clinch hug should be prohibited by legislation. There is nothing bad about the new dances if they are danced correctly, but they seldom are."

'BUS LINE AT LONG BRANCH.

Long Branch, June 13.—The Long Branch auto 'bus line inaugurated by the Merchants' Association began operations Wednesday from here to Seabright, Eatontown and Oakhurst. A second 'bus will be put on in a couple of weeks, when there will be hourly service between this city and outlying villages. The 'buses cost $4,300 each, and the Merchants' Association has pledged $10,000 to meet the first year's expense. Edward E. Lacour is president of the Merchants' Association.

KILLED ON BRIDGE BY TRAIN.

Bayonne, June 13.—An unidentified man was killed by a Central Railroad train yesterday on the Newark Bay drawbridge. He was walking across the bridge when struck. The body was removed to Zeiger's Morgue. The man was about forty-five years old, five feet nine inches tall, weighed 150 pounds and had mixed iron gray hair and moustache. He was apparently a laborer.

Available At All Times

"MARY, I wish Mrs. White would change her party line telephone to a direct line. This is the third time I've called her today, and her line has been 'busy' each time."

Party line telephone service necessarily means a divided service. It means sharing the line with others; it means a restricted use of your telephone and very often "busy" reports to those who desire to call you.

A direct line, on the other hand, is yours exclusively—always available—a clear track for incoming or outgoing messages.

The difference in cost is so slight it will pay you to investigate.

The Housewife's Daily Economy Calendar

By FRANCES MARSHALL

When the Ice Box Needs Attention.

A rising thermometer is a signal that the ice-box needs attention. Some household economist has said that the kitchen is the stomach of the home; if it is not kept in good working order the whole household suffers. The ice-box or refrigerator bears the same relation to the kitchen that the kitchen does to the house; unless it is kept clean, orderly and under constant surveillance the health and happiness of the family are bound to suffer.

One writer on domestic economy goes so far as to say that it would be better for a household to get along without ice than to eat food which was kept in a badly cared for ice-box or refrigerator.

How to Keep it Clean.

Once a week at least—twice a week in very warm weather—the ice-box or refrigerator should be thoroughly cleaned. First remove all food. Then remove the trays or shelves, if they are of a removable kind, and wash them in hot soapsuds, then in boiling water and washing soda and then in clear, hot water. Dry them and spread them in the sun for a sunbath of half an hour. Then remove the ice from the box, wrap it in a newspaper so that it will melt as little as possible, and wash the tray on which it stands just as you have washed the shelves. Dry it with a towel, and put it in the sunshine until the inside of the ice compartment is clean. This should be washed with suds, soda and water and then clear, hot water, and the corners should be cleaned carefully with a little brush. Pour hot soda water through the drain pipe and run a long, flexible wire with a little brush at the end through the pipe to remove any obstruction from it. Return the tray for the ice and then put the ice back in place. This part of the cleaning can be done in a few minutes so that the ice will melt very little and the refrigerator will not have time to get heated.

Wash the inside walls of the refrigerator with suds, soda and water and clear water, and rub them dry with a cloth. Then return the trays or shelves and put the food back in place.

Daily Care.

Every day the food in the refrigerator should be carefully looked over. Any food which is not fresh should be thrown away. Milk, butter, and custards should be kept carefully in closed dishes as they absorb odors from other foods. Such foods as onions, strong cheese and fish should not be kept in the refrigerator with the other food, as their penetrating odor is almost sure to taint some more delicately flavored food. Fish can be wrapped in paper and laid on a bed of chopped ice in a covered earthen dish if it must be kept uncooked for a long time. If any milk, meat gravy or other food is spilled it should be immediately washed up with hot water.

Five minutes a day and half an hour extra for the weekly cleaning—a little more than an hour a week—will keep the refrigerator in sanitary and satisfactory codition through the warm weather.

FASHION HINT

By JUDIC CHOLLET

Both young girls and small women will find this model an excellent one. It is pretty for brocaded crape, but it is charming for voile, marquisette and all the pretty thin materials that can be draped successfully.

It can be made of one material throughout or with collar and sleeves of a contrasting one. The three piece skirt is draped, and the blouse includes the sleeves that are sewed to it at the elongated shoulder and on an unusual line.

For the sixteen year old size the dress will require seven and a half yards of material twenty-seven inches wide, with three-eighths yards for the collar.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes for girls of sixteen and eighteen years of age. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 7868, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

Some Cookery Suggestions

PUTTING UP STRAWBERRIES.

FRUITS such as strawberries, raspberries, peaches, prunes and apricots, which are lacking in gelatin and will not "jell" easily, will make beautiful jelly if one-third rhubarb juice is used. This does not injure the flavor at all. If two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice to a cupful of fruit juice are added it also usually brings the desired result.

To keep jelly from turning to sugar first strain the juice and measure. Take equal parts of sugar and juice, say a pint of juice and a pint of sugar. Put the sugar on and heat until very hot, stirring to prevent burning. Then pour in juice and cook until it jells, and you will not have any trouble.

Jelly and Cordial.

Strawberry Jelly.—Extract the juice from the fruit without cooking by putting into the berries one-half of the sugar required and chopping the berries rather fine. Let stand several hours, then pass through the jelly bag. Do not squeeze, as that will make the jelly cloudy. Add the remainder of the sugar and proceed as with other berry jelly. The flavor is much better than when made in the usual way.

Strawberry Cordial.—When canning strawberries there is always some juice left. You can make a nice beverage of the juice. To one quart of juice add equal measure of sugar and three ounces of tartaric acid. Stir well, and when the sugar is dissolved strain, bottle and cork tightly. Using one-half or two-thirds water and some broken ice you will find this a refreshing summer drink.

Standard Processes.

Sun Preserved Strawberries.—Place the strawberries and sugar in layers in a preserving kettle, using equal parts of berries and sugar. Do not put more than four inches of fruit into the vessel. Bring it slowly to the boiling point. Counting from the time the fruit begins to bubble, let it cook ten minutes, skimming carefully. Pour into glass jars and put in a sunny window. In a few days the fruit will become plump and the sirup will be like jelly.

Canned Strawberries.—Have fresh, sound berries. Wash by immersing one box at a time in a pan of water. Then stem the berries. Use several small pans, as the weight of many berries crushes them. Place one quart of sugar in each pan, using just enough water to melt it. When this boils drop in gently enough berries for one can. Boil five minutes and place in glass jar, previously washed and warmed. Cover with a thin layer of wax and seal. They will cook after sealing and do not shrink like berries cooked longer.

Daddy's Bedtime Story — How the Game Cock Won His Name.

General Sumter One of the Finest.

JACK had asked daddy to tell them another story about the brave soldiers who had fought for independence.

"Yes," said Evelyn; "that will be a fine way to get ready for the Fourth of July."

"Well," agreed daddy, "there are so many stories about these good soldiers that it is hard for me to know which one you would like best to hear.

"One of the finest was General Thomas Sumter. He was born in Virginia and soon showed that he wished to be a soldier. Like George Washington and many other of the Revolutionary officers, he got his first taste of war in fighting the French and Indians.

"When the Americans and English began fighting he was ready and anxious to take a hand in the war. Most of his fighting was done in South Carolina. He made the proud and cruel Tarleton, who commanded the British troops in that part of the country, much trouble. Sumter had his own way of fighting. He knew every inch of the wild country. His soldiers, like himself, were countrymen who could stand many hardships. When they could find no other food they could live off roots and wild plants, as the Indians did. They were so strong and active that when the fighting went against them they could be off to the swamps or the mountains before the English soldiers knew what they meant to do. Once safely there, the British, who did not know the roads so well, were afraid to follow them.

"A story is told of General Sumter which may interest you. He was always on the lookout for good men to enlist in his regiments. One day when he was out on this errand he heard of three brothers who were very fond of cockfighting. They owned a blue hen whose chicks grew up to be great fighters. These men and their rough companions thought it was fine sport to set one of these chickens to fight the other. The star fighter was a rooster named Puck, which had never been thrashed in a single fight. He was known all over the country, and the three brothers were very proud of him.

"One day Sumter called at the brothers' place while a cockfight was going on. He showed his contempt for such an amusement and when the brothers spoke of it said:

"'Such an employment is childlike and cruel. Come with me and I will give you worthier game. I will teach you how to fight with men.'

"The brothers and their companions were so much struck by his noble manner and brave words that they cried out:

"'Puck forever! He is one of the blue hen's chickens!'

"This name stuck to General Sumter, and afterward he was known among his enemies as well as his own men under the title of 'the Game Cock.'"

FIREWORK DISPLAY HERE JULY FOURTH

Local Commission Will Hold it Prior to the Opening of the Playgrounds.

Four local playgrounds will be opened in this city Monday, July 7, according to plans outlined at a meeting of the local Playground Commission held in the office of the mayor yesterday afternoon and the work this summer will be carried on in the same manner as last year but on a more extensive scale. During the playground season, which continues until the opening of the schools in September, a daily program of recreative games and other things attractive to the juvenile attendant will be held under experienced supervisors. Following the experiment of last year which proved such a success, the playground commission is planning to hold another firework display at Parker Field on the evening of the Fourth of July and the Common Council will be asked at its next meeting to set aside an appropriation for this purpose. Councilman Blatz has interested himself in the project and will request that body to grant enough money to defray the expenses incurred in the purchase of the pyrotechnics and the hiring of a band which will give a musical concert on that occasion.

In order that Parker Field may be utilized as a public resting place and park on Sunday afternoons, the commission has asked for the contribution of rustic seats, children's swings and benches. The new equipment will be placed under the trees on the easterly side of the field and will afford a spot for family outings. It is also expected that a number of Sunday afternoon sacred concerts will be given.

The playgrounds will be in charge of these supervisors this year: Bryant School, Miss Harriet E. Moe; Franklin School, Miss Frances Betz; St. Mary's School, Miss Loretta Hayes; Irving School, Miss Louise French, and Parker Field, George W. Wriston. Of these instructors the Misses Hayes, Moe and French return here from last year. Miss Emma Ryno has been selected an assistant at the Franklin School; and Miss Ruth Wean will serve in a like capacity at the Irving School.

ROSE DINNER FOR THE BRIDAL PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Manning Entertain in Honor of Coming Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. James C. Manning, of Dunellen avenue, whose son, Leland Manning, will marry Miss Lillian C. Dunn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Dunn, of West Front street, Wednesday evening, June 18, gave a rose dinner, last evening, for the members of the bridal party. The color scheme of the rose was attractively carried out in the table decorations.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. James C. Manning, Miss Jeannette Farlee, of Newark, who is to be the maid of honor; Miss Irene Dunham and Miss Vivian Dunn, who are to be bridesmaids; Jere Manning, who is to be best man, and Guyon Fountain and James Manning, who are to be ushers. After the dinner the party held a rehearsal and enjoyed a musical program.

Miss Irene Dunham, of West Front street, gave a surprise miscellaneous "shower," at her home yesterday afternoon for Miss Dunn. She was invited to Miss Dunham's home and when she arrived she was greeted by a number of friends, who showered her with rose petals. Afterward she received a number of useful gifts.

MISS LOBITA DEAKYNE IS NOW MRS. KEIDERLING

Miss Lolita E. Deakyne, daughter of Captain and Mrs. Elmer Deakyne, of Highland Park, New Brunswick, and Charles Kiederling, Jr., son of Charles Kiederling, of East Front street, were quietly married Wednesday night at 9 o'clock at the home of Rev. James G. Mason, Metuchen, the officiating minister, who is pastor of the Presbyterian church of that place.

The maid of honor was Miss Alicia Mullen, the bridesmaid, Miss Marie Mullen and the best man, Henry Betzenberger, all of this city. The couple is living at 306 East Front street.

WILL MEET MONDAY TO REORGANIZE ASS'N

An important meeting of the East End Taxpayers' Association will be held Monday night at the office of W. R. Way, 308 Watchung avenue. The object of the meeting is for the purpose of re-organization to take in the entire First ward, so that the association will be justified in being represented at the meetings of the co-ordinating committee of the various civic organizations of this city. Robert Newton Crane, the president of the body, will call the meeting to order at 8 o'clock. Invitations are extended not only to old members but to persons who have heretofore had no connection with the association. Anyone residing in the First ward is eligible to membership.

ENTERTAINED GLEE CLUB.

Mmbers of the Y. W. C A. Glee Club were entertained at the home of Mrs. G. P. Mellick this afternoon, where an afternoon tea was servevd. Several musical selections were rendered by the club.

A terrific assault on America's National Pastime with the Doctors and Dentists of Plainfield as the assailants is due to take place at Parker Field this afternoon, after a two weeks' preparation, during which time specially constructed hospital cots and new limbs have been placed in readiness to do service during and after the memorial event in sportdom. Those in charge of the "Grand Athletic Riot" guarantee to place before the innocent public nine innings of laughter made up of six spasms, two fits and a convulsion under the assumed term of "Baseball" Captain "Sorrel Top" Davis and Captain "Fat" Cregar are the selections of the dentists and doctors respectively, to lead the combatants in the nine rounds of the programed mad and mirthful mixture of brain, brass and brawn and the proceeds of the farce will be turned over to the hospital treasury.

Here are a few things the program composer has to worry about:

"The Pillers."

Who is the man who cuts us wide,
And sews us up and says with pride,
"A great success, although he died?"
The doctor.

Who is the man who feeds us pills
To cure our pains and other ills,
And sends us badly swollen bills?
The doctor.

Who is the man who takes an axe,
When ether's fumes have made us lax
And chops and cuts and swats and hacks?
The doctor.

"The Pullers."

Who is the man with grip of steel
Who jars our souls from head to heel,
And makes us cuss and groan and squeal?
The dentist.

Who is the man who gets us foul,
And when we raise a plaintive howl,
Runs needles through our quivering jowl?
The dentist.

Who is the man who spoils our shirt,
When bleeding gums begin to spurt,
And says, "Pray tell me, does it hurt?"
The dentist.

PASTOR'S RESIGNATION IS FORMALLY ACCEPTED

Rev. Royal A. Stout presented his resignation as pastor of the Netherwood Reformed church, at a special meeting of the Consistory, last night, as announced in the Plainfield Daily Press yesterday, and it was accepted to take effect on August 31. Rev. J. Y. Broek, of Trinity Reformed church, was the moderator of the meeting. There were expressions of regret by the various members of the Consistory that Mr. Stout felt called to another field, to which the pastor made a suitable response. He said that he believed he would enter a larger field of usefulness at the Green Hill Presbyterian church, Philadelphia.

Suitable resolutions were adopted, a copy of which will be presented to Mr. Stout. The Consistory and Mr. Stout then prepared a joint application to the Classis of Newark, requesting a dissolution of pastoral relations. This will be acted upon at a special meeting of the Classis Wednesday, June 18.

Mr. Stout has been in Plainfield about four years, having worked here prior to becoming pastor of the church two years ago. He has had a successful pastorate, having built a new church, secured a pipe organ and other improvements.

WOMAN OF MYSTERY THE HANDBAG THIEF

'Mrs. Fitzhugh,' Arrested for Stealing Dorothy Fisk's Purse, on Trial.

The real identity of "Mrs. Randolph Fitzhugh," an attractive young woman accused of stealing a gold mesh purse from Miss Dorothy W. Fisk, of this city, following her attendance at service at St. Bartholomew's church, New York, seems to be as uncertain as ever. District Attorney Whitman is considerably puzzled about the woman. The State finished its case yesterday in General Sessions, New York. Abraham Levy, of counsel for the woman, will begin the defence Monday morning.

Miss Fisk, the complainant in the case, testified that on February 2, she went from her winter home, 130 East Sixty-seventh street, to St. Bartholomew's church, carrying a gold mesh bag worth $550. When she approached the chancel rail for communion she left the bag inside her muff and threw her coat over the muff.

When she returned to her seat the mesh bag was gone. Miss Fisk testified that Mrs. C. W. Esch, of 1 West Thirtieth street, New York, sent her a letter in which she wrote that she had seen Mrs. Fitzhugh with the gold mesh bag that Miss Fisk had advertised for as having been lost.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES CONDEMNED FINDINGS

Will Enter a Protest Against the Acceptance of the Commissioners' Report.

The trustees of the Board of Trade met yesterday afternoon to consider the report submitted by the three commissioners appointed to assess values and damages in connection with the proposed widening of Madison avenue from Front street to the railroad, and the report did not meet with the satisfactory approval of the members. They found that the commissioners' report called for an assessment of several thousand of dollars and no apparent basis for the allowance of damages could be determined. The proposed widening involves taking a strip from the westerly side of the avenue of about four feet and the hydrant located at the intersection of Front street and Madison avenue led the trustees to conclude that JamesW. Jackson, who was the builder of the corner structure, in placing a hydrant at that point, virtually dedicated this four feet of sidewalk to the public use.

The street when widened will simply give this strip over from the exclusive use of pedestrians to general traffic and the widening will enable storekeepers who load their delivery wagons on that side of the avenue more room to load their commodities without inconveniencing the public. Some of the properties along the street extend our beyond the Jackson building line and the owners of these structures will suffer the heaviest damages through having a portion of their buildings cut off. After visiting the site of the widening agitation the board of trustees voted to send a statement to the Common Council protesting against the acceptance of the commissioners' report and recommending that the report be returned for further consideration and that an opportunity be given all of those whose properties are involved to bring the matter before the commissioners personally.

JUNKMAN FINED $20; HE HAD NO LICENSE

Morris Silverman, of Rahway, arrested yesterday by Patrolman Nolan for buying junk without a license, told City Judge DeMeza this morning that he thought his discharge papers from the Navy made him exempt from license fee regulation. Investigation revealed that he was arrested in Rahway for a similar offense. The court here fined him $20, the limit of the law.

"Our junk dealers pay taxes and patronize local merchants," said the court in passing sentence, "and their rights will be protected as long as I occupy the bench. They pay a license fee and keep a record of every transaction, which is in accordance with the law to prevent thievery and to combat the methods of dishonest junk dealers."

DIPLOMAS GIVEN TO BORO PUPILS

Simple Exercises Mark the North P lainfield High School Commencement.

YALE CUP FOR TOWNLEY

Seventeen Are Graduated—Valedictory and Salutatory Addresses—Program in Charge of the Class—Presentation to the School.

With the recently adopted rule of simplicity prevailing throughout the entire exercises, seventeen members of the North Plainfield High School senior class were graduated from that institution in the theatre last night, diplomas being presented by Dr. Justus H. Cooley, president of the North Plainfield Board of Education, to Florence D. Coons, Thomas C. Fetherston, Mildred McAuliffe, Ruth I. Miller, John LeRoy Herrman, Churchill H. Robinson, Ethel Adele Herrman, Clarence B. Schmidt, Helen Y. Hughes, Alfred Schroeder, Raymond Kline, Clara B. Smith, David Levitz, Henry N. Spencer, George Townley, Richard Underhill and Marion Mair. Combining the usual Class Day program with that appropriate to the graduation of such a class as this one and placing the ceremonies solely in the hands of the graduating class and undergraduates, the borough schools established a precedent in sending pupils forth into the world at the completion of a four years course of study.

When the exercises were opened by an overture by the orchestra, the playhouse was filled to its utmost capacity, friends and relatives of the seventeen pupils occupying every seat in the theatre. The history of the 1913 class from its entrance into the North Plainfield High School in 1909 until the present time was related by Miss Ethel A. Herrman and the accomplishments of this group firmly establishes for it the right to be hailed as one of the most successful ever turned out by the borough educational system. The class poem, composed and read by Miss Clara Barton Smith, and the class will read by Henry Newton Spencer, were among the interesting features of the evening's program while a class song written by Miss Mildred McAuliffe and sung by the graduates was a musical production that was the subject of much favorable comment.

Unsurpassed in interest and a part of the program that was anticipated by everyone was the presentation of the Yale Cup offered annually to the North Plainfield High School graduate excelling in scholarship, athletics and deportment. Principal Benjamin J. Phelps, acting for the last time in the official capacity as head of the borough High School, made the presentation, he being a member of the Yale Club of this city. In presenting the cup to George Townley, Mr. Phelps spoke as follows of the young man who has distinguished himself in every line of endeavor while a High School pupil: "The recipient of this year's cup is a fellow whom I have never had to eliminate from athletic competition or from any other pleasure of school life for deficiency in scholarship. Never, during the whole four years of his High School course, has his scholarship average fallen below the prescribed medium, and not only has it been up to the standard, but it has been well above the passing mark. In order to find a tardy or unnecessary absence mark along side of this young man's name one would have to scan the registers of the North Plainfield school's further back than the year he entered upon his studies as a High School freshman. Because of his regularity and scholarship, George Townley is the honored holder of the greatest honor that can come to a Borough High School pupil at the completion of his High School course."

On behalf of the senior class, David Levitz, its president, presented the school with a handsome piece of statuary, Arthur E. Vossler, the supervising principal, accepting the token for the Board of Education and school. During his preliminary remarks, Dr. Cooley took occasion to refer to the recent announcement of Mr. Phelps' retirement as principal of the North Plainfield High School and commented on the retiring official's good work during his six years of faithful service. Mr. Phelps will leave in the fall to become superintendent of schools at High Bridge.

The program:

Overture, "Awakening of Spring," by the orchestra; invocation, by Rev. Charles C. Cain; chorus, "'Tis Morn," by the High School Glee Club; salutatory address, "Music," by Miss Helen Y. Hughes; class history, by Miss Ethel A. Herrman; waltz, "Garden of Dreams," by the orchestra; class poem, by Miss Clara Barton Smith; class prophecy, by Thomas Fetherstone; chorus, "Boat Song," and "Battle Hymn from 'Aida,'" by the High School Glee Club; class will, by Henry N. Spencer; class gift

Style never counts ten over the "Blue Serge!"

PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY, JUNE 14, 1913.

The editorial columns of this paper are conducted on Saturdays by representative citizens who are free to express their own views. Mrs. Sherman B. Joost, President of the Plainfield Branch, N. J. Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage, is the Contributing Editor for today.

SOME REASONS FOR OUR OPPOSITION TO WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

I have been asked by the Plainfield Daily Press to state as briefly as possible the reasons that have induced so many conservative women to come forward in opposition to the extension of the franchise to women. Perhaps I am expressing the experience of many women when I say that to some of us, the real feeling at first, was:

"I do not like you, Dr. Fell—
The reason why I cannot tell;
But this I know, full well, full well,
I do not like you, Dr. Fell."

And trusting in our past experience with intuitive judgments of men and things, some of us are content to rest there. As one young woman said: "I go away from a suffrage meeting almost persuaded, but by morning I always feel that my first ideas were right."

This may do for some, but as the subject has been more and more discussed, we have developed more definite ideas and have realized that a further acquaintance has given us a good many reasons for our opposition.

First. To every thinking woman opportunity means responsibility. We claim, and the suffragists to some extent have agreed, that the ballot is not a right, but an opportunity which they say should be given them to assist in the government.

The women opposed to woman suffrage feel that there is no real need for us to take responsibilities on our shoulders, for which so far, we, as a sex, have shown no marked ability.

We contend that we have enough to do in carrying on and caring for the race, in improving conditions and in awakening and keeping awake the public conscience.

Second. We live in a republic in which the majority is supposed to rule. By the statement of the secretary of the National Equal Suffrage Association, only eight per cent. of the women of the United States wish the ballot. Is it fair or just that ninety-two per cent. should have the vote thrust on them against their will? The suffragists claim that no reform movement ever started with a majority. This we know, but we contend that the burden of proof that the extension of the franchise to women is a reform is still upon them, as in the judgment of the Antis, results in the equal suffrage States do not warrant that belief.

Third. By our very nature we are unfitted for voting. Of course, to those who say that it does not take any longer, or as long to vote as to go to market, such a reason is ridiculous. But the right to vote carries with it much more than the mere casting of the ballot. To vote properly means serious study of problems involved, and more and more our business and our politics are becoming involved with each other. A well educated, intelligent, wage-earning woman said to me the other day: "One of the reasons I cannot join with the suffragists is that women have not the broad grasp of business knowledge which would enable them to legislate intelligently on such subjects as the tariff, our banking system, railroads, etc." The men are living amongst such things, and have in a large degree, a technical knowledge, which is entirely impossible of attainment by the average woman simply because her life never brings her into actual daily contact with these subjects.

The very nature of her special functions in the world—that of carrying on the race—forbids her from entering to any great extent into the business activities of men. Present conditions have forced an increasingly large number of women into the industrial world, but it is a well-known fact that it is the exceptional woman who attains any height on the industrial ladder. Most of them, quite rightly, are looking forward to marriage and motherhood, and therefore not devoting their real energies, as men do, to their business. We are speaking of course, of people in the mass, and not of individuals.

Fourth. We fear the indifferent, ignorant and vicious vote. We have them all, unfortunately in our present electorate. Give the ballot to women and this vote would be more than doubled. The indifferent and ignorant vote among women could be much more easily influenced by interested parties, than the same class of vote among men. As for the vicious vote, it would be absolutely under the control of unscrupulous politicians. On this subject let me quote from "Equal Suffrage," a book which contains the result of Prof. Helen Sumner's investigation in Colorado when she was sent there by the Collegiate Equal Suffrage League of New York State. She says: "It is often said, by equal suffrage advocates that, if given the franchise, prostitutes would not vote, as they would not be interested, and would not wish to give their names and addresses. This is a fallacy. True, they do not wish to vote. In the spring of 1895 they even sent a petition to the Woman's Republican Club of Denver imploring the interference of that organization to prevent them from being compelled to register. But in spite of the request of the Republican women and the promise of the fire and police board they were obliged to register and vote at nearly every election since that date. * * * * Prostitutes generally vote and their vote is cast solidly for the party in control of the police force. This is true not only in Denver, but in Pueblo, Cripple Creek and Trindad, and often in other cities." Equal Suffrage, page 83. The book was published in 1909 and certainly if conditions had changed much the suffragists would have issued a new, corrected edition. The alien vote also would be doubled by woman suffrage. And the alien vote is largely a hopelessly ignorant one, so far as our institutions are concerned. Too often, when not technically ignorant it is socialistic.

It would be interesting for those who believe equal suffrage will greatly improve the condition of women wage-earners to read Prof. Sumner's testimony as to the effect of equal suffrage in Colorado. And in speaking of wage-earning women, it is an interesting and somewhat significant fact that Emma Schuster, the leader of the late factory girls strike in Trenton, surprised those in charge of the "Anti" headquarters by coming in to sign one of their enrollment slips, being firmly convinced that equal suffrage would not ameliorate the working woman's condition.

Fifth. We believe that in giving up our political independence we will give up a great deal of our ability to work in real reforms. When we look at what has been accomplished without the vote, and the very little that has been done with it, it seems hardly worth while to give up a weapon that we have tried and proved for one that as yet is only largely and noisely advertised.

MARIE M. JOOST.

Voice of the People

The editorial columns of the Plainfield Daily Press on Saturdays are turned over to some prominent resident who is free to express his own opinion on any subject that he may select. This popular forum for the expression of public opinion has proven a great feature for the contributed editorials are of a high standard and are always on some topic of current interest.

We have been fortunate indeed in bing able to obtain for publication in this way articles by intellectual people, both men and women, who are fully conversant with the matters they discuss. It is with much pleasure that we announce that the editor for today is Mrs. Sherman B. Joost, president of the recently organizd branch of the New Jersey Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage, particularly as it affords an opportunity for the people to hear "the other side," this paper firmly believing in and advocating equal suffrage. As an independent newspaper we intend to give both sides a hearing before the public and we have been fortunate in persuading Mrs. E. F. Feickert, of this city, president of the New Jersey Woman's Suffrage Association, to be the editor for next Saturday.

THREE MORE POLICEMEN FOR THE LOCAL FORCE

Harry Brower, Florence Sullivan, LeRoy Martin, three of the candidates for appointment to the police force, will probably be named by Mayor Percy H. Stewart, at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council, Monday night. The police board expected to put on at least four or five men, but with the increased appropriations needed by all departments, it is said, it was necessary to cut the appointments down to three.

The three likely appointees have passed the mental and physical examinations and are said to have the right qualifications to make good patrolmen. If they are named they will be required to serve a probationary period before becoming regulars.

Defense of Little Round Top – Death of Weed – Peach Orchard – Fight of the Louisiana Tigers – Intense Loyalty of Confederates To Southern Cause Pathetic Hospital Scenes

THE morning of July 2nd, 1863, dawned bright and clear and the opposing forces were preparing and manoeuvering for positions of vantage to resume the terrible conflict. Meade had perhaps made the best use of the delay between the night of the preceding day and the opening of the second day's battle. He had marshalled his entire army at points where they could best resist assault or originate attack, and even before the contest had really opened much of the loss of prestige of the day before had been regained and the Union forces went into the fray with fresh courage.

As early as nine o'clock in the morning fire was opened on the Sixty-Third Pennsylvania Regiment belonging to the corps commanded by General Sickles which had been picketing along the Emmittsburg road. A company of sharpshooters were sent out and they returned with the news that the woods were swarming with Confederates. The firing continued at intervals until about three o'clock in the afternoon when there was a terrific conflict around Round Top which rolled on toward the Peach Orchard. The artillery fire was appalling, but this was only the prelude to more desperate work. General Longstreet, one of the greatest generals of the Confederacy, was moving his men down to strike the extreme Union left a blow and if possible crush it. The men in grey came on until it was thought that Little Round Top would fall into their hands, but the arrival of Sykes' Corps saved the day for the Union forces at this particular point.

General Weed was shot while on the summit of Little Round Top. Believing that he was about to die he was giving Lieutenant Hazelett his final message when the bullet of a Confederate sharpshooter sank into Hazlett's brain and he fell dead across the body of his dying friend. General Weed was carried to the Bushman farm house nearby which had been turned into a hospital. He knew that he could live only a few minutes longer, and when Lieutenant William H. Crennell came to his side he asked that the ring he wore be taken from his finger and sent with his pocketbook containing private letters to the young lady to whom he was engaged to be married—the daughter of the late Simon Cameron of Pennsylvania, who for a time was Secretary of War in Lincoln's Cabinet.

The greatest bravery was displayed by both armies and there were several hand to hand conflicts. The spots known as the Wheatfield and the Valley of Death were covered with the dead and dying, and after the storm of battle had ended and the hospital corps and burial parties came on the field the scene was a most horrible one. Down in the Valley of Death they found the body of a Confederate soldier—a fine specimen of manhood. He had crawled away to a secluded spot behind a rock and laid himself down to die. In his hands tightly clasped was an open locket containing the pictures of three small children. Wounded and alone, the din of battle still sounding in his ears, he had gazed upon the faces of the three children so soon to be fatherless. The man was buried with the simple headstone "UNKNOWN" to mark the spot, while somewhere in the sunny South three little children waited in vain for the father whose last act in life was to look upon their baby faces. Who can picture the mental suffering of this man as his life ebbed away?

General Warren, who was Meade's chief engineer, played a most important part in the defense of Round Top, and it seems but fitting that a bronze memorial in his honor has been erected on the very spot upon which he stood during the early hours of the battle. It is said that General Warren never made an official report and was always extremely modest in speaking of his work there.

At the close of the day in this part of the field the Union forces still held Little Round Top, while the Confederates were at the westerly base of the hill and were also holding the rocky cavern known as Devil's Den. While these momentous events were transpiring at the left the fighting on the right was no less severe for General Ewell was at the same time making a well-directed effort to carry the right of the Union line, and it was during this engagement that the famous charge of the Louisiana Tigers was made. These men came forward seventeen hundred strong and met the Union forces in a hand to hand conflict. It was nearly dark when the charge took place and the semi-darkness added to the horror of the carnage. One of the most dramatic scenes occurred when a Confederate lieutenant tried to grasp the battery's guidon which was planted on the breastworks. As he was in the act of gaining it a soldier named Riggin, who was its bearer, rode up and shot him through the body, and seizing the colors Riggin leveled his revolver again, but ere he could fire he fell pierced with bullets and soon afterward expired. The men of both armies were now in the midst of the battery, and in the darkness it was difficult to distinguish friend from foe. A struggle for the guidon ensued. It had fallen into the hands of a Confederate. This was discovered by Lieutenant Brockway, who seized a stone and felled him to the ground and the next instant the Confederate was shot by his own musket. The Confederates by this time outnumbered the Union soldiers and the wildest fighting followed. "Death on our own State soil rather than give the enemy our guns!" cried the Pennsylvanians. Just at that moment Carroll's Brigade came to the rescue and the Tigers retreated—these men of Early's Division who boasted that they had never before been repulsed in a charge. They retired with barely six hundred men and were never known afterward as an organization.

The intense loyalty of these men to the Southern cause was shown in an incident related by a Confederate surgeon who told the story a few days after the fight. He was pushing his way through a crowd of idle spectators when one of the wounded men called to him.

"Are you a Confederate?" he inquired in a feeble voice.

"Yes. What can I do for you," asked the surgeon going to his side. The man caught hold of the surgeon's arm and said pathetically, "What do you think, doctor! I am wounded and dying in the defense of my country and these people are trying to make me take the oath of allegiance to their's."

There was something so intensely loyal in the man's voice and manner that the crowd moved away in silence and the surgeon was so overcome that he dared not speak lest he should burst into tears. So he merely pressed the hand of the loyal Southerner upon whose brow the death shadows were fast gathering.

Out in a barn which had been turned into a hospital the nurse was going his rounds when he came upon a young soldier from the North who had aided in repulsing the Tigers but one of their bullets had given him a mortal wound. He was a manly young fellow and one who only a few hours before had been fighting for his country with all the patriotism and vigor of youth; but now the strong arms were listless and the dark hair was matted with blood. The nurse bent over him and at first sight thought him dead, but the white lips moved and he whispered:

"Now I lay me down to sleep—
I pray the Lord my soul to keep.
If I should die before I wake—
I pray the Lord my soul to take;
And this I ask for Jesus' sake."

Then he opened his eyes—"My mother taught me that when I was a little boy, and I have said it every night since I can remember. Before the morning dawns I believe the Lord will take my soul for Jesus' sake, and before I die I would like to send her a message." The nurse knelt on one knee beside the improvised bed and wrote a letter at the soldier's dictation. Then he closed his eyes. Just as the sun rose his spirit went home—his last words being those which he learned at his monther's knee in early childhood:

"I pray the Lord my soul to take:
And this I ask for Jesus' sake."

The battle for the day ended with the Confederates in possession of Culp's Hill and it was held by them throughout the night. On the left Sickles had been pressed slowly back to the position he had occupied in the morning and his lines were still in good order, but many of his brave men had gone to the Great Beyond. The situation had not greatly changed except that each army had lost about ten thousand men. The field after the battle was sickening, according to the story of a surgeon who was one of the first sent out. "Turn where I would," he said, "my eyes rested upon human bodies. Many of them were turning purple, and already there was a stench. Many had been killed in the act of firing. In one part of the field I found Major Light, the Assistant Adjutant-General on Ewell's staff. His horse also had been killed and was lying beside him. I turned my attention from the dead to the wounded. One of the first I found was a Confederate—a mere boy. He was beyond human aid and feebly asked for water. One of my men raised him gently and put the canteen to his lips. 'Is there anything more we can do?' I asked. 'Yes,' he said, 'a message.' I hastily pulled out a piece of paper and pencil. He gave me the address of his mother. 'Tell her,' he whispered, 'how I died—she knows how I lived.' A few minutes later he had passed away. I wrote to the boy's mother and afterward learned that he was her only child."

Several councils of war were held during the night by the officers but the greater number of the men slept, for they knew that the first gray dawn of the morning meant the renewal of this awful struggle of brother against brother.

DIPLOMAS GIVEN BORO PUPILS

presented by David Levitz and accepted by Arthur E. Vossler; Class Song, written by Miss Mildred McAuliffe and sung by the class of 1913; valedictory address, "Success," by Miss Ruth I. Miller; "Anthony and Cleopatra," by the orchestra; awarding of diplomas, by Dr. Justus H. Cooley; "My Cavalier," by the orchestra; awarding of the Yale Cup by Benjamin J. Phelps; chorus, "Storm Fiend,' by the High School Glee Club; benediction, by Rev. Charles C. Cain; closing selection, "College Chaps," by the orchestra.

Miss Ruth I. Miller, the valedictorian, said in part addressing the members of the graduating class: "Tonight is severed our connection, as a student body, with dear North Plainfield High School, where for four years we have worked together in happy comradeship. These years have been invaluable to us intellectually, socially and morally. For, after striving for this length of time to bear the lofty standards of our school our knowledge has been extended and our ideals made higher, thus creating for us a broader, brighter view of life. I am sure that we will work earnestly and faithfully, so that when the door of opportunity opens to us we shall be prepared to enter it."

Miss Miller's valedictorian address on "Success" in part:

"What is success, that strange almost indefinable something for which all are striving, almost without realizing what it is they wish to gain? To win success then, we must first begin life with a high and noble purpose, keeping ever in our minds the examples set by many great and good men who have lived and succeeded before us. Success is not dependent on luck and chance, for this is an age of fierce competition, and our motto, 'Nothing without labor,' must be a maxim with all who would reach the desired goal. Among the requisites for success are, the preparation for the chosen field of life work and courage. Success is not the result of chance and is but seldom accidental. Although once in a great while someone is fortunate, we cannot trust chance, for the only safe road to success is the highway of industry.

"If we are to succeed then, and win true happiness, we must first know our chosen vocation thoroughly, be honest, courageous, trusting and trustworthy, and diligent and persevering in the face of obstacles, realizing that 'the height by great men reached and kept were not attained by sudden flight; but they, while their companions slept, were toiling upward in the night.' And if when the battle of life is over, and we hear from the lips of our Master those precious words, 'Well done, thou good and faithful servant,' shall we not have won the truest, noblest success attainable by mankind?."

Miss Helen Young Hughes, the salutatorian, said in the course of her address on Music:

"Music is one of the higher arts. It may be said to be greater than any other art, for it embodies the emotions of which the others are but an outward expression. Music inspires people to greater deeds, it stirs the imagination and the player or singer herself is naturally influenced by music more than anyone else. The power of good music is not recognized today as it should be chiefly because there is not as much good music as there should be. In schools music is becoming a greater factor every day and its moral power is put to good use; but how about our homes and places of amusement? We find there nothing but the most empty instrumental music and ragtime. The good old composers and masters are pushed into the background for the compositions which are a meaningless mass of pretty notes.

"The American taste in music (as in most other pleasures of the day) is only for the light, frivolous and cheaply sentimental. But a far greater evil of the day is ragtime; for in this the music is not only poor, but the words are silly, vulgar and immoral. When a person once contracts the 'ragtime fever' he never again is able to appreciate good music. Ragtime deadens the sensibilities to the influence of all good music, stimulates rather than soothes and makes one forget rather than lessen it."

In addressing the Board, teachers, parents and friends of the graduates, Miss Hughes said:

"In behalf of the class of 1913, I cordially welcome you to our commencement exercises. For us this evening is an ending and a beginning. We have finished the happy days of school, free from care, and now we enter upon a life of responsibilities, for which our teachers have tried so hard to prepare us. We feel that we owe them and you many thanks for our education; our teachers for so patiently instructing us, you for making the instruction possible. So we wish the exercises of this evening to be a token of our appreciation to you as well as a commencement for us."

Happenings Due Next Week

Washington, D. C., June 14.—Governor Sulzer's spectacular fight for a direct primary law, in which he has been aided by Colonel Roosevelt, William R. Hearst and other noted political leaders of New York, will be brought to a climax when the State Legislature convenes in extraordinary session Monday to decide the fate of the measure.

President Wilson, if his other engagements permit, will go to Philadelphia Tuesday to speak at the unveiling of the New Jersey memorial erected at Valley Forge.

Former President Taft, with President Hadley, of Yale, will lay the cornerstone of the new Yale Coliseum on Monday.

A special election will be held Tuesday in the Sixth congressional district of New Jersey to elect a successor to Congressman Martin, deceased. As the district two years ago was about evenly divided between the Republicans and Democrats, there is considerable interest in the result of the special election.

The currency commission of the American Bankers' Association will meet in Atlantic City Tuesday to exchange views on the subject of currency legislation. The results of the discussion will be submitted to the United States senate.

Other important meetings of the week will include the annual convention of the National Editorial Association, at Colorado Springs; the annual meeting of the American Medical Association, at Minneapolis; the annual meeting of the Hotel Men's Mutual Benefit Association, at Louisville, and the annual convention of the International Printing Pressmen and Assistants' Union, at Rogersville, Tenn.

Other events that will figure more or less prominently in the news of the week will be the consecration of Rev. Samuel G. Babcock as suffragan bishop of the Massachusetts Episcopal diocese, the celebration at Wheeling of the semi-centennial of West Virginia statehood, the Democratic primary in Arkansas to select a candidate for governor, the Yale-Harvard boat races at New London, the intercollegiate regatta at Poughkeepsie, and the annual commencement exercises at Yale, Harvard, Pennsylvania, Brown and other of the large colleges of the country.

The celebration of the silver jubilee of Emperor William's reign promises to be the big event of the week in Europe. Other events in foreign lands will include the convention of the International Woman's Suffrage Alliance at Budapest, the meeting of the Pan-Presbyterian Council at Aberdeen, the opening of the International Horse Show in London, the German elimination trials for the coming German-American sonder class regatta, the British open golf championship tournament, the International Forestry Congress in Paris, and Argentina's celebration of the 300th anniversary of the founding of the University of Cordoba, the oldest university in the western hemisphere.

APPROVALS BY UTILITY BOARD.

Trenton, June 14.—Permission has been granted by the Board of Public Utility Commissioners for the construction of a grade crossing at South Eighth street, Long Beach, across the tracks of the Philadelphia and Beach Haven railroad. The permission was sought by the township.

Mrs. O. C. Moore, 57 Manning avenue, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I endured much misery from backache which was caused by my kidneys. Many nights I was unable to rest at all and when I got up in the morning, my limbs were so stiff and sore that I could hardly get out of bed. Whenever I caught the least cold it settled on my kidneys and any strain on my back always made the aches and pains worse. I was treated by physicians but their medicine did not help me and it was not until I got Doan's Kidney Pills at Randolph's drug store that I had any hope of getting rid of the trouble. They made me feel like a different person and I have never had any serious trouble since."

WANTS HALF FARE FOR NUNS.

Trenton, June 14.—Rev. William J. McConnell, of Belmar, superintendent of the parish schools of the diocese of Trenton, has made application to the Board of Public Utility Commissioners for an order for half-fares on railroads for nuns in this State who are engaged in educational or charitable work. The contention is that the sisters educate the people of the State without any compensation. The clergy now enjoy half-fares, and it is urged that the sisters should have the same privilege.

PROCTOR'S GREAT BILL FOR THE COMING WEEK

Walter Wale & Co. in a comedy drama, entitled "His Big Brother," will be the headline attraction at Proctor's theatre next week. This big time act, which has been presented in all the prominent vaudeville theatres in the country with great success, will be given here with an exceptional cast and special scenery.

The story affords opportunity for the cast to display its dramatic ability. It is that of two brothers having a ward, a beautiful girl of about twenty years. The younger brother falls in love with her, but is opposed by his elder brother when he asks his consent, and the action is intense. All ends happily, however. Mr Wale will be seen in the part of the big brother, in which he has scored such a success.

Desserts of Raspberries.

In spite of the fact that there is very little waste to raspberries, since they have neither hulls, skins nor pits to take up room in the baskets in which they are measured, they are a little expensive and a few of them can be made to go a long way if they are served in combination with something else for dessert.

One combination dessert containing raspberries calls for rice croquettes. To make them mix a cupful of cold boiled rice with two eggs and a little salt and sugar. Form the mixture into small cone-shaped croquettes, adding a few fine cracker crubs if it is not stiff enough. Roll the croquettes in beaten egg and crumbs and put on the ice for an hour or longer. Then fry brown in deep fat. Serve with raspberries crush and cover with cold syrup made of equal parts of sugar and water boiled eight minutes and cooled. This dessert can be varied if one part of currants are add to two parts of raspberries before the syrup is poured over them.

Charlotte.

Raspberry charlotte is made with the berries and sponge cake. Line a serving dish with little sponge cakes or lady's-fingers split in two. Crush raspberries lightly and cover them with sugar. Let them stand an hour in the ice-box. Then pour them on the sponge cakes and cover with whipped cream.

The following raspberry tart is delicious: Line a pie dish with puff paste and half fill it with fresh raspberries. Cover them with sugar and spread a thin top crust over them. Bake in a quick oven until the berries are tender and the crust is brown. Then remove the top crust and add half a pint of cream well beaten with the yolks of two eggs and a little sugar. Return to the oven and bake five minutes longer. Eat cold.

Pudding.

To make raspberry pudding, cream a quarter of a cupful of butter with a cupful of sugar and add the beaten yolks of four eggs, three-quarters of a cupful of raspberries crushed with half a cupful of raspberries and the stiff whites of four eggs. Beat the mixture until it is stiff and then put a layer of it in the bottom of a buttered baking dish. Next put a layer of crumbs, and fill the dish with alternate layers of crumbs and fruit. Top the dish with a layer of crumbs and bits of butter and bake for an hour in a moderate oven. Serve with a sauce of raspberries and currants crushed and covered with syrup of sugar and water.

STRAWBERRY ICES.

DINNER MENU.
Cream of Potato Soup.
Roast Lamb, Mint Sauce.
Canned Peas.
Whipped Potato.
Strawberry Sherbet.
Coffee.

COOLING desserts in which strawberries are ingredients are delicious for dinners, especially if one has guests and wishes to serve something very nice. Most of these ices are easy to make and can be quickly prepared.

Simple Fruit Ices.

Strawberry Water Ice.—Mash strawberries to make two cupfuls of juice when squeezed through a cheesecloth. Then mix four cupfuls of water and one and a half cupfuls of sugar. Bring to a boil and let boil for twenty minutes. Cool and add the strawberry juice, with a tablespoonful of lemon juice. Strain this and freeze until mushy; then serve.

Strawberry Ice Cream.—To one quart of strawberries add one quart of thin cream and two cupfuls of granulated sugar boiled to a sirup with one-half cupful of water. Mix well and strain and freeze. Pack in a fancy circular mold with a tight cover and let stand for two hours. Remove from the mold and fill the center with hulled strawberries carefully washed and drained.

Delicious Desserts.

Strawberry Sherbet.—Take one quart of mashed berries, sprinkle over these one pint of sugar, add the juice of one lemon and half a pint of water in which has been dissolved a tablespoonful of gelatin. Freeze like ice cream.

Strawberry Parfait.—Take a quart of cream, a half pint of strawberry juice and sugar to taste. Whip the cream to a froth, skimming as fast as the froth comes to the surface, and place in a colander to drain. Turn back the cream that drains off and whip over again. Then add the strawberry juice and sugar and mix carefully. Turn into an ice cream mold, press the lid down tightly, bind the joints with strips of buttered muslin, pack in salt and freeze for three hours.

Strawberry and Pineapple Ice.—Boil one and one-half pints of water with one and one-half cupfuls of sugar until it becomes a sirup. Take one and one-half cupfuls of finely shredded pineapple, sprinkle with half a cupful of granulated sugar. Let it stand in the refrigerator one-half hour and mash through a colander. Crush two and one-half cupfuls of fresh clean berries, cover with sugar, let stand in icebox one-half hour, strain through cheesecloth. Add strained pineapple and strawberries to the cooled sirup. Mix well and freeze.

The Boy Took His Thrashing Quietly

Daddy's Bedtime Story — A Boy Who Never Forgot His Whipping.

DADDY said that as it was so near the Fourth of July he would tell Jack and Evelyn a story about one of the boys of the Revolution.

"You know," daddy began, "the Revolution was the war which the American people once had with the English when old King George raised their taxes more than they thought he had a right to do. They said they wouldn't pay the taxes, and as it was on the Fourth of July the paper which said so was signed. That is the reason we celebrate the date as Independence day.

"But before King George would agree to let them alone a long and cruel war between England and America was fought. Many brave Americans enlisted under General George Washington, and when the war was over the English were glad to go home and let the Yankees do as they pleased. This was called the war of the Revolution.

"Among the American officers none was braver than General Daniel Morgan, and no one was more feared by the English soldiers. General Morgan was a terrible fighter. Not only did he think that the English king had no right to tax Americans, but he had a grudge of his own against the English.

"And this is how the grudge began. When England was at war with the French and Indians Daniel was a wagon boy in the army that marched over the mountains from Virginia to fight the French at old Fort Duquesne. One day something happened which was blamed on Daniel. The boy was not guilty, but the stupid and ill tempered officer in charge of the wagoners scolded him so sharply that the boy was provoked to reply. Angry at being answered in this way, the officer ordered that Daniel should be whipped, and he set the punishment at 500 lashes.

"The boy took the thrashing quietly, but he fainted when it was over. He always claimed that the man who counted the strokes made a mistake in counting and that he had been given only 499 instead of 500 lashes. Often when he told the story to the soldiers around the campfire in later days when he was an officer in the Revolutionary army he said, with a laugh, that the British still owed him one blow.

"He never forgot the unjust whipping and was one of the first to answer the call of the colony for soldiers when their war with England began. He gathered a troop of riflemen from the mountains of Virginia and Pennsylvania. These became famous for their courage and skill with the gun. They had been hunters and learned to shoot in hunting the deer and bear and wildcat in their own mountains. They feared nothing and never missed fire when they aimed their guns at anything. Morgan fought until the close of the Revolution and then went home to his farm near Winchester, Va., where he lived until the close of his life."

The John Wanamaker Store

Formerly A. T. Stewart & Co. — Broadway and Ninth, New York

Beginning Monday, June 16
A Notable Week for Women's Clothing

Condition of the market makes it possible to do for women what we have done for men—offering Wanamaker standard merchandise much below regular rates. Only, instead of offering the entire collection of clothing on one day, we shall specialize each day next week with different groups—the first groups ready Monday, as told below.

New York is the largest producer in the world of women's clothing. When the season comes to an end for the manufacturers there are always certain lots to be disposed of. When the season is late, as it was this Spring, these accumulations are larger than usual.

Into this market, right at our doors, we go, buying for the two Wanamaker Stores, each the largest in its city. With this large outlet we are able to take over in a lump such quantities that will pay the manufacturer to offer their goods to the public through us at very low prices.

Of course, we select only the kinds and grades of merchandise which we sell regularly, for no matter how little you pay at Wanamaker's the quality is guaranteed, and the sale is never complete until the customer is satisfied.

Next week's sales will be held both in the regular Salons of Fashion, on the Second floor (which, by the way have been entirely reconstructed and refitted), and in the Store on the Subway floor.

Monday, June 16

IN THE WOMEN'S GRAY SALONS ON THE SECOND FLOOR

A Collection of Fine Lace Gowns Regularly $60 to $70, at $35

Made up freshly for us by one of our artistic manufacturers just returned from Europe who is using up the lovely materials left from his season's orders.

One gown, an exact reproduction of a Maurice Mayer model; a second delicately colorful as a certain noble-woman's dresses; a third, of chiffon, would do credit to Jeanne Lanvin—so it goes through the entire group.

Each gown fresh and perfect, finished only in time for this special Wanamaker Week of Women's Clothes.

Nearly every gown an individual model.

Many of the white laces are combined effectively with black—and the dernier cri of Paris is black and white.

These beautiful gowns at $35 are suitable for afternoon or informal evening occasions.

Evening Dresses now $18.75

That Were Special Quality in Our Own Stocks at $35

Women will not only buy one or two of these—they will get them by the dozen. At that they will not cost as much as though the materials were bought and they were made at home.

Queries, Comment and Answers

Sporting Editor:

Query—Is the man living today who originated the game of baseball? What was the name of the first organized baseball club and where did it play? What sports were popular before baseball came into existence? When was the first professional baseball team organized and what was the name of said team? What was the origin of the National game?—H. M.

Answer—Take it easy, "H. M.," you will never be able to remember all of this even if I do succeed in supplying you with the answers. Henry Chadwick is known as the father of the National game and has been editor of the official baseball guide for twenty-six years, still acting in that capacity. The first organized baseball club was formed in 1845 and was known as the Knickerbocker club, playing in Hoboken and vicinity. Before baseball became common the old game of English cricket and horse racing were the only sports. It was in 1868 that the first professional baseball team was organized, the Red Stockings, of Cincinnati, who were the first men to draw salaries from baseball. As early as 1831 a game bearing a certain resemblance to baseball was played by the old Olympic town club, but as may be imagined, Mr. Chadwick has some very definite ideas as to the way in which the game originated. They are at variance with the accepted theories, but he continues to hold fast to the original belief that the modern game of baseball is the outcome of the old-fashioned English pastime known as rounders. (The end).

Query—What age must a young woman be to secure an automobile driver's license? Also is it necessary to have a license while learning to drive?—H. S.

Answer—She must be eighteen (18) years old to secure a license, and it is necessary for her to have a permit while learning to drive. A license will not be issued to her until she passes an examination as to her fitness to operate a car.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Please inform me as to the number of hours an operator has to work at night in the New York Telephone Company?—E. S. D.

Answer—Night operators work from 9 o'clock at night until 7 o'clock the following morning with a two hour relief during the night.

Query—Would it be possible for a person going to an out of town affair, where full dress will be worn, to wear his regular coat and carry the full dress coat in a suit case and change when arriving at the place?—F. G.

Answer—Wear your full dress coat. You will, of course, wear a light-weight top-coat over your dress coat.

Query—When is election day in Vermont?—U. O. P.

Answer—Election day in Vermont has been in September, but it was changed to November by a constitutional amendment adopted this year. The next State election there will be November 3, 1914.

Query—Kindly publish the world's record for the 10 yard and 229 yard swim, and the woman's record for the 50 yard swim?—F. W.

Answer—Duke Kahanamoku, the world's champion, established new figures in the 100 and 220 yard races this past week in competition at Honolulu, Hawaii. He swam 100 yards in 55 1-5 seconds and 220 yards in 2 minutes, 34 2-5 seconds. Miss Ruth Stacker, aged nineteen, of Honolulu, holds the record for 50 yard women's swim, with a mark of 31 seconds.

"MAC" SAYS

A Winner at Last.

One more title was added to the long list now cherished by the North Plainfield High School boys during the past week when the baseball nine representing that school captured the diamond championship of Somerset county. A season in any branch of sport seldom goes by but what the boroughites come to the fore in one county or another. Defeated in Union county by the Plainfield High School team, they go back across the water and annex the top notch rank among the Somerset county schools.

Two Stars Lost.

When Newton Spencer and George Townley were graduated from the North Plainfield High School last night, the borough school lost two of its most consistent athletic representatives. Townley has established a claim to the best all around athlete in the 1913 class, while Spencer has upheld the colors of his Alma Mater on many different occasions in a baseball uniform. Townley, the winner of the Yale cup, was captain of the past season's basketball team and one of the mainstays of the basketball five.

One Title Coming Delayed.

After struggling through the preliminary rounds and winning from all comers with invariable ease, Miss Edna Wildey, of this city, was forced to accept the smaller end of the score in the tennis match to decide the women's singles championship at the St. Martin's courts, Philadelphia, yesterday. Although the title appeared to be within the Plainfielder's grasp, Miss Greene, the winner exhibited a better brand of tennis and won by decisive margins.

Parker Field For All.

If the plans of the Playground Commission go through this summer, residents of this city will be treated to an innovation that has been introduced into the life of no other city in the State. The local commissioners plan to place hammocks and various other restful equipments on Plainfield's main playground and sacred concerts have also been suggested for Sunday afternoons. Not only will the recreative fields be for the use of the juvenile set, but "grownups" will also be catered to this summer.

Safe and Sane Fourth.

Following the passage of the Safe and Sane Fourth of July ordinance by the local Common Council, the playground commission has started the agitation for a fireworks celebration at Parker Field. The display will be free to all and the patriotic young Americans who will be forced to do without the explosives all day will have their cravings satisfied in a human way that night.

N. P. H. S. Leaders.

Ashley Burner has been elected captain of the North Plainfield High School basketball team for next season and David Smalley will lead the baseball nine. Both of these players have distinguished themselves in their respective athletic specialties and will no doubt prove competent as leaders.

MISS WILDEY LOST THE FINAL SERIES

Local Player Relinquishes Claim to Championship in Women's Singles.

Miss Dorothy Green, of the Merion Cricket Club, Philadelphia, yesterday earned the right to meet Miss Mary Browne in the challenge round for the national lawn tennis singles championship title by a straight set victory over Miss Edna Wildey, of this city, in the tournament on the courts of the Philadelphia Cricket Club, at St. Martin's. The scores were 6-2 and 6-4.

The match was an interesting one to watch and those who thought that Miss Wildey might pull through on account of her superior generalship were mistaken, for Miss Green, if anything, played the steadier game. She certainly played a much more aggressive game than her opponent, and hit much harder. Probably Miss Wildey would have done much better if she had endeavored to be the aggressor at the start and had played closer to the net more, but she stuck to the back of the court and it undoubtedly played into the hands of Miss Green. The latter started out as if she intended to play her opponent off her feet, and succeeded so well that she won the first four games despite the fact that deuce was called in the second and fourth. Miss Wildey pulled herself together in the fifth and won easily. Deuce was called twice in the sixth game, but a couple of great strokes by Miss Green earned her the game and she held a lead of five games to one. Miss Wildey won the next game, but Miss Green ran through the eighth and took the set.

The second set was far more interesting and Miss Wildey proved that she can fight a good uphill battle. She won the first game to love and took the second after deuce had been called. Miss Green got into her stride again in the next two games. She won the third after 30 all had been called, and captured the fourth to love. Miss Wildey took the fifth game and was in the lead once more, but Miss Green was in no way disconcerted, and, continuing to play with great judgment, practically put the result beyond doubt by winning the next three games. Miss Wildey won the ninth easily and in the tenth she made a valiant effort to put off the inevitable. Deuce was called five times before Miss Green won and earned the right to meet Miss Browne in the challenge round.

In the semi-final round of the mixed doubles, Miss Wildey and Miss Dorothy Green defeated Mrs. Dixon and Mrs. Sands, 6-3, 6-4.

Scout Patsy Donovan, of the Red Sox, believes that Pitcher Harry Imlay, of the University of Pennsylvania nine, is ripe enough to perform in the big show. It is expected that Imlay will join the Sox as soon as Penn winds up this month's list of games.

LOCAL DRIVER HURT BUT FINISHES FIRST

"Review Belis" Once More a Victor Although "Pocketed" Near Wire.

Before a crowd of 10,000 horse racing followers, at the Oxford fair grounds yesterday afternoon, "Review Bells," owned by Lester B. Harris, of this city, took first place in the 2:14 mixed, winning a purse of $250. In the five heats run during the afternoon the local horse finished second in the first and second heats; sixth in the third, and first in the fourth and fifth. The four events on the afternoon's program were all closely contested and the racing was continued until long after sundown.

The final heat in mixed, "Review Bells" won the event, Thomas Brantingham, of Park avenue, who was driving the animal suffered a serious injury that may keep him out of the game for some time. The local driver, who was a strong favorite, was pocketed near the finish, but despite the painful injuries he sustained through the unsportsmanlike racing of his rivals, he gamely stuck to his seat and came out in the leading, hanging up a mark of 2:13. Mr. Brantingham was taken to a hospital in New Brunswick and Mr. Harris went to that town to bring the injured man to this city by automobile this morning. The extent of his injuries have not as yet been determined.

BASEBALL NOTES

Manager Joe Tinker is finding it hard work to lift his Reds out of the cellar and keep them up where the sun can shine on them.

First Baseman Chick Gandil has not dropped a thrown ball in the year that he has been playing with the Washington club.

The Dubuque and Davenport teams are out in front and running neck and neck in the Three-Eye League pennant race.

Schalk, Mattick and Fournier, the three White Sox rookies, are putting up a grand game for the Callahan crew.

It looks as though the New York Yankees are out to hang up a record for a team losing games on its home grounds.

No more fungo hitting for Walter Johnson. Clark Griffith does not believe that this form of exercise does the big fellow any good.

Pitcher Nap Rucker of the Superbas is still mowing down the heavy sluggers. When the old boy is right and he turns on the heat, it's whiff, whiff for the timber pushers' union.

For the first time in a number of years Charley Frank's New Orleans team failed to catch the step in the Southern League race this season and are now resting in the subway.

Bert Shotten, of the Browns, is playing regular ball this season. He is batting over .300 and is also among the dozen leading run-getters and base-stealers in the American League.

This season has been a tough one on major league pitchers. The hitting has been so strong that few games have been played without either one or both of the opposing teams using up several slabbers.

McDonald, of the Boston Braves, and Cravath, of the Phillies, are battling for the lead in the list of National League batters. Both players are hitting well over .400.

With the exception of Cobb, who is playing true to form, the Detroit Tigers don't seem to be there with the knockout punch. One reason is that Jennings' pitchers have not found the right recipe.

Wall street speculators who take an occasional flyer on baseball are laying 6 to 1 that the Giants copper in the National league, and even money that the Athletics bring home the bacon in the American League scramble.

Northern League batters have taken quite a liking to the slants of "Rube" Waddell, who is pitching for "Spike" Shannon's Virginia team. They have been pounding the "Rube" to the far corners of the yard.

Joe Jackson, of the Naps, if he keeps up his present gait, will establish a remarkable record in hitting for extra bases. Polling out two-baggers and three-baggers seems to be Joe's daily stunt.

SLOCUM WILL PITCH FOR NEW BRUNSWICK

Signed to Take Ortlieb's Place at Somerville This Afternoon.

Manager Ernest Dorflinger, of the Plainfield baseball club, who agreed to furnish a battery for the New Brunswick baseball team in the league game with Somerville this afternoon, and accordingly signed George Ortlieb to do duty, received word almost at the last minute last night that "Germany" had signed to warm the bench for Dave Driscoll's clan at Ridgewood this afternoon, where they play the Lincoln Giants and therefore would not be able to appear in a Somerville uniform.

In place of Ortlieb, Dorflinger managed to get Louis Slocum, the Plainfield boy who recently returned from the Carolina League and he will occupy the mound for the New Brunswick aggregation this afternoon.

WHITTAKER DISCOVERS WATER RACING MARVEL

One of the most conspicuous figures in the big international water meet to be held in Chicago late in June will be a swimmer trained by George Whittaker, formerly physical director of the local Y. M. C. A. A. C. Raithel, of the Illinois Athletic Club, is the entrant who is attracting world-wide attention and much of his ability as a racer is due to the careful training he has received at the hands of Whittaker, who will be remembered by many in this city as a wonderfully speedy man in the water.

Raithel, who is but eighteen years of age, last week equaled the world's record for the 100 yard swim made by C. M. Daniels in 1910, and he has been announced by experts as the best all around piece of swimming material ever discovered in this country. His teammates and Whittaker expect him to break every national standard in the near future and the coming events will afford him the first opportunity to show what he can do in open water at the middle distances.

The familiar crawl stroke of Whittaker is used exclusively by Raithel. While physical director in this city, the athletic club swimming instructor taught a number of the Y. M. C. A. members the finer points of the crawling stroke and since he left Plainfield it has become quite a fad here.

WORLD'S SUFFRAGE MEETING AT BUDAPEST

Budapest, June 14.—Thousands of women, representing nearly every race, language and religion of the world, have gathered in the ancient capital of Hungary to take part in the seventh conference of the International Woman's Suffrage Alliance, which opens Monday and continues in session through the week. The hostelries of the city are taxed to their capacity, and many of the leading families have opened their homes for the accommodation of the visitors.

The convention promises to give to "the cause" the most notable impetus since the inception of the equal suffrage movement. The delegates include hundreds of men and women who are ranked among the intellectual leaders in their own countries. From Spain has come Comtessa Emilia de Pardo Basan, the famous novelist, while among the delegates from Sweden is Selma Lagerlof, also famous as a writer of fiction. Flora Anna Steele, the English novelist; Herman Bahr, the Austrian writer; the Marchesa Lucifera, Italian orator; Keir Hardie, English labor leader, Catherine von Rennes, the Dutch composer, and Lawrence Housman, the English author, are among the noted delegates.

Several countries will be represented for the first time, among them Egypt, China, India, Burmah, Japan and the Philippines. Other countries that will take a prominent part are Great Britain, Australia, Canada, South Africa, France, Austria, Germany, Sweden, Belgium, Bulgaria, Iceland, Denmark, Bohemia, Servia, Hungary, Switzerland, Italy and the United States.

As representatives of the country where the equal suffrage movement has won its most notable victories the delegates from the United States naturally will have a leading part in the proceedings of the international conference. The American delegation numbers several hundred members and includes such noted leaders as Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president and founder of the Alliance; Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, president of the American Woman Suffrage Association; Miss Jane Addams, of Chicago; Mrs. Henry Villard, Miss O. H. P. Belmont and Mrs. William Tod Helmuth, of New York; Mrs. Stanley McCormick, of Boston, and Miss Anna Maxwell Jones, of Texas. Frederic Nathan, of New York, is here as a delegate to the Men's International Alliance for Woman Suffrage, which is to meet at the same time as the women's organization.

Preliminary meetings will be held tomorrow in many of the churches of Budapest. Prominent among these will be the services of the American delegation, which will be attended by all delegates who speak the English language. The assemblage will listen to an address on the equal franchise problem from the Rev. Anna Howard Shaw, of Philadelphia.

Following the exchange of greetings and the other formalities of the opening the delegates will assemble Monday for the first of the regular sessions. Each morning of the week the delegates will meet to discuss the business problems that have perplexed the diversified membership of the International Alliance. The afternoons will be devoted to sightseeing and the evenings to mass meetings and features of social entertainment.

Each of the forenoon sessions will be devoted to the consideration of different subjects bearing upon the propagation of woman's suffrage throughout the world. There will be a report from each of the delegations representing their constituent countries. These reports will embody a narration of the progress made during the past few years, the plans of campaign found most effective in that particular country and an exchange of ideas through debate.

BENNETT BRITTON A CENTENARIAN

Well Known Plainfielder Celebrating His 100th Birthday Without Any Fuss.

A JOLLY DUTCHMAN

Looks and Acts Like a Man of Seventy Though He Is a Great-great Grandfather—Attributes Long Life to Taking Exercise

Bennett Britton is celebrating the one hundredth anniversary of his birthday today in a quiet manner at his home at West Front street and Clinton avenue. During the day friends of Mr. Britton have been calling on him to extend congratulations. Possessing remarkable vigor for one of his years, he neither looks nor acts his age.

Mr. Britton was born in Paterson, June 16, 1913, of old Holland stock. Throughout most of his life he has followed the hotel business. At the outbreak of the Civil War, he enlisted in Co. B, 1st N. Y. Cavalry He was 48 years old at the time, and in order to enlist was obliged to give his age as 45 years. He was conducting a hotel at Sixth avenue and Forty-first street at the outbreak of the war, and after the was he located in the country in the vicinity of Scotch Plains, removing to this city later, where for many years he has conducted a cigar and tobacco business.

Mr. Britton is one of the oldest members of the Veteran Volunteer Firemen's Association, of New York city. He is a member of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., and Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, Knights of Pythias. On July 4, Mr. Britton will attend the reunion of veterans of the North and South at Gettysburg. He has one daughter and is a great-great-grandfather, the children being the issue of the one daughter, Mrs. Susan DeCastro, who have lived in Havana, Cuba, for the past thirty years. She is nearly seventy years of age. For many years she has made it a rule to visit her father every summer.

Mr. Britton possesses a remarkably active mind and takes a great interest in daily happenings. He believes in exercise and for years it has been his daily custom to take a long walk. During his younger days he was quite a smoker but gave up the habit about twenty-five years ago.

CITY LEAGUE WILL USE BALLS ON ANOTHER MAKE

A player limit of twenty was established at a week-end meeting of the City Baseball League teams captains and managers held in the club rooms of the West End Athletic Club and a revised list of the four teams' rosters must be in the hands of the league secretary before June 18. A motion was adopted which will require every manager to hand his team's lineup into the Press before Thursday of each week.

A number of kicks were forthcoming regarding the use of the Spalding official baseball many of the managers claiming that it did not come up to the requirements of the league and that another ball should be substituted at once. The board, after a lengthy discussion, decided to try some other make and in games to come the organization will experiment with horsehide spheres of another variety. The Spicer team asked that the name of Ayers be admitted to their enrollment to serve in the capacity of umpire, as Mr. Coriell, who originally did this work, had signed with the West Ends to be a kicker instead of a kick receiver.

THE TEMPERATURE.

The temperature report from the State Trust Company today is as follows: 9 a. m., 76 degrees; 11 a. m., 87 degrees; 1 p. m., 93 degrees.

WE WORK AND EAT TOO MUCH HE SAYS

More Play and Rest the Need of the Times Declares Rev. Dr. Eaton.

"The Crushing Burden of Our Civilization," was the subject of a sermon delivered by Rev. Dr. Charles A. Eaton in the Madison Avenue Baptist church, New York, yesterday morning, in the course of which he declared that civilization is not all a blessing, that he finds that people eat, drink and work too hard and that the world is debt-ridden. In the opinion of Dr. Eaton civilization has not always been a blessing in New York city.

"We have libraries, churches, schools and all else, for which man has been striving," said Dr. Eaton, "but the point is: 'Are we individually greater than were our fathers of a hundred years ago? Have you higher ideals and thoughts and determinations than did your father, who did not have all these advantages of the advance civilization?'"

Dr. Eaton asserted that values in all parts of the world are going down, that there is not a Bourse in the world that is not at low ebb, not a nation that is not financially embarrassed and in America it is just the same. He attributed much of the cause for this to the fact that science has advanced at such a rate that men and women have more to worry about than before, and there is the constant endeavor to get the best of everything no matter what the cost. Dr. Eaton in explaining that people today cannot do what their fathers did, said it was because they are not made of the stuff, adding that people are eating, drinking, working too hard and not getting enough rest nor enough play and as a result people are breaking down morally and intellectually.

Mrs. John Beattie, of South Second street, was given a surprise Saturday night, when a company of about forty friends called at her home. The affair was in the nature of a farewell party as Mrs. Beattie will leave on Saturday on the Columbia, of the Anchor line, for her home in Scotland.

I. Smalley, at the latter's home 410 Central avenue. The event came as a pleasant surprise to Miss Reynolds who was presented with a large bouquet of carnations by those present. Cards and musical selections were enjoyed and supper was served. The table was decorated with roses and other cut flowers and palms were profusely distributed about the reception room. Irving Henry Paine, aged fifty-six years, a practicing lawyer in New York for many years, died last night of a complication of diseases at his home, 430 East Front street. He was a member of the New York Bar Association. During his residence here he attended St. Mary's R. C. church.

There survives a wife, Mrs. Josephine M. Paine, one daughter, Miss M. Elizabeth Paine, a sister, Mrs. Hiram Hager, of Newark, and a brother, George W. Paine, of Odessa, N. Y. The remains will be taken to Hornell, N. Y., tomorrow where the funeral and burial will be held on Wednesday.

MRS. FEICKERT SPEAKS AT SUFFRAGE MEETING

Prominent local suffragists spoke before an interested audience yesterday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Greene, in Ranway road, who had invited their neighbors and friends to be present and hear arguments in favor of "Votes for Women." Rev. Arthur E. Wilson, pastor of All Souls' Unitarian church, opened the session with prayer and later spoke of the need of women in politics. Asserting that 90 per cent. of all inmates of the States' prisons are men and that 80 per cent. of the steady attendants in the Sunday-schools are women, the speaker soid that it could thus be seen that a great moral and religious force sorely needed in politics, is not being utilized.

Mrs. Edward Feickert, of this city, said there are 150,000 women working in factories and sweat-shops of New Jersey for an average wage per week of less than $4, emphasizing that these women need the protection that equal suffrage would give them. She also gave interesting statistics relating to the laws effecting women and children in the various States tending to prove that where women have the ballot conditions are greatly improved.

Champlain L. Riley spoke of legislative efforts being made in behalf of women suffrage and Philetus Riley and Irwin Jones passed enrollment slips and secured many new supporters for the "cause." Many young people of Mt. Pleasant were present.

THERE'S A GREAT BILL AT THE PROCTOR HOUSE

Attention of amusement-lovers is called to the exceptionally fine vaudeville bill offered at Proctor's theatre, today, which is headed by Walter Wale & Co., who appears in a "big time" sketch entitled, "His Big Brother." Hereafter, unusual care will be exercised in selecting the bill for Proctor's theatre and patrons may feel assured that every act will be clean both in word and deed. Many improvements have been made at the theatre and others are contemplated. Attention is directed to the half-page advertisement appearing in another part of The Daily Press.

DAMON AND PYTHIAS ATTEND DIVINE SERVICE

Perseverance and Unity Lodges, Knights of Pythias, attended service at the First Presbyterian church, last night, when Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring, the pastor, delivered a special sermon on the theme, "The Ideal Friendship." He said that true friendship was the strong habitual promotion of happiness of two persons, having its being in time of adversity as well as in times of prosperity.

"Judas," Dr. Herring said, "the traitor of friendship, is pictured by Dante as being in the depths of the infernal regions. The friendship of Jesus is as a magnet, reaching down into the depths and lifts men upward. It is right that we should be friends of positive nature and not among those of a negative character." Dr. Herring referred to the story of Damon and Pythias and their intense, loyal love for one another and to the unfailing friendship of the Christ.

ROYAL ARCANUMITES FLAG DAY JUNE 23

Big Fraternal Order Celebration on its Thirty-sixth Anniversary.

The Royal Arcanum will observe its flag day on Monday, June 23, on which day the order will be thirty-six years old. During that time it has paid millions to widows and orphans throughout the land and the order is still growing, the year 1913 finding it more prosperous than ever. Of the 250,000 members in the United States, the major part will display the Stars and Stripes as a token of its successful past and as an incentive for the future.

The people of the city will understand why Old Glory is unfurled on June 23 and realize that Plainfield Council, No. 711, only a small part of the order, has paid to the widows and orphans of Plainfield over a quarter of a million dollars in death claims. Plainfield Council wil celebrate the day at its next meeting. The exercises wil be historic and interesting.

PARENTS AS HOSTS OF CAMP LEADERS

State Y. M. C. A. Officials Met at the Home of Mrs. Herbert Condict.

An inspiring and enthusiastic meeting of people interested in boys' work was held on the lawn of the residence of Mr. and Mrs. G. Herbert Condict, on Central avenue, Saturday afternoon, under the auspices of the parents of the Plainfield boys who will go from here to spend their summer vacations at the Y. M. C. A. camp at Lake Wawayanda this summer. About thirty camp leaders and fifty parents and friends of the campers were in attendance and plans outlined by those closely affiliated with the work of the camp gave the parents a clearer insight as to just what is offered at the summer rendezvous for the local boys.

Officials of the New Jersey Boys' Work Committee were present at the gathering and from the encouraging reports of the work submitted by them, it looks as though this season was going to be a banner one in the history of the camp. The largest delegation ever sent from Plainfield, over forty in number, will leave here during the next few weeks under the leadership of C. William Bingeman, the local boys' secretary, who is assistant supervisor at the camp, to spend a whole or a part of their summer outing in this way.

A committee representing the Plainfield parents, headed by Mrs. Phillip S. Suffern was in charge of the affair and a program consisting of the following speakers and subjects occupied the work of the afternoon: "Welcome," by Herbert Condict and C. William Bingeman; "Athletic and Aquatic Contests," by George L. Listman, of Montclair. "Summer Vacation School," by Charles R. Scott; "Honor System," by Wendell Glover, a leader from this city; "Camp Program for 1913," by Charles R. Scott, camp director; "What the Home Expects From the Camp," by Mrs. Erickson, of this city; "A Visitor's Impression," by Jamees E. Kimball; "Devotional Period," by Rev. Charles O. Wright, of Ridgewood; "Confidential Information," by John T. Sproull, the State treasurer of the Boys' Work Committee. Charles T. Kilbourne, who presided at the meeting, introduced the various leaders and the serving of refreshmeents followed under the supervision of the local committee.

SEVEN GRADUATE AT LEAL SCHOOL

Yale Cup Presented to Walter Harrington, Best in Scholarship and Athletics.

AWARD SOME MEDALS

Baseball Cup Is Won By James Nash—Declamations By Pupils—Principal John Leal In Charge of the Exercises.

Seven young men were graduated at the annual closing exercises of John Leal's School for Boys held at the school on West Front street this morning. The graduates and the colleges which they will enter in the fall are: Walter Harrington, Boston "Tech.;" Roger Stewart, Cornell; Adel Moldenke, Columbia; Jack Sheppard and Louis Strong, Princeton; Egbert Fountain, Colgate, and James Nash, Temple College, Philadelphia.

The exercises were in charge of Mr. Leal. One of the most interesting features was the awarding of the Yale cup by the Plainfield Yale Club, to the student showing the best all-round average in studies and athletics. This cup was won by Walter Harrington, and was presented to him by Henry L. DeForest on behalf of the club. The award was a popular one, judging by the applause.

Will T. Glenney presented a handsome cup to the member of the baseball team having the best batting and fielding average, and this went to James Nash. It was regretted that owing to a recent accident in which his leg was broken in a baseball game, he could not be present to receive the cup. His fellow members made up a purse, purchased a sweater bearing the initial "L," which will also be presented to him as a token of esteem.

Medals were presented to the following members and manager of the school baseball team: Lawrence Schneider, Walter Harrington, Stewart Feber, Seward Faber, Orton Dale, Frederick Stevenson, Chauncey Stewart Faber, Seward Lyons, Orton Dale, Jack Sheppard and Jack Stevens.

During the exercises there were six declamations by the following students: Charles Ivins, Clarence Grigues, Duncan Mellor, Donald Kin, Robert Miller and Egbert Fountain, each one acquitting himself with credit. In the absence of a speaker, Mr. Leal explaining that he had been disappointed, he made a short address to the audience. Other features were the musical selections by the school orchestra and a violin solo in conclusion by William King, of the school faculty. There was a large attendance of parents and friends of the school and all thoroughly enjoyed the program.

POLICE CCHIEF RETURNS.

Police Chief Patrick S. Kiely returned yesterday from Washington, where he attended the annual convention of the International Police Chiefs' Association. Among the important subjects discussed at the convention were the social evil and juvenile criminality. It was the opinion that women alone could solve the social evil. Chief Kiely read a paper on "Juvenile Criminality," in which he advocated destroying all records of juvenile offenders when they become of age and giving them a "clean bill of health."

SLUGGING MATCH WON BY THE B. A. A. BALL TOSSERS

Batting the horsehide to the four corners of the field, the B. A. A. ball tossers won their initial victory of the season on Crescent Oval Saturday afternoon when they tamed the Inter-triangle A. C. nine by a score of 13 to 6. At some intervals it looked as though the visiting team would duplicate its victory of the previous week but the B. A. A. players kept pounding Patterson's delivery until they had its mysteries completely solved.

Mills started poorly for the B. A. A. team but in the last four innings not a hit or run was made from his delivery.

BELLOWS WON THE TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP AND TROPHY

Stanley Bellows, of Woodland avenue, won the silver loving cup offered for the tennis singles championship of the Grace Episcopal Church Young Men's Club by winning the final round of play on the Netherwood courts Saturday afternoon. A large field of entrants turned out to contest the tournament arranged to decide the title and young Bellows had some strong opponents in the preliminary and opening rounds, and he survived the many rounds before the finals were reached only after encountering some strong contenders for the title.

The cup won by Bellows was offered for the member of the church club who won the spring championship and is a silver trophy standing twelve inches in heighth. This is not the first event Bellows has captured on local tennis courts, for he was a lively contender for honors in this particular line of sport while a student in the Plainfield High School.

TRIUMPH FOLLOWS HUMAN SUFFERING

Rev. Mr. Mallery Says There is a Deep Purpose in Trials and Tribulations.

"I reckon that the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us," was the text of an interesting sermon delivered by Rev. C. H. Mallery, at the Church of the Heavenly Rest, yesterday morning. During the preliminary part of his discourse, the clergyman referred to a large amount of physical and mental suffering which he stated has recently visited his parish and neighborhood, adding that there is some deep purpose in it all.

"We should guard against letting it drive us to unfaithfulness or despair," said Mr. Mallery. "It is allowed to come to us in the divine wisdom. Self-examination may often reveal that wise purpose. We should always remember that God loves us in it all, and if we but cast ourselves upon Him we shall not fail of support.

"We can see to a large extent the divine wisdom and good in it, however. It makes us more prayerful; more sympathetic with one another and brings out the best in us. Let us, however, not be content with so narrow a view of it all. Let us look out rather than within; upward rather than downward. We can do this with St. Paul.

"Paul who gives us our text, used the word 'reckon,' meaning that he was certain. Here the apostle puts all present distress upon its true and highest plane. It is but the birth pangs of a new, higher and better life to come. 'For the earnest expectation of the creature' waiteth for the manifestation of the Sons of God. Note St. Paul's sufferings; also his consciousness that the change, disappointment, decay in man and nature pointed to a blessed consummation of all things. Every Christian's suffering are followed by his exaltation and triumph. Man and nature in general are all involved in the pain and distress which sin brings into the world.

"But if borne and struggled with in patient faith, trust, confidence and hope in God it shall issue in a new heaven and new earth, when in the words of the prophet 'the redeemed of the Lord shall return and come with singing unto Zion and everlasting joy shall be upon their head: they shall obtain gladness and joy; and sorrow and mourning shall flee away.'

"The desire in man for restoration, perfection and peace shall not be disappointed. God would not mock us by implanting this desire in us and then refuse its fulfillment. All this, however, calls for strong faith in God and a certain amount of detachment from the world. The worldly minded cannot accept it at all and it is difficult for many Christians to do so when in trouble, but it is the ultimate solution of our difficulties and our final hope of refuge and support in them."

BRANTINGHAM RECOVERING.

Thomas Brantingham, of Park Avenue who was injured while driving Lester B. Harris' horse, "Review Bells," to victory at the Oxford Fair Grounds, Friday afternoon, was removed to his home in this city Saturday and is now resting comfortably. INDEPENDENCE DAY.

After several years' agitation, Plainfield, usually the pioneer in progressive legislation in Jersey municipalities, has followed in the lead of other communities in enacting a "safe and sane" Fourth of July ordinance. When the movement was started there were many who worked against the proposed reform holding to the opinion that the "good, old fashioned Fourth" was well enough for them. President George S. Clay, of the Common Council, an excellent citizen, was among the number but evidently he experienced a "change of heart" recently, for it was due to him that a "safe and sane" measure was introduced in the city's lawmaking body and was passed without any objection. Thanks to him and to his colleagues who have thus shown their appreciation of the value of "life, limb and property."

But it is not sufficient that we thus stamp ourself as a municipality abreast with the times in this manner. Something else should be done before our duty is accomplished. Independence Day is our greatest National holiday. It is great in the sense that all our forty-eight States that go to make up our glorious Union observe the day when we as a Federal Union were declared to be free and independent of foreign domination, for in the strict sense we have no such thing as a National holiday. Congress has only such powers as are given to it in the Federal Constitution and inasmuch as it is not invested with the right to ordain a holiday, that right rests with the several States, all of which have set aside the Fourth Day of July for a celebration of the anniversary of our independence.

As a people, therefore, in each and every community, we should see that there be an observance of the day. To this end, the people collectively as a government and individually should participate in a demonstration. To be brief, the city administration and individuals in this, as in other places, should contribute to a fund to defray the expense of a celebration, including a band concert and fireworks and possibly also an athletic meet. Throughout the land, many municipalities are doing it. Our neighbor, Elizabeth, is among the number. Why not Plainfield?

Contributions for the summer work of the City Union of The King's Daughters will be received by The Daily Press following our annual custom of raising a fund for that laudable undertaking. The camp on the mountain has been abandoned since the babes of the poor can be made more comfortable and can have the benefit of every convenience at the Day Nursery. The Woman's Society for Christian Work of the Seventh-Day Baptist church is the first to send a check, $5.00 having been received from that organization.

For nothing better to occupy its time, the New Jersey State Bar association, a mutual admiration society, at its convention the other day advocated a reduction in the legal advertising fee rates. When starting in on the regulating business, the lawyers might consider themselves as a class for we never knew of a modest barrister when it came to the "for services rendered" part of it.

Rev. Dr. Eaton, who exists in New York on Sundays and lives in Watchung six days in the week, told his flat-dwelling congregation yesterday that people today are eating too much and working too hard and that they should take more rest and have more play. MEMORIAL DAY FOR KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS

Services Held at All Local Cemeteries Where Graves Are Decorated.

Crescent Company, No. 13, Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias, accompanied by Unity Company, of Elizabeth, and the Independent Fife and Drum Corps, of this city, when they visited the local cemeteries and the knights conducted a ritualistic service at the graves of departed members.

Captain J. E. Flannery was in charge of the services, assisted by Oliver R. Pierson, William Watkins, Charles McGinley and Fred Douglas. John Alberts and Michael Connelly acted as color-bearers. During the services the graves were decorated with flowers, together with the national and lodge colors.

Among the guests of Crescent Company were Major A. L. Drucker and Captain John Schneider, of Elizabeth; Col. William E. Howe, of Kearny, and Col. Charles A. May, of Hackensack. After the services the knights and their guests returned to the rooms of Unity Lodge, No. 102, K. of P., and refreshments were served. Crescent Company has been organized twenty-six years, being formed in 1887, under a special act of Congress, which provides that they may be called upon to bear arms if necessary.

JAMES E. MARTINE WRATHY OVER HORRIBLE DISCLOSURES

United States Senator James E. Martine, chairman of the Senatorial committee appointed to inquire into conditions in the Paint Creek and Cabin Creek mines in West Virginia, created somewhat of a sensation, Saturday, as the result of his indignation over what had thus far been disclosed. Mr. Martine almost leaped from his chair following statements of a witness, and wrought confusion by his attack on men employed by the coal operators.

The attorneys for the operators were on their feet in an instant, and it was some minutes before order could be restored. They resented the attack by Mr. Martine, and when one of them said that the Senator should not make such statements, the latter replied: "I just can't help it." The examination is apparently disclosing many unheard of things in the way the miners have been treated by the companies.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR MISS LOUISE ANDREWS

As Easily Cleaned as a Porcelain Bath Tub

One of the things that the modern housewife insists upon in her home is a Porcelain-lined Bath Tub. She don't want the other kind lined with zinc or galvanized iron even if it is painted white—won't have it because it's so hard to clean.

How about the Refrigerator—that storehouse for the family's eatables—a thousand times more important that it should have a lining at least as good as your bath tub, isn't it?

LEONARD CLEANABLE
ONE-PIECE PORCELAIN-LINED REFRIGERATOR

Provides you with a refrigerator that is as easy to clean as a porcelain bath tub or white china dish, because the provision chamber is genuine snow-white porcelain fused under tremendous heat onto one piece, rounded corner, seamless steel.

There is not a crack, crevice nor rough spot on its surface to act as a breeding place for germs. It will not crack, tarnish or chip off or turn yellow like a white enamel painted surface.

This is just one of the reasons why the Leonard Cleanable Refrigerator is the one you want. Approved by the Good Housekeeping Institute. Today is the day to see them on our floors in a variety of patterns.

The Prices Range from $7.50 to $77.50

FACTS AND COMMENT ON NEW YORK NEWS

New York, June 16.—The municipal household of the City of New York is a big thing and the financial transactions which it involves are of a magnitude which puts in the shade the fiscal transactions of many a kingdom or principality. During the last week of May, for instance, the city's temporary debt was decreased by nearly $25,000,000 through the funding and liquidating activity carried on by the sinking fund trustees. The cash balance on hand was increased by nearly $3,000,000 and, on the last day of the month reached the respectable amount of $58,580,898.

Quite recently a number of experts made a thorough investigation of the school system of New York city and each one of the investigators submitted a lengthy report on his findings, including various suggestions concerning the best means of remedying certain defects found by the investigator. Strange to say the investigators confined themselves exclusively to the study of the methods, without making any effort to ascertain whether the teachers employed in the public schools were capable enough to fill their positions.

Another committee, while investigating the complaints that instructors and principals in New York city schools did not get their pay promptly, unearthed a number of letters written by teachers, which throw a glaring light upon the incompetency of at least some of the teachers. One of these letters was as follows:

"Dear Sir—I am a teacher at —— school. I was not at the school yesterday, May 1st. I went to the school tody to find my check was sent back to the pay masters office. I was told to write to you and you would send me a reciept to sign which I beleivve I have to return before you send check. Trusting this will meet with your apporuval and I will receive a quick reply,

"I remain, Sincerly,

The summer season has begun and with it have come various tribulations that usually accompany it, like bathing accidents, open cars with their "end-seat-hogs" and their youthful rowdies and a long list of other undesirable things. The street car companies and the police authorities of the city have made an early start this year in suppressing rowdyism in street cars and on subway trains and a considerable number of young rowdies have been arrested. But the end-seat-hog still flourishes and neither ridicule nor scathing contempt seem to be able to penetrate the callous skin of that ubiquitous animal. Mayor Gaynor has suggested the passage of an ordinance which would make the refusal of the end-seat-hog to "move up" a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of not more than $100, but the Board of Alderman merely laughed down the suggestion. Such an ordinance would undoubtedly be an excellent thing if it were possible to enforce it, but that would be practically impossible. Under the circumstances it is quite likely, therefore, that the end-seat-hog will continue to make itself a public nuisance all through the summer season, as in former seasons.

A suit filed the other day against the Broadway-Park Place Company, which operates the Woolworth Building, brought to light a rather interesting state of affairs. It appears that the Broadway-Park Place Company had given the monopoly of furnishing drinking water to the tenants of the Woolworth Building to a certain mineral spring company and had granted to that company the exclusive right of using the elevators in the building for carrying the large bottles filled with spring water to the upper floors. Some of the tenants, however, preferring other spring water than that furnished by the company having the monopoly in the building, had made their arrangements with other companies furnishing spring water. But the employes of these companies were not permitted to take the bottles with water to the upper floors by means of the lifts and to be able to make their deliveries, were forced to carry the heavy bottles up stairs, in some cases from thirty to thirty-seven flights. Now these tenants and the companies with whom they have contracted for spring water have begun a suit to compel the management of the building to grant to the independent spring water companies the same rights for using the lifts as have been granted to the company holding the monopoly.

An investigation conducted by the National Highway Protective Association has led to the startling discovery that hundreds of automobile licenses in this city have been obtained under false names. This has undoubtedly been done to prevent identification in case of accident, or if the car is used for some crooked and illegal purpose. Secretary May of the association intends to prosecute all persons he could find who had taken out licenses under fraudulent names and addresses, and would see to it that all such licenses would be revoked. The obtaining of such licenses under fraud is a misdemeanor and punishable by a heavy fine and revocation of the license.

It must seem exceedingly funny to foreigners when they read that the Columbia University of New York city refused a degree to a student who had passed his examination with credit, simply because he did not know how to swim. This decision of the university authorities, which is strictly in conformance with the rules of that institution, opens a number of interesting and pertinent questions. Do students attend university to acquire an education and a certain amount of learning or to learn how to swim, play baseball and football? If the argument is used that the ability to swim is a necessary accomplishment which the university has a right to make a condition to be fulfilled by those who wish to obtain a degree, would it not be pertinent to ask why the university authorities have singled out swimming. Why not dancing, football playing, rowing, pole-vaulting or tight-rope-walking? Of course, nobody will dispute that the ability to swim is desirable, but there are hundreds of thousands of men, young and old, who do not know how to swim, yet are fully capable to do their life's work creditably. The requirement that a student, before obtaining his degree must prove his ability to swim a certain number of yards, seems absurdly arbitrary and will, no doubt, be ridiculed and severely criticized in all parts of the civilized globe.

YOUTHFUL HORSE THIEF SENT TO THE REFORMATORY

Somerville, June 16.—Edward Holeman, of North Branch, who recently stole a horse and rig from the barn of J. B. Duke, and who last week pleaded guilty to the charge, was arraigned before Judge D. H. Beekman, in the Somerset county courts, for sentence. After giving the youth a severe lecture, the court sent him to the Rahway Refomratory. Holeman is about seventeen years old, and was under the influence of liquor at the time of taking the horse and wagon, but as he had been quite wayward for some time, Judge Beekman thought it best to place him in the reformatory for a few years, where he could learn a suitable trade, rather than place him under probation.

Henry Debryne, who was convicted of larceny in the stealing of a quantity of lumber and other building material at Manville, was sentenced to one month in the county jail.

SOMERSET COUNTY BOARD TRANSACTS SOME BUSINESS

Somerville, June 16.—The Somerset County Board of Freeholders met Friday at Raritan, and inspected the bridge across the Raritan river at that place, which has just been repaired by F. W. Schwierz, Jr., & Co. at a cost of $6,714. After the inspection, at which it was pronounced entirely satisfactory, a meeting was held at the Riverview Hotel and it was ordered that the contractors be paid the amount due them. Dinner was served at the hotel.

At a meeting of the Board on Thursday contracts were awarded to John Hardgrove, Jr., of Somerville, for the building of the Josiah Cross culvert, east of Basking Ridge, for $185, with $6 per cubic yard for additional work that might be needed; $153 for the Enoch Howlett culvert, near Basking Ridge church, with $6 per cubic yard for additional work, and $161.25, repairs to the Trayhoffer bridge in Warren township near residence of ex-Sheriff Cooper, with $6 per cubic yard for additional concrete work. No contract was awarded for the Allen culvert in Bernards township.

Keeping Down the Laundry Bill.

More and more labor saving devices of all kinds are being improved and put into use; but just about the time they are made perfect, there will probably be almost no labor to be done. At all events, just as washing machines, electric irons and mangles are reaching a very tempting stage of development, the fad for using articles that need little or no laundering comes along.

There are many ways of cutting down the ironing bill, and a few for cutting down the washing. The biggest washing saver is paper. A year or so ago it was predicted that paper handkerchiefs and paper table linen would take the place of linen and damask. Whether this condition will ever come to pass or not, it is possible now to use paper table linen—table paper would be more nearly correct—and so save a big part of the summer laundry bill.

White paper damask tablecloths a yard and three quarters by two and a third yards in dimension can be had for fifteen cents each. They are of heavy quality. Paper damask napkins in heavy quality can also be bought. Ordinary white paper napkins, which many persons use in the summer cottage, at least for breakfast and lunch, can be bought for ten or fifteen cents a hundred. Paper dollies which can be used instead of the tablecloth are put up in packages of two dozen for ten cents.

Paper towelling, which comes in great rolls, can be used in place of the ordinary hand towel, and is cheap.

Crepe paper is sometimes used for decorating summer cottages. White paper, printed with a narrow colored border, can be arranged in a valance at the top of the window and hung in curtains by its side. As soon as these curtains become soiled, of course, they must be thrown away and new ones put up.

Cotton Crepe.

Cotton crepe can be used widely to keep down the ironing bill. For underwear it should be made up with rather heavy lace to be at its best, for if it is combined with some lace or embroidery which needs ironing to look at its best, either the garment so made looks flimsy and unattractive, or else it defeats its own purpose of making less work for the laundress.

There is nothing more serviceable than cotton crepe in pink, brown or blue and white for children's rompers. Made with a little colored braid at the neck and wrists and belt, these rompers are pretty as well as practical.

FASHION HINT

By JUDIC CHOLLET

The blouse illustrated includes the very newest and smartest features of the season. Both back and front portions are gathered and joined to the square yoke. The sleeves are slightly full at the shoulders and can be gathered into cuffs that extend to the wrists or cut off at the elbows.

This waist is made of crepe de chine, with the collar and over portions of the cuffs of silk in a darker shade. Crepe de chine is a favorite material for blouses of this kind, but the cotton crepes are much used, and flowered voiles are dainty and serviceable. Cotton marquisette in a pin stripe of pale blue and white makes a dainty blouse of this description for the warm summer days.

For the medium size the blouse will require three and a half yards of twenty-seven inch material and three eighths of extra material for the collar.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes from 34 to 42 inches bust measure. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 7872, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

Some Cookery Suggestions

CHICKEN SANDWICHES.

FOR picnics, garden parties or the many outdoor functions of summer dainty sandwiches are prime essentials. Given good bread and butter, any one who is neat and deft may make tasty and attractive sandwiches. As to the filling, chicken is a meat that is generally acceptable and makes one of the daintiest sandwich foods.

Combined With Cheese.

Chicken Liver Sandwiches.—Take three chicken livers, six olives, the juice of an onion, one green pepper, a few sprays of watercress and a stalk of celery. Chop to a paste and add to a package of cream cheese. Work well, add pepper, salt and mayonnaise with a spoonful of whipped cream.

Boiled Chicken Sandwiches.—Boil the chicken in enough water to cover it, adding an onion and a tablespoonful of Worcestershire sauce for each fowl used. Let simmer until meat is very tender, then strip off the skin and shred the chicken with the fingers. Put the filling on a lettuce leaf, between thin white bread, adding salt and cayenne before closing.

Made With Rolls.

Royal Sandwiches.—Pound six ounces of cold cooked chicken freed from skin in a mortar till smooth, adding to it one ounce of butter. When thoroughly mixed add a dessertspoonful of thick cream and season with salt and pepper. Work the mixture till smooth, then add to it four shelled and blanched walnuts. Have ready some small rolls from which most of the inside crum has been removed, fill with the mince and serve.

Savoury Sandwiches.

Pound four ounces of cooked chicken, freed from skin, bone and gristle. When fine add three yolks of hard cooked eggs, one tablespoonful of grated cheese, a little French mustard, tarragon vinegar and olive oil, just enough to form a paste. Season with salt, pepper and dust of red pepper. Work into a smooth paste and rub through a sieve. Cut thin slices of white bread, butter them, spread the paste between these, close them and press the slices well together. Stamp out with a round cutter and serve.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

There Was a Stormy Time In Flyland.

Dinah Always Chases Flies.

JACK and Evelyn had been telling daddy of the wicked doings of the fly family. There had been a good deal of talk in school about flies toward the end of the term, and many boys and girls had started out to hunt and swat them.

"Ah, indeed," daddy observed; "that may account for some of the strange stories my friend Buzzer has been telling me.

"It seems that there have been very strange happenings in Flyland. Buzzer was quite worked up about it.

"As he came and sat down on my shoulder he was out of breath and wheezed as he began to talk.

"'I can't think what that big black thing was that passed me,' he said. 'Really it gets more dangerous every day for a poor fly to be about. I was slowly flying through the kitchen when a black mountain rose in front of me, and part of the mountain reached out and tried to hit me. Why can't mountains keep still instead of rushing about like that, getting into a poor fly's way and scaring him most to death?'"

Jack and Evelyn laughed. "That was Dinah in the kitchen. She always chases flies," they explained. "She says she can't abide them in her kitchen."

"'There was a terrible earthquake out oh the porch,' said the fly. 'I sat down for just a minute on something that tasted, oh, so sweet!'" and daddy glanced roguishly at Evelyn as he spoke.

"Yes, yes; Evelyn had a piece of cake on the porch!" Jack laughed delightedly. "Don't you remember you said, 'Scat, you horrid fly?'" Evelyn smiled and nodded.

Daddy went on: "Buzzer said he wanted to just get a taste of the sweet stuff when the earthquake began.

"'Whenever I go into the house something is sure to happen,' he complained. 'I have almost a notion to do like Uncle Bluebottle—go off by myself.

"'Yes; he has a beautiful home over there in the marsh. The house he used to live in got to be such a dangerous place he left it. He would sit down for a minute, but a mountain would chase him or a big black cloud would come swishing down, trying to hit him. There were so many storms and cyclones and tornadoes and earthquakes that he said he would go off where there were no moving mountains and live in peace and safety. He says there's lots to eat over there in the woods, and if this keeps up much longer, why, I'm just going out camping myself until times get to be a little quieter for a poor fly.'

"Flies can see only a very little of a big creature like a human being at a time. So they never quite know what we are. Don't you think, then, that to them we must look very like moving mountains?"

Quick Heat

SQUARE POT BOILERS develop full heating capacity in a few moments and are rightfully called "quick heaters." The reason can be seen by a glance at the sectional view herewith. Interior surfaces in SQUARE POT BOILERS are brought low, in direct contact with the fire, and also trend sharply upward, thus providing instantaneous water heating and lively circulation. The result is a free-steaming boiler that gives quick and satisfactory house heating.

SQUARE POT BOILERS are economical of coal, require little attention and are easily regulated for either mild or severe weather. Call on the nearest dealer for a full demonstration.

Queries, Comment and Answers

Sporting Editor:
Query—A says that "Nibs" Hand was unfairly called out at home plate Saturday afternoon when High Bridge played Dunellen, for batting out of turn, maintaining that the pitcher threw the ball to him and therefore he could not be called out. B claims that he was rightfully out. Please straighten out this question?—G. L. M.

Answer—If a batter fails to take his position at the bat in the way the batting order reads, and unless the error be discovered and the proper batter replaces him before he becomes a base runner the man is out. If the error is discovered before the batter becomes a base runner, in that case the balls and strikes called on the man who was at the bat must be included in the "time at bat" of the proper batsman. If Hand did not reach first base, but was declared out while at the bat this is an error on the part of the umpire, for Hand should have been retired and the proper hitter should have replaced him and have been credited with Hand's balls and strikes.

Sporting Editor:
Query—What is the record for strikeout pitching in one game?—F. H.

Answer—Charles Sweeney, pitching for Providence in 1884, struck out twenty-one men in a nine inning game against Boston.

Sporting Editor:
Query—A offers to sell a short haired St. Bernard dog. B claims that there are only long haired dogs of that breed. Which is right?—D. S.

Answer—It's a draw. Some have short hair, some have long.

Sporting Editor:
Query—Will you please tell me if it is against the law to apply to fish bait any substances which gives forth an odor which will attract fish?—F. I.

Answer—Yes; it is against the law to use medicated bait.

Sporting Editor:
Query—A says a dealer should give out a card at a time when dealing a game of poker. B claims the dealer can do as he pleases.—J. H.

Answer—In dealing in poker the dealer is required to give only one card at a time. After the draw he deals to the player what the latter calls for.

MISS WILDEY LOSES IN THE DOUBLE SET

Final Rounds of Play in Women's Championship—Local Players Made Good.

Miss Edna Wildey, of this city, lost another opportunity to gain a women's tennis championship honor Saturday afternoon, when she lost the finals in the women's doubles championship, when paired with Miss Green, who earlier in the week defeated her for the championship singles. Miss Mary Browne and Mrs. Robert Williams, of the Merion Cricket Club, of Philadelphia, on whose courts the matches were played, defeated Miss Wildey and Miss Green two sets out of the three, the scores being 12-10, 6-3, 6-2.

Miss Browne defended her title of women's singles champion earlier in the afternoon, when she defeated Miss Green, the challenger, with scores of 6-3 and 7-5. Despite the heat, Miss Browne appeared in excellent trim for the doubles matches which followed and she and Mrs. Williams had a good deal of trouble in winning the first set, only to lose the second one to Miss Wildey and her partner. The Plainfield girl and Miss Green tired rapidly in the third, however, and lost the set rather easily and with it went the doubles championship.

HEAVY HITTING WON FOR SIMMONS' TEAM

West Ends Proved to Be Easy Prey for the Royal Colored Giants Aggregation.

One run in the opening round was the best the West End A. C. could do against the Royal Colored Giants in its scheduled City League clash Saturday afternoon while the colored ball tossers managed to roll up a tally card of ten rounds, making the final score 10 to 1 in their favor. Never after the opening round did the West End ball tossers have a look in while the Royal Giants brought counters across the pan at will, clouting Jack Denny's offerings for eleven safties and profiting by every one of the half dozen errors made by the West Ends. Denny was plainly experiencing an off day and could not seem to put his usual repertoire of curves on the pellet.

Hall, the lightning heaver of the Royals, was in top notch form, sending the pill across the pan with terrific speed and very seldom if ever did the West End batters connect with it intentionally. But three scattered hits were made at his expense and he was held up nobly by the infielders and outfielders, all of whom put up sterling individual games both in the field and at the bat. But two errors were credited to the Royals and these were made with a good sized interval between. What tallying the winners chose to do, was done in spasms, the runs coming in twos and threes, but one of the scoring rounds being marked with a lonesome one.

Big factors in the league win for the Giants were the batting of Coleman, Valentine, Kline and Hall and the classy fielding of Simmons, who accepted three putouts and five assists around the keystone sack without making a single spill. For the losers, Corriel was the sole swatsmith who solved the delivery of the dusty Hall, and he made good for bingles on two of his trips to the rubber.

NASH LED LEAL SCHOOL TEAM.

Official averages compiled on performances made during the recent Leal School baseball season show that Jim Nash, their catcher, leads the team in both fielding and batting. He has a mark of .955 in fielding and .500 in batting. He scored the most runs, the most hits, struck out the fewest times, was the largest free pass obtainer and had the most putouts to his credit.

EVERYBODY'S HAPPY BECAUSE NEITHER TEAM WON THE TEN INNING MELEE ON PARKER FIELD

A terrific assault on two little round bits of horsehide and a diamond shaped strip of mother earth furnished amusement for one of the largest crowds of enthusiastic human beings that ever graced the confines of Plainfield's recreation center, Parker Field, Saturday afternoon. The aforesaid samples of horsehide and diamond came out poor seconds with twenty huge framed, able bodied men allied against them, although a tie score of 23 to 23 was returned after ten rounds of sweltering play had been consumed, this was more or less of a happening and none can seem to account for it. What they played was announced as a "baseball" game between the doctors and dentists for the benefit of Muhlenberg Hospital, but what they played savored so little of the national pastime and so much of a million and one other things, that the vaudeville production cannot be traced as a "regular" contest, especially inasmuch as no decision was forthcoming after so much trouble. The pair of factions in town who intended to challenge the winners are now in a quandary as to what troupe to tackle and will be for sometime to come unless the "Pillers" and "Pullers" sacrifice another afternoon in the near future for the good of the community, and to their own detriment.

Although runs were scored and balls were hit at will, the players themselves now stand ready to admit that what took place at Parker Field was in no sense of the word a baseball game but an impromptu vaudeville performance with Old Sol as a footlight. Before the fact manages to slip away, it might be well to mention that the dentists were appropriately garbed in farmer's attirement while the doctors turned out with their frames draped in immaculate white (the color and style recently adopted by the national commission to designate its umpires). The usual "peerade" and other formalities pertinent to the success of a production of this nature were acted for the benefit of the fans who needed to be introduced to the national pastime before indulging in the enjoyment of the same and interest was aroused among the pleasure seekers when the doctors came on the field of battle with an unusually lively "chocolate drop" as their mascot, while the dentists cherished a tiny pig and a white goose as their luck producers.

The decisionless battle was like coming unscratched out of a free for all melee with kitchen utensils as weapons or like winning on points in a scientific boxing bout, but everybody's happy and we should worry about the score. Scorekeepers laid down their artillery early in the contest after the doctors had inaugurated a contest to see who could get the most times at bat in one inning and as a result no record of the miscalculations and aerial ascentions was kept.

COUNTRY CLUB TEAM WINS FOUR BALL MATCH

The Plainfield Country Club played its first team match of the season on Saturday, being opposed by a team from the Cranford Golf Club. It was a four-ball match, and the Plainfielders won by a score of 17 to 7. All the scoring for the locals was done by W. Lester Glenny, S. D. Lounsbery, H. R. Stockton, J. B. Dumont, D. O. Rogers, C. B. Morgan, Arthur Murphy, S. T. Perrin, W. T. Kaufman, E. R. Shoemaker, Clifton Wharton and D. H. Rowland.

The summary:

Plainfield Country Club—W. T. Glenny and F. O. Reinhart, 0; J. Whitney Baker and R. S. Rowland, 0; W. Lester Glenny and S. D. Lounsbery, 3; H. R. Stockton and J. B. Dumont, 2; D. O. Rogers and C. B. Cranford Golf Club—Davis and Wild, 1; Marston and Hanson, 1; Barrow and Wetherill, 0; Somerset and Cox, 0; Condoy and Kendall, 0; Bates and Crane, 0; Ryan and Blake, 0; Begley and Gotbalty, 3; Evansky and Stark, 0; Sloane and Frazer, 0; Miller and Vantine, 2; total, 7.

The following scores were returned in a golf sweepstakes:

Clifton Wharton, Jr., 85, 16-69; Burnett C. Kenyon, 94, 24-70; C. B. Morgan, 84, 7-74; H. F. Fox, 100, 20-80; R. C. Blancke, Jr., 105, 22-83; Dr. F. E. DuBois, 107, 17-90.

RUTGERS LOSES SCHENCK.

Coach Brodie, of the Rutgers College baseball team, is trying to get a line on the material that will be available from which he can pick a team next spring and has issued a list of those who will leave school this week for good. Harold Schenck, of this city, who will graduate from Rutgers with this year's class, will be among the missing. Schenck was regular right fielder and one of the best hitters on the team.

LOCAL CASTER WINS PLACE IN FOUR DIFFERENT EVENTS

Dry fly casting proved to be the most interesting event at the meet of the Newark Bait and Fly Casting Club in Weequahic Park, Newark, Saturday afternoon, and John Doughty, of this city, scored high in every one of the four events. The dry fly casting was won by Champion who whipped his line for a distance of 70 feet.

In the casting for accuracy with one-half ounce bait, Doughty scored 65 demerits which put him in third place; in casting for distance with one-half ounce bait the local man tied for first place with a cast of 175 feet; in the casting for accuracy with dry fly he scored 32 demerits and got second place; and in the big event of the afternoon, the casting for distance with dry fly bait, which was won by Champion, the Plainfielder came in fourth with a fling of 63 feet.

PLAYED WELL, BUT LOST.

For four innings the baseball teams representing the Trinity Sunday-school, of this city, and the Mt. Pleasant Field Club, of Mt. Pleasant, battled without a single tally being recorded on Hope Common Saturday afternoon, but the local boys had to contend with the smaller half of a 6 to 5 score when the nine innings had been completed. Although the visitors had a big round in the fifth, the church boys came back in the latter stages and by some up hill fighting tied the score up, only to have Mt. Pleasant pull a counter across and win the game with one out in the ninth session.

TWENTY-SIX STRIKE OUTS.

The Bernardsville baseball team defeated the Wellington A. C., of Orange, yesterday on the latter's grounds in a 12 inning game by the score of 3 to 2. Leit, of the Wellingtons, struck out twenty-six men, while Belasco, for Bernardsville, only managed to retire twelve. McGuire was behind the bat for the Orange team and Gartz for Bernardsville.

First Presbyterian ballists played their first contest as Sunday-school Leaguers Saturday afternoon and made an auspicious opening by putting it over the versatile Park Avenue Baptists with a score of 10 to 5.

Both of the games were well attended, especially the one in which Hope Chapel defeated Monroe Avenue, these two teams being old rivals and their respective cohorts generally turn out in droves to witness a battle between them.

SCHUSTER SETS NEW RECORD.

Joseph Schuster, the bicycle rider who won second time prize and fourteenth place in the recent twenty-five mile road race held under the auspices of the Plainfield Cycling Club on Decoration Day, established a new American bicycle road record for fifty miles yesterday afternoon, in the eleventh annual fifty mile handicap road race under the auspices of the Century Road Club of America, at Floral Park, L. I. Schuster, who was one of the five scratch men covered the half century grind in 2:17 4-5, which replaced the best previous figures, also made by himself in last year's race, of 2:19.44. Schuster captured first time prize and finished fourth.

ELEVEN STRAIGHT VICTORIES.

Rahway High School is beginning to loom up as the one best bet for the New Jersey High School baseball championship this season, and established a pretty firm claim to this coveted title Saturday afternoon by winning its eleventh straight game at the hands of the Jersey City High School aggregation, which it downed by a score of 8 to 2. Armstrong, the winning twirler, was in fine form and registered twelve strikeouts and allowed but three scattered hits.

Y. M. A. LOST ONE MORE CLOSE BATTLE

South Bound Brook Team won Staurday Afternoon's Game at Center Field.

Steady uphill fighting won a ball game for the Y. M. A. baseball team, of South Bound Brook, against the Y. M. A. A. nine, of this city, on the Centre street field Saturday afternoon, by a score of 6 to 3. Although the local aggregation was bolstered to a considerable extent by the addition of several amateur stars who did good work in the field, the Plainfielders made five errors and could not get hits when they were needed to pull runs across the platter. E. Mathews and W. Clark, the opponents on the mounds, twirled good ball for their respective nines, and had they been accorded the brand of support their pitching deserved the game would have been a great deal closer.

As a hitter, J. Mathews was the big noise in this game, getting three bingles during the course of the afternoon, while Wolfrez and the Clark brothers each clouted out a pair of the safe variety.

BIG CROWDS ATTEND CITY LEAGUE GAMES

Both Contests Are One-sided—Saurers Still Lead the Race Undefeated.

A firmer claim to the top rung was established by the Saurer baseball team in the City Baseball League Saturday afternoon when it scored another overwhelming victory over the crippled Spicer team. By virtue of their defeat of the West Ends, which feat was accomplished in an easy fashion the Royal Giants crept up into a tie for second place with their defeated rivals of the afternoon.

All of the games were witnessed by large crowds and that the league will be a success is a foregone conclusion. Several of the teams presented faster lineups than they had when the organization started and the race will probably resolve itself into a closer fight as a result.

MARTIN BATTING .248.

Jack Martin, the local ball player, who is wearing a Rochester uniform in the International League, is batting at a .248 clip, according to the official averages that have just been issued. He has played in twenty-eight games, scored nineteen runs and twenty-six hits, and has three stolen bases and two sacrifice hits to his credit. Martin has recently been lowered from leader off in the batting order to sixth place.

SINGLE RUN IN THE FIRST WON FOR PETS

Bound Brook Bees Forced to Accept Smaller End in a Bitter Struggle.

A single tally in the first trip to the plate was the sum and substance of the scoring done during nine innings of baseball played at Bound Brook, Saturday afternoon, when Plainfield and Bound Brook, the same old enthusiasm producing rivals, came together on the diamond for the first time this season in connection with the race for the Central New Jersey League pennant. It was Plainfield that got that single tally almost before the game started, so the Pets were returned the winners by a tally card of 1 to 0. From the very outset the struggle resolved itself into a pitchers' battle between Percy Harney and Cliff Randolph, two moundsmen that have done duty in the vicinity for years past. But one hit was made by the team that was lucky enough to be returned the winner in such a contest, while the losing Bound Brook Bees clouted six from the delivery of Randolph. Gilt edged support from his backers, however, saved the game for Cliff, the Plainfielders having an unblemished error column. Many were the tight places in which each pitcher found himself on numerous occasions, and many were the times when his supporters came to his assistance with a spectacular bit of fielding that set the crowd mad.

Taken as a whole, the game was one of the greatest exhibitions of baseball ever staged in the little town which was made famous through the presence of a tin can diamond and the league fans were thoroughly satisfied that the Plainfielders had won the game, but that another contest would have to be played to assert any superiority over the home aggregation. Earl Moran, playing his first game at short for the local team, put up some good shortfield guarding, taking one putout and two assists without a slip.

LOCAL ATHLETE STARS.

When the Y. M. A. A. baseball team lined up against the Y. M. A. team, of South Bound Brook, on the Centre street field Saturday it was minus the services of its shortstop, Conger, who is a brother of the manager. Conger, however, was winning laurels in a different branch of sport, competing in the fifth annual Union County High School Athletic League track meet on Pingry Oval, Elizabeth. Conger took second place in the mile run and third in the half mile, both times running against the champion Wenz, who won both of these events in easy style.

SAURER TEAM AGAIN TROUNCES SPICERS

With Nearly the Same Returns as on Occasion of the Previous Slaughter.

Once more the Saurer Motor Company's representatives asserted their superiority over the Spicer joint makers in the City League race and they came within an ace of duplicating their initial stunt, when they trounced the Spicer boys on the second meeting by a count of 22 to 5. The last time it was 22 to 3, so this makes a total of 44 to 8, or just 36 counters better than their rivals in the race for the City League cup. Two big innings, the fifth and sixth, and a little top dressing in the ninth, told the tale of victory for the Saurer combination and the verdict of defeat for the Spicer aggregation.

One consolation still remains for the joint makers, however, as a number of the best players on that combination hal left town Saturday on an outing and the management was forced to draft outsiders, who, while in some incidents they put up good games, were not up to the team's standard or that required in this league. Dolan and "Smiling Jimmy" Scott divided the mound honors for the losers and their deliveries were touched for a total of twenty hefty bingles during the afternoon, and these safties, coupled with the six errors made behind the mound, resulted in twenty-two runs being credited to the opposition. The best the Spicer boys could do was to lambast the pill for a quartet of singles, three of these being made by Compton, their catcher.

What was without a doubt the feature play of the contest and one that evoked a spontaneous outburst of applause from the 300 fans who witnesed the game, was a catch made by Montross in the fifth inning, this piece of fielding being of the rare variety that is seldom pulled off on a ball field.

PLAINFIELDERS DEFEATED.

A team terming itself the West End nine, of this city, was defeated in Garwood Saturday afternoon by a count of 10 to 2, by the Garwood Young Men's Club. The victory of Saturday afternoon was the second of the home nine over the Queen City representatives, the local team having been shutout in the initial set to.

P. H. S. NINE A LOSER.

Playing on the Westfield diamond Saturday afternoon the baseball team representing the Plainfield High School freshman class was defeated by a score of 4 to 1. The game was the final one of a three game series and Westfield having won two out of the trio played now claim the county freshmen championship.

CHURCH BASEBALL.

In connection with the Westfield Sunday-school baseball league race Saturday afternoon the Presbyterian nine was defeated by the Methodists who hung up a score of 20 to 3. The losers were completely outclassed by the Presbyterians who batted the ball at will to the four corners of the lot.

DUNELLEN TREATED TO INITIAL DEFEAT

High Bridge Turns the Trick in a Well Played Contest on Losers' Grounds.

Dunellen's unblemished record in the Central New Jersey League race was spoiled by High Bridge Saturday afternoon when that aggregation returned a winning record of 3 to 1 over the Dunnellenites who had been cheered on during the afternoon by a hungry mob of 500 fans inspired to take a trip to the new baseball park at that place through the glowing picture presented by those who saw the opening game which was won at the hands of Somerville in the ninth inning. The first two innings were the only two in which any scoring was done and it is a peculiar coincidence that each aggregation scored all of its runs in one turn at the bat, the Dunellenites getting one in the opening stanza and the winners chalking up their trio in the second.

It was plainly evident that the veteran Warry McLaughlin was getting the off day out of his system that he started to dispose of on Parker Field last Saturday afternoon against the Pets when Jupiter Pluvius intervened, and ten bingles were clouted out at his expense. The two errors made by Jim Wolf and Dixon were the only two made during the whole afternoon and the fielders presented many brilliant plays for the enthusiastic mob to let loose on Jennings, the heralded Rutgers College heaver, asserted his real pitching ability by holding the losers to eight scattered bingles and whiffed three. McLaughlin fanned seven but his control was poor at times and in the eventful second it appeared as though the visitors really had his "goat." He cooled down considerably as the game progressed, however, and when the final out was made he was a great deal more effective than he had been at the outset. Home-run Wolf continued his slamming by knocking the leather for a two-bagger.

27 STRIKEOUTS IN SOMERVILLE GAME

Louis Slocum Twirls for New Brunswick But Loses by Score of 3 to 1.

Louis Slocum, of this city, and Eddie Kraft, of Somerville, left little for their team mates to do in the Central New Jersey League clash between Somerville and New Brunswick at the latter place Saturday afternoon, when the Somervillians managed to nose out their rivals by a margin of two runs, the final score being 3 to 1. All of the four runs that were scored came in the same inning, each aggregation crossing the platter in their respective halves of the fourth. Slocum was sent to the mound for New Brunswick at almost the last moment, George Ortlieb, who was originally signed to do the heaving, having notified the officials that he would be unable to go to the Somerset county seat for the battle. Slocum twirled gilt edged ball on his initial appearance in these parts this season and his work savored of the training he has received during the season while a member of the Winston-Salem team of the Carolina League which he recently quit. Kraft was the same old reliable and as has been the case in other Somerville contests this season he had the opposition completely at his mercy. Both pitchers held the situations in their own hands.

Kraft established somewhat of a record for this league in strike-outs when he caused seventeen of the opposing batters to whiff the atmosphere, while Slocum disposed of ten along the three healthy swings' route. Both pitchers exhibited well-nigh perfect control, Slocum issuing the only two passes of the afternoon. As far as hits were concerned, Slocum had the better of the argument, for but two of the safe variety were taken at his expense, while New Brunswick dented Kraft's delivery for an even quartet. Playing its first game in the Central New Jersey League, the Brunswick team presnted a stellar lineup and one that will probably make all of the other aggregations hustle to keep in the pennant race.

A trio of the best baseball games ever played in connection with the Central New Jersey League race were staged in three different towns Saturday afternoon before record crowds of fans in each place. The fact that each of the games was won by a margin of not more than two runs and that all of the scoring was done in the very early stages of the three contests showed that every one of the contesting pairs was evenly matched and the kind of baseball that is worth witnessing was produced in Somerville, Bound Brook and Dunellen. Bob Bogardus' Dunellen team lost its claim to first place and the Plainfielders are now tied with the Dunellenites for second rung honors.

Many new players were in the lineups of the six teams and the New Brunswick and Bound Brook teams, playing their first league contests, firmly established a right to be recognized among the closest contenders for championship honors.

TO HOLD CANOE RACES.

Boating, especially with canoes, has become a favorite evening and Sunday afternoon diversion at the South Plainfield pond and parties flock to that rendezvous every opportunity they get. It is proposed by those in charge of the boats at the pond to hold a canoe meet there on the Fourth of July. No definite program of events has as yet been announced but entries will be received in the near future for the affair, which is an annual one.

MONROE DEFEATED BY HOPE CHAPEL

League Leaders Still Have a Clean Slate of Victories—Game a Good One.

Hope Chapel continued as a winner Saturday afternoon, beating Monroe Avenue by a score of 8 to 4 in one of the best games yet played in connection with the Sunday-school League race, both teams putting up a stellar article of baseball and keeping the interest at a high water mark at all times. Five runs in the fourth inning sewed up the game for the league leaders and although the Monroe youngsters fought valiantly to overcome the lead they had only partially closed the gap when the ninth round was concluded. Coming back in the very next round with three runs, the Monroes made it appear as though they really wanted the game, and at the expense of their kennest rivals too.

Hope Chapel was considerably strengthened by the addition of Johnny Heron and Arthur Grisley, two of last season's mainstays who returned to the fold Saturday afternoon following the completion of the Plainfield High School team's schedule, they having played with that aggregation during the early part of the season. Grisley got two hits, one of them a double sacker, while Johnny Heron figured in a brace of flashy double plays, both made with Thorn as a partner. Thorn, Schott and Hess also did some good sticking, the Monroe Avenue representative getting a trio of lusty clouts, one a two bagger. Besides holding the opposition to six scattered bingles, Schott did his usual little stunt of fanning eleven batters, against the seven who failed to connect with Hefti's offerings.

LOCAL Y. M. H. A. AGGREGATION MAINTAINS CLEAN WIN RECORD

Plainfield's representatives in Y. M. H. A. baseball maintained their unblemished record of victories by defeating the Somerville Y. M. H. A. aggregation on the Riverside Park diamond yesterday afternoon before a crowd of pleasure seekers who go to the park on picnics and outings every Sunday afternoon. The final score of 9 to 6 fails to show just how much superior the local boys were against their Somerset county rivals, but the Queen City delegation's cluster of fourteen bingles shows in some degree just how they handled the delivery of L. Baron, the opposing box artist. Herman Rosenson, the former P. H. S. player, clouted the pellet for four hits, while his brother Bennie got a home run and a two bagger.

A bright feature of the game was a spectacular catch made by Jacob Steirer, of the Plainfield team, which brought forth a tremendous outburst of applause from the 300 fans. Both teams were trifle off in their fielding, the Plainfielders making four errors against the Somervillians' six.

NETHERWOOD A. C. WON AGAIN.

The Netherwood A. C. continued its winning streak Sunday afternoon by trimming the East Ends to the tune of 22 to 7. Denny's pitching was a brilliant feature of the game and the hard hitting of the winners drove Jones, of the East Ends, to shelter in the sixth.

REVIEWS A YEAR AT THE HOSPITAL

President Geo. P. Mellick Tells What Has Been Done in Last Twelve Months.

OFFICERS ARE ELECTED

Plans for the Future as Well as Achievements of the Past Outlined by Mr. Mellick, Who is Again Chosen as Head of Governors.

The annual report of President George P. Mellick, of the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital, very interestingly reviews the rapid progress made at that institution during the twelve months just closed. It shows the hospital to be in an excellent state of efficiency, notwithstanding the fact that the demands of the public have taxed the institution for months to its full capacity.

Mr. Mellick's reference to the campaign of last year and to the construction of the greater hospital which this campaign made possible will be of general interest.

These officers have been elected for the ensuing year at the annual meeting: President, George P. Mellick; first vice president, Percy H. Stewart; second vice president, Louis K. Hyde; secretary, J P. Stevens; treasurer, J. E. Erickson.

The president's report follows:

It is of interest to submit various figures showing the amount of work done at Muhlenberg Hospital during the past year, and in so doing acquaint the public with information of importance which I feel will be of value to the many citizens having the welfare of the hospital at heart.

The number of hospital days treatment during the year just closed amounting to 15,287 did not quite reach that of last year, the decrease amounting to 186 hospital days, however, as the number of patients admitted during the year was increased

PURCHASE PROPERTY OF WEBSTER ESTATE

J. C. Allen, Jacob Voehel and E. F. Bornman Buyers of Tracts on Church St.

The property at East Second and Church streets belonging to the estate of Joseph Webster, was disposed of yesterday under an administrator's sale, the sum of $11,190 being realized for the three parcels Joseph C. Allen, of Sandford avenue; Jacob Voehl, of East Front street and E. F. Bowman, of Church street, were purchasers.

Mr. Allen bought the property on the southwest corner, in the rear of the tract secured by the Government for the proposed new federal building, for $3,350. This includes an old-fashioned house which faces on Church street.

Mr. Bowman purchased the old homestead facing on East Second street, for $5,825. This was the home of Mrs. Catherine Webster, who was a prominent Friend, and who for many years and up to the time of her death lived there. Mr. Voehl secured the tract facing on Church street, in the rear of the homestead, with a frontage of forty-four feet, on which there is a small house, for $2,015.

John H. Van Winkle & Son are the administrators of the estate, and Robert Murray was the auctioneer. Considering the general quietness of the real estate market the prices secured at yesterday's sale are considered to be unusually good.

CODDINGTON LAWYER FOR THE NEW BORO

Former Judge Made Counsel for Middlesex—Other Appointments Are Made.

During the last session of the New Jersey Legislature the inhabitants of the northwesterly part of Piscataway township in Middlesex county, which includes East Bound Brook, Beechwood Heights, Lincoln and surrounding territories, succeeded in having a bill put through incorporating that territory into a borough called the Borough of Middlesex.

On June 10 an election was held which resulted in the following persons being elected borough officials: George W. Harris, mayor; John J. Campbell, Louis V. Poulson, Max S. Bernstein, Israel W Stout, Ludwig Wild, T. Walker Sisty, councilmen; Nelson M. Giles, collector; William D. Voorhees, assessor; Jesse Leone and Thomas Reedy, constables.

Last night the Mayor and Council met at the fire headquarters in Lincoln and formally organized. Former Judge Wm. A. Coddington was called upon to administer the oath of office to the newly-elected officials. After the Mayor and Council had completed their organization the following appointments were made. Stuart C. Crouse, clerk; Fred R. Stephenson, recorder; Wm. A. Coddington, corporation counsel; Augusta C. Ramsey overseer-of-the-poor The mayor appointed his councilmanic committees.

The honor of being appointed as counsel came as a surprise to Judge Coddington and it was a still more agreeable surprise when the vote was unanimous.

The Mayor and Council took up several legal questions with the new borough attorney with reference to apportionments of property between the township of Piscataway and the newly organized borough. The meeting was then adjourned to Friday night, June 20, at 8 o'clock.

The location of the new Borough of Middlesex furnishes very large opportunities for future land development, being within a few minutes ride of Bound Brook, Lincoln and Dunellen.

AUTOMOBILE COLLIDED WITH CARRIAGE; 2 HURT

Julius Barr, of 434 East Fifth street, and his father, William Barr, are suffering with slight injuries sustained Sunday when an automobile traveling west on Springfield road collided with the carriage in which they were seated. The machine was driven by a man who gave his name as O. F. Douglas and said he came from Fall River, Mass. The auto bore a New York license No. A-2062. According to the younger Mr. Barr, a Plainfielder living at 1230 East Front street was in the car.

Inquiries made at that address revealed that a W. B. Gunton occupies the premises, but his family today denied that he was riding in the car at the time of the accident, although Mr. Douglas was a guest at the Gunton household.

WOMAN OF MYSTERY PLEADS GUILTY TO LARCENY AT LAST

New York, June 17.—Mrs. Caroline Fitzhugh, the young Southern woman whose case has mystified the district attorney as well as her own lawyers, last yesterday pleaded guilty to grand larceny in the second degree before Judge Swann in General Sessions after she had dismissed her counsel and angerily denied her guilt.

The charges against her included the thefts of two mesh bags from Miss Dorothy Fish, daughter of Pliny Fisk, the banker, and Miss Irene Munsey.

She was remanded to the Tombs for sentence on Thursday.

She gave her name as Mrs. Caroline Fitzhugh, 26 years old, and said that her last place of residence had been the Hotel Flanders, in this city. Her request that she be permitted to make a statement in open court when she is sentenced was granted. It is expected then that she will clear up the mystery of her identity.

EAST END TAXPAYERS EFFECT RE-ORGANIZATION

Re-organization of the East End Taxpayers' Association was effected last night at a meeting held at the offices of W. R. Way, 308 Katchung avenue. Fred Wainke and Thomas Hughes and W. R. Way were elected delegates to the co-ordinating committee, composing of representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, and other civic associations of the city.

The opening of East Second street from Netherwood avenue to Terrill road as a public highway was again brought up for discussion. This strip of land is at present used as a private right of way by the Public Service Corporation through which it runs its trolley cars. The property owners said they would gladly pay their share of the cost of paving and improving the thoroughfare, if the necessary authority could be secured. The matter may be taken up with the Common Council. The oiling of Leland avenue was favored and Robert N. Crane, the president, was authorized to communicate with the street department. Matters pertaining to sewers, lighting and fire protection were also discussed in a general way.

TAX COLLECTOR'S SALARY RAISED

William R. Townsend is Given an Increase of $500 Making the Salary $2,750.

MONEY FOR "FOURTH"

Appropriation for Independence Day Celebration — Four Councilmen Heed the Advice of Corporation Counsel and Vote Against It.

Tax Collector William R. Townsend received an increase in his salary at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council, last night, in accordance with a resolution offered by Councilcan Charles C. Randolph, chairman of the finance committee. He was receiving $2,250 a year, and an increase of $500 was allowed, making his salary $2,750 from January 1 of this year. It is understood the Council planned to give Mr. Townsend an increase of $1,000, but owing to many other expenses was obliged to make it about one-half that amount. Mr. Reville was the only one to vote against the raise.

A resolution offered by Councilman Francis J. Blatz appropriating $150 toward a celebration of Fourth of July at Parker Field, was passed, although Corporation Counsel Charles A. Reed would not give his approval of the act. Because of this Councilmen Mygatt, C. C. Randolph, van-Hedwerden and Clay voted against the resolution, the other five members voting in favor.

Property-owners on Cedarbrook road petitioned the Council to accept that thoroughfare, all the necessary legal requirements having been followed, such as macadamizing, curbing, flagging, installing gas, etc. Later Mr. Mygatt offered an ordinance authorizing the acceptance of the street. This was adopted on two readings and ordered advertised. A public hearing will be given on this ordinance on Monday night, July 7, preparatory to adopting the ordinance on third reading.

The petition of property-owners on Cedarbrook road for four electric lights was granted on motion of Councilman P. J. Reville, chairman of the light committee. There will be two lights on the street and one at each end.

ONE FAN VOUCHES FOR THE "PILLERS"

He Took Exception to the Poetical Outbursts of Saturday Afternoon.

Someone who evideently is looking after the best interests of the doctor's baseball team has submitted the following verses in response to the ones published in this paper Saturday afternoon:

A FRIEND.

Who helps to keep all ills away?
The doctor.
Who waits the longer for his pay?
The doctor.
Who knows you from your birth
And keeps you hanging round this earth,
However little you are worth?
The doctor.

Who writes prescriptions for your wife?
The doctor.
Who makes your baby cling to life?
The doctor.
Who in the night takes up the 'phone,
Listens a minute to your moan,
And flies to you without a groan?
The doctor.

Who always knows the antidote?
The doctor.
Who is the universal goat?
The doctor.
Who's asked to straighten out your kinks?
Who knows your faults and slyly winks,
Taking the blame when you take drinks?
The doctor.

RAM'S HORN CAMP.

Eighteen foremen connected with the plant of the Spicer Manufacturing Company, journeyed Sunday to the "Ram's Horn" camp at Lake Hopatcong, conducted by Thomas M. Muir, of Grant avenue, and enjoyed the many sights of the popular resort as well as the conveniences of the camp. They made the trip in the large auto bus which several weeks ago made trial trips between South Plainfield, Stirling and this city. Mr. Muir has re-established his camp, which was popular last season. He has enlarged his camp to almost double its accommodations of last year. Several canoes and motorboats have also been added to his fleet which is always at the service of his guests.

MRS. ORCHARD GETS $10 A WEEK ALIMONY

Her Counsel, Judge Coddington, is Also Awarded a Fee —Divorce Trial Sept. 29.

The divorce case instituted by John E. Orchard against his wife, Emma E. Orchard, which has been before Vice Chancellor Lewis on several occasions within the past three months, came up again yesterday at the Chancery Chambers in Jersey City, when final hearing and argument were had on the application for allowance of alimony and counsel fee, made by former Judge William A. Coddington, who represents Mrs. Emma E. Orchard, with the result that the court decided that Mrs. Orchard was entitled to alimony and counsel fee pendente lite and made an order that Mr. Orchard pay the sum of $10 per week alimony and $100 counsel fee, besides costs. Judge J. S. Erwin, of Jersey City, represented Mr. Orchard.

The Vice Chancellor fixed September 29, at Jersey City, for the date of trial of the divorce case. The proceedings promise to bring out some very interesting testimony as charges and counter-charges of cruel treatment have been made on both sides as well as insinuations with reference to the infidelity of both parties.

Mr. Orchard still retains his home in North Plainfield and Mrs. Orchard and her daughter, Nela, have resided in Brooklyn for the past two or three years.

HIGGINS PROMOTED TO THE SARGEANCY

Council Promptly Confirm Appointment Made by Mayor Stewart.

Mayor Percy H. Stewart through several appointments sent to the Common Council last night furnished a little surprise to those who have not been following municipal affairs closely. One of his first acts was to promote Maurice B. Higgins from the position of roundsman in the police department to that of sargeant, thereby filling the vacancy left by the death of Sergeant Herbert L. Overbaugh. Being one of the oldest men in point of service he was favored for the position.

Councilman P. J. Reville voted against the confirmation of this appointment, on the ground as he stated that he believed Mr. Higgins to be the least entitled of any of the men to the promotion. There were nine votes for confirmation, Mr. Calkins, chairman of the police committee, being absent.

Three new men were added to the police force, the Mayor appointing Harry J. Brower, Florence O'Sullivan and LeRoy A. Martin, as special patrolmen. After serving the required probationary period, if they prove satisfactory, they will be made regulars. All three appointments were confirmed without an opposing vote. By some it was thought that John Watson, a nephew of Michael Watson, would be appointed, but it is said that the Mayor changed his mind after being informed of opposition to Mr. Watson.

Four members of the Board of Directors of the Plainfield Public Library and Reading Room were also appointed by Mayor Stewart, Alexander Gilbert, L. V. F. Randolph and William M. Stillman, each to succeed himself for a period of three years, and W. F. Merrill to fill the unexpired term of the late William H. Larrabee, who died recently. Mr. Merrill, it will be remembered, was the member dropped last year by Mayor G. W. V. Moy, after he had served several years. All these appointments were confirmed.

Maurice B. Higgins, who, at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council, last night, was promoted from the position of roundsman in the police department to that of sergeant, by appointment by Mayor Percy H. Stewart, has been a member of the department for sixteen years. He was first appointed on February 1, 1897, by Mayor Charles J. Fisk, and on February 25, 1907, he was promoted to roundsman by Mayor G. W. V. Moy. The promotion of Sergeant Higgins will now leave a vacancy among the roundsmen to be filled. He will probably be assigned to desk duty at police headquarters.

STOREHOUSE FIRE MENACES VILLAGE

Plainfield Ice & Supply Company's Buildings a Total Loss.

ORIGIN IS A MYSTERY

Town of Watchung Saved by the Efforts of Plainfield and North Plainfield Firemen—Loss Estimated to Reach $50,000.

The crackling of flames and clouds of dense black smoke issuing from the Plainfield Ice and Supply Company's storehouses stirred the little town of Watchung to activity, yesterday afternoon, and when the smoke and heat had disappeared four hours later, damage to the extent of nearly $50,000 had been done by the flames and the village was minus one of its oldest and most conspicuous structures. Everyone was taken unawares by the instantaneous appearance of fire in all parts of the great structure, which burned much like a large oil well would and little could be done to check the spread of the flames. Bucket brigades united their efforts with those of the Volunteer Hose Company of that place but it was nearly a half hour after the flames were discovered that anyone thought of summoning the Plainfield and North Plainfield departments to save the other houses of the village.

So intense was the heat and so great were the flying sparks that six houses within a radius of 500 feet of the burning ice house were set on fire and the volunteers directed their efforts to saving the houses. Telephones poles and trees in the immediate vicinity of the blaze were burned and as a precaution against any loss of life the Public Service had the current shut off from the foot of Somerset street and although none of the burned poles fell, at least three will have to be replaced by new ones, so badly were they char-

A charming June wedding took place at Roxbury, Connecticut, on Saturday when Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Berry, formerly of Plainfield, gave in marriage their daughter, Miss Mildred Elizabeth Berry, to Frederick Stevens Stow, of Middletown, Connecticut.

Petershaven, the country home of the Berrys, was attractively decorated with ferns and mountain laurel, which was caught freely over the white woodwork, and banked in the old-fashioned fireplaces.

The bridal party was composed of the Misses Eleanor Bickel, of Pittsburgh, Pa.; Gertrude Moodey and Mary Faber, of Plainfield; Edith Berry, of Stamford, Connecticut; Dorothy Stow and Nanette Stow, of Middletown, Connecticut, as bridesmaids; Mrs. William R. Faber, the sister of the bride, as matron of honor; and Miss Helen E. Faber, as flower girl. The groom was attended by his brother, James P. Stow, Jr. Rev. Dr. Achison, of Middletown, Connecticut, assisted by Archdeacon Humphrey, of Roxbury, officiated.

The bride's gown was of Canton crepe silk, trimmed with Duchesse and Rose Point lace. She carried a shower bouquet of white sweet peas, and wore as her only ornament a circle pin of saphires, the gift of the groom. The matron of honor wore a pink gown of brocaded Charmeuse and carried pink sweet peas. The flower girl carried a dainty basket of pink sweet peas. The bridesmaids were in white, with white hats, trimmed with pink roses, and streamers of pink velvet, and wore circle pins of wrought gold, the gifts of the bride. Mrs. Berry, the mother of the bride, was gowned in black lace over white charmeuse.

The guests numbered about one hundred and fifty in all, and among them were friends and relatives from Boston, New York, Hartford, Plainfield and Ohio.

After a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Stow will be at home at Providence, R. I. The day, June 14, was the thirty-first anniversary of the marriage of the parents of the bride.

GAS RANGES FOR SMALL KITCHENS

If you have a small kitchen it doesn't follow that you can't have a gas range.

Some women who would like to use a gas range this warm weather, have failed to buy one because they feared they hadn't a place to put it.

Fact is, ranges can be had that require only twenty inches of space. They are good, efficient ranges, too. And twenty inches is about as much room as is taken by an ordinary chair.

These ranges are sold at low prices. A payment of $2.00 will secure one, and monthly payments will be accepted for the balance.

ADMIRAL OSTERHOUS PUT ON RETIRED LIST

Washington, D. C., June 17.—Rear Admiral Hugo J. Osterhaus, until recently commander in chief of the Atlantic fleet, has been placed on the retired list on account of age. Rear Admiral Osterhaus is one of the most conspicuous figures in the navy. He represents the second of three generations of the "fighting house of Osterhaus." His father was General Peter J. Osterhaus, who fought with great distinction from the beginning to the end of the Civil War. His son is Lieutenant Hugo W. Osterhaus, U. S. N., who distinguished himself several years ago by leading a rescuing party in a launch which saved seven men from drowning at Norfolk, Va.

Rear Admiral Osterhaus was born in Belleville, Ill., in 1851, and graduated from the Naval Academy in 1870. Just before the war with Spain he was flag lieutenant on the staff of Rear Admiral Bunce, commander in chief of the North Atlantic fleet. During the war he served on the cruiser Prairie. His first command as captain was of the battleship Connecticut, which he commanded in the famous cruise around the world. He reached the rank of rear admiral in 1909 and shortly afterward was made commandant of the Navy Yard at Mare Island, Cal. His last conspicuous service was rendered as commander in chief of the Atlantic fleet during the great naval review in New York harbor last fall.

LOOKS BLUE ON THAMES.

The annual varsity race between the crews of Yale and Harvard will take place on the Thames River course at New London, Connecticut, on Friday. The big event will be preceded as usual by the varsity four-oared race and the freshman eight-oared race. The four-oared race will be rowed upstream in the morning over the lower two miles of the course. As soon as possible after the finish of that race the freshman eights will row upstream over the upper two miles of the course. The big race of the day will be started in the afternoon at the Harvard quarters and will be rowed over the four-mile course downstream, finishing at the railroad bridge.

It is one of the traditions of Yale-Harvard rowing that the crew which shows the better form two weeks before the race will win. Basing their judgment largely on this tradition, the majority of the critics predict a victory for the blues in the big race on Friday. The Yale crew has made a distinctly better showing in its practice work. This is the first season since Harvard began her winning streak in 1906 that Yale has been the favorite. But the fact that the Crimson crew has come to the Thames this year with a record of defeat by both Princeton and Cornell earlier in the season has served to almost entirely reverse the conditions that have prevailed on the eve of the Yale-Harvard races of late years.

If Yale does win it will be one of the most remarkable achievements in rowing history. After a season of defeats and a thoroughly demoralized condition in Yale's rowing system, to adopt a new and radically different stroke and produce a winning crew the very first year would seem to be an absolute impossibility. The difference between the English stroke which Yale is rowing this year, and the Americanized English stroke such as has been taught by nearly all of the professional coaches is very marked. But it is believed that any disadvantages resulting from largely composed of veterans and that their opponents seemingly are the weakest crew that Harvard has sent to New London in years.

Some additional interest is given the race this year by the fact that it is in the nature of a "rubber." Since the annual classic had its inception on Lake Winnipiseogee, sixty-one years ago, Yale and Harvard have each been credited with twenty-three victories, the duels being fought out on the original course, then at Worcester, New Haven, Springfield and finally on the Thames at New London. There have been many interruptions since the first struggle in 1852, so that the regatta this year is the forty-seventh meeting of the two oldest American universities in what many graduates regard as the American sporting classic.

The fastest time ever made on the Thames was by the Yale crew in 1888, which covered the four miles in twenty minutes and ten seconds. The fastest Harvard crew was that of 1878, which rowed the four miles in twenty minutes and forty-four and three-quarter seconds. The slowest time by a losing crew was when the Yale stroke collapsed five years ago, but recovered in time to help the shell over the line in 27 minutes and 45 seconds. As Harvard won this race by 3 minutes and 35 seconds, it was estimated that the difference between the two was seventy-two boat lengths, the longest lead ever attained by a winning crew.

The initial race in 1852 was rowed over a two-mile course, which was increased to three miles in the next race, which was rowed in 1855. Again the distance was increased in 1876, this time to four miles, which has been the length of the varsity races ever since.

Lest ye forget hearken unto what the Warrenton Banner hath to say: "Your home newspaper heralded to the world your birth. It told of your entry into school. Mentioned your birthday party when you were sweet sixteen. Applauded your graduation from the high school, started you to college, and when you returned mentioned the first job you secured. Told of your marriage to the sweetest girl in town and also mentioned the advent, or event, of your first-born. Told of the visits of pa and ma, sympathized with you in your sorrow, laughed with you in your joy, and when you die it will do its best to get you through the pearly gates at only one dollar a year."

Perusing the files of newspapers during the heated campaign of 1896, the editorial references to William Jennings Bryan read like real humor. Though the Premier of the Administration but a few short months he has established a record that if maintained for the next four years will place his name in the annals of the United States as a great statesman. In 1896, however, he was held up to political ridicule and scorn. In this year of grace most of the policies he then advocated have either become the accepted idea or have been engrafted into the laws of the United States or the several States.

During this heated season, no doubt, you are enjoying many of the comforts that to a great degree allay your suffering, but have you thought of those babes of the poor in such trying weather? Well, if you have and have real blood in your veins you will promptly send your check to the City Union of the King's Daughters for the fund to defray the expenses of caring for these poor little ones. They are guests at the Day Nursery and it takes money to provide comforts for them.

ASK TO CONNECT WITH LOCAL SEWERAGE SYSTEM

County Engineer Jacob Bauer, of Elizabeth, in a communication to the Common Council last night requested permission for the county to connect a proposed sanitary sewer from Bonnie Burn Sanitorium with Plainfield system of sewers at Terrill road and Green brook. Mr. Bauer explained that it was desired that Mt. St. Mary College also be connected with the system, David T. Kenney joining in the plan for this improvement. He estimated that at present there would be about 12,000 gallons of sewage every twenty-four hours from Bonnie Burn Sanitorium, and later on about 20,000 gallons, in addition to several thousand gallons from the college. The proposed sewer will be about two and a half miles in length.

Councilman F. E. Mygatt explained that this matter had recently been considered by his committee, and his motion that it be referred to George Fuller, the sanitary engineer, and Lindabury, Depue & Faulks, who have the joint trunk sewage disposal plans in hand, was carried, that course being advised by Corporation Counsel Charles A. Reed, as he has not been in touch with this matter.

There is a feeling on the part of the Councilmen that it would be unwise to agree to accept this extra sewage matter until the proposed new plant is built, as the Plainfield sewage beds are now overloaded, being obliged to care for a great deal more sewage than there is capacity.

SUMMIT CONTRACTOR AWARDED SEWER JOB

Bids for building an extension to the sanitary sewer were received at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council last night. There were seven in all, and Michael Garafano, of Summit, being the lowest, he was awarded the contract through a resolution of the Council. The successful bid was $7,283.25. Charles A. Peterson, of this city, was the next lowest, his bid being $8,281.55. The third lowest bid was that of Alfonso Colucci, of Plainfield, $8,420.35, and the fourth lowest bid was that of Burke & Bonham, $8,476.50.

The other bidders were Foster Callahan, of Elizabeth; Mobus Brothers, of Plainfield, and the New York Sewage Disposal Company. After the bids were received on motion of Mr. Mygatt the certified checks of the four highest bidders were ordered returned, and later in the evening the contract was awarded to the Summit bidder.

MUNICIPAL ORCHESTRA TO HOLD REHEARSAL TONIGHT

As the initial step in the formation of the recently proposed Municipal orchestra, the first public rehearsal of the senior group will be held in the Washington School Auditorium tonight under the leadership of Martin Korff. All local musicians over eighteen years of age are invited to join the organization and as fifty have have already signified their intention of becoming affiliated with such a project the success of the new movement is practically assured. The public wil be admitted to all of the rehearsals.

The junior orchestra for those under eighteen years of age will be effected next Thursday evening under the same leadership. Music will be supplied by the recreation committee but the players will be required to furnish their own stands and instruments.

THE FORUM.

ENDRESS AND TRADE BOARD.

Editors, The Plainfield Daily Press:

Referring to account of meeting of the Executive Committee of the Board of Trade, in another paper of June 14, may I have the favor of a little space in your columns to make some things plain which seem to have been misunderstood.

When the Jackson (now Endress) building on the south corner of West Front street and Madison avenue was constructed, the proceedings for widening Madison avenue were in progress, and Mr. Jackson understood that they would be carried out, so he set his new building on the line of the street as proposed to be widened. Afterward, the Common Council refused to confirm the report of the Commissioners and it was then too late to change the building, though Mr. Jackson did set the curb nearer the middle of the street than he would have done had the widening been carried out.

Mr. Jackson had a perfect right to set the building 8½ feet farther out than it is now and he never gave the city any deed for this land or received any compensation for it. He and the present owner, have lost the rental of one apartment for twenty years and the remaining apartments have undoubtedly been rented at a lower price on account of the ever unattractive appearance of Madison avenue.

The committee states that I will have to pay $172, when in fact the net assessments are $172.75 on the corner property and $302.44 on the new building adjoining, a total of $475.19. I consider it something of a hardship to lose a strip of land 8½ feet wide (some of the contestants claim that land here is worth $1,500 per foot) and then be obliged, in addition, to pay out $475, but I do not intend to make any objection or put any obstacle in the way of accomplishing this absolutely necessary improvement

The article in another paper states that "The property owners interested in the widening are nearly all members of the Board of Trade." If the board wishes to block the progress of the city, they can hardly adopt a more successful course than to condemn such a report as this, on which three admittedly able men have spent four months of careful, conscientious and painstaking work, after a brief examination by a committee, an examination not even long enough to ascertain the correct facts and figures.

As Easily Cleaned as a Porcelain Bath Tub

One of the things that the modern housewife insists upon in her home is a Porcelain-lined Bath Tub. She don't want the other kind lined with zinc or galvanized iron even if it is painted white—won't have it because it's so hard to clean.

How about the Refrigerator—that storehouse for the family's eatables—a thousand times more important that it should have a lining at least as good as your bath tub, isn't it?

LEONARD CLEANABLE

ONE-PIECE PORCELAIN-LINED REFRIGERATOR

Provides you with a refrigerator that is as easy to clean as a porcelain bath tub or white china dish, because the provision chamber is genuine snow-white porcelain fused under tremendous heat onto one piece, rounded corner, seamless steel.

There is not a crack, crevice nor rough spot on its surface to act as a breeding place for germs. It will not crack, tarnish or chip off or turn yellow like a white enamel painted surface.

This is just one of the reasons why the Leonard Cleanable Refrigerator is the one you want. Approved by the Good Housekeeping Institute. Today is the day to see them on our floors in a variety of patterns.

PROCTOR'S ALL STAR BILL.

Olga Wynn, an accomplished and talented harpist, formerly soloist with the famous Fadettes Boston Orchestra and also well known on the concert stage, is one of the hits of the mid-summer carnival vaudeville program at Proctor's the first part of this week. Miss Wynn is pretty, possessing a pleasing personality and is a singer of no mean ability. Her program consists of the classics and popular selections. Walter Wales & Co., presenting a dramatic sketch, "At the Threshold," a playlet so intense yet full of comedy, holding one's attention throughout the entire act. McCauley and Conwell, black face comedians, with a fund of songs, stories and eccentric dancing, went big. Major Doyle, the big little man, whose talks on matrimony command the attention of everyone contemplating that state of bliss. The Three Lubins, Dutch kiddies, singers and dancers, were well received. Hanley and DeVault, in a clever and interesting protean sketch, "After Years," in which Mr. Hanley assumes the interpretation of six characters and Miss DeVault three characters. Each character is true to nature, the change of voice, wardrobe and mannerisms. George Wickman a wonderful modeler in clay of famous personages, is an artist.

REVIEW YEAR AT HOSPITAL

by sixty, and the total number of patients treated in all departments showing an increase over last year by ninety-two, illustrates the fact, that all patients did not remain in the hospital for so long a time.

Total number of patients admitted during 1913, 1,025; total number of patients admitted during 1912, 965; increase of 60 patients.

Total number of visits to the Dispensary during 1913, 2,827; total number of visits to the Dispensary during 1912, 2,523; increase of 304 visits.

Total number of patients treated in all departments 1913, 1,871;; total number of patients treated in all departments 1912, 1,779; increase of 92 patients.

Total number of operations performed in the hospital 1913, 957; total number of operations performed in the hospital 1912, 800; increase of 157 operations.

The annual report of the Medical Board for the year 1913 is filled with interesting figures, summary of which shows the following cases treated:

Medical, 246; surgical, 653; eye, ear, nose and throat, 357; contagious, 20. Of which number of cases: 965 cured, 162 improved, 37 unimproved, 58 died, and 54 remaining.

Of the 957 operations, 639 were surgical and 419 were in the eye, ear, nose and throat department of the hospital. Of this number of cases 848 cured, 47 improved, 7 unimproved, 22 died, 33 remaining.

Summary of work in the Dispensary shows the following interesting figures: Medical, 119; surgical, 194; eye, ear, nose and throat, 478; dermatology, 31; X-ray, 188; increase of 212 treatments compared with previous year.

A Dental Clinic was inaugurated about the 15th of September, 1912. This clinic is now a regular part of our dispensary and there has been an average attendance of about eight cases per day. The Dental Association of Plainfield is showing great interest in this department of the hospital and much important work is being accomplished.

There have been days during the past year when the wards of the hospital have been so crowded that cots have been pressed into service to take care of the excess number of patients. There have been as many as fifty-eight patients in the hospital at one time. The female ward has been very crowded for months and still remains so. The private rooms have been in great demand, particularly during the past two months. At the present time all the rooms are filled and applications now on hand for the admission of five additional private room patients. The Contagious Pavilion has been contiuually occupied since November last.

Notwithstanding much inconvenience in the administration of the institution during the past year, owing to the crowded condition and lack of proper facilities, we have reason to be grateful for the amount of good work which the hospital has rendered. The administration and work of the various departments have been under close scrutiny and many improvements in the way of organization affected.

Preparation is now under way for the necessary reorganization of the various departments incidental to the opening of the new buildings during the coming autumn. The work that is now being done at Muhlenberg Hospital demonstrates very clearly the wisdom of having undertaken and successfully carried forward the campaign of a year and a half ago to secure funds to increase the capacity of our hospital. As the city of Plainfield increases in size, so the demands of our hospital in the good work it is doing must necessarily be increased, and it is only with careful foresight that the hospital can be placed in the position to meet the demands of service to the community. The citizens of Plainfield have reason to be proud of the good work which Muhlenberg hospital is accomplishing for the sick and suffering, and we must therefore beg of our citizens to appreciate the necessity of doing their part in increasing the annual contributions. As the work of the institution will be much greater during the coming years so we hope to have a larger number of annual contributors, and we who are responsible for the management of the institution must appreciate the necessity of doing all in our power toward interesting a greater number of persons in its support.

It will be remembered that during the campaign pledges were received amounting to about $133,000 of this amount about $109,000 has been received leaving a balance still due of about $24,000. According to the plan of payment, the final payment of all subscriptions will not be until October 1, 1913, and by that time it is expected that a very large proportion, if not all of this sum remaining due will have been paid by our generous-hearted citizens who so willingly responded to the call to help in the good work for the hospital

The treasurer's report for the year will prove of interest to those who will take the time to read it. Notwithstanding the amount of work done by the hospital, the expenses have not increased and we can attribute the lessening of operating expenses to the efficient work of our manager, Morris Harrison. On September 1, 1912, Miss Caroline Howes was appointed superintendent of nurses, and under her careful guidance the nursing department has shown increased efficiency.

The graduating exercises of Muhlenberg Hospital Training School occurred on the evening of May 22, at the Hartridge Auditorium, when the following nurses received their diplomas: Elizabeth Florence Duff, Isabel Cecilia McNicol, Aurelia Mary Brown, and Eleanor Disburrough Schenck.

An interesting feature of the exercises this year was the representation of the Alumni Association of Muhlenberg Hospital Training School, there having been in attendance twenty-four nurses in uniform who had previously received their diplomas from the Training School. The usual dance followed the graduating exercises.

As the work of Muhlenberg Hospital increases year by year, so the labors of those connected with its management must also increase, and the burden of responsibility to all connected with our institution be greater. Having been in close touch with the work of the standing committees, also with that of the special committees, I wish to express my deep gratitude for the untiring efforts of the Board of Governors in the fulfillment of their duties. It has constantly required self-sacrifice to give the various departments of our work the proper attention, and it is only by such unselfish efforts can this kind of humanitarian work be carried on.

I desire to express my thanks and appreciation to the members of the Women's Auxiliary Board and the Medical Staff for their faithful work during the past year, and to assure all the contributors and those who have sent gifts of any kind to the hospital that their generosity and assistance is most deeply appreciated.

ROUTINE BUSINESS OF COMMON COUNCIL

Minor Matters Occupy the Time of the Local City Fathers.

Attorney Harry C. Runyon in a communication to the Common Council, last night, called attention to the depressed condition of the walks and street at East Second and Richmond streets, speaking in the interest of Mrs. Harry Barnes and her daughter, Ruth, who he said were recently injured at that corner and were under the care of a physician. The matter was referred to the corporation counsel, Charles A. Reed.

Morris Abrams complained of the poor lighting condition at Randolph road and Park avenue. This was referred. Thora Hansen, of 128 Watchung avenue, petitioned for an employment agency license and this was referred to the proper committee.

William Jeffery, president of the Board of Trade, sent two communications to the Council, one in which he complained of the general condition of sidewalks throughout the city, which he said were not only dangerous, but in stormy weather permitted children to get their feet wet and catch cold. He believed that this condition could be remedied through an ordinance. The other communication protested against the adoption of the commissioner's report in the matter of widening Madison avenue, asking that it be referred back for further consideration. On motion of Mr. Mygatt this report was returned to the commissioners to be considered further. The communication regarding sidewalks was referred to the street committee.

In response to communications from the Union County Mosquito Commission and the Plainfield Board of Health complaining about a mosquito breeding place in the West End near the isolation hospital, the Council appropriated $250 to abate the alleged nuisance. In this connection, Mr. Mygatt offered a resolution that Charles H. Hand's proposal to donate land for the opening of a street in the section complained of, be accepted. The resolution was adopted.

William L. Smalley and Morris C. VanArsdale petitioned for permission to remove a dwelling from Fifth street and Park avenue so that it would face on East Fifth street. This was referred to the committee on fire and buildings. The annual report of the Plainfield Library and Reading Room was presented and ordered filed. The report of F. H. Andrews, D. J. Courain and Andrew J. Gavett, commissioners in the matter of improving streets, was received and filed.

Edward Willis and others petitioned for two fire hydrants at East Seventh street and Leland avenue. It was referred.

The Board of Health in a communication suggested that an amendment be made to the ordinance providing for the appointment of members of the board so that they may be named for one, two, three and four years, under which conditions no member would serve more than four years, and there would be experienced members in the board at all times. This was referred to the finance committee.

Regarding the petition of Jacob Sachar for the improvement of Giraud avenue, and another one regarding the improvement of George street, Mr. Mygatt reported that it would be impossible to do anything at present owing to lack of funds. As for W. H. Clark's request for improvements on East Ninth street, it is proposed to do enough work to prevent further damage to property in severe storms. Mr. Mygatt referred back the petition from the Master Plumbers' Association, requesting that only such persons who pass an examination be licensed, will be more strictly attended to in the future.

Mr. Mygatt presented maps in duplicate of Clinton Terrace, sent to him by Den. J. Galbraith, who is developing this tract, one of which was ordered filed with the city clerk and the other with the county clerk. Mr. Mygatt also brought up the matter of building a concrete arch, about 175 feet, one hundred feet west of Monroe avenue, to connect with a storm sewer, the expense not to exceed $100. The city will enter into an agreement with Mrs. Sadie Nathanson, owner of property in the vicinity which will be affected. She will pay part of the expense.

BIG STOREHOUSE FIRE

red. Trees suffered considerably from the heat and several big limbs fell during the late afternoon and evening.

When discovered at 4 o'clock by A. Perret, Sr., the fire was sweeping the ice houses which only a few minutes before presented their usual dry and black appearance against the sky, and he summoned the volunteers by sounding an alarm on the iron in front of Watchung headquarters. This brought out hundreds of farmers and laborers who formed numerous bucket brigades to wet the houses nearby, the roofs of which were ablaze. The chemical engine Watchung's only fighting apparatus, had all it could do in saving the Town Hall and a squad of men were kept busy on the roof of that building for three quarters of an hour extinguishing a fire in the third story. When Chief Doane and Chief McCullough arrived at the scene of the blaze the ice houses were leveled to the ground, nothing remaining but a charred mass of timber which fell in sections with deafening thuds all last night. Two streams of hose from the Plainfield chemical engine were directed on the storehouse after the flames had subsided to some extent in order to cool it off. The firemen had to overcome the eextreme heat and treacherous footings in getting anywhere near the heart of the fire and they confined their efforts solely to keeping the flames from spreading beyond the fire lines.

Burning with a bright red glow, and issuing forth its dense black fumes, the salted hay which was packed in layers between the 35,000 tons of stored ice, presented the appearance of a massive red hot furnace, shunned by everyone. Those who saw the fire in its early stages and watched its rapid spread, say that had it not been for the assistance of the local and borough firemen the entire village of Watchung would have been wiped out.

Various theories have ben advanced as to the direct cause of the blaze but it is not known definitely how the fire originated. A number of women and boys living near the ice company's plant claim that they saw boys who had been in swimming in the ice company's pond earlier in the afternoon, dressing on the trestle and several were smoking cigarettes. One women asserted that she saw five boys rush from the burning building just as it went up in flames and hurry at breakneck speed toward Plainfield. Another more plausible solution to the problem and one that is generally accepted is the action of the sun on salt hay and dry, rotton lumber.

The ice house was a frame structure, having been built by the present owners over fifteen years ago, and if the sun's rays ignited the hay it is probable that the structure was consumed rapidly from this cause. So intense was the heat near the burning barns that the water in the lake surrounding the building was heated to a luke warm temperature above the falls, and below the falls it was boiling. Temporary sheds are being erected by the Plainfield Ice and Supply Company today in an effort to save part of the 35,000 tons of ice in storage, which was uninsured. The building is a total loss, every timber being burned to a cinder together with the big trestle for hoisting the ice that adjoins the building itself. The Town Hall, in which was stored the records and furniture of the Watchung Improvement Association was damaged to the extent of $500 and considerable loss by fire and water was done to the homes of Edward Lowden, Louis Snowden and Arthur Demler. A store owned by Charles Meyers, of Scotch Plains, and another small store and house owned by Edward Snowden were also damaged.

After the recall had been sounded the Watchung firemen entertained those of Plainfield and North Plainfield at a supper in the Washington Hotel, when the three chiefs reviewed the experiences of the afternoon in the course of short after dinner speeches. Among those who did good work in assising the volunteers were Ben Armstrong, Clarence Schmidt Edward Bowden, Roy Herrman, Henry A. Allen, T. Brodmeiker and Charles Nash.

AUTOISTS ESCAPE INJURY.

Two powerful automobiles containing five passengers each, traveling in opposite directions along Mountain avenue, Scotch Plains, Sunday afternoon, collided head-on. Although the noise made by the force of the impact of the two machines could be heard for a considerable distance, none of the occupants of the autos were injured beyond a slight shaking-up. After repairing their ties and straightening bent mud guards, the owners of each vehicle exchanged information regarding themselves and proceeded on their ways.

FOUR GIRLS ESCAPE FROM STATE INSTITUTION

Four inmates of the State Home for Girls at Clinton escaped from that institution last night. It is thought by the authorities that the escape had been carefully planned. Although the local police have been asked to keep on the watch out for the prisoners the details of the escape has not been furnished Chief Kiely and the only information regarding their description is that one was tall and had red hair; two were short and had dark hair and the fourth was middle sized with brown hair. All wore the regulation dress of dark blue and white stripes with white turn-down collar.

Summer Soups.

Soups in summer, excepting on cold, damp days, should be of a lighter and more easily digested sort than those served in winter. On the other days, soup is refreshing and soothing to the body and mind fagged by the heat of the summer, and so, in some form, is a most appropriate part of the summer diet.

Delicate soups can be made with the liquor in which peas, asparagus, celery, rice and other vegetables are cooked. This liquor should be made savary with pepper, salt, butter and minced parsley, and to each pint of it a pint of cream, slightly thickened with a teaspoonful of cornstarch, should be added. This soup is light and delicious and is made more attractive by the addition of small, crisp croutons, browned in the oven. Instead of croutons, browned and toasted strips of bread, very thin and dainty, can be served.

Nourishing Summer Soups.

One of the heavier soups can be served in the summer as the main dish at luncheon. In some warm countries, it is the habit to serve soup, rolls, a salad—radishes and lettuce, perhaps—and fruit for luncheon, and no more satisfactory luncheon could be thought out. The soup and bread and butter give all the proteids and fat needed, and the salad and fruit supply enough other food elements to round the meal out.

Dried pea soup is a good soup to serve at a luncheon of this sort. One recipe for it says to soak the peas over night and then cook them in salted water. If you start out with a pint of dry peas melt an ounce of butter in a saucepan and add half a pound of finely shredded sorrel. Then add the peas, pushed through a strainer, and cook altogether for five minutes. Dilute with three pints of milk and water or soup stock, boil gently for fifteen minutes, season with salt and pepper to taste, add half a cupful of cream, and serve with croutons. When the soup is served, sprinkle each plateful with a bit of finely minced parsley.

Peas and corn and lima beans can all be made into acceptable purees for the summer table, by boiling them till they are tender, rubbing them through a sieve, and adding milk, butter, pepper and salt to them.

FASHION HINT

By JUDIC CHOLLET

The tucked blouse with soft rolling collar is a great favorite this season. This one is made of white crepe de chine, with collar and cuffs of Bulgarian silk, but the same model is good for voile, marquisette, linen and batiste.

SMART TUCKED BLOUSE.

White voile with collar and cuffs of colored material, on which is applied some hand embroidery, would be very attractive. Women who like a high collar may add a chemisette.

For the medium size the blouse will require three and three-eighths yards of material twenty-seven inches wide, with three-eighths for collar and cuffs.

Some Cookery Suggestions

FRESH FRUIT PIES.

As fast as a new fruit comes into market the housewife makes haste to avail herself of it for the useful pie which is in most households a favorite supplement to the chief meal of the day. Apples, cherries, strawberries, currants, raspberries, huckleberries, plums, mulberries, etc., may all be made into pies by following this recipe for apple pie.

A Standard Pastry.

Apple Pie.—Pare core and quarter the apples. Boil the cores and parings in sugar and water. Strain off the liquid, adding more sugar. Grate the rind of a lemon over the apples and squeeze the juice into the sirup. Mix half a dozen cloves with the fruit, put in a piece of butter the size of a walnut. Cover a pie dish with puff paste, then put in the fruit and add a layer of puff paste.

With Sour Cherries.

Cherry Pie.—Take sour cherries, remove the pits. Select a deep pan for the pie, the deeper the better for cherries. To prevent the juice from running over a strip of cotton cloth may be wet and pressed about the rim after the pie is ready to go into the oven, or a paper funnel may be inserted in the opening in the center of the top crust to allow for the escape of steam, thus relieving the crust from pressure. When the under crust is spread on the plate sprinkle lightly with flour or brush over with white of egg. Pack full of the sweetened cherries, then put on the upper crust.

Individual Pies.

Strawberry Puffs.—Mix and sift one cupful of wheat flour, half a teaspoonful of salt, half a teaspoonful of baking powder, level measurements. Moisten to a soft dough with milk. Butter individual molds and drop a spoonful of mixture in each. Roll two or three strawberries in sugar and place on top of mixture. Add another spoonful of mixture and steam ten minutes. Serve at once with this sauce: One cupful of sugar mixed with one tablespoonful of flour, one cupful of strawberry juice and a pinch of salt. Bring to a boiling point.

Rhubarb Pie.—Fill a deep pie plate lined with crust with rhubarb cut in one-half inch pieces. Do not peel. Then stir one cupful of sugar and a tablespoonful of cornstarch thoroughly together and spread over the pie. Moisten the edge of the crust with warm water, put on the top crust and press firmly around the edge. Bake till thoroughly done. Sprinkle the top with powdered sugar before serving.

Queries, Comment and Answers

Sporting Editor:

Query—What is meant by the "zodiac?" S. D. E.

Answer—The zodiac is a belt of the celestial sphere extending eight degrees on each side of the ecliptic, or the path of the sun among the stars. The belt is divided into twelve parts of thirty degrees each, to which are given the following names: Aries, Taurus, Gemini, Cancer, Leo, Virgo, Libra, Scorpio, Sagittarius, Capricornus, Aquarius, and Pisces. This division into twelve parts was suggested by the twelve appearances of the moon in a year. The idea seems to have originated with the Chaldeon astronomers.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Is organized baseball legal? E. D.

Answer—There is a suit pending in the Federal District Court of Missouri to test the legality of organized baseball, at the present time. The suit has been filed by Manager John J. O'Connor, of the St. Louis Federal League team. According to charges, organized baseball is a violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, but until the matter is decided in the courts we cannot state definitely whether or not organized baseball is legal.

ALL TENNIS HONORS WON BY MISS BROWNE

Mixed Double Final—Winner Defeated Miss Wildey of This City in Two Events.

Miss Mary Browne, of Los Angeles, and W. T. Tilden, Jr., playing their best tennis of the tournament, won the mixed doubles championship of the United States in the concluding match of the women's national tourney at the Philadelphia Cricket Club yesterday afternoon by defeating Miss Dorothy Green and C. S. Rogers in a closely contested match, 7-5, 7-5.

As the score indicates, the victory was won only by a narrow margin, and after Miss Green and her partner had put up a game which would have overwhelmed any pair in the country, except the national woman champion and the rising young University of Pennsylvania player.

Yesterday's victory gives Miss Browne all three national tennis titles, as she successfully defended her singles championship against Miss Green on Saturday, and, playing with Mrs. Robert Williams, won the double title from Miss Green and Miss Edna Wildey, of Plainfield.

Although the little California girl's triple victory keeps all the women titles on the Pacific coast, local tennis enthusiasts joined in the reception given the visitors.

SILVER LOVING CUP OFFERED FOR GIRLS' TENNIS MATCHES

A special tennis tournament for girls under eighteen years of age will be held at the Plainfield Country Club, play opening next Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. Entries close for this event next Friday evening at 8 o'clock with Miss Barbara Fleming.

A number of girls are expected to enter the tournament for which a handsome silver loving cup has been offered as an incentive to competition.

WOMEN'S TENNIS TOURNEY REACHES THE THIRD ROUND

Mrs. Morris Dumont defeated Mrs. Frank Frost in the first round of play in connection with the women's championship singles tournament now being conducted at the Plainfield Country Club. This game was played yesterday morning and the second round resulted in Miss Elsie Goddard scoring a defeat over Miss Louise Patterson, 6-1, 6-4.

The consolation round for those defeated in the first round of actual play will be started tomorrow.

NORTH PLAINFIELD HIGH SCHOOL NINE AHEAD IN THIRTEEN OF ITS CONTESTS

The North Plainfield High School baseball team has just finished one of the most successful seasons in the history of the school. Although the city championship was lost, the team won the county title and of the twenty-two games played thirteen were victories, giving the team an average of .591. To a large extent the success of the team is due to the work of Coach Webster and Assistant Coach Phelps. The members of the team were not a hard hitting bunch as the averages show but they had the knack of hitting the ball at the right time. Carroll Taylor, who played about every position on the team, led the batting throughout the season with an average of .293 and George Townley finished a close second, his average being .285; Ernest Stahl, Frank Dunning and Warren Townley finished third, fourth and fifth, respectively. W. Townley led the team in getting safe hits, he getting a total of 25 with Taylor and Dunning tied for second place with 23 each. During the season Taylor and Dunning each stole 30 bases and the nearest to them was G. Townley with 25. Taylor led his teammates in sacrifice hits with seven to his credit and Abrams, Smalley and W. Townley were tied for second with three apiece. During the season the team was 27 two base hits and 3 three base hits.

Taylor and Burner led in the record of runs, each having a total of 26. Spencer, G. Townley and Dunning were tied with 22 runs each. Ralph Smalley, who is considered one of the best High School backstops in this vicinity, was behind the bat in every game played and led the rest of the team in fielding with an average of .981. In the 22 games played he made 173 put-outs, 35 assists and 9 errors.

The team played 4 extra inning games for a total of 9 extra innings. These were played with Roselle, High Bridge, Plainfield and Somerville and all of these went for defeats. Against their opponents' 104 runs the borough team scored 192. The highest score made by the team was against Bound Brook, the score being 22 to 2. The highest count made by opponents was made by Plainfield in the first game, the score being 16 to 1. The team scored one shut-out in the first game with Somerville with a score of 9 to 0. Every member of the team, with the exception of Day and VanMater, who played in only two games, made errors with a team total of 116 misplays. W. Townley made the most with 20 chalked up against him and Dunning was second with 16.

The complete records follow:

CANDIDATES SHOULD GET IN SUBSCRIPTIONS

Count yesterday's candidates in The Daily Press automobile contest. Of what order have your efforts been—gold watch or automobile?

With so many prizes being offered and so comparatively few candidates really interested it behooves that person who has been pondering over the big proposition to send in his nomination and get started at once.

It seems rather late in the contest many will say, but no one knows better how easy it will be to win than the contest department. There might be some surprises turn up later on, but the prizes offered and the vote schedule arrangement are so that immediate action is necessary and plenty of it from now until the closing hour of the greatest vote offer.

A word to those who have secured several subscribers to The Plainfield Daily Press. Do not overlook the fact that your competitors' subscriptions yield the same number of votes as those you secure, and if things break hard for you, bear in mind he might have had easy sailing among his friends, and perhaps has enough up his sleeve to place him in the lead after this period. Of course no one will know where the other stands. Many seem to think that a few certain persons have things monopolized. One candidate will come in with the remark that he heard so and so had so many subscribers and he does not think he will have a chance. Mr. So-and-so will then come in to say that he heard the fellow who just left the office had a great number and so the thing goes on. Don't get "cold feet." Remember the old adage about the person who laughs last.

TO SECURE THE GREATEST NUMBER OF VOTES ON SUBSCRIPTIONS ALL CANDIDATES MUST HAVE THEIR SUBSCRIPTIONS IN THIS OFFICE BEFORE 10 P. M., JUNE 18.

THE HENDERSON

HENDERSON IDEALS.

Formulating certain ideals and adhering to them to the letter is the Henderson method—the result is extravagant quality and economy price. Starting at the factory—in the initial step in the Henderson's construction—these ideals take root, and until the finished car gets its final O. K. the Henderson ideals are rigidly lived up to. The Henderson car is a matter of pride with every workman in the Henderson plant. Each gives their honest and utmost endeavor to do their share in the building of the Henderson and make each car a masterpiece.

Every Henderson is a mechanical triumph—an engineering achievement that marks an epoch in motor car construction. Back of each Henderson is a decade of the ripest automobile experience.

Four important factors make possible the Henderson success—sound design, quality materials, luxury equipment and appointments and unusual value.

The high-priced features of the Henderson have been the wonder of the industry. No other car begins to give so much for the money—so little cost never bought such genuine automobile value until the Henderson came.

Investigate the Henderson. Examine it part for part. The more thorough your comparison, the more thorough will be your conviction that the Henderson is the car for you.

Purchased from the SERVICE MOTOR CAR COMPANY.

THE FORD

FORD HEAT-TREATMENT.

A certain kind of Vanadium steel is used in a limited way elsewhere—but FORD Vanadium is FORD steel.

Every important part of the FORD Model T is specially heat-treated for its particular work. It must be made tough or hard or springy—as the conditions demand.

It cost the Ford Motor Company considerably over $200,000 to incorporate this special heat-treating equipment in its great manufacturing plant.

Vanadium steel, scientifically heat-treated, has made it possible for the Ford Motor Company to build a car extra light in weight and yet tremendously strong.

A FORD car can be lifted from the floor by the four fender irons, no one of which is larger than your little finger. Try this with any other car and witness the effect.

As Vanadium is practically twice as strong as ordinary steel we of course use less of it—and thereby materially lighten the car's weight—and at the same time greatly add to its strength and safety.

Vanadium steel construction is a distinct FORD advantage. An advantage which we cannot unduly emphasize.

SAFETY IN DRIVING.

The double brake system of the FORD makes "safety doubly safe"—and is as simple as it is sure in operation. The service brake is controlled by a foot pedal on which the slightest pressure is sufficient to stop the momentum of the car. There is also an emergency brake which acts upon the rear wheel drums and which is controlled by a lever. The use of this brake is made necessary only when stopping on hills or when the car is left standing without an operator. There is absolutely no chance for the car to get away from its driver.

TEACHING CORPS OF 140

One Leave of Absence Granted—Washington School the Only One Not to Have New Instructors—Several Resign to Marry.

Many changes in the ranks of the public school teaching corps will be apparent when the schools reconvene for work in September, a number of resignations and leaves of absence having been granted by the Board of Education previous to the closing of the schools for the summer recess tomorrow. A total of 140 instructors has been signed by the Board for the education work in Plainfield during the 1913-14 term and a number of additions over last year have been necessitated by the expansion of the work in the special departments and the new phases of work which will be tried for the first time next year.

The changes recorded in the various schools are:

High School—Miss Sophie Woodman and Miss Myra Burrage change to Greater New York; Miss Ellen K. Cumming, who has been away for a year, returns to her post; Dorothea E. Bull, from the Stillman School, who has been teaching bookkeeping to the freshmen this year, becomes a full teacher in the commercial department; Ralph Patch, of Amherst College, now teaching in The Swarthmore Preparatory School, takes charge of the physical training for the boys; Elmira Gifford, of New Bedford, takes the place of Miss Burrage in German; Miriam E. West, now teaching in Madison, Wis., will teach mathematics.

Churton takes a year's leave of absence for recuperation of her health. The new appointees are Anastatia O'Neill, of Potsdam; Frances M. Betz, transferred from the Irving School, and Mary Clark, of Potsdam.

Washington School—The Washington School is the only school in the city that has no change for the coming year.

Bryant School—Pearl Mitchell retires to remain at her home in Saranac. The new appointees are Mary E. Chick, of Trenton; Minnie Frazee, of North Plainfield; Nora M. Koons, of North Plainfield, takes the special class.

Irving School—Frieda Gray retires to be married; Miss Betz is transferred to the Franklin School; the new appointees are Elsa M. Cook, of Scotch Plains, and Ethel M. Loiselle of Potsdam.

Jefferson School—Roberta Reynolds withdraws for a year's rest. Her place is taken by Hilda Johnson, transferred from Stillman School. Helen Smith withdraws from her position as assistant in the kindergarten, and Helen Leitheusser, of Plainfield, takes her place.

The manual training department has two new appointees: Ruth D. Sadler, transferred from the Franklin School, and Miss Bertha C. Hill, class of '06 in the Plainfield High School, now teaching in Tennessee.

HISTORIC BASIS FOR AMATEUR PRODUCTION

Third Annual Presentation of the Legend of Watchung This Week.

Finishing touches savoring of artisticness and originality are being added to the third annual production of the Watchung Legend, which will be presented in the hills of Watchung by residents of that place Friday and Saturday nights of this week, and those closely affiliated with the cast and show say that present indications point to the establishing of a precedent in the staging of outdoor performances in this vicinity. Those who saw the legend of last year were high in their praise of the scenic and musical features and a number of travelers who chanced to see it given, even went so far as to claim that it rivaled the Passion Play produced every ten years in Switzerland.

Through the careful coaching of Dr. M. P. E. Groszmann, the players have attained a high standard of efficiency and eighty residents have given their services to make the affair a success. The legend will be produced exclusively by amateur talent and was written especially for this occasion by William de La R. Anderson, who will take the principal part, that of "One Feather," chief of the Watchung Indians. The story of the play is based on an old folk legend handed down by old residents of Watchung and is based on historical facts.

An added feature of the production will be the unique setting presented by the cliffs and rocks in the vicinity of the Town Hall, where the third annual will be staged. Arrangements have been made for the transportation of guests from the end of the Somerset street trolley line and following the program an informal reception and dance will be given during which refreshments will be served by a committee of Watchung residents. Some of the most important characters are: "One Feather," chief of the Watchung Indians, William de La R. Anderson; "Blue Wolf," sub chief, E. P. Canning; "Tribal Scout," Edward Bowden; "Medicine Man," John Mobus; whites, "Captain Michelson," Louis Snowden; leader of the whites, "Jens Jensen," white scout, George Mobus; half breed Indian princess, Mrs. M. Griffin or Miss Theresa Schmidt.

FUNDS NEEDED FOR FIREWORKS DISPLAY

Council's Appropriation Will Not Cover the Cost of Proposed Exhibition.

In addition to the $150 appropriated by the Common Council for the Fourth of July celebration to be held at Parker Field under the auspices of the Playground Commission, $100 more is needed in order that the elaborate program originally planned by the commission may be carried out. The commission has asked for voluntary contributions to enable it to hold an appropriate demonstration for the community. Any balance that might remain after the expenses of the celebration are paid, will be used in purchasing equipment for the easterly side of Parker Field.

It is proposed to remodel the field in certain parts to make it into a public park and if present plans are carried out the new feature will be ready to be turned over to the public by the first Sunday in July. Two subscriptions for this work have already been received and any further donations may be sent to J. Hervey Doane, 119 Park avenue. Fifteen dollars has been contributed by George P. Mellick $10, and David T. Kenney $5.

MUNICIPAL BAND'S FIRST REHEARSAL

Senior Musicians Organized at Washington School Last Night.

The response to the announcement of the initial rehearsal of the recently proposed Municipal orchestra held in the Washington School auditorium last night was encouraging to the members of the Recreation Committee who are fostering the new movement, and the musicians who turned out at the initial call were enthusiastic over the first night's practice which was led by Martin Korff, formerly of the Y. M. C. A. orchestra. A large number of people interested in the advance of the orchestra experiment witnessed the rehearsal last night and as the result of the success many more will probably be added to the membership rolls when the band meets again next Tuesday night at the same place. The meeting last night was for those who intend to join the senior band organized for musicians over eighteen years of age and although their were sufficient number present at the first rehearsal to warrant the formation of the band, many more are needed and it is hoped that the number will be doubled next Tuesday night.

A drill for those under eighteen years of age, or the players who will constitute the junior orchestra, will be held in the Washington School auditorium tomorrow night under the same leadership. The public is invited to attend these gatherings as one of the objects of the committee in fostering such a movement is to supply musical entertainments for the people of Plainfield. Anyone is eligible to membership. The music is furnished by the committee and the player brings his own instrument and stand.

SOLD CIGARETTES TO BOYS; JOHN RASINE FINED $5

John Basine, 850 West Fourth street, was fined $5 when arraigned before City Judge DeMeza this morning, charged by Patrolman Wicht with selling cigarettes to a minor. The witness against the defendant was Howard Montague, 15 years old, of Prescott place, who purchased the articles.

IF GUILTY THIS MAN SHOULD GET THE LIMIT

Patsey Boniparte, of 317 Cottage place, was arrested yesterday afternoon for stealing an African magpie which was a family pet of Irwin J. Taylor, of 835 West Eighth street. The bird, which was valued at $50, was xecptionally tame and was playing on the lawn surrounding the Taylor home. Boniparte happened along and seeing the valuable bird, it is said, placed it under his coat and walked quickly away. The magpie began to screech and fearing this would lead to his detection, Boniparte twisted its neck until it died.

Boniparte was held in $100 bail for his appearance Saturday morning before City Judge DeMeza.

GRADUATES HELD FAREWELL EVENT

Members of the 1913 Class Gave Reception and Dance in P. H. S. Auditorium.

NINETY-FIVE PUPILS

A Record Audience Attended the Closing Function of the Graduating Class—Class Officers and Class Day Committee—The Program.

One of the largest gatherings of friends and relatives of Plainfield High School students that ever attended an affair given in the school auditorium was present at the 1913 Class Day exercises held last night. An appropriate program of music and readings, followed by an informal dance, was presented by the ninety-five members of the senior class. So large is the number of graduates this year that a special addition to the school platform had to be erected to accommodate the class which was arranged in a semi-circle on the stage during the evening's program.

The history of the class since its entrance into the school in 1909 until the present time was reviewed by Miss Annette McGinley, Miss Neva Waldorf, Miss Elsie Rodenbaugh and Miss Ada Woodruff, the class historians, and they told the various experiences encountered by the particular group of pupils of which they were members and of what had become of a number who entered the school with the present class but dropped out during the four years' course.

Edson Woodhull, president of the class, read the class statistics, consisting of an appropriate toast for each member, and Miss Edith Brokaw, the class poet read the poem, of which she was the author. A prophecy, read by Miss Marion Wean and Miss Pauline Gates, predicted many bright futures for the 1913 graduates, while Val Goldsmith presented the last will and testament of the outgoing pupils.

Following the singing of the 1913 song by the class, informal dancing was enjoyed until midnight.

The committee in charge of the affair consisted of Miss Annette McGinley, chairman; Miss Neva Waldorf, Miss Margaret Russell, Miss Edith Brokaw, Tonnes Dennison, Val Goldsmith and Joseph Carty. The class officers are President, Edson Woodhull; vice president, Fred Allen; secretary, Neva Waldorf, treasurer, John Heron.

HOUSES UNFIT FOR HUMAN HABITATION

Local Health Board Orders Tenants to Vacate Arlington Ave. Dwellings.

Occupants of the frame apartment house on the westerly side of Arlington avenue between Third and Fourth streets were served with official notices this morning by Randolph Chandler, the local health officer, to vacate the premises within ten days' time. The reason for this action is the fact that the premises in question have been determined unfit for human habitation, having no potable water supply and no toilet facilities. Persons living in houses from 300 to 314 Arlington avenue are affected by this notice and unless these places are vacated ten days from today steps will be taken to make the occupants comply with the law.

The condemned row of dwellings are of frame construction and in every case with the exception of one, two families live in an apartment originally designed for a single family. Much surprise and no little amount of indignation was shown on the part of the house-renters of that district when the action was taken this morning and it is expected that some stringent protests will be made by several before they comply with the health department's orders. While the houses in question present a passable appearance from the exterior they are filthy in the interior and the conditions existing are deplorable in most instances.

Monsignor John A. O'Grady, in speaking of the exercises by the little folks, declared the Irish jig was better than the turkey trot. The graduates are Helen Barnwell, Helen Moore, Teresa Geoghan and Eleanor Hickey, Christopher Lyons, Thomas Short and Timothy Kane.

OTHERS BREAK LAW SAYS LOUIS WEISS

Not Registered He Was Fined $100 for Selling 10 cents Worth of Poison.

Louis V. Weiss, the Somerset street druggist, who was recently fined $100 for selling ten cents worth of iodine while the registered pharmacist, which he employs, was out of the store, says he has been engaged in collecting evidence as to others violating the law in this respect which he proposes to present to the State Board of Pharmacy in the near future. He is registered in Pennsylvania and Ohio, and while the latter State interchanges with twenty-seven other States, New Jersey is not one of them, and he is now planning to meet the requirements of the New Jersey law.

Last November Mr. Weiss purchased his present business in the borough and two inspectors of the State Board of Pharmacy purchased from him 10 cents worth of iodine, which is in the class of poisons. About seven months later Mr. Weiss found himself a defendant before Judge Isaac P. Runyon in the District Court, Somerville, the State Board of Pharmacy being the complainant. He was found guilty of a violation of the law and a fine of $100 was imposed.

Mr. Weiss has been unable to learn who made the original complaint against him, the State Board refusing to divulge that information. He asserts that on several occasions he has been invited to join the Plainfield Druggists' Association, but has declined to do so. He asserts that one of the principal objects of the local association is to maintain a schedule of prices and not willing to subscribe to such rules he has refused to become a member of the association However, Mr. Weiss says he does not hold the association responsible for the fact that he was prosecuted by the State Board.

In speaking of the matter today, Mr. Weiss said that he believes the State law is unjust in many respects, working a distinct hardship on many druggists, and that efforts have been made to have it amended. He declares that there are many druggists throughout the State who have been guilty of the same violation with which he was charged, and says that he would not make any objection if the law was enforced on all druggists alike.

One thing that Mr. Weiss has been unable to explain is that why so much time should elapse between the time that he was charged with a violation of the law and the time of prosecution. In order to fully comply with the law the druggist said that he would be obliged to employ two registered pharmacists beside himself and this he believes would work a hardship and unnecessary expense. He is convinced that there are many similar violations and he proposes to lay some of them before the State Board.

TRAIN ROBBERS GET $30,000, POSSE IN PURSUIT

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Springfield, Ill., June 18.—Two masked men early today held up the Diamond Special on the Illinois Central Railroad near Glen Arms, fourteen miles southwest of here. The safe in the express car was dynamited. It is said that the robbers obtained $30,000 in cash and negotiable paper.

Posses were organized at once. One posse reports that it has surrounded two men in a barn and is preparing to rush the building.

EARLY DEMAND FOR RECREATION WORK

Supervisor George W. Wriston Issues a Report for the Month of May.

Although the season of playground work does not open officially until July 4, Supervisor George W. Wriston, of the Parker Field, has issued an encouraging report of the work at that recreation centre for the month of May and the statistics presented show that the juvenile pleasure seekers have already started their summer athletic activities. The baseball field has proven unusually popular, no less than 515 individuals having taken advantage of the opportunities offered for the playing of the National game at this rendezvous, which boasts of one of the finest diamonds in the State. The apparatus and gymnastic equipment at the field has been the most frequented of any other of the departments, 537 junior athletes having used this equipment during the month of May.

The tennis courts have been used by 395 players, and matches have been contested there every afternoon, the two courts being in almost constant use the entire day. Fifty-eight runners and jumpers have performed on the cinder path and jumping standards and two track meets have been held for their benefit, one by the Stillman Grammar School, which had nearly fifty entrants, including a special class for girls. Twenty-eight ball games have been played and the spectators have aggregated 1,375. All told 2,280 persons went to the field during the month, for an average of twenty-five each fair day. It is proposed to construct two new tennis courts to meet with the increasing demand for a place to play this popular outdoor pastime. This report is based on the attendance rolls for Saturdays and holidays as the recreation center is not in use under the supervision of an instructor on school days.

Upon the closing of the school term, Mr. Wriston will have the field open during certain hours every day and a busy program of summer recreation is being planned by him. The playground commission is planning to hold a fireworks celebration at Parker Field on the Fourth of July for which the Common Council has already appropriated $150.

BORO RESENTS INCREASE PLAN

Major Lentz Speaks for North Plainfield at Conference With Co. Tax Board.

VIOLATE AGREEMENT?

Assessment Over 18 Per Cent. Higher Than Elsewhere—It Had Been Promised to Reduce But Now Threaten to Make Another Raise.

The property-owners of North Plainfield intend not only to strongly protest against an increase in tax assessments for 1913, but to see that the Somerset County Tax Board lives up to its agreement of last year when, after admitting that the borough assessment was about 18.31 per cent. higher than that of any other municipality in the county, promised to allow that deduction this year, which would amount to between $800,000 and $900,000.

These matters were thoroughly discussed at a meeting of borough citizens with the county tax board held in the Borough Council rooms, yesterday afternoon. The county board was given somewhat of a surprise when it learned that Major Carl Lentz, of Newark, was present to represent the Council and the committee of citizens, W. J. Buttfield having privately retained him at his own expense.

There is perhaps no better authority on tax matters in the State than Major Lentz and when he had carefully gone over the local situation, the county board was practically speechless and had nothing to say. He informed the board that the only grounds upon which it could make an increase in the assessment was because of additional buildings, additions and improvements. He threatened to take the borough's case to the highest court unless a satisfactory assessment was made, and he further informed Andrew E. Kenney, of the county board, who presided at the meeting, that in this event, the tax money from the borough would be withheld and no doubt cripple the financial condition of the county.

According to the statements of citizens, last year's county tax board signed an agreement to make the 18.31 per cent. allowance to the borough, to be realized this year, but there has been a rumor current that this year's county board did not intend to abide by the agreement, the board membership being changed, James E. Bathgate, of Bernardsville, succeeding P. V. D. Van Doren.

Major Lentz told the board that the only way it could abrogate this agreement was by saying that it was in error, caused by gross ignorance or by charging fraud against the committee on taxation from the Council.

Mr. Kenney disputed this, claiming that he signed the agreement, laboring under the impression that the borough was discriminated against, which fact he said he had since learned to be wrong. In reply to Major Lentz's assertion that he claimed the figures presented to be incorrect, Mr. Kenney said "they were incomplete."

Mr. Bathgate said that he had taken an oath to fulfil the duties of his office to the best of ability and would not be bound by any past agreements of the board, while Michael Scully, another member, openly stated that he would stand by the full text of the agreement he signed.

Former Mayor Newton B. Smalley and Timothy F. Harrington, both large property-owners in the borough, spoke on behalf of the taxpayers, urging that last year's agreement be lived up to by the county board.

MISS ELIZABETH WILSON DIES AT SANITARIUM

Miss Elizabeth Wilson, aged ninety years, died early this morning at Dr. J. H. Cooley's sanitarium in North Plainfield, of the infirmities of old age. She had been at the institution for more than a year and lived in Jerssy City for many years prior to coming to Plainfield. She is survived by two nieces, one of whom is Mrs. Bennett, of South Orange, a sister, Miss Mary Wilson, of Galen Hall, Pa., and one brother.

The remains will be taken to East Chester, N. Y., where the funeral service will be held Friday afternoon. The burial will be at East Chester.

PUPILS OVERCOME BY HEAT.

Roselle, June 18.—Frank Holland and three girls, all pupils of the Roselle Park schools, were affected by the heat while attending the exercises connected with the unveiling of the marker by Court Boudinot, D. A. R., in Galloping Hill road. The school children walked from the school to the place where the exercisese were held, to sing. They were given medical attention and sent home.

IT IS SERIOUS.

Some Plainfield People Fail to Realize the Seriousness of a Bad Back.

The constant aching of a bad back,
The weariness, the tired feeling,
The pains and aches of kidney ills
May result seriously if neglected.

Dangerous urinary troubles often follow.

A Plainfield citizen shows you what to do.

Mrs. Anthony Wahl, R. F. D. No. 1, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I had such distressing pains in my back that I could hardly stand and it was out of the question for me to stoop. I was all crippled up and I knew perfectly well that my kidneys were the cause of the trouble. A neighbor recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to me and on her suggestion, I used them. They gave me almost immediate relief and three boxes changed me from a chronic sufferer to a healthy woman. I still take Doan's Kidney Pills occasionally, when a cold settles on my kidneys and they act as a preventive of any serious trouble. You may publish this account of my experience for the benefit of other kidney sufferers."

Plainfield, N. J., June 18, 1913.

Three hundred delegates, of whom about two-thirds are from the United States and Canada are attending the General Council of the Alliance of Reformed Churches Throughout the World Holding the Presbyterian System, which got under way at Aberdeen, Scotland, today. This is the tenth general meeting of the Alliance, which was formed in London in 1875 and has since held councils in Edinburgh, Philadelphia, Belfast, London, Toronto, Glasgow, Washington, Liverpool and New York.

The Alliance includes 90 churches in five continents. It embraces all adherents of the Presbyterian and Reformed churches throughout the world, numbering approximately 25,000,000 persons. The president of the Alliance and the presiding officer at the present meeting is the Rev. Dr. David J. Burrell, of New York, a member of the Dutch Reformed Church. The Rev. Dr. George D. Mathews, of the Presbyterian church of England, is general secretary. The American secretary is the Rev. Dr. William H. Roberts, of Philadelphia, stated clerk of the Presbyterian General Assembly.

The general council is not a legislative body. Its work is to discuss church and religious questions. Probably the most important matter to be brought up at the present meeting is the proposition for a world conference on faith and order, which is being advocated by leading members of the Protestant Episcopal Church, and to defray the expenses of which the late J. Pierpont Morgan, of New York, gave $100,000. Dr. Roberts, of Philadelphia, will present the proposition to the general council.

It is a very sensible idea of the Plainfield Playground Commission to throw Parker Field open to the public on Sunday afternoons. Now, if the Public Library Board will only open the library and art gallery it will show that it is abreast with the times. We may do well by emulating the Englishman. Sunday is his only day of real freedom and after attending church service he visits the art galleries and other public institutions and moreover enjoys hearing a band-concert—and morally, mentally and physically he is much the better because of this.

When Rutgers college yesterday conferred the degree of master of arts on J. Brognard Betts, of North Plainfield, it fittingly recognized his valuable work in the State's department of education. Mr. Betts has been connected with the department for some thirty-seven years and when Calvin Kendall was chosen as State Commissioner he very properly selected him as his deputy for the choice was by all odds the best that could be made for no man in New Jersey knows as much about its educational system and machinery as does J. B. Betts, M. A.

A man in moderate circumstances will go downtown and buy a couple of new 37x5 tires for his six-cylinder touring car and then complain bitterly that the Democratic administration isn't doing anything to reduce the cost of living.—Paterson Evening News.

Probably he's the same man who plays tennis all afternoon under a broiling sun and hires another to cut the grass on the lawn because it is too hard work for him.

The efforts of the Playground Commission to provide a "safe and sane" celebration on the Fourth of July should be encouraged. An appropriation of $150 has been made by the city and $100 more is needed to defray the cost of fireworks. Contributions may be sent to J. Hervey Doane, chairman of the Commission's committee.

Undoubtedly Sulzer means well but he should take some lessons in political jui-jitsu. We commend him to The Schoolmaster, care of the White House.

That joint debate, via printers' ink, between Jeffery and Endress is becoming interesting. Is Jeff trying to make Mutt of the other fellow?

If the New Haven road keeps up its record, it may not be long before the accident insurance companies change the conditions of their policies.

THE FORUM.

JEFFERY ANSWERS ENDRESS.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

Replying to Fred Endress, whose letter you published recently in the matter of the proposed widening of Madison avenue, Plainfield, I am glad to be able to report that the Common Council acting under the advice of the Corporation Counsel, did not accept the Commissioners' report, but referred the matter back to the Commission, which is precisely what we requested them to do, and the authorities are entitled to the credit.

If Mr. Endress has anything further to suggest to the Commission, it will be well for him to prepare a statement and to appear before that body at its next public hearing and explain why he should receive damages amounting to $8,056.18 on the basis of his ownership of 341 feet and 6 inches, of the westerly side of Madison avenue, which is at the rate of about $23.63 per foot and why Mr. Mills, who owns 131 feet adjoining, should receive only $908, which equals only about $6.93 per foot. Benefits assessed to Mr. Endress are $8,521.37 which is about $25 per foot. Benefits assessed to Mr. Mills are $1,431.52, which is about $10.93 per foot This adjustment of figures is a laughable paradox.

It is not seemly that the Board of Trade should take up a revision of the Commissioners' report, they are the ones who have been delegated to do the work, but it is proper for the Board of Trade to direct the public's attention to the matter and let public opinion straighten it out. That is what we propose to do in all these matters. First to label the case, and name the interested parties so that there can be no misapprehension.

It is humorous to hear Mr. Endress trying to justify the figures which enables him to get a credit of all this money, over $8,000, for something that he has no moral claim to, and indeed may have no legal claim to. It does look as though nothing but benefits accrue to Fred Endress in this proposed Madison avenue widening. If instead of taking a piece of the sidewalk from him the city were to lop off a few feet of his handsome buildings, it would be a horse of a different color. He who would have equity must give equity.

POOR BEAR BURDEN OF LOCAL TAXATION

Assessed at Full Value While Rich Are Allowed to Escape It is Found.

The alleged fact that the members of the local Board of Assessors are underpaid and are forced to give only a portion of their time to their work was deplored at a meeting of the coordinating committee, composed of the representatives of some civic bodies at a meeting last night and a plan was favored whereby three competent real estate men could be employed for this work and be paid a salary sufficient to allow them to give all their time to the duties of the office.

It was the belief that the poor man's home in Plainfield is assessed at full value, while the larger property owner enjoys an assessment based on 50 to 65 per cent. valuation. The representatives of the West End Civic Association gave specific instances of such cases.

The following men represented the West End Civic Association, Chamber of Commerce, East End Taxpayers' Association and the Netherwood Improvement Association; Thomas F. Hyland, W. W. Robinson, Jacob Sachar, Charles A. Rice, F. A. Weeks, J. J. Varley, Irving Taylor, A. C. Wilmerding, W. R. Way, E. W. Hughes and W. S. Angleman.

UNVEIL MONUMENT AT VALLEY FORGE

President's Daughter Takes Conspicuous Part in Revolutionary Memorial.

Miss Margaret Wilson, daughter of the President, today received the honor of unveiling the monument erected by the State of New Jersey to its Revolutionary heroes who suffered for liberty on the historic Valley Forge field. A large number of New Jersey people attended the ceremony, and Governor Fielder and his staff were noted figures. A battalion of the Third Regiment, National Guard, from Camden, and the Regimental Band, also formed part of the assemblage.

On behalf of the New Jersey Commission, John Henry Fort, of Camden, the chairman, presented the handsome shaft to Governor Fielder, and by him for the State to the Valley Forge Park Commission. The orator of the day was Dr. W. H. Demarest, president of Rutgers College, New Brunswick. Music was interspersed in the program by the Regimental Band and guns gred salutes.

As Easily Cleaned as a Porcelain Bath Tub

One of the things that the modern housewife insists upon in her home is a Porcelain-lined Bath Tub. She don't want the other kind lined with zinc or galvanized iron even if it is painted white—won't have it because it's so hard to clean.

How about the Refrigerator—that storehouse for the family's eatables—a thousand times more important that it should have a lining at least as good as your bath tub, isn't it?

LEONARD CLEANABLE

ONE-PIECE PORCELAIN-LINED REFRIGERATOR

Provides you with a refrigerator that is as easy to clean as a porcelain bath tub or white china dish, because the provision chamber is genuine snow-white porcelain fused under tremendous heat onto one piece, rounded corner, seamless steel.

There is not a crack, crevice nor rough spot on its surface to act as a breeding place for germs. It will not crack, tarnish or chip off or turn yellow like a white enamel painted surface.

This is just one of the reasons why the Leonard Cleanable Refrigerator is the one you want. Approved by the Good Housekeeping Institute. Today is the day to see them on our floors in a variety of patterns.

PROCTOR'S THEATRE NEWS.

Owing to numerous requests that Walter Wale & Co. be retained for another three days the management had decided to comply with the public demands. Mr. Wale will produce an entirely new playlet "His Big Brother" and it is certain to prove as big a success as did his former sketch. The same company will support Mr. Wale. Lombardi and Noll, of the "Naughty Marietta" company. One of the biggest features of the recent revival of "Pinafore" at the Casino theatre in New York was the "Henley Kids," who are some singers and dancers, the hit of every program and a delight to each big and little folk in the audience. Wilson and Gallagher are without doubt two of the funniest blackface comedians in vaudeville. Watch for them on Thursday's bill. Their songs and jokes are immense Jack Strauss, a character comedian, will also come up to your expectations as an entertainer. The Two Georges, comedy acrobats, are sure to please with their funny antics. Dunlap and Verdi, a duo of eccentric comedians, will whoop things up in the comedy line and all of the acts working together to present a show that will be approved by the patrons of Proctor's.

MARTINE CAUSES SCENE FELT HE WAS INSULTED

It was only through the combined efforts of United States Senators Swanson and Kenyon and Sergeant-at-Arms Higgins, that a free fight was prevented between Senator James E. Martine and Quinn Morton, a coal operator, at the Senate investigating committee hearing at Charleston, W. Va., yesterday.

The trouble started with Morton on the stand. Senator Martine was cross-questioning him rather sharply, when the former made an insulting remark. It aroused the indignation of Mr. Martine to such an extent that he called Morton a blackguard and something more. General confusion followed and it was several minutes before order was restored.

WEIGAND IS CRAZY DECLARES A JURY

Confessed Murderer is Likely to Go to Asylum for the Criminal Insane.

Elizabeth, June 18.—George Louis Weigand, the self-confessed murderer of Mrs. Louisa Nelson-Shrimpton, a clairvoyant, was declared insane by a jury in the Court of Common Pleas yesterday afternoon. The judy deliberated less than an hour in order to reach a verdict. Abe J. David, who was appointed counsel for Weigand by the court, will now make application for his client's commitment to the State Asylum for the Criminal Insane.

Among the witnesses heard by the jury was Dr. Britton D. Evans, superintendent of the Morris Plains Asylum, who testified that he first met Weigand when the latter was admitted to the Morris Plains institution in 1905. The doctor told of Weigand's escape before he was cured and said that his insanity took the form of a delusion that he was being persecuted by a woman. Dr. Evans said that when he recently examined Weigand the latter was laboring under the delusion that he was compelled to kill the clairvoyant in order to rid himself of her influence.

District Court Judge Robert H. McAdams testified that he had known Weigand for years and that he had always considered him demented. The Judge said that Weigand had visited him on the day after the murder and exclaimed, "Well, I did it at last." The Judge said he did not realize what the man was talking about and dismissed him from his office.

Two letters addressed to Joseph P. Tumulty, President Wilson's secretary, were introduced in evidence. In these letters Weigand asked to be appointed United States Consul to Samoa.

REMEMBERS KINDNESS OF MANY YEARS AGO

Hippolyte Texier, the veteran glove manufacturer, accompanied by his two daughters, Miss Leontine Texier and Miss Marie Texier, left yesterday on the Steamship Santa Anna for Nice, France, where they will visit Mr. Texier's sister, and his school boy chum, Peter Salze, a wealthy retired leather manufacturer. They will return in September.

Although Mr. Texier has crossed the Atlantic nearly twenty times, his present journey is one of especial interest. Thirty years ago Mr. Salze came to this country, and while walking about New York, by accident saw the name of Texier over a door of a store. Wondering whether it was the same person that he went to school with, he entered the store and to his great surprise met his friend. It was through Mr. Texier that he secured his first position and in later years he prospered to such an extent that he is now a retired millionaire. Recently, Mr. Texier received from his friend a present of 2,000 frances, to cover the expenses of his trip to France, with a special invitation to visit him in Nice.

UNION SELLS $50,000 OF BONDS.

Elizabeth, June 18.—County Collector N. R. Leavitt sold $50,000 worth of county road bonds at four and one-half per cent yesterday, the offer having been very much oversubscribed. The successful bidder was the National State Bank of Elizabeth, which bid for the entire offer.

You men who live out of town want things right the very first time.

You haven't time to kick.

What better proof that you won't have to kick than our "money back" policy?

We take such unusual precautions to have things right that we can even afford to advertise for kicks.

NOT GOOD AFTER JUNE 25TH

HARVARD'S CLASS DAY.

Cambridge, Mass., June 18.—Yesterday was class day at Harvard. From early morning the seniors were to be seen in cap and gown gathered in groups about the quadrangle or hurrying hither and thither about the yard intent on the final preparation for the successful carrying out of the program of the day. The day began with the customary devotional services in Appleton Chapel. An hour later came the exercises in Sanders theatre. The oration was given by Daniel Sargent, of Wellesley, the poem by Amos P. McMahon, of Mexico City, and the ode by William R. Burlingame, of New York city. During the afternoon the members of the class of '13 escorted hundreds of pretty girls at spreads and luncheons, cleared all the college buildings, conducted the ivy exercises and went through traditional "stunts" at the Stadium, and wound up the day with teas, dinners, music and dancing.

Of Interest to Women and the Home

The Housewife's Daily Economy Calendar

By FRANCES MARSHALL

When You Go Traveling.

There is generally a great bustle and to do about getting baggage together when any one goes traveling. Bags and trunks must be dragged from their hiding places in attic or cellar, and clothes must be pulled out of closets and bureau drawers and for a day or two—if the journey is to be of long duration—the house of the traveler is in confusion.

There are many things to make the traveler's task of preparing for the journey easier, and there are, of course, many things to make the journey pleasanter.

To begin with, the light-weight baggage now so widely used is a boon to the traveler with hand baggage. In the minds of a good many there has always been a little prejudice against straw and matting and rattan and wicker suit cases and bags. The idea has been that they were not quite so smart as those of pigskin or seal. Perhaps they are not, but now any one who must needs carry his or her own bag much of the time has forgotten this prejudice and rejoices in the possession of a straw bag or suit case. They are cheaper and cheaper as the seasons go on. A big suit case can be had for a dollar and a half, although one of much more expensive make can be bought.

Make the Packing Easy.

To make the task of packing as easy as possible, gather all the things to be packed in the room where the trunks are put. Spread everything in plain sight, and sort them, putting similar things together. If you are packing for a trip abroad, or other traveling where frequent stops are to be made, prepare sheets of paper containing a list of everything packed. At each repacking check off each article. In this way you can keep track of everything you start out with and will run a fair chance of bringing everything home again. If several members of a family are traveling together, the journey will be found much pleasanter if each has a small individual bag. Who that has seen it can ever forget the picture of the husband and wife, who had packed their scanty wardrobe into one suit case, standing at the head of the stairs in a big country place where they were visiting, looking furtively at a maid and a footman in the distance, and doling out their clothes from the suit case to take to their respective apartments in different parts of the great house? It is just as much trouble, although not so embarrassing, to have to run from room to room in a hotel sorting belongings that belong to other members of the family, but that have been packed in your suitcase.

Some Cookery Suggestions

SOME DAINTY PATTIES.

SUPPER MENU.
Cheese and Olive Sandwiches.
Sweetbread Patties.
Potato and Celery Salad.
Chocolate Cake. Fruit. Tea.

WHEN baking patty shells for creamed fish, vegetables or tarts line baking tins with puff paste and before placing in the oven fill with cornmeal, packing it down. When baked shake out the meal, which can be used over again, and the shells will be found in perfect shape.

Patties are light and make a nice food for warm days. The shells may be filled with any food that you like, cold meat or cold fowl being usually used for this purpose.

Highly Seasoned Filling.

Cheese Patties.—Roll out a puff paste, seasoning it with a little grated Parmesan cheese and red pepper, and cut it into rounds. Place on half the rounds a piece of Gruyere cheese, with a small teaspoonful of thick cream in which a little mustard has been rubbed. Cover these rounds with a second round of paste, pinching the edges well together, and bake, serving them very hot.

Sweetbread Patties.—Roll a [illegible] bread gently, skin it and chop finely with a little ham. Add one gill of white sauce, the same quantity of cream, a little cayenne, white pepper, salt and nutmeg. Make the mince very hot, flavor it with tarragon vinegar and with it fill the patties, which should be made of the lightest puff paste. Serve very hot on a dainty doily.

Using Up Cold Meats.

Ham Patties.—Chop bits of boiled ham very fine. To this add for one pint of meat one cupful of breadcrumbs, one teaspoonful of white pepper, one saltspoonful of celery, one-half cupful of milk. Mix, fill pattypans lined with puff paste and bake twenty minutes.

Curried Chicken Patties.—Make patty cases with light puff paste and bake them. Have ready the following filling: Mince six ounces of cold fowl and mix with it a little chopped ham, some minced sour pickle, a teaspoonful of curry paste, seasoning of cayenne pepper and lemon juice. Mix all together with a thickened rich brown gravy and make hot. After the patty cases are filled scatter a little grated cheese over and just brown in the oven before putting the small pastry rounds for the top.

Anna Thompson.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—The Way The Battle Ended.

The Ducks Sank the Fleet.

JACK and Evelyn opened their eyes. Daddy said he would tell them how to have a splendid naval show on the pond.

"You can have as many ships as you like, just like Nat and Joe and Kate and Anna had.

"Nat and Kate were the commanders of one fleet, and Joe and Anna had another.

"Their boats were made of oiled paper. The little crafts were made by folding the paper over as daddy can show you how to do. Each little ship had a paper sail.

"They took the ships down to the little brook near their home, and when they found a quiet pool from which the ships could not easily float away Nat and Kate stood at one side of the pool and Joe and Anna at the other.

"The launching was great fun, and it was done as nearly as possible like the launching of a real vessel. Their daddy had told them in cases like that a bottle of wine was usually broken over the bow of the vessel when it was launched, and some one said, 'I christen thee such and such a name.'

"Of course the children couldn't get a bottle of wine, so Nat and Kate decided that they would use water in which was a little grape juice, while Joe and Anna used weak lemonade.

"They thought a very little of the grape juice and lemonade which their mother gave them would do for the ships so that they could drink the other.

"After the ships were launched and christened the battle began. The children had old fashioned bean shooters. These were long thin tubes of tin. They placed a bean inside and by blowing through one end of the tube could send it wherever they liked. These were the guns with which one fleet fought the other.

"The boys at first could aim better than the girls, and two of the biggest ships in each fleet were soon sunk by well aimed beans that went right through their sides.

"One of Anna's ships stranded on a little island in the middle of the pool, and a part of the game was the agreement that once launched they should not touch their ships.

"It looked as if the fleet under the command of Admirals Nat and Kate would win the battle, when, splash, down the brook came Mrs. Duck leading a large family of ducklings.

"Mrs. Duck had been petted too much by the children to shoo when they told her to, and in a minute she and her ducklings had sunk every ship that floated on the little inland sea."

FASHION HINT

By JUDIC CHOLLET

The Norfolk blouse is always a becoming one to girlish figures, and it is the best looking of all things for outing occasions. This one is made with applied box plaits that conceal the seams so that it is not in the least difficult.

THE NEW OUTING BLOUSE.

In the picture a pretty effect is obtained by trimming the white linen with blue to match the skirt, but Norfolks of this kind are made of all white or all color and used as convenient little wraps to be slipped on whenever needed.

Active girls will surely like this model, and mother will not find it hard to make.

For the sixteen year old size the blouse will require four and five-eighths yards of material twenty-seven inches wide, with five-eighths extra for the collar and cuffs.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes for girls of fourteen, sixteen and eighteen years of age. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 7874, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage.

VOTES FOR WOMEN

Conducted by the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield.

Five Answers to Antis.

"Suffrage is not a right." The Constitution of the United States reads: "The right of the citizen to vote shall not be denied or abridged on account of race, color or previous condition of servitude." We claim with the makers of the Constitution that suffrage is a right. I have a right to protect my life, insure my liberty and conserve my happiness and the only weapon by which I may do these things in a republic is the ballot. President Wilson in his inaugural address laid great stress upon the fact that a true democracy could only derive its powers from the consent of the governed. Everyone will admit that women are governed, they pay taxes and any infraction of the laws by them is punished just as severely as if they were men, therefore our government cannot be a true democracy while half its citizens have no voice in the making of the laws which govern them.

The secretary of the national Suffrage Association is quoted as saying that only eight per cent. of the women of the United States want the ballot. The secretary, Mrs. Mary Ware Dennett, emphatically says that she never made any such statement. Over two years ago, replying to a telegraphic inquiry as to the number of members of suffrage societies and societies endorsing suffrage, she gave it roughtly as two and a half million. There are in New Jersey today eight times as many enrolled suffragists as there were two years ago, and if the same holds good in other States, there are at least twelve million women endorsing suffrage in the United States today. As a matter of fact, two and a half million women (or eight per cent. of all the women in the country) are full voters, that being the number of women citizens in the nine enfranchised States. We contend that in States where both the suffragists and anti-suffragists are organized, it is fair, in estimating their relative strength, to count only those women who have enrolled in the two organizations. In New Jersey there are today 6,400 enrolled suffragists and 2,000 enrolled "antis" (according to a statement made at an anti-suffrage meeting in Spring Lake last week), so apparently there are six women who want the ballot to each two women who do not want it!

"Women have not the broad grasp of business knowledge which would enable them to legislate intelligently on such subjects as the tariff, our banking system, railroads, etc." During the past ten years about one-fifth of all immigrants coming to this country have remained in the State of New Jersey, amounting roughly to 2,000,000, of which four-fifths are Italians, Poles, Slavs, Lithuanians and Hungarians, immigrants which do not as a rule bring their wives and families with them. Mrs. Alexander, who has made a very careful study of the subject, says that the ratio of women to men among this class of immigrants is one to nineteen. There are according to the last census 38,000 more men than women in New Jersey. This 38,000 and some million and a quarter besides are all of the class of immigrants mentioned above. Does anyone think that these immigrants will vote intelligently upon the tariff, our banking system and the railroads? And, more than this, government is not entirely a matter of big business. It also concerns unadulterated foods and medicines, proper health inspection laws, proper institutions for the care of the mentally and physically defective, a good water supply and a proper method for the disposal of sewerage. Are there any men in the country who are better authorities on these and kindred objects than Jane Addams, for examples, or to cite instances at home, than Caroline Alexander, Cornelia Bradford and Alice Lakey? One of the greatest specialists in the country in regard to immigration problems is Frances Kellor, of New York. Aand as for high finance, has any man in the country a better grasp of the making and enforcement of laws for the control of trusts, railroads and banks than Ida Tarbell?

"The indifferent, ignorant and vicious vote would be more than doubled." As stated above there are 38,000 more men than women in the State, so the antis must believe that their sex is more indifferent, more ignorant and more vicious than the men, if its enfranchisement is to result in doubling the undesirable vote. The proportion of men and women in New Jersey's jails is nine men to one woman; the proportion of active church workers is eight women to two men. The vicious women and the women who are ignorant and indifferent as to the better things of life evidently keep pretty well under cover! The leading newspaper of Los Angeles bitterly opposed woman suffrage right up to the morning of the day on which it won in California, and made just such statements about the lowering of the quality of the electorate if women voted. At the regular election a few weeks later, this same paper printed in black type across the top of its front page an appeal to the women of Los Angeles to "Save The City!" Gone were its fears as to the sort of votes the women of the city would cast! Eighty per cent. of the women registered and ninety-five per cent. of those who had registered voted, and they did "save the city," turning out of office the "City Hall Gang" which had been securely entrenched in Los Angeles for twenty years, in spite of the efforts of all the best men to dislodge it.

"More real reforms can be accomplished by influencing men to vote properly than by voting ourselves." The women who worked for the ten hour law for women at Trenton last year do not think so. All our influence was nothing to the influence of the gentlemen who own the vast canneries of South Jersey, where for seven and eight weeks every summer women and children work for eighteen and twenty hours a day for six days in the week. The Senators of New Jersey would not pass the bill unless the canneries were exempted from its provisions. The suffragists are interested in having the canneries included in the ten-hour law, in having a parents joint guardianship law passed, in having the age of consent for girls raised from sixteen to eighteeen years (in no State where women vote is it less than eighteen years, and in most of them it has been raised to twentyone) and many other laws affecting women and children, including larger appropriations for the Women's Reformatory but they are not able to secure their passage by their feminine influence. If the antis possess influence enough to do it, then it is clearly their duty to bend their energies toward helping their less fortunate sisters, and while lobbying at Trenton against the suffrage amendment, they should also talk to the legislators about some of these reform laws for women. The suffragists believe that it would be almost as reasonable to deny to women a share in the religious activities of their churches, as to deny them the opportunity for social service which politics offers.

This is based on the list of teachers for the term opening next September.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Who won the three mile race held in connection with the first annual Y. M. C. A. athletic meet held at Parker Field last Fourth of July? Who won first place in the high jump?—F. U.

Answer—Eddie Joyce, of the Mohawk A. C., won the three mile event and Jack Fritts, of this city, who represented the Pastime A. C., of New York, won the high jump.

Sporting Editor:

Query—When will the new addition to the Plainfield High School be ready for occupancy? Will the whole building be devoted to High School work?—G. S.

Answer—Classes will be held in the new structure at the beginning of the fall term in September, although the building will not be entirely completed before February. It is planned to have the grammar grades convene in the new building until such a time as the entire structure will be required for the High School pupils.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Where, in this city, can I register in the Amateur Athletic Union, and what is the fee?—J. F.

Answer—E. C. Ostlin, physical director of the Plainfield Y. M. C. A., will take your registration application. The fee is twenty-five cents, renewable yearly.

Sporting Editor:

Query—What has become of Joe Gans, the ex-lightweight and welterweight champion boxer of the world.—S. A.

Answer—Gans fought a losing battle against the White Plague in 1910, dying at Baltimore, August 10, of that year.

Sporting Editor:

Query—A and B play a game of Chicago pool and at the finish A has 61 points less 3 points for one scratch and B has 59 points; the score standing B 59 and A 58. Who is the winner?—C. H.

Answer—The game is not over as neither one is out. In your game B has the most number of points and should be the winner. A man has no right to claim out before he is out or has 61 points and should be "stuck."

Sporting Editor:

Query—What is the best way to get to Court street, Brooklyn?—S. W.

Answer—Just find your way to Brooklyn Bridge which is easy, and ask the policeman who circulates in the vicinity of the little booth under the south stairway. Knowing streets and numbers in Brooklyn is part of his troubles.

REVISED ROSTERS FOR CITY LEAGUE

Many New Players Added to the Various Lineups—Some Stars Enrolled.

Owing to the large number of new registrations in the ranks of the City League baseball contenders, the officials of that organization have revised their rosters with many new names resulting. Among the most noteworthy of the recently acquired ballists are Britt Martin, Louis Dixon and Edward Bergen, who will all play with the Saurer aggregation. These players, with the exception of Martin, are at present playing with Central New Jersey League teams and the Saurer combination will have their services only on days when the major organizations have no contest scheduled.

The rosters are issued as follows: Royal Colored Giants—Pete Simmons, manager; Somerset, Slocum, Valentine, Brown, Ford, Lee, Plummer, Maiden, Borden, Jackson, Kline, Coleman, Williams, Hall, Barnes, and McCline. Umpires—Lawson and Warrick; scorer—Simmons.

Spicer Baseball Team Players—O'Loughlin, Campbell, Reick, Dolan, Conover, Scott, Baldwin, Burns, Fleming, Unsarrette, Thompson, D. Scott, Compton, Montross and Klinsman. Manager, H. Reeves. Umpires, Ayers and Pangborn. Scorers, Larew and Thompson.

Saurer Baseball Team—Harriman, manager; Jaeger, Fulton, Trotter, Martin, Jaeger, Wilson, Patterson, Coyle, J. Dixon, Barns, Bergen, Williams, Dorman, L. Dixon and McLaughlin. Umpire, Swann. Scorers, Flood and McVickers.

BASEBALL NOTES

Ty Cobb has suffered quite a batting slump during the present Eastern trip of the Detroit Tigers.

Manager Harry Smith has his Newark team going at a fast clip in the International League pennant race.

"Miner" Brown and Johnny Kling the famous old Chicago battery, are performing nicely for the Cincinnati Reds.

The Boston Red Sox have recalled Pitcher Mosely from the Youngstown team. He had a trial with the Sox earlier in the season.

With the exception of Evansville, which seems to be outclassed, the Central League teams are putting up a great race for the pennant.

Charley Jones has been released as manager of the St. Paul Northern League team. Catcher Lizzette has been placed in charge of the team.

That's a great bunch of hitters the Naps have in the outfield. Jackson, Ryan and Graney are all clouting consistently in the .300 rank.

"Silent John" Hummell, of the Brooklyn Superbas, has been boosting his clouting average lately by tearing off singles, doubles and triples.

It is said that Jack Coombs, the star Athletics twirler, who has been ill for more than a month will soon be able to take his turn in the box.

Bedient, the Red Sox flinger of world's series fame, slapped one on "Cy" Falkenberg after the Cleveland pitcher had won ten straight games.

George Mullen, the former Detroit hurler, now with the Washington team, is the only American League pitcher among the .300 class of batters.

In St. Louis they call Pitcher "Rube" Geyer the champion relief hurler of the world. "Rube" has saved a number of games for the Cardinals this season.

The Cubs were gooseshell pie for the Giants in New York but the Giants didnt grow fat on bear meat in the recent series with the Cubs in Chicago.

The old war club of "Gavvy" Cravath has been a big factor in keeping the Phillies at the head of the National League procession. He is leading the league in batting.

Eddie Collins, of the Athletics, is making a great record for himself this season. He leads the American League in run-getting, is second in base-stealing and fourth in batting.

American League umpires who have worked behind the plate in games in which Walter Johnson has pitched this season, claim that Walter has not yet shown the speed he displayed last year.

There is not much doubt about Connie Mack's Athletics being the class of major league contenders this season. The Naps, Washington and the Red Sox will have to go considerable to overtake the Mackmen.

The trading of Chase for Zeider and Borton seems to have been a pretty good swap all around. Chase is working well for the White Sox, and Zeider and Borton are playing in the right key for the Highlanders.

BASEBALL EPITOMIZED

The ball is a horsehide circle filled with bad bounds, errors, and alibis. It appears to the affectionate and the belligerent sides of a player's nature. In the field the athlete pets and caresses the ball and throws it with much care. But at the bat the same player assumes a most combative manner and attempts—often in vain—to batter the ball lop-sided, or even out of the precinct. A batter sometimes is said to kiss the ball, but every kiss has a sting in it.

There are many articles of balls—maybe fifty-seven—the foremost of which are the fast ball, the curved ball, the spit ball, the bean ball, and the ballemout.

The fast ball is one supposed to be so hot the steam gets in the batter's eyes, causing him to hit to the catcher.

The curve ball is one that has such a rainbow hook the umpire loses sight of it and calls a ball when the plate is grooved.

The spit ball is the one the pitcher slobbers on so the fielders can say they grabbed the ball on the wet spot when they throw it away.

The bean ball is one usually aimed to miss the batter's turret, but sometimes going astray and biffing the athlete on his bean. It is intended to drive the batter back from the plate so the pitcher can curve over the next one and thereby get out of a bad hole. The beaned player usually owns a baid knob.

The ballemout is used almost exclusively by the manager and usually is fired at the umpire, although occasionally the help is the target.

Frequently a ball is a fly that has been swatted.

DRISCOLL GETS STARS.

George Ortlieb, formerly of the Plainfield baseball club, and Shad Louis, a catcher, have been retained by Manager Dave Driscoll, of the New Brunswick baseball team, to do the battery work for that aggregation during the remainder of the season. Ortlieb recently returned from the New England League while Shad is a semi-professional backstop who did duty at New Brunswick last Sunday afternoon against the Worthington club.

"PECK" IS LOOMING UP.

Roger Peckinpaugh, recently of Cleveland, has done several things worthy of special mention since he was welcomed to the Yankee fold. Although down at the bottom of the batting list, he has bumped the ball about as hard as any of Frank Chance's athletes. "Peck," as the "fans" call him, has made himself immensely popular since joining the Gotham team, and the shortstop position is being looked after in better shape than at any time since the departure of the peppery "Kid" Elberfeld.

PECKINPAUGH

YALE HAD CLOSE CALL.

In a game which was interesting up to the very last play, when on a double play from Middlebrook to Cornish Harvard was apparently prevented from tying the score, the Yale baseball team, playing on the New Haven field, admittedly the best in years, was threatened again and again by Harvard and finally won by the score of 2 to 0. The wonderful Felton, while he warmed up before the start of the game, did not go into the box for Harvard, Frye starting and being succeeded by Hitchcock toward the end of the fourth inning. After Hitchcock went in there was no more hitting or scoring by Yale, and the eight hits were made in four and two-third innings off Frye.

ACCUSED WATER POISONER IS HELD IN $2,000 BAIL

Somerville, June 18.—John Grose, the official dog catcher of Raritan, is now held in the Somerset county jail here under $2,000 bail on the charge of throwing paris green into a well used by persons who incurred his hostility.

The police say that he was betrayed by his wife, who warned the people who were in the habit of taking water from the well in time to prevent any fatalities.

A sample of the water from the well has been sent to the State Board of Health at Trenton for analysis.

COUNTERFEIT HALF DOLLARS APPEAR AT WESTFIELD

Westfield, June 18.—The merchants of Westfield are considerably annoyed over the large number of counterfeit fifty-cent pieces which are circulating about the town. The fifty-cent pieces look good at first but are much lighter than the good money. The pieces bear the date 1911.

Michael Kelly received one of these bad pieces of money and made complaint to Chief O'Neill. Mr. Kelly had witnesses that he received the piece of money from a local office and intends to get good money for it. Chief O'Neill has promised to assist Mr. Kelly. The authorities are trying to find the source of the bad money.

RAM'S HORN CAMP.

Eighteen foremen connected with the plant of the Spicer Manufacturing Company, journeyed Sunday to the "Ram's Horn" camp at Lake Hopatcong, conducted by Thomas M. Muir, of Grant avenue, and enjoyed the many sights of the popular resort as well as the conveniences of the camp. They made the trip in the large auto bus which several weeks ago made trial trips between South Plainfield, Stirling and this city. Mr. Muir has re-established his camp, which was popular last season. He has enlarged his camp to almost double its accommodations of last year. Several canoes and motorboats have also been added to his fleet which is always at the service of his guests.

MAKING POWER IS OUR BUSINESS

Public Service has logical reasons for believing that it can supply Central Station Electric Power to the power consumer more cheaply than the consumer can furnish his own power drive, whether it be steam or electricity.

Manufacturing and selling power is an important part of the business of Public Service Electric Company. It is not a side issue, nor an incident nor a by-product.

With most manufacturers, power is largely incidental, a something that is necessary for the turning out of finished products but not the finished product itself.

As a result power economies and power efficiencies are sometimes neglected in the private plant. Energy is wasted in transmission; friction is permitted to use up a large percentage of the driving force and the power plant is often kept at top capacity when only half of its possibilities are being utilized.

Substitute Central Station Electric Power and direct connected motors for the steam driven shaft and belt transmission and you will save the cost of the wasted energy; friction losses will be eliminated and you will have to pay only for such power as is actually doing work for you.

We added the equivalent of 16,430 H. P. in motors for power purposes on our line last year. Ask yourself WHY and then think about your own plant. If you are not using Central Station Power now, we believe we can save you money.

SENIORS' CLASS DAY FESTIVITIES

St. Mary's Grammar School Pupils Entertain a Large Gathering of Friends.

TWENTY TO GRADUATE

Bernard O'Sullivan Delivers the Farewell Oration — Auditorium Appropriatelyl Decorated with Class Colors.

The twenty members of St. Mary's parochial school graduating class held their annual class day exercises in the auditrium of the school yesterday afternoon before an audience of friends and relatives that filled every available seat in the hall. The large auditorium was appropriately decorated with plants and cut flowers, the colors of the class, blue and white, prevailing throughout. The stage on which the graduates were seated was banked on the four sides with flowers and streamers and the members of the 1913 class had entire charge of the interesting program that was presented.

Miss Mary Commiskey gave a short address of welcome in which she spoke of the many opportunities made possible through the efforts of the friends and those closely connected with the school, of which the graduates have taken advantage during their course in that institution. Father B. M. Bogan spoke to the graduates and friends complimenting the pupils on their work during the past school term and outlining what opportunities present themselves at the commencement of a graduate's business life.

Bernard O'Sullivan delivered the farewell ovation on behalf of the class of 1913, saying in part:

"At last we find ourselves at a turn in the road where the scenery for us changes, and we are forced to bid farewell to our school life and its care-free days. We pause before continuing our journey alone, and, gazing with a timid glance on the road stretching out before us, we ask ourselves: 'Whither are we going?' But we are not fearful. Through the thorough religious training we have received in our dear old school, we have every confidence in God's providence, and knowing that we are the possessors of the great moral weapons, we, like, babes, take our first step on the road that is going to bring us nearer for Him.

"Today we are repeating the time worn adeaus of our predecessors, who are now struggling in the stormy sea of lofe. Some, however, have already reached the tranquil haven of success, while others are appearing off the distant horizon.

"Before separating, as a class, we place ourselves under the care of Him who guided our successful predecessors, and now with a saddened heart we bid you all a fond farewell."

THIS ARGUMENT IS AN INTERESTING ONE

Mrs. S. B. Joost Replies to Mrs. E. F. Feickert on the Suffrage Question.

The suffrage debate between Mrs. E. F. Feickert, president of the New Jersey Woman's Suffrage Association, and Mrs. Sherman B. Joost, president of the Plainfield branch of the New Jersey Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage, is becoming interesting. To the last letter of Mrs. Feickert, Mrs. Joost makes this reply:

Editors, The Plainfield Daily Press:

In answer to Mrs. Feickert's letter of June 20th, printed in your issue of that date, in which she says that she did not make the statement that "there are 150,000 women working in sweat shops and factories in New Jersey at an average wage of less than $4 per week," can only say that it is regrettable that Mrs. Feickert did not herself correct this statement which she was quoted as having made, as she had ample time to do so before the authenticity of her figures was questioned.

Her information as to the action of the Public Service Corporation in raising the wages of their female employes to nine dollars per week after their investigation committee had reported that as the lowest wage on which a woman could live honestly and decently in the State of New Jersey, is extremely interesting in view of the fact that it is just one more proof of our contention that reforms can be effected without the ballot. Mrs. Feickert tells us that this law has been in' effect since January first.

Mrs. Feickert challenges my statement quoted from an officer of the National Suffrage Association to the effect that only 8 per cent. of the women in the United States wish the ballot. In making that statement I quoted Miss Jessie Ashley, treasurer of that organization who in February, 1912, gave a "rough estimate of the American women favoring suffrage as 3,000,000.

Mrs. Feickert states that "there are today 6,400 enrolled suffragists in New Jersey and 2,000 enrolled antis, so apparently there are six women who want the ballot to each two women who do not want it."

There are at the present gtime approximately 4,000 enrolled antis in New Jersey, and none of these are young school girls, or female infants in arms, but all 21 years of age or over. Can Mrs. Feickert say the same of the "6,400" enrolled suffragists? The Equal Suffrage Association of New Jersey was formed about 1890 or about twenty-three years ago. The New Jersey Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage was organized April 15, 1912. Not quite fifteen months ago (Plainfield not quite a month). According to the census of 1910 there are 736,659 women 21 years of age or over in New Jersey which leaves 726,259 yet to be heard from. After careful consideration is it so apparent that the owmen of New Jersey desire suffrage in the ratio of 3 to 1?

LOTS AND GIFTS TOO.

E. A. Dorlon, auctioneer, will conduct a night auction sale of lots Friday and Saturday nights, June 27, 28, at 8 o'clock at Sebring's auditorium, 228 West Front street, when 200 choice restricted building lots comprising the property known as Plainfield Park, opposite Holly Park Lane, will be disposed of. Persons attending the sale will have an equal opportunity of securing a beautiful gift. Maps and particulars can be had by addressing John A. Fellows Realty Company, 110 West 40th street, New York city, or F. A. Dunham, 109 Park avenue, this city.

MRS. F. S. CUTTER ENTERTAINS.

Mrs. F. S. Cutter, of Sandford avenue, gave a porch party at her home yesterday, entertaining the auction bridge club, of which she is a member, and a few other friends. There were six tables at which bridge was played, and other tables were reserved for "500" for those who did not play bridge. There were first, second, third and consolation prizes. The porch was attractively decorated for the affair and after the play refreshments were served.

GERTRUDE NELSON IS FIGHTING EXTRADITION

Governor Sulzer, of New York, has fixed 5 o'clock this afternoon as the time he will grant a hearing to Prosecutor A. A. Stein and Police Chief Kiely in their efforts to bring Miss Gertrude Nelson from Brooklyn to the jurisdiction of the Union county authorities, where she can be used as an important witness in the case against Rev. Willis S. MacRorie, the deposed Methodist preacher.

Governor Fielder granted the requisition papers on Governor Sulzer despite the protest of William C. Gebhardt, of counsel for the minister and Miss Nelson, and it is said that he is now trying to prevent the New York Governor from endorsing the requisition papers.

TERRIFIC STORM SWEPT THE CITY

Plainfield Gets the Tail End of Devastating Electrical Cloudburst.

RARITAN'S BIG LOSS

Thirty Barns Burned to the Ground on Bradley Farm—Trees and Young Crops Injured—Hail Accompanied Rain.

Disappearing toward the coast soon after it appeared in the west, a terrific wind and rain storm, accompanied by a furious wind last night, brought relief and damage in one wide sweep. The devastating effect of the big rain storm was considerably greater in adjacent towns than it was here in Plainfield, damage aggregating thousands of dollars being done to outlying districts by the hail, wind and rain. A freaky display of lightning accompanied by deafeping thunder claps lent terror to the storm, several places being struck by lightning in other towns, particularly those along the coast where trees were uprooted and roofs displaced.

In Plainfield hail stones as large as pebbles fell for fully fifteen minutes and these did the greatest amount of damage locally. These missles tore the young sprouts out of the ground and left them lifeless on top of the soil and the wind blew huge limbs from fruit and shade trees in this city and in the Watchung valley. Gutters were filled to overflowing by the cloudburst and pedestrians who were on the street when the first signs of the electrical storm made their appearances barely had time to get under cover. The lightning played havoc with the electric light and trolley wires and for a short time the city was in utter darkness, all current having been shut off.

What was perhaps the greatest loss in this vicinity was the destruction of thirty barns owned by the Bradley Farming Company of Raritan. One of the structures on the western end of the large farm was struck by a bolt of lightning and before any water could be secured, it went up in flames. Flames from the burning building ignited the other barns on the farm and thirty were burned to the ground. The barns were arranged in a row embracing over a half mile of territory and as the flames spread from one to another the blaze could be seen for miles around. The fire departments of Somerville and Raritan answered an emergency call but the place was doomed to destruction when they arrived and they confined their efforts to rescuing the cattle and other live stock in the burning buildings. Out of the fifty head of horses and twenty head of cattle, three of the equines and two bovines were burned.

The farm was equipped with a gasoline fire engine and also an electric pump to draw the water, but the fire spread so rapidly that the wires were burned and this rendered the pump worthless. The gasoline engine went out of commission during the early stages of the fire and was also useless. The Somerville firemen laid a line of hose from the auto engine to the canal and this was the only means of fighting the flames available. The proprietors of the farm estimate their damages at nearly $25,000 all of which is fully covered by insurance.

SCHOOL LUNCH FUND IS SLOWLY GROWING

The fund being raised by this paper to enable the Plainfield Mothers' Association to operate lunch counters at the Bryant and Linoln Schools was increased by $2.00 today, making the total received $82.00, and $418.00 is still needed.

The $2.00 contribution came from these: Well Wisher, 25 cents; Friend, 50 cents; One Interested, 25 cents, and Name Not Given, $1.00.

THE SPISSELS AT PROCTOR'S.

The Spissels, an acrobatic family who have lived here for the past two years, will be the headline attraction at Proctor's theatre on Monday. This family has appeared in vaudeville in all the large cities. They will present an act entitled, "An Evening in a Cabaret," with Joe Spissell, Jeannette Lee, George Preston and Lew Engle. The Broncho Four, a Western comedy quartet of excellent singers and comedians, will introduce the latest songs. Goff Phillips, the joyful blackface comedian with witty stories and good songs; Charles and Ada Latham in a comedy playlet, "Nobody's Kid," that strikes the right spot in the heart, and Evelyn Ware, a charming singing comedienne, with the big Cines feature photo-play, "The Broken Vow," in two reels and other black and white pictures will comprise the big bill.

THIRTEEN GRADUATED AT SOMERVILLE HIGH

L. M. Codington Presents Diplomas and Seven Seniors Take Part in Program.

Somerville, June 21.—Company M's armory was crowded Thursday night at the commencement exercises of the class of 1913 of the Somerville High School. The large stage on the east end of the building was tastefully decorated with the national colors, palms, ferns, potted plants and cut flowers, besides the class colors. The thirteen graduates occupied a prominent position on the stage, backed up by members of the Board of Education and the supervising principal of the schools, Dr. W. A. Ackerman. Of the thirteen graduates, only seven took part in the program presented, which was interspersed with excellent selections by Professor Jungmann's orchestra.

The program opened with "March From Athalia," by orchestra, followed by invocation by the Rev. F. J. Soule Warren Krechting Sherman delivered a very interesting essay on "Washington in Somerset County," and Frances Adair Labaw recited very entertainingly a short sketch, entitled "'Fraid Cats." Eugene LeRoy Bamforth read a well-prepared essay on "The Newspaper of Today." "Shade Trees of Somerville," was the theme chosen by Ruth Louise Miller. Kenneth Safford Gaston, who spent some time in Costa Rica, gave an interesting account of his impressions of that country. Ida Catherine Wise delivered in an excellent manner a monologue, entitled "Piazza Ladies," which proved very amusing. Winston Douglas concluded the graduates part of the program with a well-written essay entitled "In Old Virginia." He also wrote the class song, which was rendered by the class after the presentation of the diplomas by L. M. Codington, president of the Board of Education.

The rest of the members of the graduating class were Robert Oswald Bowlby, Mabel Seiter Brown, Clara Louise Davis, Grace Marina Hamilton, Helen Arline Miller and William Robert Sherman. Following the custom adopted some few years ago, no special address was delivered to the class. The various members of the class who participated in the program showing the careful attention given by the teachers, and the large audience present were highly pleased and entertained by the excellent manner in which the program was rendered. Most of the graduates of this year will enter colleges at the beginning of the fall terms.

STRUCK BY AUTO JOEL HEDDEN DIES

Victim Got in Way of F. A. Langworthy's Car and Passed Away in Hospital.

AUTOIST OUT ON BAIL

Dead Man Was Seventy Years old—Funeral Services to Be Held Privately—Mr. Hedden is Survived by Five Sons.

Joel D. Hedden, the seventy-year-old man of 345 Watchung avenue, who was struck Saturday, June 14, at Watchung and North avenues, by an automobile owned and driven by Frank A. Langworthy, of 612 Division street, died shortly before 7 o'clock this morning in Muhlenberg Hospital. The authorities of that institution refused to give the real cause of death, but it is supposed that he died of complications caused by shock following the accident.

Mr. Langworthy was arrested at his home this morning as he was about to leave for business, charged with manslaughter. The complainant is Sergeant Maurice Higgins, who made the arrest. In charge of Detective Sergeant John J. Flynn he went this morning to Elizabeth, where bail will be fixed by Judge Connolly in the Court of Common Pleas. Orra S. Rogers, a New York insurance man, living at 525 Madison avenue, this city, accompanied him prepared to become his bondsman.

Harry L. and Wallace E. Hedden, of East Orange, surviving sons of the victim, called at Police Headquarters and addressing remarks to Sergeant Higgins said:

"Well, I suppose you know our father is dead. Have you got the man?" Higgins acquainted them with the case. The two sons refused to discuss the case with newspapermen.

Mr Langworthy's automobile was a runabout model and of low horsepower. According to witnesses, Mr. Hedden stepped directly in front of the car as Mr. Langworthy was driving slowly along Watchung avenue in the direction of East Fourth street. Although struck with but slight force, Hedden is said to have reeled backward, striking his head on the curb-stone and receiving a scalp wound. His old age, attendant with the shock accompanying the collision, is said to have frustrated all attempts to save his life.

Funeral services for Mr. Hedden will be private. Rev. E. V. Stevenson, rector of the Grace church, will officiate.

YOUNG COLORED GIRL DEAD POSSIBLY A SUICIDE

Miss Henrietta Lewis, colored, aged 20 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lewis, of Madison avenue, swallowed a quantity of carbolic acid at her home, yesterday afternoon, and died about 6 o'clock at Muhlenberg Hospital. Dr. James F. Lawson was summoned and at first decided that she was beyond hope. Dr. Albert Pittis was called later and thought there might be a chance and the girl was removed to the hospital. Miss Lewis is said to have secured the acid at a local drug store on the pretense that she wanted to use it as a mouth wash. The girl is said to have been disappointed in a love affair. Rev. W. H. Hicks and Rev. M. A. Alexander will officiate at private funeral services.

RITTER BACK HOME.

Fred Ritter, who twirled for Plainfield last season, and who joined the Baltimore Club of the International League at the start of the present season, will twirl for Dave Driscoll's aggregation at Amusement Park, New Brunswick, tomorrow afternoon against the Paterson Club. There is a possibility of Ritter being retained for the rest of the season.

JAMES FRAZEE.

After a long siege of heart trouble, James Frazee, painter, of 426 West Second street, died this morning at 10 o'clock. Mr. Frazee was a widower, working at his trade in this city for a number of years. He was a member of the Painters' Union, Local No. 480. Mr. Frazee is survived by two brothers. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

A NEW CENTRAL LEAGUER.

Manager New, of the New Brunswick team in the Central New Jersey League, has signed Thomas Smith, a crack infielder hailing from Perth Amboy, to play with his aggregation during the remainder of the season. Smith played with Brunswick against Somerville last week, and because of his good showing was offered a regular berth.

FACTS AND COMMENT ON NEW YORK NEWS

New York, June 21.—Visitors coming to New York city should have no difficulty in finding some place where they can find amusement. According to the records of the Manhattan Building Bureau, which is in charge of all amusement places, there were in Manhattan on May 31 last 113 regular theatres and 6 under construction, making a total of 119. There were also 227 interior moving picture shows and 38 open air picture shows, making 265 in all. The total number of places of amusement in Manhattan was 384

Any doubt the fire department may have had of being able to put out quickly a fire on any of the fifty-seven floors of the Woolworth Building, at Broadway and Park Place, was disposed of the other day by a test of the pressure system and fire-fighting apparatus within the building, which forced the water through a six-inch pipe to the fifty-fourth floor of the tower, where the stream curved over toward Broadway and showered it like a giant fountain. From the fifty-fourth floor a system of hose lines easily carried the streams of water further aloft to the top of the tower, 791 feet above the street.

A high wind broke the streams of water as they fell earthward and carried the spray over the General Post office to Park Row and City Hall Park, almost to the City Hall. Pedestrians on Broadway and some persons in passing automobiles and cars were drenched with the downpour, which fell upon them like a heavy rainfall.

Much interest on the part of residents of the entire Sleepy Hollow section and of visitors to the scenes of Washington Irving's romances is displayed in the death of the ancient Treaty Tree at Phillipse Manor. This mammoth chestnut, some twenty-odd feet in circumference at its base, has been slowly dying for a year or more, and the only signs of life remaining now are two or three clusters of leaves among its gaint branches. It bravely withstood the ravages of the disease which has destroyed practically all the chestnut trees throughout the East and is probably the last one to die in the Sleepy Hollow and the Tarrytown sections.

This monarch of the primevel forest has been known in history as the "Treaty Tree" from the fact alleged that under its branches the last treaty was made between the whites and the Wequadequeek Indians who inhabited the Sleepy Hollow territory. It is also alleged that under its romantic shade Washington Irving wrote his famous story "The Headless Horseman," the scene of which is in Phillipse Manor. Although the Treaty Tree is now practically dead it will not be felled, but is to be preserved by the Phillipse Manor Company. A number of long trailing flowering vines have been planted about its base which will cover the tree completely. The Treaty Tree stands almost in the centre of the Phillipse Manor property, close to the Hudson River and in full view from Broadway or the old Albany post read.

The other day a boy was born to George G. Maines, a real estate operator and leader of the Progressive party in Poughkeepsie, who eloped two years ago with Miss Mae Zimmerman, of Flint, Mich., a student at the Glen Eden Seminary at Poughkeepsie. The birth of this child would probably never have attracted attention were it not for the fact that the boy enters upon life under rather unusual conditions. All the boy has to do to earn a handsome little fortune by the time he reaches his majority is to live to that age and to fulfill certain, not very onerous conditions. The boy was christened Charles and at the end of five years the name of Durant will be added. He will get $1,000 at that time. Five years later the name Hearst will be added and another $1,000 will be forthcoming. When he is fifteen years old the name Elbert will be added and also another $1,000. When he has reached the age of twenty years the name Hubbard will be added, and when he is twenty-one Sague will be added. Then he will get $20,000 with accrued interest from his father.

It is not only the high cost of living that worries a great many people in Greater New York, but also the high cost of dying. The cost of dying has increased year after year at a frightful rate and there is every probability that it will go up another notch in the near future. Seven hundred epitaph chiselers, vault constructors, and tombstone cutters on Long Island have gone on a strike for more pay and a Saturday half holiday. The International Monument Workers' Union, which embraces all these trades, was only recently organized, but its membership extends all through the city and it is quite likely that the strike will spread. It is believed that eventually the employers will be forced to give in and that means, of course, that the unfortunate consumers will have to foot the bill.

New York has found a new form of entertainment, and to the young folks who are compelled to remain in town during the summer months it will no doubt be made welcome. It is called "cabareting." Did you ever do it? No? Well then you are out of fashion. In many of the New York restaurants it is no uncommon thing to see groups of young persons, properly chaperoned, sitting at tables sipping refreshments and enjoying the cabaret performance. It is one of the many little known sidelights of New York hotel and restaurant life. This high class of slumming has gained a strong hold, much to the proprietors' delight, upon those New Yorkers who love to sit for a few [illegible] under the glitter of the electric bulbs.

The Board of Education of New York does not favor the employment of married women as teachers in the public schools and for many years it was understood that the women employed in that capacity had the choice between remaining single and teaching or marrying and losing their position as teachers. Some time ago the Court of Appeals decided that the Board of Education had no right to discharge a woman from its service because she married and this decision greatly weakened the position of the board in this matter. The mere fact that a woman teacher married could no longer be used as a reason for discharging her, but in most cases it was not difficult to find some other excuse for dismissing her. Quite recently a woman teacher was dismissed because she absented herself from her duties to give birth to a child. Now the question is to be thrashed out in the courts whether the Board of Education has a right to dismiss a woman teacher on account of her becoming a mother.

WORDS FROM HOME.

Statements That May Be Investigated—Testimony of Plainfield Citizens.

When a Plainfield citizen comes to the front, telling his friends and neighbors of his experience, you can rely on his sincerity. The statements of people residing in far away places do not command your confidence. Home endorsement is the kind that backs Doan's Kidney Pills. Such testimony is convincing. Investigation proves it true. Below is a statement of a Plainfield resident. No stronger proof of merit can be had.

Albert Naylor, musician, 256 East Second street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "Several years ago I suffered from an ache in the small of my back and sharp pains when stooping or lifting. I took Doan's Kidney Pills, as I was told that they were good for such trouble and by the time I had finished two boxes, I was feeling better in every way. I have often recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to people I have heard complaining of kidney trouble."

PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY, JUNE 21, 1913.

The editorial columns of this paper are conducted on Saturdays by representative citizens who are free to express their own views. Mrs. E. F. Feickert, President N. J. Woman Suffrage Association, is the Contributing Editor for today.

WHY WE ARE WORKING FOR SUFFRAGE FOR WOMEN

There can be no middle ground of thought in regard to the extension of the suffrage to women. It concerns either the upbuilding or the destruction of our entire economic system, and every man or woman should be either for or against it. The demand which women are making for suffrage is based upon the fundamental principles of our government, that government rests upon the consent of the governed, and that the majority should rule. There can be no majority with a right to rule until after every single citizen has a vote, without regard to race, color or sex.

Underlying all anti-suffrage arguments is a disbelief in the principles of democracy. That is why we hear so much about the danger of increasing the vote of the ignorant classes and the vicious classes. The suffragists do not believe that there are such classes; they do believe that there are ignorant people and vicious people in all classes, and that the poorest or most uneducated person in the land knows better what he needs than any other person, no matter how wise, or learned or rich he may be, can possibly know.

No one who believes in the democratic theory of government can escape from the logical conclusion that the right to participate in the selection of government officials must be extended to all persons who are qualified for the suffrage. Whether or not a majority of women want the right of franchise cannot be considered in determining the question of justice. Either women are qualified for the use of the franchise, or they are not, and if they are, then it should be given to them as a matter of justice, whether the majority of women want it or not, or without regard to its effect upon them. The anti-suffragists claim that only eight per cent. of the women of this country want the ballot and ninety-two per cent. are anti-suffragists. How can this be so when eight per cent. of the women of the country live in the nine enfranchised states and are full voters? As for the unenfranchised states, there are thousands of working suffragists in every one of them. In New York City there are six suffragists societies and one of them alone has a membership of over 65,000. In New Jersey the number of enrolled suffragists has increased from 1,200 to 6,400 in a little more than a year.

A few hundred years ago theologians seriously debated as to whether women had souls, and even today in Mohammedan countries women's souls are supposed to be of an inferior quality to men's, and a woman only goes to Heaven if her husband allows it. A hundred or so years ago it was not "good form" for women to have strong healthy bodies. Read Fielding's "Amelia" if you want to see what the fashionable young lady of your great-grand-parents' time was like. In every crisis of her life Amelia either burst into tears or fainted away. An Englishman writing in 1788 says: "Women are not fitted for political eminence or literary refinement. The softness of their natures absolutely precludes their participating in such exertions." And arguments were seriously advanced to show that learning to read would unfit women for being mothers. Other days, other ways! We are now conceded to have souls, strong healthy bodies are quite fashionable, and educated minds are not a menace to motherhood. Political sense is the one quality which is still denied us, and the last step in the enfranchisement of woman, soul, mind and body is that giving her the right of political expression, that, being controlled by the law, she shall have a voice in making the laws which control her.

We believe that all classes of women will be benefitted by the extension of the franchise to them. The mothers will not find their duties increased by the possession of the ballot. It will only give them an opportunity of better performing those duties which they already owe to citizenship. Without the ballot they must be excused for their poor performances of these duties, but it is not so easy to excuse them for begging that the denial be continued, so that they may have an excuse for shirking their civic duties. In these days when practically everything connected with the home is subject to municipal control, no woman can be a good wife and mother and homekeeper who does not concern herself with the laws concerning pure foods, sweat-shops, polluted water, inadequate schools, the spread of contagious disease, public parks and playgrounds and kindred subjects. In thirty-two States of this country, including New Jersey, women are not legal guardians of their own children. In nearly all States marriage and property laws are unfair to women. It is interesting to note that the Married Woman's Property Act now in force in New York State was drawn up several years ago by Elizabeth Cady Stanton, one of the pioneer suffrage workers.

The 8,000,000 women in industry in the United States need the protection of the ballot. They will not use it to directly raise their wages, as the Antis say we claim, but it will give them the means of protecting themselves against unfair laws, which discriminate against them in the matter of conditions of labor and hours of work. In order to pass the ten hour law for women in New Jersey, those who were working for the bill had to allow the canneries to be exempted from the provisions of the law, because the rich and powerful men engaged in this business were able to make a stronger appeal to the men who make our laws than were fifteen thousand club women with no end of womanly charm, who unsuccessfully exerted all the "influence" they could muster. Women need the justice which is accorded to equals by equals, and will gladly resign any special privileges accorded to them as dependents and inferiors.

Women are making good use of the ballot in all of the enfranchised States. The records of the last session of the California Legislature demonstrate women's influence upon the lawmakers. As an instance, many of the legislators who voted affirmatively on the Red Light Abatement Act explained they they were expressing the wishes of their constituents rather than their own personal opinions. Two years ago before the enfranchisement of the women of the State, that bill was defeated, although the women's clubs worked just as hard for it as they did this year.

In none of the States where women vote is the age of consent for girls less than eighteen years and in several of them it is twenty-one years. Six of the nine States where women vote have mothers' pension laws. The only three States having an eight-hour law for women are States where women vote. Four States where women vote spend more per capita for education than any other States in the country, Washington heading the list, and her school appropriations have been increased to what they now are since the vote was given to her women. Whatever tends to make women more thoughtful and less frivolous tends also to make them take better care of their children. Doctor Helen C. Putnam has pointed out that the eleven countries standing highest on the white list as to infant mortality are all of them countries where women vote. Colonel Theodore Roosevelt says: "In those western States it is a real pleasure to meet women, thoroughly womanly women, who do every duty that any woman can do, and who also are not only in fact but in theory on a level of full equality with men. I have failed to see that these women are any less efficient in their households or show any falling off in the sense of duty; I think the contrary is the case."

Summing up at the conclusion of her book on Equal Suffrage in Colorado, Dr. Helen Sumner says: "The Colorado experiment certainly indicates that equal suffrage is a step in the direction of a better citizenship, a more effective use of the ability of women as an integral part of the race, and a closer understanding and comradeship between men and women."

The greatest benefit of all which we expect from woman suffrage is the change which it will bring about in the spirit of womanhood. It will give them greater understanding of and sympathy with the lives of their fellow women and go a long way toward breaking down the caste feeling which is now so strong among most members of our sex.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

It has been drawn to my attention that a statement has appeared in the Plainfield Daily Press from an anti-suffragist, quoting me as having claimed that only 8 per cent. of the women in the United States want to vote. The anti-suffragist is wrong, for the facts are as follows:

Two years ago this summer a telegram was sent to National Suffrage Headquarters, addressed to Miss Ashley, the treasurer, asking how many women there were in the country who were suffragette. Miss Ashley was away at the time and the answer sent for her was based on a rough estimate of the membership of the suffrage organizations, the membership of women's organizations which have endorsed suffrage, and the enfranchised women. Naturally the estimate was well under the actual number of women who believed in suffrage, for an enormous number of believers are not registered in any organization.

The exact figures of the estimate it is not possible to report now, since I do not recall the name of the inquirer nor the State from which the telegram was sent, hence it cannot be traced in the file. However, whatever the figure may have been, it is now two years old, and since that ime the membership of the suffrage organizations has tremendously increased. It more than doubled during last year. The membership of the endorsing organizations has greatly increased, and the number of organizations which have endorsed suffrage has increased, and the number of enfranchised women has increased from less than 500,000 to 2,000,000.

There are now 24,555,754 women over twenty-one years of age in the country and 8 per cent. of these are now eligible to vote. Presumably all those who do vote want to vote, and there are several million other women outside the suffrage State who know they want to vote. So it is high time the Anti-suffragists pulled in on their two-year-old statistic and tucked it away on the top shelf among the relics where it belongs.

MARY WARE DENNETT,
Secretary of the National Suffrage Association.

AS TO EQUAL SUFFRAGE.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

There seems to be no doubt about the right for women to vote, it remains for the men to make it legally possible. It does not mean that the privilege should be withheld, if some women do not want it, or if others are indifferent. No one should be kept from her right to vote because some do not care, and others may be too cowardly to accept the consequences that the exercise of such a privilege might entail. The American men, I think, will do their part, amend the Constitution where it places women with idiots and criminals, and soon awaken to the fact that not all women and not all men should exercise the right to vote, but those only who can pass a thorough examination (as for promotion in the military). It should be ascertained of each individual that he or she is sufficiently acquainted with the Constitution of the United States, of the characters and fitness of the candidates for office, and of bills to become law, etc. The right to vote will then be open to all and exercised by those who are worthy of the honor, and votes then will be the expression of the intelligent will of all the people independent of sex, race, creed, color, or position.

It seems to me it would be well for the "atis" and the suffragists to discuss, through harmonious statements (prefaced by "as I see it" or "it seems to me") what the "rights" include, and I believe it will be found that women will not care to usurp men's rights, nor men the rights of women, and if it should be found the duty of women to go to war, to serve on jury, etc., they will bravely do so, and likewise if it be found to be men's duty to take care of the household, rear the children, wash, scrub, etc., they will meet the case also cheerfully. These things will fall into their natural places, and if fear is all that prevents some people from desiring the vote, it would seem they are already willing to shirk their duty. Principle compels all that is involved in It, and Truth is compelled, and must therefore sooner or later be evolved either through experience or revelation.

The men having unintentionally held the truth in bondage may take the first step.

Sincerely,
C. WILLIAMS

The High Water Mark of the Rebellion

Lee's Determination To Win - Slaughter of Horses - Pickett's Charge - Death of Armistead - High Water Mark of Confederacy Reached - Union Forces Victorious.

AT the end of the second day's battle it was not known, and perhaps not definitely known even now, on which side was the advantage. The morning of the third found both armies prepared and determined for the final struggle, as each by this time realized the importance of the result of this, the greatest engagement of the Civil War and up to recent years the greatest in the world's history. During the night there was some little manoeuvering, and Lee had been strengthened by the arrival of Stuart's cavalry—they having arrived during the night, coming by way of Westminster, Maryland, and Carlisle, Pennsylvania.

Lee's combativeness was high, and as Napoleon had said before him in a similar spirit of impulsive exultation when satisfied that Wellington was awaiting his onslaught at Waterloo, "I have them now, those English!" so Lee now replied to Longstreet's remonstrance—"The enemy is there and I am going to strike him!" Meade merely waited for the Confederate plan of action to disclose itself. Lee went on with his preparations and strongly reinforced his left at Culp's Hill with the view of having a heavy force in hand ready to strike upon the Union right and rear, holding the crest troops for the charge in the centre which was expected to cut the Union forces into two parts and seize the Baltimore pike and with Ewell's help silence everything on that side. Stuart's cavalry was sent around to the rear of the Union army with orders to strike the Baltimore pike as soon as the Union retreat began. Lee then ordered Longstreet to get Pickett's fresh division ready for the charge. These soldiers, all of whom were Virginians, complained bitterly because they were only the rear guard of that army which they were told was driving the Yankees to an utter rout. Their charge was to be preceded and sustained by turning every gun in the Confederate army upon the point of attack.

Early in the day the struggle for Culp's Hill began, and the cannonading for a time was terrific. Many Confederate sharpshooters were hidden in woods, and when the shower of missiles came through the trees Ewell's men came out and a contest similar to the one waged on Little Round Top the day before took place. There was a piece of hopeless heroism shown here which deserves special mention, and it occurred when the fighting was the fiercest. An order was brought for the two regiments—the 2nd Massachusetts and the 27th Indiana, to charge across the meadow stretching between Culp's Hill and McAllester's Hill, on the other side of which the Confederates were entrenched. To try to pass the meadow was rushing to destruction. "Are you sure that is the order?" was asked of the officer who brought it. "Positive!" was the reply. Then came the command —"Up men—fix bayonets!" One regiment reached the entrenchment but the other faltered midway under the terrible fire which mowed down the men like grass before a sythe, and as many were lost in retreating as in going forward. The fight for Culp's Hill lasted several hours, and the Confederates were at last driven beyond Rock Creek. Lee's plan had failed at this point and there was now an unbroken line of Union troops from Culp's Hill to Round Top.

Numbers of the men seemed to have a premonition of death, and many stories are told of how they used to sit around the camp fire and predict the time. Captain Thompson as he sat by the camp fire at the foot of Bemer's Hill the night of July second suddenly got up — "Well, boys, I shouldn't wonder if I leave you tomorrow, and when I do it will be quick." Next morning he mounted a caisson during the heat of the battle and a shell bursting beneath him hurled him into eternity.

Scarcely had the battle begun before powerful shells began to fall about the farmhouse where General Meade had his headquarters. The shells tore off the steps and ripped open a bag of oats as though it had been done with a knife. For an hour and three-quarters the storm of fire continued. The slaughter of the horses belonging to the aides and orderlies which had been tethered in the yard was pitiful. They reared and plunged in terror in a helpless way only to be shot to pieces in the end. Mr. Wilkinson, the war correspondent of the New York Times, who was at headquarters during this storm of shot and shells, tells how he saw an ambulance coming driven by a frenzied soldier at full speed, one horse running on three legs—the left hind leg having been shot off at the hip. The horses seemed terror-stricken during the battle and when their riders were killed they ran wildly after the cavalrymen as if seeking human aid. An orderly who was carrying a message tells how he was riding rapidly with a dispatch when he suddenly heard the clatter of a horse's hoofs behind him and supposing he was being pursued by a Confederate he put his spurs to his horse and increased his pace without looking behind. After traveling for some distance he turned and discovered the horse following him was riderless. The man was worn out and the sudden shock of satisfaction was so great that he fell from his horse and the two riderless animals cantered off together. As soon as the orderly revived he captured both horses and rode into camp with both animals none the worse for his experience. Thousands of horses were killed during the battle and many stories of their faithfulness to the riders might be told and it seems most fitting that these brute victims of the war should be remembered in some manner. The State of Pennsylvania realized this and the monuments in memory of its cavalry invariably show the figure of a horse on some part of the memorial.

About ten o'clock Longstreet had massed seventy-five guns in one battery, Hill sixty-three and Ewell enough to bring the number to one hundred and fifty. It was evident that Lee was preparing for a grand centre charge. A few minutes later the signal guns were fired and before their echoes had died away the whole line of Confederate batteries were blazing like a volcano. The terrific cannonade darkened the noonday sky and the Union soldiers found themselves in the midst of a pitiless storm of shot. Soldiers and officers leaped for their guns when the firing began only to fall mortally wounded—some died while eating their dinners, others with pipes in their mouths, and one—a young pale faced Pennsylvanian, fell dead while looking at a miniature of his sister. During the heaviest fire an officer who rode out to give an order tells how a man raised up just as the horse was about to step on him—"Don't ride over me, captain," he said, "my hands are gone and I cannot even crawl." He held up the bloody stumps appealingly but before the officer could reply a shell had snuffed out the life of the wounded man.

This indescribable scene kept up for about two hours, when the Union batteries were ordered to cease firing so that they might husband their ammunition for what every man knew was coming—a charge by the now desperate Confederates. The Union generals tried to repair the damages caused by the cannonade—reforming ranks and replacing dismantled guns and begging the men to stand firm. The troops under Pickett's charge were in readiness to advance. Pickett himself, cool and collected, was watching the effect of the artillery fire when a courier brought him word that the Union guns had slackened fire, and the moment had arrived for the charge. Pickett handed the note to Longstreet at his side. "General, shall I advance?" Pickett asked his chief. Longstreet, mastered by his emotions, could only nod in assent and turn away. "I shall lead my division forward, sir," was Pickett's reply.

Then followed a scene unequalled in the military history of the world, and one in which friend and foe alike have borne testimony to the courage and fortitude with which this gallant band met the ordeal of having to endure a terrible fire without the power of returning it. The distance to the centre of the Union lines was nearly a mile and for more than half that distance the boys of the Southland marched as if on holiday parade with flags and banners glistening in the sunlight. One Company was singing "Bonnie Blue Flag" and the band of a regiment in the rear was playing Southern airs. They were unmolested by the batteries of the Union forces which were preparing to open their death dealing fire at the proper time. When they came within close range the roar of the Federal guns was heard and wide gaps were torn in the ranks of Pickett's men, only to be filled up again by others, and yet on they came undismayed by the danger and unchecked by the murderous work of the Union forces surrounding them right into the jaws of death. It seemed that they were aiming for the clump of trees which stood on the very summit of the ridge. Cushing, though badly wounded, had stood by his guns at this point until the guns were disabled and nearly all his gunners killed or wounded. The two guns still in working order were wheeled down to the stone wall by the men of the 69th and 71st and for a time did deadly work in the ranks of the Confederates. The men under Lieutenant-Colonel Kochersperger in conjunction with the men of the 69th hugged the stone wall. Pickett's men came on and discovering a vacant portion of the wall they began to leap over. Then two Companies of the 69th swung back in order to protect the wall and a hand to hand conflict of the most desperate character took place. A Confederate called out to James Donnelly, of the 69th, to surrender, levelling his musket to fire at the same time, but before he could pull the trigger, Donnelly, who was a boy about eighteen years of age, felled the man with the barrel of his gun. Corporal Bradley, of the same Company, was killed about this time, having his skull crushed by a Confederate soldier while attempting to beat back the men who were coming over the wall. General Armistead, who led one of Pickett's front brigades, reached the farthest point of the Confederate advance and with his hand upon a Union gun while under the shadow of the flags of his brigade, fell mortally wounded. The struggle was soon over for Pickett's men were outnumbered and the loss of Armistead had been a sad blow. Over four thousand were made prisoners and as many more were lying on the field or cold in death. Virginia on that day yielded up as a sacrifice to the Lost Cause her gallant, chivalrous sons who, with unfaltering step and unsurpassed bravery, bore almost alone the brunt of a charge perhaps the most heroic and daring in the annals of warfare.

The battle of Gettysburg was over. The cost of men had been frightful, for the losses of the two armies had been more than fifty thousand about evenly divided between the two sides. The weary Confederates retreated to the waiting lines of the Confederacy on Seminary Ridge and Lee then began his retreat to Virginia. The high-water mark of the Confederacy had been reached and now the waters were receding not at Gettysburg alone but in the Southwest as well, for almost at the same hour that Pickett's charge occurred Grant and Pemberton stood under a tree on a hill above the Mississippi River and arranged for the surrender of Vicksburg.

"Fold up the banners! Smelt the guns!
Love rules. Her gentler purpose runs.
A mighty mother turns in tears
The pages of her battle years,
Lamenting all her fallen sons."

THAT SUMMER PEST the MOSQUITO

A Large Family - Disease Carriers - Extreme Delicacy of Structure - Interesting Motion Pictures Showing Development of Larvae - What Causes the "Hum" - Extermination.

THE group of gnats to which the mosquito belongs is a very large one, but of all their numbers only three species have so far been found which are said, by medical authorities on the subject, to be carriers of that disease called malaria. These mosquitoes belong to the branch known as "anopheles," as separated from another order known as the "culex" branch. The former species are readily distinguished from most others in our country by their spotted wings, and by their usual position while at rest upon the wall where their bodies are not held parallel with the wall but slant out from it at quite an angle.

Some idea of the delicacy of these insects may be had when a very fine human hair is placed, side by side, under a microscope, with the legs of a mosquito. The lower joints of the leg will be found to be no larger than the finest human hair which has been selected. And when we see that these delicate legs have perfect joints, and numerous small hairs along them, and that the feet at their terminations have minute claws, two on each foot, then we are amazed once more at another example of nature's wonderful creations!

Before reviewing the "criminal record" of certain of these grotesque-looking insects, it would be quite interesting to study their wonderful development from the queer-shaped eggs, to the more queer appearing adults. The writer recently saw some motion pictures showing the larvae state of the common mosquito where he rapidly "wiggles" up to the surface of the water to "breathe through his tail." This remarkable manner of breathing is accomplished by aid of the elaborate extension of the trachial tubes which terminate in an apparatus for breathing at the last segment of the abdomen, and very close to the "tail" of the individual.

The exhibition did not show the eggs of the mosquito, upon the screen, but began with him in the larval state as described above. A small portion from a group of eggs of the culex mosquito may be seen in drawing No. 1, and a few of the blackish eggs of the anopheles species are shown in No. 2 (greatly enlarged). The eggs are laid on the surface of the water where they are to the found floating singly or in groups.

The larvae feed upon minute particles of vegetation, either while found floating at the surface or elsewhere in the water. One of these "wrigglers" is shown in drawing No. 3 as he appears in the act of breathing. It was shown upon the screen, very vividly, how this breathing is effectually stopped, and the larvae destroyed, when kerosene oil is poured over the surface of the water. The layer of oil prevented the little chaps, who delight in "breathing through their tails," from getting what they came up after.

Many have probably seen these queer little creatures in the standing water about country houses, where it has been held in old cans or pails for a number of days. They are very lively little fellows and wiggle away from any attempt to capture them the instant a hand is brought near the water's surface where they are. The anopheles mosquitoes breed in all kinds of places where standing water may be found, and they are particularly fond of the spores from the water plant which make up the green scum of many stagnant water locations.

There is an interesting difference between the anopheles and culex members of the mosquito family, not only in the form and appearance of the eggs, but all along the line of development. The larvae of the former species rests at the water's surface in a position parallel with the surface, and does not hang down with tail up as does the latter species. During mid-summer the larvae may reach full size in two weeks after hatching, when they transform into pupae, such as shown in drawing No. 4. In this stage they remain for three days or so when the adult mosquitoes come forth from these queer-looking wrappings. An adult mosquito, thus issuing from the pupae, was shown upon the screen in moving-pictures, and reminded one of an old man slowly struggling to pull himself up out of a bed covered with clothes which seemed too heavy for his strength. The comical procedure brought many audible smiles from the interested audience. This ended the varisome life of the common mosquito, as far as his portrayal upon the screen was concerned, but it gave a very interesting sample of his successive changes before he starts out to make things hot for the summer visitor who delights in silk hose and bare neck and arms!

The reader's attention is called to the peculiar form of the animal in the pupal stage as shown in drawing No. 4, where the position near the surface of the water is indicated by lines above the figure. The long legs, proboscis, and elaborate antennae are all carefully folded up within the bag-looking affair attached to the thorax. In this state also the location of the eyes may be observed. These organs when viewed under the microscope appear much like blackberries in color and checkering. The peculiar trumpet-shaped breathing organs may be seen projecting from the top of the thorax.

whose drawings and writings much of the information in this article has been gleaned.

In figure 6 is shown a side view of a common variety of mosquito which was drawn from a dead specimen. The originals of both specimens were about three-eights of an inch only in length of body.

Prof. W. F. Kirby, F. L. S., states that the high-pitched note of the mosquito, which we hear as it approaches us, is caused by the very rapid vibrations of the wings which beat the air at an estimated rate of 3,000 strokes per minute, or 50 per second! Dr. Howard opposes this theory by stating that this noise is produced by vibrations of a chitinous process in the large trachea just behind the thoracic spiracles during respiration. As this noise ceases when the insect lights, it is evident that the action of the wings has something at least to do with the high-pitched hum.

Regarding the malaria-carrying propensities of the anopheles mosquitoes, Dr. Howard writes: "The cause of human malaria is the growth and development within the red blood cells of a very minute parasite organism belonging to the lowest group of the animal kingdom—the group Protozoa, or one-celled animals, which live in the water or in damp sands or moss, or inside the bodies of other animals as parasites." These parasites are introduced through the skin as the mosquito bites the victim.

As these mosquitoes breed in marshy places and miasma eminating from them was once given credit for the disease known as malaria, instead of the blame resting on the germ-laden proboscis of the anopheles mosquito. One peculiarity of this species is that they rarely bite except after night fall. The use of spirits of camphor or pennyroyal oil used on the face and hands or upon the pillow at night is suggested to keep these night-biters away. When only a very few mosquitoes seem to be about, one by one may be "smacked" upon the face—if one is awake at the time visited—by the simple but amusing process of holding the breath just after the mosquito has settled down on one's epidermis for a good draw on one's red blood. Holding the breath closes up the pores in the skin and holds the mosquito captive, by his proboscis, for long enough time to get in a good whack at him.

Dr. Howard writes: "During the summer of 1900 and spring and summer of 1901 the work of a commission of surgeons of the United States Army demonstrated in Cuba beyond the slightest possible doubt that yellow fever is not conveyed by infected clothing of yellow-fever patients or by contact with such patients or by proximity to them, but that it is conveyed by the bite of a certain species of mosquito known as "Stegomyia calopus" which abounds in regions where yellow fever is possible." Thus is one more disease laid at the door of the mosquito family.

"The bite of this mosquito," continues Dr. Howard, "does not convey yellow fever to a healthy person until twelve days have elapsed from the time when the same mosquito has bitten a person suffering with the disease."

The methods of exterminating these pests are as many as those suggested for the vanquishing of the fly, which latter insect has more excuse for existence, seeing he is one of nature's scavengers, and to banish him, without first banishing what he naturally feeds on, would produce a pestilence.

For the extermination of the mosquito, their breeding places in rain-barrels should be carefully screened; marshes should be drained and disinfected and small pools of standing water should be covered by a film of kerosene oil and later drained and covered with earth. To add to these measures houses should be screened and bed nettings used where the pests are particularly abundant. By these measures Mr. Mosquito will be forced to relinquish his undesirable vocation of inoculating people with disease.

Of Interest to Women and the Home

The Housewife's Daily Economy Calendar

FRANCES MARSHALL

The Economical Vacation.

The economical vacation seems like an impossibility to anyone who has not planned and enjoyed one; and, to be sure, it takes a good deal of planning to make it successful. But it can be planned and enjoyed.

To begin with, there is the camping vacation, with which almost everyone is familiar. Half a dozen young men who were receiving moderate salaries, clubbed together and bought a lot on a lake within a short distance of the town where they worked. The property was very inexpensive, and they reasoned that in a short time, three or four years at most, they could pay back the money they borrowed to buy it with the saving in the cost of their summer vacations. They bought a tent and a few very simple supplies and every week-end when they could get away they went up to their camp. Otherwise, they would have gone to a seaside hotel or boarding house, taken a boat trip, or made a journey to a nearby mountain resort. They figured out how much their expenses for railway fares and board and lodging in summer vacations were on the average and at the end of five years found that, at an expenditure of twenty-five per cent. less money, they had paid for their lot, their railway fares to and from the camp, had bought a canoe and a rowboat, and a collapsible house of five rooms.

A much simpler life in camp is possible. It is sometimes possible to camp in the wilds without paying any rent; in other places a slight rent is charged. A tent, simple furniture, food supplies which would have been bought anyway, and railroad fares are the only expenses necessary to a long vacation of this sort.

The Trolley Vacation.

Of late years, vacation trips by trolley have become popular. Sometimes short, daily trips make up the vacation—trips to a place of beauty or interest, sometimes with lunch at a restaurant, sometimes with a picnic lunch at the end. Other trolley trips of a couple of weeks' duration are planned. Stops at night are made wherever night overtakes the travelers, or sometimes a special effort is made to reach the home of some friend, who has begged for a night's visit.

The vacation in some out-of-the-way, tumble-down farm house which can be rented for a song is another pleasant outing for the city-dweller. In most country places where tumble-down farmhouses are found, there are tumble-down horses and carriages to be rented, as well, for a few dollars a week, and this lends to the charm of the vacation, for it makes possible picnics and long drives and the exploring of unknown country roads at minimum effort.

Some Cookery Suggestions

THE WHOLESOME CURRANT.

THE currant is one of the richest fruits in albuminous matter, being excelled only by the grape, strawberry and the orange.

Currant and Red Raspberry Preserves.—Take one-third currants and two-thirds red raspberries. Clean, wash and weigh the fruit and allow three-quarters of a pound of sugar to a pound of the fruit and prepare as ordinary preserves.

Spiced Currants.—Take five pounds currants, four pounds brown sugar, two tablespoonfuls cloves, two tablespoonfuls cinnamon, one pint vinegar. Boil two hours or more till quite thick.

For Winter Use.

Black Currant and Raspberry Jam.—Take six pounds of black currants, add one gill of water to every pound and simmer ten minutes. Now put into the pan three pounds of raspberries and allow one pound of preserving sugar to every pound of currants and three-quarters of a pound to every pound of raspberries and boil the whole forty-five minutes, reckoning from the time it commences to boil all over, or a little longer. Should it not jelly when a little is poured on a plate carefully skim it and keep it well stirred to prevent it burning at the bottom of the pan. When done put it into pots and tie down when cold in the usual way.

Currant Preserves.—Take large currants, wash and stem them. To a pound of fruit add a pound of sugar and proceed as for ordinary preserves.

Bar-le-duc.—Take three quarts red currants, three quarts sugar, one glass honey. Let currants and sugar stand overnight. In the morning add the honey and boil twenty-five minutes.

Delicious Conserves.

Peppered Currant Jam.—To two pints of granulated sugar take two and two-thirds pints of red currants. It is better if some of the currants are not quite ripe. Put the sugar on with enough water to dissolve and let boil three minutes. Then add the currants and boil fifteen minutes hard. Add two to three saltspoonfuls of red pepper, according to taste. Seal in glasses. One scant teaspoonful ground cinnamon and one saltspoonful cloves instead of the pepper makes a good spiced jam. Do not cook more than the amount given at one time. For a jam that is pretty tart use three full pints of currants.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

The Little Girls Played Barber Shop.

Off Went Her Nice Curls.

EVELYN often sighed to have pretty curls like a little neighbor.

"If you had curls like Stella you'd be too vain for anything," Jack said contemptuously. Like most boys, Jack didn't care for curls.

"You are pretty enough to me without curls," daddy said as he stroked Evelyn's perfectly straight hair. "Just while I think about it, though, I will tell you a funny story I heard of two little girls. One of them was named Betty and the other Gwendolen. They were both about the same age and size, but Betty, who was a few months the older, had quite straight short hair, while Gwendolen had lovely curls, which every one admired.

"One morning as the two little girls were playing together in the hall of Betty's house Gwendolen's mother came in to call on Betty's mother.

"'My dear,' Betty's mother said to Gwendolen's mother, 'I am not satisfied with Betty's hair.'

"Gwendolen's mother looked surprised. 'Why?' she answered. 'I think it is very pretty.'

"'Well,' Betty's mother went on, 'I've tried and tried, and I can't get it to suit me. Gwendolen's hair curls so beautifully.'

"Out in the hall where the two little girls were playing nothing was said, although two little pairs of ears heard what both mothers said. By and by the two ladies went away together.

"Then Betty straightened up and said: 'I'm tired of this old game. I know a nice new one.'

"'Oh, do you?' Gwendolen answered. 'What is it?'

"'It's quite a hard game to play, and maybe you couldn't learn it,' Betty artfully suggested.

"'Oh, yes, I could!' Gwendolen cried. 'My teacher says I learn awful easy.'

"'Well,' Betty explained, 'this game is barber shop. It's just like a reg'lar barber shop. We have to have a chair and a towel and scissors and everything.' Betty's parents kept her hair short, and she had been to the barber shop often enough to know all about it. So when they had fixed up a corner of the porch as a shop she insisted on being the barber. Gwendolen sat in the chair, and snip, snip, off went her hair. When Gwendolen got up and saw all her nice curls on the floor she began to cry, for she knew her mother would be displeased.

"Betty seemed to know so, too, for she said she thought she would better go home. And she went.

"Betty and Gwendolen do not play together any more. Perhaps you can guess why."

ANTI-SUFFRAGE

Conducted by Plainfield Branch New Jersey Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage.

In the suffrage gathering at Point Pleasant last Sunday, the speakers seem to have had what might be called an "Old Home afternoon" so much do their speeches as reported take one back to the earlier days of the suffrage discussion. Even in my childhood I used to hear that pathetic plea, "Do you wish to be classed with idiots and criminals?" and then, as now, I answered, "Of course not, and no one thinks of doing so." Mr. Riley fails to see that the ballot, not being a natural right, but one given by the government for its own aid, it was necessary to clearly point who could, and who could not, exercise it, and this definite statement is not a classification, but simply sets aside three classes who are debarred from voting. In some States, other classes existed at first. Property and religious limitations were designated in some of the colonies. In some of the Southern States certain educational tests have, I believe, been imposed since the negroes were admitted to the franchise. To say that certain well defined classes cannot vote is not placing them on this same plane. Here in New Jersey we must, I am sorry to say, admit that it was the women themselves who forced the men to take the ballot from them. Women voted from 1776 to 1807—why not now? The preamble to the resolution taking this vote from them gives the reason, "In order to secure greater quiet, order, and dignity at the elections." Repeating, it is said, was a common practice, young women voting as such in the morning and then, dressed as men, voting again in the afternoon. But, even in view of such a sad record, we who are opposed to woman suffrage do not feel that our forefathers put all women into the riotous and disorderly class their resolution intimates.

In the same way we do not think that when the Constitution of a State designates certain classes of men who cannot vote, it includes in those classes women, whose right to vote was not called in question and who were therefore not even named. It is only the suffragists who have made an effort to class women with criminals and idiots. As to the question of the higher education of women, the question as a question, came to the front very much at the same time as the demand for woman suffrage. The higher education was granted and within ten—one might safely say five—years women had proved their contention, that on the whole it was a great gain. Forty-five years have passed since suffrage was granted to the women of Wyoming, nineteen or twenty since Colorado gained it, and still it is a hotly disputed point, whether any real good has been gained by it. Even the most easily defended position, viz.: That women minds have broadened and their patriotic interest increased by the vote, must perforce, be somewhat weakened by the fact of the broadening effects of this very higher education.

The Civil War also gave an impetus to general interest in politics that has not always been appreciated. The women who were young at that time were practically and vitally interested in the questions of the day, and they and their children have kept that interest up. Politics were talked incessantly then and the habit has never really ceased. And it is not unnatural that on a certain type of mind this interest has had the effect of demanding expression by voting. Only these women are a small minority and if there is danger of boss of power, or of in any way lowering the ideals of womanhood they should be allowed to remain silent for the good of the greatest number.

* * * * * * *

In the Press for June 18 Mrs. Feickert denies the statement that only eight per cent. of the women want suffrage, yet that was the impression given at the suffrage meeting in the theatre and the fact was dwelt on that most reforms began with a small minority. The question still remains in the minds of many, "Will equal suffrage be a reform?"

The urged question of representation is put in an interesting way in the following letter to the New York Sun:

MEN, WOMEN AND FRANCHISE.

Let State Patriotism Eliminate Unprofitable Sex Partisanship.

To The Editor of The Sun:—Sir: James Yearsley very properly criticises "Cayuga" for confusing "unrepresented" with "disfranchised," but he is not wholly free from the same error himself when he says that unfranchised women are only "indirectly" represented. The franchise is not essential to representation.

No one, I assume, will venture to assert that men and women have not a joint interest in the welfare of the State. The wishes as well as the interests of the unenfranchised women who approve of the policies of the present Government in Washington are represented as directly and as fully as those of the men whose votes placed that Government in power; and the case of those who sympathetically oppose the Government is precisely the same as that of the wen who voted to exclude it. But if we are to assume that men and women have not joint political interests, then manifestly as but one set can prevail, women being in subjection, it is absurd to ask men to yield the advantage they now enjoy.

The only valid, pertinent consideration in the matter of the franchise is whether its extension or restriction at any specific time would be well or ill for the whole State—that is, for all the men and women alike in the State. For this reason it is impossible to understand why women should be specially congratulated on a suffrage victory; either the whole State is to be congratulated or their victory is in fact a defeat for us and them.

Manufacturers are Reading Wanamaker Advertisements

ANOTHER WEEK'S DISTRIBUTION OF HOT WEATHER DRESSES BEGINS MONDAY

On Wednesday one of our customers telegraphed a friend in another part of the country, "Go to Wanamaker's and see their wonderful Dress Sale." The friend came here, told us about it, and chose several hundred dollars' worth of dresses.

That has been the story of all seven days of this notable week for women's clothing.

Manufacturers with over-full stocks have noted the success of this sale day by day.

When they saw thousands of dresses selling here almost more quickly than we could print the news, they set to investigating their own stocks.

Proffers of OUR quality merchandise have been turning up almost every time the telephone rang. It is the end of the summer manufacturing season. A cold Spring diminished the wholesale orders at the very time when they were usually largest. But our own hot-weather merchandise, carefully chosen, and of Paris-inspired styles, sold quickly.

We are ready now to take all the worthy merchandise offered us at the right prices.

Another Shipment of

GARDEN MARBLES

Experts who thought our collection absolutely complete, confess that these new pieces make it even more "absolutely" complete.

The importation contains urns, founts, straight and circular benches, tables, flower boxes, lions, etc., which have been copied by Italian sculptors from the beautiful pieces that one sees in old Italian gardens.

Perhaps a well chosen bench, wall fountain or flower box is just what your garden needs to give it that charming old world air.

Prices are nowhere so moderate because we import these marbles ourselves direct from the sculptors.

Lions, $65 to $130.
Wall fountains, $75 to $120.
Tables, $67.50.
Benches with backs, $110 to $160.
Urns, $22.50 to $140.
Benches, $30 to $85.
Flower Boxes, $27.50 to $125.
Bird Founts, $27.50.
Jardineres, $32.50.

All fountains and urns are drilled ready for pipes.

"MAC" SAYS

BOGARDUS MARCHING ON.

Of course we know they've far to go
Before the race is won,
And teams that stay behind today
Tomorrow may have won;
But still it seems, that all our dreams
Would be of brighter hue
If Dunellen's pride would stand aside
And let the Pets go through.

Bob Bogardus evidently thinks the path leading to Penantville is nothing but a bed of roses. Possibly we have been under the influence of chloroform, but we have yet to learn this fact.

Considering his great liking to disturbance, one is surprised to think that Charlie Newhouse has not previously expressed his views on how the Central New Jersey League ought to be run. Certain eruptions during the past week seem to indicate that the organization will soon return to a four team circuit.

It is true, as several have been led to remark, that Bob Bogardus did not make baseball, but he has certainly made it pay in Bound Brook. Some seasons the only game the Bound Brook fans would turn out to see was the one played with the Dunellenites.

THE BOUND BROOK JOKER.

"It is principle and not money,"
Said the magnate, wise and slick,
And his statement was so funny,
That he laughed till he was sick.

There doesn't seem to be much principle in encroaching on another team's territory.

It may be true, as many Somerville fans opine, that Eddie Kraft has a shade on the veteran Warry McLaughlin along the pitching line, but it would be hard to convince Dunellen fans of the self same fact.

Every manager in the Sunday School, City and Central New Jersey League says that his team will win the pennant in the League in which he is a figurehead. Somebody will have to be beaten, nevertheless. Opinions at this stage of the proceedings do not count for much, however, but if a manager should venture his opinion of his team in September they would probably be unfit to print.

Billy Coyle's siesta in the vicinity of second base has been improving in every contest, until now he is considered to be even better at the keystone sack than he was at short, and that is going some. Billy has pounded out at least one hit in every game this season as a little side issue, too.

WITH THE BOXERS

Gunboat Smith has signed to box George Rodell in New York June 27.

New Orleans fans will witness fireworks when Jack Briton and Charley White meet in that city July 4.

Tommy Murphy and Johnny Dundee, the New York lightweights, will clash in a 20-round bout at Vernon, Cali., July 15.

Bombardier Wells has posted $5,000 for another bout with Georges Carpentier, the French champion. Carpentier recently knocked out Wells in four rounds.

BASEBALL NOTES

Pitcher Fromme, the former Cincinnati Reds' flinger, looks like a winner with McGraw's Giants.

Pitcher "Reb" Russell, of the White Sox, is doing great work in his first year in the big show.

With good support in the field and a little stick work on the part of the Pirates, Marty O'Toole is a hard pitcher to beat.

Bobby Wallace has been playing third base for the Browns. He seems to be just as much at home at the hot corner as at short.

The Red Sox struggle to get up in the world must have put President McAleer to the bad. Jim has beat it for the Maine woods.

Shortstop "Rabbit" Maranville is proving a sensation with the Boston Braves. The little fellow is a wonder in making difficult stops.

Jesse Burkett is having his troubles trying to keep his Worcester team up in the first division of the New England League standing.

Manager Ramsey, of the Troy New York State League Club, has strengthened his team in signing First Baseman Barry, the form r Yankee, and Pitcher Kull, formerly of the Phillies.

After Columbus defeated Indianapolis 24 to 13 the other day, Manager Mike Kelley, of the Indians, declared that he would go out on the highways and byways, and sign an entire new outfit.

Joe Birmingham, the Naps' leader, is out to have the rule which prohibits blocking off of base runners on thrown balls enforced. Joe claims that the Naps are getting the worst of the blocking stuff.

In the four games played on June 6, International League teams made 132 hits. Montreal led the bunch with 29 bingles, Providence 21, Toronto 20, Rochester 19, Baltimore 14, Buffalo 13, Jersey City 10, Newark 6.

Connie Mack's latest find is Infielder Edward Cawley, of the Lowell (Mass.) High School nine. While Cawley has not yet signed with the Athletics, it is expected that he will send in his contract in a few days.

So far this season the Cubs have played fine ball at home. If they could do as well on the road, the Phillies, the Giants, the Superbas and the Pirates would have to play something like nine innings every time they meet the Evers clan.

WESTFIELD AT KENILWORTH.

The recently organized Westfield semi-professional nine is scheduled to play at Kenilworth tomorrow afternoon against the team of that place.

Queries, Comment and Answers

Sporting Editor:

Query—To decide a dispute between players please let us know it the distance from third base to first base is the same as from home plate to second base. Also, what is the distance?—E. R. T.

Answer—If the diamond is properly measured the distance should be the same. It measures 127.2789 feet.

Sporting Editor:

Query—A player is stealing third base. The third baseman is standing on the side of the bag and the runner falls around in back of him and then touches the bag. The umpire called him safe and then reverses his decision and calls him out, claiming that he went out of the base line. Is he safe?—R. S. V.

Answer—If the runner ran more than three feet outside of the direct line between second and third to avoid being touched by the baseman he is out. If the baseman was occupying the base runner's proper path, then the base runners may run out of the direct path and behind said fielder and should not be declared out for doing so. From your description of the play the runner is safe. No decision rendered by the umpire may be reversed, except that he be convinced that it was a direct violation of the playing rules. In this case, however, it appears to be a matter of judgment rather than rules.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Is it generally understood that in Chicago pool a scratch takes off three points?—W. C. T.

Answer—The pool guide says that a player making a scratch has to forfeit three points.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Can you tell me what the pressure was and how it was secured at the recent test of water pressure at the Woolworth building in New York city recently?—G. J. I.

Answer—The pressure was secured from the company's own pump in the sub-cellar of the building, and the pressure there was 350 pounds per square inch.

Sporting Editor:

Query—A says that baseball was faster twenty years ago than it is today. B claims that it is faster today. Who is correct?—A. B. M.

Answer—The perennial discussion as to whether or not baseball is faster now than it was two decades ago shows no sign of abating, and most of the stars of other days persist in their arguments that the champion teams of eighties and early nineties were fully equal to those of the present day. But if the number of players injured on the diamond is a criteron, and it is, the pastime is much speedier today than it ever has been in the past. More chances are taken now than in the past because, under modern conditions no chance can be overlooked. Even the old-timers agree that pitchers today use greater speed and sharper curves. The only department upon which there is room for debate is base running, and even in this, while it may be admitted that the older players were quite as fast on their feet, they did not take the chances in sliding that are taken in almost every game played at the present time. The game has grown faster, old-timers to the contrary, notwithstanding. B wins the argument.

Sporting Editor:

Query—What is the value of a half dollar dated 1858 without arrow heads at the date?—L. O. P.

Answer—It is valued at from $15 to $20.

Sporting Editor:

Query—What is the object of the Cincinnati hit? Do you think it is fair?—U. T. R.

Answer—The new scoring rule which eliminates the fielder's choice and gives the batter under such conditions a base hit has no other virtue than that it will make the scoring uniform in every city. In a majority of the cases the base hit which is to be credited to the batsman will be undeserving. Say, for instance, that there is a man on third base and the batttr hits a grounder to one of the infielders whose throw to the plate is too late to catch the runner coming from third. The runner who makes the run possible by reason of his speed and sliding proclivities receives no credit, but the batter who really did little is credited with a base hit. In my estimation the new rule is not entirely fair to the batter, as it seems that in a majority of the cases it will be a mere gift to the batter and will not really be earned as heretofore.

Sporting Editor:

Query—I am planning to enter the athletic meet at New Brunswick the Fourth of July and would like to have the list of events published together with the list of prizes and place for the meet.—J. G.

Answer—The meet will be started on Neilson Field at 2 o'clock. The events are: 100 yard dash, (novice); 880 yard run, two mile run, 200 yard dash, one mile run (interscholastic); 440 yard dash, one mile run, one mile relay, (club or organization); 10 yard dash, five mile road race. The prizes for the first, second, third, fourth, sixth, seventh and ninth events are silver cups for first prize, silver medals for second and bronze medals for third. For events number five and eight, silver cups to winning team and silver medals to each member of that team, bronze medals to each meber of the second team; to each member of the second team; first, gold medal to second, silver medal to third and bronze medal to fourth.

MARTIN WALSH PITCHED A NO-HIT, NO-RUN CONTEST

Martin Walsh, who is well known to Plainfield fans, having pitched here on several different occasions, pitched a no-hit, no-run game for the Tarrytown (N. Y.) team against the Stamford (Conn.) team of the Westchester County League, Thursday afternoon, winning the contest by a score of 2 to 0. Walsh is a brother of "Big Ed" Walsh, of the Chicago White Sox, and was in great form on this particular occasion, fanning sixteen batters.

Walsh appeared in New Brunswick on the Oswego team that played Driscoll's aggregation three weeks ago, but he was ineffective on that day and the management of the visiting team was criticised for bringing him to Brunswick as a twirler.

STAR LINEUP OF THE PETS TO MEET ELIZABETH NINE

Manager Ernest Dorflinger, of the Plainfield baseball team, has gathered together an all star cast to take to Elizabeth tomorrow afternoon to lineup against the T. A. B. nine of that place. The Plainfield team will consist of the following players: Hickey 2b, Barry 3b, Dixon rf, Torpey c, Porter rf, Garretson 1b, Inglebrandt ss, Moran rf, Slocum, Randolph or Kraft p. The Plainfield moundsmen will be opposed by "Doc" Scanlon, the former Brooklyn heaver who will have Pickering behind the bat to hold his shoots.

A number of local fans are planning to accompany the Pets to Elizabeth and witness the conflict with the abstainers. The field is located one block from the Elizabethport station.

PLAINFIELD WILL HAVE A WIDE OPEN ATHLETIC MEET ON FOURTH OF JULY

Through the efforts of Supervisor George W. Wriston, of the local playgrounds, Plainfield athletes will have their yearnings fulfilled here on the Fourth of July, a wide open, free to all field and track meet having at last been arranged for that date. Not only will the meet be without restraint as far as entrance fees and the red tape that invariably accompanies an athletic meet, but the winners of the first three places in each event will be awarded a prize that will repay each fully for his efforts and ability. Local merchants have contributed liberally to the movement, giving a wealth of prizes which will be offered for field and track competition on the holiday afternoon.

An effort is being made to interest all of the local factories in the affair and as several of the workshops have already organized athletic associations it is safe to say that a ready response will be forthcoming, the local athletes welcoming an opportunity of this kind to compete in races and jumps. Many of the Plainfield athletes who had planned to go to New Brunswick to compete on the Fourth will now stay at home when offered an event of this kind in their own city.

With a view to interesting everybody the officials in charge of the meet have eliminated all restrictions such as registration and entry fees and all that is necessary in entering the meet is to send a postal to George W. Wriston, 517 East Seventh stree, with your name and the events you wish to enter. Competent local officials will be in charge of the affair and everyone will have a fair opportunity to score a victory.

The classes and events are as follows: Senior events (open to anyone in Plainfield, North Plainfield or adjacent suburbs), 100 yard dash, one mile run, running broad jump and running high jump; junior class (under 85 pounds), 100 yard dash, fifty yard dash and broad jump; intermediate class (110 pounds), 100 yard dash, fifty yard dash and broad jump.

PITCHERS ARE HIT HARD IN THIS GAME

Inter-triangles Won a Close Decision Over J. B. C. Club.

Through a technicality in the ninth inning when the umpire reversed his decision, the Inter-triangle baseball team won a close game from the J. B. C. nine on Parker Field, yesterday morning, the final score being 11 to 10. Both pitchers were hit hard and frequently, some good sticking being done by Houston, McVie, Hansen, Scainkle and Adams.

While the Inter-triangles led most of the way the J. B. C. combination came to the fore in their half of the seventh, bringing a quintet of tallies across the rubber.

UNCERTIAN PLAYS MADE BY GOLFERS

Instances Where Players Have Disregarded all Precedent on the Greens.

The uncertainty of golf was fully illustrated in the New Jersey championship tournament at Baltusrol last week. In a match between John Radel, of Newark, and Oscar Woodward, of Montclair, the former was one up when he stood on the eighteenth tee. He made a superb drive to the edge of the sand pit in front of the green, while Woodward pulled his drive into the woods and apparently hadn't one chance in fifty of halving the hole. But with his second shot he laid the ball on the bank at the left of the green. Then he rolled it down to a point four feet from the hole, and his fourth stroke dropped the ball into the cup for a 4. Radel's second shot placed him on the green, fifteen feet from the hole. With two easy putts he could halve the hole and win the match. He took three and lost. Then he lost the nineteenth hole and the match. On the seventeenth green he won by running down a putt of nearly twenty feet.

In the opening round of the tournament Theodore Keer made 105, his worst score in recent days. And in the afternoon of the same day he made his record score from the back tees, 85.

On Friday Kerby and F. H. Thomas reached the green of the fifteenth hole, about 470 yards from the back tee, in two shots, and Thomas scored a 3 three.

Young Marston, of Cranford, is also "some driver." The bunker of the first hole is about 260 yards from the tee. On Thursday afternoon he sent down the course a ball that went to the edge of the sand in front of the bunker, and it was so straight that it stopped exactly in front of the middle bunker.

Howard Griffin did fine work the tournament, and if he had been put on its team Baltusrol would easily have won the club match. His 79 was one of the lowest scores of the day.

Billy—"I suppose it's a good plan for a girl to keep on the right side of her chaperon." Milly—"Yes, especially if the chaperon is deaf in that ear."

—It is only as an afterthought that some people realize they have been too previous.

SCHOOLGIRLS FIRST LESSON IN SWIMMING

A new idea has recently started in public schools for girls which authorities believe will spread throughout the country where facilities permit. It is a movement to teach girls swimming and was begun in one of the schools in New York. Almost immediately one thousand pupils enrolled in the class, which was held in one of the big swimming tanks. SOME SOUND ADVICE TO THE CANDIDATES

Candidates, what have you done in the past three days?

Do you realize that your efforts during the last period will amount to nought unless you back them up with good hard solid work during the period which closes on June 25?

The present period is the largest vote getting period for the remainder of the contest. It is possible for a candidate to secure enough subscribers to place himself so far in the lead that it will be impossible for the candidate who waits until later to overcome the lead taken by the wideawake candidate during this period.

Bear in mind there are but three days remaining of the best chance to boost your standing and be governed accordingly.

If you want an automobile or one of the other valuable prizes you must continue your efforts at least throughout the present period.

Never again during the contest will as many votes be allowed on subscriptions. Nor will this offer be repeated.

See your friends, tell them you are in to win. Secure their subscriptions. Keep everlastingly at it and success awaits you.

LADY CONSTANCE STEWART RICHARDSON

Lady Constance Stewart Richardson, renowned as a barefoot dancer, is now in New York, where she is giving a demonstration of her art. She has a new dance, one of the classical order, which she herself arranged. She calls it "Before Dawn" and asserts that it represents the spirit of the woodland.

Speaking of modern dances Lady Constance said:—

"While they are most artistic if performed by skilful dancers, they can be made most vulgar and suggestive when danced by those who have neither grace nor training."

Lady Constance wore a costume of Japanese crepe, brown, trimmed with white and split at the sides, with brown silk stockings and brown sandals.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR HAD A FINE TIME

Trinity Commandery Members Made Merry on Huntsman's Green Sward.

FIELD DAY EVENTS

The Decorations Were of the Kind That "Go Some"—And the Luncheon Was No Small Attraction Either.

R. F. R. Huntsman threw open the spacious grounds surrounding his big home on East Front street to the members of Trinity Commandery, Knights Templar, on Saturday afternoon, and the sir knights, with a few invited guests, had a royal good time. The program arranged by Mr. Huntsman, who was chairman of the committee, and C. A. Lee, A. D. Honeyman and B. Frank Coriell, the other members, was unique and amused the seventy-five or more present until nearly dusk.

The grounds surrounding the house had been attractively decorated during the morning by a man sent out by Preston P. Lynn, general manager of the Wanamaker stores in New York, a Shriner and a personal friend of Mr. Huntsman. On each side of the driveway were placed two life size gilded heralds, each with a trumpet, from which suspended a welcoming sign. All through the grounds were arranged American flags in an artistic manner, and on nearly every tree and post was a humorous sign.

After a social half hour had been spent by the guests, luncheon was served at a big table spread on the roomy front porch. A fine meal, splendidly served, was enjoyed. At its beginning Charles Russell proposed a toast to Mr. Huntsman. Music was furnished by a big phonograph, and just before the conclusion of the dinner the "Meadowspring Quartet," consisting of the committee, appeared in farmer costume, with false faces and "went through the motions" of singing, while the phonograph did the actual work of rendering "My Irene is the Village Queen." At the conclusion of the meal the guests sang "The Star Spangled Banner," after which the real fun of the afternoon began.

Mr. Huntsman had provided a series of games, Poor Bob's Golf, tennis, quoits, "Breaking Up of China," potato race and walking race. The "golf" consisted of playing a five-hole course with big red rubber balls and hockey sticks in place of the regular equipment. Needless to say no records were broken, for each contestant was expected to send the rubber ball around a tree, through a hoople and into an ordinary peach basket at each hole. More amusement was afforded for the spectators than for the players.

For the "breaking up of china" a big mat was spread over a barn door, and in front of this was hung a lot of crockery. Baseballs were provided and many a man acquired a sore arm trying to smash some of the dishes and other things offered as targets for a display of skill. The quoits, tennis, walking and potato races were played in the usual way, but no records were broken during the afternoon.

Before the guests left the house Paul Collier photographed them, and a picture was also taken of the quartet.

The summaries of the various events were as follows:

The winners of the several events were as follows:

WATCHUNG LEGEND A GREAT SUCCESS

Big Audience Saw Performance of the "Redskins" and "Whites" on the Hills.

Presenting their third annual performance of the Legend of Watchung on a rocky slope bordered on every side by vegetation that has frequented the spot since the days of the original band of redskins, the Indians and Whites in the Legend's cast were greeted by an audience that surpassed their greatest anticipations. A unique arangements of sittings on a bank directly opposite the natural stage and separated from the players by a flowing stream of water were crowded when the lights were turned on announcing the opening of the show. Electrical effects served as a curtain and the disappearance of the Indians and then of the Whites into remote portions of the hills formed an exit that would be hard to duplicate.

The silent movements characteristic of the native redskin and the traits so prominent in the movements of a German white were portrayed to perfection by the amateur performers and their work reflected with credit on the careful training they have received during weeks of preparation. A short synopsis of the legend given by Dr. M. P. E. Groszmann prior to the curtain raising filled the spectators with expectation but they little anticipated the real merit of the play that was in store for them.

William de LaR. Anderson, the author of the play, took the part of "One Feather," the chief of the Watchung Indians, and Edward Bodin, in the person of "Deer Prong," the tribial scout, did some acting that caused much favorable comment. Following the show which will be repeated tonight, the cast and spectators went to the hall of the Watchung Improvement Society, where dancing was held and refreshments served.

RECORDER GANO ORDERS COUPLE TO LEAVE TOWN

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Finnegan, of 78 Greenbrook road, were ordered to leave town by noon tomorrow when arraigned this morning before Recorder Gano in the borough court, charged with being disorderly and raising a disturbance in their neighborhood. Numerous complaints have been received regarding the actions of the couple. They are moving today Their failure to do so would mean their re-arrest and imprisonment in the county jail for a term of 60 days each, according to the Recorder's order.

A fistic argument over the validity of a paint bill which Joseph Mills is said to owe William J. Campbell, of 98 Jackson avenue, resulted Saturday night in the arrest of the latter on an assault and batery charge. The defendant was released in his own custody until Wednesday morning when the case will be tried before Recorder Gano in the borough court.

D. J. Randall, of 88 Mercer avenue, was fined $1 by Recorder Gano in the borough court this morning when arraigned charged with harboring a dog without the necessary license. He paid the fine and also the fee.

E. W. BERGE SPEAKS AT PUPILS RECITAL

The pupils of Miss Grace P. Karr gave their closing recital of the season Saturday afternoon in the auditorium of the Franklin School enrapturing their sympathetic audience by their individuality in interpreting attractive compositions. Prizes symbolic of music were awarded for the monthly, yearly and recital requirements.

Edward W. Berge, president of the Fraternal Association of Musicians, and a specialist in ensemble playing for piano, delivered an impromptu address which was greatly appreciated by everybody, and confirming many in their convictions. Mr. Berge approved emphatically of the appropriateness of the prizes, which were busts of different composers, and musical compositions. He said that many of the great composers wrote ensemble music for the piano and that not until recently had it been taken up in this country, and that now pepole were beginning to realize how it promotes and enforces positive accuracy in time and rhythm, cultivating the ear to hear different parts at the same time.

The use of ensemble playing gives people a better idea of the operas, and the great symphonies, and of the different parts of the largs forms of musical composition. A pupil playing the bass in a quartet, when listening to a symphony played by an orchestra, would be able to follow the contra-bass, know how it was made up and listen to its relation to the whole ensemble.

The following pupils took part: Misses Edith M. Shotwell, Charlotte W. Fowler, Constance I. Hadden, Gertrude E. Rittenhouse, Elsie G. Clark, Katherine Brennen (pupil of Miss Sarah L. Schuck), Beatrice E DeCamp, Mildred M. Clark, Mary Roth, Helen M. Aimy, Marian A. Floersch, Ruth B. Hammond, Alice F. Simons, Margaret H. Martin, Caroline B. Paoli, Grace H. Gillahan, Josephine E. Hanlon, Marjorie Burtis, Sarah L. Schuck, Frances E. Avery, Helen H. Crane, Katherine J. Endress, Valentina Coombs, Madeline V. Hughes, Adelaide Ricketts, Masters Herbert M. Hooker, Kenneth Burtis, Howard E. Hile, Percy M. Stelle, Jerome Leary (pupil of Miss Mildred M. Clark), Charles B. Clark (pupil of Miss Mildred M. Clark).

DASH BEFORE CAR FATAL TO CHILD

Plainfielder Was Running His Machine Slowly Through Metuchen When Accident Happened—Mr. Arnold Released on Bail.

As William F. Arnold, vice president and cashier of the City National Bank, of this city, was driving his car slowly through Metuchen on his way to Plainfield about 10 o'clock this morning, Gertrude Mary Daker, a four-year-old girl, suddenly dashed from behind a milk wagon and was instantly killed. Mr. Arnold, who was running the car, in which were seated his family, stopped it within a distance of five feet of the spot where the girl rushed in front of the auto.

The Daker child, who was the daughter of Thomas Daker, of Pearl street, Metuchen, with several other children, was playing on Main street in that place and as the car was moving slowly down that thoroughfare and nearing Middlesex avenue, from behind a milk wagon, to the left, three of the youngsters ran out. Mr. Arnold moved his car out of their way, at the same time blowing the horn. Then suddenly and without warning, the Daker child dashed from behind the wagon and with presence of mind Mr. Arnold instantly stopped his car but it was too late.

Prosecutor Silzer, of Middlesex county, placed Mr. Arnold in the custody of his counsel, Assistant Corporation Counsel W. L. Hetfield, Jr., to appear before Judge Daly at New Brunswick, who was the only one to admit to bail and happened to be out of town at the time. This afternoon, Judge Daly fixed bail at $3,000, W. L. Hetfield, Jr., and Police Chief P. S. Kiely going on the bond.

Mr. Arnold made a statement to the reporters telling exactly how the accident happened and his assertions were corroborated by Metuchen people who had witnessed it. Only recently he recovered from nervous prostration and despite the fact that he was in nowise to blame for the accident he was an ill man after it happened.

MISS FLEMING WON TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP

Miss Barbara Fleming won the championship in tennis at the Plainfield Country Club, Saturday, defeating Mrs. Morris J. Dumont in the finals, 6-1, 6-1. While the score does not indicate it, the match was closely fly contested from start to finish, there being several good rallies. Both players were in fine form, but Miss Fleming had the advantage in both sets, playing a fast game.

The consolation matches reached the finals Saturday and these will be played off sometime this week between Mrs. F. C. Osborn and Miss Leila Hedges. The girls' tournament announced for Saturday was postponed and will be played some day this week.

WILSON MESSAGE ON THE CURRENCY

President Urges Congress to Pass New Law.

ASKS FOR ACTION AT ONCE

Chief Executive Appears in Person Before Congress to Tell the Need of Immediate Changes in the Banking Laws—He Declares That the Revision of the Tariff Will Not Be Complete Without Further Legislation Which Will Enable Business Men to Take Advantage of the Changed Conditions.

Address of the president of the United States, delivered at a joint session of the two houses of congress June 23, 1913:

Mr. Speaker, Mr. President, Gentlemen of the Congress—It is under the compulsion of what seems to me a clear and imperative duty that I have a second time this session sought the privilege of addressing you in person. I know, of course, that the heated season of the year is upon us, that work in these chambers and in the committee rooms is likely to become a burden as the season lengthens and that every consideration of personal convenience and personal comfort, perhaps, in the cases of some of us, considerations of personal health even, dictate an early conclusion of the deliberations of the session. But there are occasions of public duty when these things which touch us privately seem very small, when the work to be done is so pressing and so fraught with big consequence that we know that we are not at liberty to weigh against it any point of personal sacrifice. We are now in the presence of such an occasion. It is absolutely imperative that we should give the business men of this country a banking and currency system by means of which they can make use of the freedom of enterprise and of individual initiative which we are about to bestow upon them.

Must Leave Tools of Action.

We are about to set them free. We must not leave them without the tools of action when they are free. We are about to set them free by removing the trammels of the protective tariff. Ever since the civil war they have waited for this emancipation and for the free opportunities it will bring with it. It has been reserved for us to give it to them. Some fell in love, indeed, with the slothful security of their dependence upon the government; some took advantage of the shelter of the nursery to set up a mimic mastery of their own within its walls.

PRESIDENT WILSON.

Now both the tonic and discipline of liberty and maturity are to ensue. There will be some readjustments of purpose and point of view. There will follow a period of expansion and new enterprise, freshly conceived. It is for us to determine now whether it shall be rapid and facile and of easy accomplishment. This it cannot be unless the resourceful business men who are to deal with the new circumstances are to have at hand and ready for use the instrumentalities and conveniences of free enterprise which independent men need when acting on their own initiative.

Constructive Statesmanship.

It is not enough to strike the shackles from business. The duty of statesmanship is not negative merely. It is constructive also. We must show that we understand what business needs and that we know how to supply it. No man, however casual and superficial his observation of the conditions now prevailing in the country, can fail to see that one of the chief things business needs now and will need increasingly as it gains in scope and vigor in the years immediately ahead of us is the proper means by which readily to vitalize its credit, corporate and individual, and its originative brains.

What will it profit us to be free if we are not to have the best and most accessible instrumentalities of commerce and enterprise? What will it profit us to be quit of one kind of monopoly if we are to remain in the grip of another and more effective kind? How are we to gain and keep the confidence of the business community unless we show that we know how both to aid and to protect it?

What shall we say if we make fresh enterprises necessary and also make it very difficult by leaving all else except the tariff just as we found it? The tyrannies of business, big and little, lie within the field of credit. We know that. Shall we not act upon the knowledge? Do we not know how to act upon it? If a man cannot make his assets available at pleasure, his assets of capacity and character and resource, what satisfaction is it to him to see opportunity beckoning to him on every hand when others have the keys of credit in their pockets and treat them as all but their own private possession? It is perfectly clear that it is our duty to supply the new banking and currency system the country needs and that it will immediately need it more than ever.

Need of Currency Changes.

The only question is, When shall we supply it—now or later, after the demands shall have become reproaches that we were so dull and so slow? Shall we hasten to change the tariff laws and then be laggards about making it possible and easy for the country to take advantage of the change? There can be only one answer to that question. We must act now, at whatever sacrifice to ourselves. It is a duty which the circumstances forbid us to postpone. I should be recreant to my deepest convictions of public obligations did I not press it upon you with solemn and urgent insistence.

The principles upon which we should act are also clear. The country has sought and seen its path in this matter within the last few years—sees it more clearly now than it ever saw it before—much more clearly than when the last legislative proposals on the subject were made. We must have a currency, not rigid, as now, but readily, elastically responsive to sound credit, the expanding and contracting credits of everyday transactions, the normal ebb and flow of personal and corporate dealings. Our banking laws must mobilize reserves, must not permit the concentration anywhere in a few hands of the monetary resources of the country or their use for speculative purposes in such volume as to hinder or impede or stand in the way of other more legitimate, more fruitful uses. And the control of the system of banking and of issue which our new laws are to set up must be public, not private; must be vested in the government itself, so that the banks may be the instruments, not the masters, of business and of individual enterprise and initiative.

Committee Ready to Report.

The committees of the congress to which legislation of this character is referred have devoted careful and dispassionate study to the means of accomplishing these objects. They have honored me by consulting me. They are ready to suggest action. I have come to you, as the head of the government and the responsible leader of the party in power, to urge action now, while there is time to serve the country deliberately and as we should, in a clear air of common counsel.

I appeal to you with a deep conviction of duty. I believe that you share this conviction. I therefore appeal to you with confidence. I am at your service without reserve to play my part in any way you may call upon me to play it in this great enterprise of exigent reform which it will dignify and distinguish us to perform and discredit us to neglect.

The Busy Beaver.

Enos A. Mills, the author of "In Beaver World," sums up the beaver's character thus:

As animal life goes, that of the beaver stands among the best. His life is full of industry and is rich in repose. He is home loving and avoids fighting. His lot is cast in poetic places. * * * He is practical, peaceful and industrious. He builds a permanent house and keeps it clean and in repair. Beside it he stores food for the long winter. He takes thought for the morrow. These and other commendable characteristics give him a place of honor among the hordes of homeless, hand to mouth folk of the wild. During the winter he has but little to do except bathe and eat his two or three meals a day from the food he has stored in autumn. Toward spring, when his wild neighbors are lean, hungry and cold, he is fat and comfortable. In the spring he emerges from the house, but then his only work is occasionally to cut a twig for food. In the summer he plays tourist. He visits other colonies and wanders up and down streams, going miles from home. In the late summer or early autumn he returns, makes repairs and harvests his food for the winter.

Sheridan's Double Marriage.

It was in 1857 that the Gretna Green marriages were made illegal. A glance at its registers may yet inspire the novelist of the future. One entry will be sure to puzzle. Twice within a few days occurs the record of the marriage of Richard Brinsley Sheridan to Miss Grant. There was only one R. B. S., only one bride for the same gentleman. The double entries are not the result of any blunder on the part of the Rev. Mr. Vulcan. The parties were really twice married at Gretna Green. Arriving on a Sunday they were duly wedded and sped away to Edinburgh. There, however, Sheridan chanced to glance at a newspaper in which appeared the lucubrations of a lawyer. In these plainly stated was the fact that no contract executed on a Sunday is binding. Clearly, then, their wedding was not legal. Back to Gretna Green they scurried, to be remarried on a week day and leave the dual record to perplex later generations.—St James' Gazette

OUR ANNUAL MID-SUMMER MUSLIN UNDERWEAR SALE

Thousands of bright, new, fresh garments—and marked at prices for quality that are positively a revelation, considering the numerous handicaps under which the Muslin Underwear industry has labored during the past six months. The Mid-Summer Muslin Underwear Sale is always a very welcome event, by reason of its timeliness and real necessity—for more dainty, white garments are required during the Summer period than at any other time, and women quite generally are therefore impelled to buy more liberally at this season than at any other period of the year.

This planning extended vacations will find the sale a real boon, as the assortments cover the widest possible latitude, from the simple, inexpensive, very practical garments to the loveliest creations of the French modistes' art.

THE CITY LOSES.

In our news columns today will be found the full text of the opinion of the Court of Errors affirming the judgment of the Supreme Court which set aside an order appointing commissioners to condemn a part of the property and franchises of the Plainfield-Union Water Company, whose plant is in the Netherwood section of the city. It is interesting because it marks the ending of a long drawn out and expensive effort to obtain municipal control of the local water supply. We say, it marks the end, but it might be more correst to say that such is the case unless other plans are made for a municipal plant. No statement has been made by the special water committee, appointed by the Common Council, as to what will be the next move, if any, and we understand that the committee is not prepared at this time to give out any announcement. Those who have been advocating and working for the fulfillment of the municipal ownership idea it must be admitted have been in an unfortunate position. The water company, on the defensive, has been represented by Frank Bergen, with whom has been associated in a consulting capacity several other brilliant lawyers, the galaxy reputed to be the best in New Jersey. Against such an array of counsel, it was an uphill fight from the first and, as it has turned out, a futile one.

As to the opinion handed down by the highest court in the State, it will be observed that it holds, first, that the city cannot condemn any part of the property of the water company since the concern's charter covers other municipalities as well and the company is engaged in the business of supplying these other communities, and secondly, it is held that the charter of the old Plainfield Water Supply Company, incorporated in 1869, which is now merged into the Plainfield-Union Water Company, covers the territory with Plainfield township and adjoining townships as existing in 1869. In other words, the charter covers all the territory in Union county west of the Rahway river; all the territory in Middlesex county north of the Raritan river, and all the territory in North Plainfield borough, North Plainfield township and Warren township.

This has always been disputed by the city, it being contended that the charter covered only the present city of Plainfield and its immediate vicinity. Prior to 1869, the townships adjoining Plainfield township were Westfield and Clark, in Union county; Piscataway and Woodbridge, in Middlesex county, and Warren in Somerset county. Besides, the charter of the Union Water Company, whose headquarters were formerly at Westfield, covers as the court holds, the entire county of Union and as this concern was merged into the Plainfield-Union Water Company at the same time with the Plainfield Water Supply Company, the new corporation's charter covers all of Union, all of Middlesex north of the Raritan river and all of the township of Warren, in Somerset, as it existed prior to 1869 and it will be recalled that the borough and township of North Plainfield have been carved out of Warren township since 1869.

TWO DAYS' VACATION.

When the Newark department stores are closed for the day on Thursday they will not be reopened until the following Monday. Friday, the Fourth of July, is a holiday and on Saturdays during the summer months, these big stores observe a half holiday. Consequently the proprietors have decided to grasp the opportunity to show their clerks and other employees an appreciation of their services by giving them a vacation from Thursday for the rest of the week. As ample notice has been given the shoppers of this proposed innovation, the patrons will supply their wants before Thursday night and the department stores proprietors will suffer a trifling loss if any. At the same time they will be commended by the general public and better still receive the hearty thanks of their employes.

Why would it not be well for Plainfield shopkeepers to follow the example of Newark? There are dozens of men and women and boys and girls employed in the stores who would not only welcome three days' rest, but would show their gratitude by even more effectual work for their employers, if such a thing were possible, on their return the following Monday morning. If it is a good thing in Newark, it is a good thing in Plainfield. There's a saying about all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy. So why not give the clerks two days rest, instead of one, when there is this excellent opportunity? It'll pay, try it and see.

COMPLETE TEXT IN WATER CASE

Chief Justice Gummere's Opinion in Proceedings of City Against Water Co.

JUDGES ALL AGREE

Two Chief Reasons Are Assigned Why Plainfield Cannot Have a Part of the Private Concern's Plant Condemned.

Following is the complete text of the opinion handed down by Chief Justice Gummere, of the Court of Errors and Appeals, in the proceedings against the Plainfield-Union Water Company instituted by Plainfield to have part of the plant condemned for purchase if desired by the city:

This is a certiorari proceeding. The writ brings up for review an order made by a justice of the Supreme Court appointing commissioners to condemn a part of the property and franchises of the Plainfield-Union Water Company, on the petition of the inhabitants of the City of Plainfield. The water company is a corporation formed by the consolidation of the Plainfield Water Supply Company and the Union Water Company, under and pursuant to legislative authority conferred for that purpose by sections 104 et seq. of the General Corporation Act (Comp. Stat., p. 1659). The Plainfield Water Supply Company was created in 1869 by special charter, the title of which is "An act to supply the town of Plainfield Union county, and towns adjoining with water for public and private use." The Union Water Company was created in 1870 by a special charter entitled "An act to incorporate the Union Water Company." The property and franchises sought to be acquired by the City of Plainfield through the present condemnation proceedings are a part, not all, of what was turned over to the consolidated company by the Plainfield Water Supply Company at the time of the merger. The city rests its claim of right to condemn that part of the property and franchises of the original Plainfield Water Supply Company which it now seeks to acquire upon the act of 1876 (Comp. Stat., p. 823) entitled "An act to enable cities to supply the inhabitants thereof with pure and wholesome water." At the time of the institution of these proceedings the Plainfield-Union Water Company was under contract obligation, not only with Plainfield, but with various other municipal bodies in the County of Union, to furnish the public authorities and the inhabitants with a water supply. Some of these contracts were made by the Plainfield Water Supply Company, and some by the Union Water Company, prior to the consolidation, and others by the present corporation after that event.

The Supreme Court, in an opinion containing a full discussion of the law and facts, reached the conclusion (1) that these several municipal contracts were, each of them, entered into by the respective parties by legislative authority; that they not only gave the several municipalities a right to the supply of water provided therein and thereby, but created a public duty on the part of the several water companies making them to supply the consumers in the several municipalities, and that the performance of this duty, by the consolidation, now rests upon the Plainfield-Union Water Company. (2) That although the Legislature might authorize one public agency to condemn property already devoted to a public use by another public agency, the intention to grant such authority must be manifested in express terms, or by necessary implication; and that the act of 1876 which enabled cities to supply the inhabitants thereof with pure and wholesome water, discloses no intention on the part of the Legislature to permit one of several municipalities, which are being supplied with water by a private corporation under legislative authority, to acquire by condemnation, either in whole or in part, the water supply plant and franchises of such corporation.

We fully concur in the conclusion reached by the Supreme Court, and also in the reasoning of its opinion delivered in the case, except in the following respect: In considering the question whether the original companies, and afterward the consolidated company, had legislative authority to make the several municipal contracts to which reference has already been made, the Court concluded that it was unnecessary to determine whether the charter of the Plainfield Water Supply Company, and that of the Union Water Company, conferred such authority, for the reason that—as it considered—the necessary authority for that purpose was conferred by the provisions of the act of 1888 entitled "An act to authorize any of the municipal corporations of this State to contract for a supply, or a further or other supply, of water therefor," Comp. State., p. 3647, the Act relating to Boroughs, Comp. Stat., p. 268, and the Act relating to Townships, Comp. State., p. 5599, when read together. The several acts referred to by the Supreme Court authorize boroughs, townships, and other municipal corporations, to mak contracts with water companies for a water supply, but do not extend the powers, privileges and franchises of such companies beyond those which were conferred upon them by their respective charters, or the general acts under which they were incorporated. In other words, the right of contract conferred upon the municipalities by these statutes is not a right to contract for a water supply with any and every company of the State, but only with such company or companies as have had conferred upon it or them the power to make such a contract with the municipality. If it be thought that the language of the various statutes referred to by the Supreme Court may be fairly construed as conferring upon the various water companies of the State power to make contracts not thorize boroughs, townships, and other municipal corporations, to make which they are incorporated, the answer is that such power cannot be so conferred. Camden and Atlantic R. R. Co. vs. Mays Landing, etc., R. R. C., 19 Vr. 559. In that case the question involved was the validity of a lease made by the Mays Landing Company to the Camden and Atlantic Company. The charter of the lessor company contained a grant of power "to lease its railroad to any other railroad company, which is hereby authorized to take such lease." This Court held that, although the language was unquestionably broad enough to confer upon both companies the power requisite to enter into a valid contract for a lease, the grant of authority to the lessee to take a lease was, nevertheless, invalid, for the reason that the Legislature could not confer such authority upon it by an act which did not express such a purpose in its title. The applicability of the decision to the present case is apparent.

But we consider that the power to make these several contracts was conferred upon these companies by their respective charters. Those which were entered into by the Plainfield Water Company were with municipal corporations located in townships, which, when its charter was granted, adjoined the town or village (now city) of Plainfield. The title of its charter has already been quoted, and shows that the object for which it was incorporated was the supplying, not only of Plainfield, but of "towns adjoining," with water. What were the "towns adjoining" referred to by the Legislature? What was meant by "adjoining," and what by "towns?"

In State vs. Brown, 3 Dutch, 13, the Supreme Court had before it for consideration the meaning to be attributed to a legislative grant of wharf privileges to owners of lands "adjoining the shore line of tidal waters," the shore line having been defined by the act to be ordinary high water mark. The Court held that the word "adjoining" signified lands bounding on the high water line. This court in Yard vs. Ocean Beach Association, 4 Dick. 306, cited State vs. Brown with approval, pointing out that the word "adjoining" implied a closer relation than "adjacent," and holding that when it was used with relation to land it indicated absolute contract and excluded the idea of any intervening space. In South Orange vs. Whittingham, 29 Vr. 655 we held that legislative authority conferred upon a village to extend its sewer "through and across the territory of an adjoining township" did not authorize its construction across lands lying in a township that at no point touched the boundaries of the village. These authorities settled the meaning to be given to the word "adjoining" when used in connection with land boundaries, unless a different meaning is required by the context; and this is not the case with either the title or the body of the charter of the Plainfield Water Supply Company.

At the time when this company's charter was granted there were no incorporated towns whose boundaries "at any point" touched the exterior lines of Plainfield. It is clear, therefore, that the Legislature, in using the words "towns adjoining," did not intend municipal corporations of that character; and the fact that the word "towns" was used does not make this conclusion doubtful, for, as will appear from an examination of the decisions of our courts upon this point, most of which are referred to in Brown vs. Union, 33 Vr. 142, the word "town" is frequently used by the Legislature in a broad and general sense, for the purpose of embracing all or any one of the whole range of bodies corporate, less than counties, established for local government. The proofs in the case disclose that the only municipal corporations whose boundaries adjoined those of Plainfield were townships, and this being so the conclusion necessarily follows, we think, that the intention of the Legislature by the use of the words "towns adjoining" was to confer upon the Plainfield Water Supply Company the right and privilege of supplying water to townships whose borders touched those of Plainfield; and that consequently, that company had a legal right to enter into the contracts which it made prior to its merger into the Plainfield-Union Water Company.

The Union Water Company by its charter was authorized to supply water to the inhabitants and corporate authorities of any place in the County of Union, and it is not suggested that the contracts made by it, prior to the merger, were ultra vires; for all of the municipalities with which it contracted were within that county.

The present corporation, the Plainfield-Union Water Company, was, by the act of consolidation, clothed with all the powers, rights, privileges and franchises of each of the specially chartered corporations which were merged into it; Gen. Corp. Act, Secs. 106 and 107; Comp. Stat., p. 1661, and was, consequently, authorized to make agreements for a water supply with any of the municipalities with which either of its constituent companies could contract; or, in other words, with any municipality in the County of Union, or with any township (or municipality therein) which is located outside the county, but whose boundaries adjoined those of Plainfield at the time of the granting of the Plainfield Water Supply Company charter.

The judgment under review will be affirmed.

THE FORUM.

THAT FUNNY ORDINANCE.

Editors Plainfield Daily Press:

When the borough councilmen prepared that objectionable ordinance they probably forgot or did not know that pussy is not easily caught. Not long ago they objected to out-door moving picture shows, but there are likely to be many lively shows when the catcher gets to work trying to catch pussy when she climbs a tree or telegraph pole, and when he is sure of getting her she jumps and takes refuge under a porch or in a haymow or barn or possibly a sewer pipe. Meanwhile the poor would-be cat-catcher is on a hunting expedition and by the way it would not hurt some of those people who object to midnight concerts on the back fence to help him.

The best resolution of the cat and dog problem in the future would be to make it unlawful for owners of domestic animals to keep the young animals longer than a week after birth with one exception and disposing of the others in a painless manner. As for cats communicating disease to human beings, did any of those professed scientists ever tell us of any particular case to prove it. Uncle Sam has on his payroll hundreds of cats and so far as is known not one of the thousands of postoffice employes has suffered by coming in contact with mail protected by those useful and much-abused little animals. If boys were taught in school as well as at home to be kind to every living thing, there would not be so many thugs or rowdies when they grow up. They should be taught that no one but a coward would wilfully cause pain to anything that is unable to defend itself. MRS. DeFOREST.

TO BE READ BY CANDIDATES ONLY

Look the big automobile contest straight in the face. Ask yourself the question: "Have I done all I possibly could to increase my vote standing while the big vote offers were in force?"

Would it not be a cause for wailing if several new candidates' names should appear whose heart and soul were to win an automobile?

Suppose the efforts you have shown would amount to nought through your own neglect to take advantage of the harvest time for votes.

Would it be the fault of the contest departmen if to make the contest a success it would enlist several candidates who will appreciate a $1,585.00 Henderson or one of the other automobiles.? This is a big proposition in which The Plainfield Daily Press will be the loser provided candidates do not begin to put automobile winning effort into the proposition. This does not apply to all but the greater majority of those whose names appear have been working along gold watch winning lines. If you belong to this class look the proposition straight in the face and make up your mind that it is not too late to get busy and win out. Get on your hustling clothes. Begin todday and secure the necessary subscriptions to be declared the winner on July 19. Three candidates are going to win three automobiles. Any candidate whose name appears in the list today can secure enough subscribers by June 25 to climb ahead of his competitors. Not only that, but a new name could spring up and with a good faithful effort be ahead in subscription votes when the present vote offer is over.

THE ABOVE IS FOR CANDIDATES ONLY.
THIS PARAGRAPH IS FOR ALL TO READ.

We suppose that you, the readers of this paragraph, have often wondered why the list of names appearing in the contest is so small. The reason is simple. With a big automobile valued at $1,585.00 heading the list the public in general is under the impression it will require a fabulous number of subscriptions to win. This is absolutely wrong. The contest is open to you. We want to explain our proposition to some person who desires a valuable automobile for a few weeks of effort. Should $1,585.00 in auto value appeal to you as reasonable compensation for your efforts clip the information blank and we will explain the proposition as it is. Then it is up to you.

Beets at Their Best.

There are so many ways of cooking and preparing beets beside simply serving them buttered or pickled, that they might well be one of the most used of summer vegetables. They are inexpensive, and not perishable so quickly as many others.

However they are prepared they must first be cooked until they are tender. Winter beets take about three hours to reach the tender stage; summer beets take only one hour. Wash them without breaking the skin, and cut off the stems to within two or three inches of the beet. The point in this is not to let the juice of the beet leak while they are cooking. Then cook them in boiling water until they are tender, pour off the water, plunge them in cold water, and rub off the skins.

If they are to be pickled, slice them very thin and cover them with vinegar. If they are to be served with butter, chop them coarsely and mix them with butter, pepper and salt and heat them in a double boiler.

Soup and Fritters.

Cream of beet soup is made thus. After the young beets are tender, skin them and chop them fine. Add to them a pint of mutton stock and simmer for fifteen minutes. Rub them thrugh a colander. Thicken a pint of milk with two teaspoonfuls of butter and two of flour. Add the beet and mutton puree. Heat it, season with salt and pepper, and serve.

Beat fritters are made with sliced, boiled beets. Mince some mushrooms and an eighth their quantity of onions. Press this mixture between thin slices of freshly cooked beets and dip each of these sandwiches in batter. Fry in deep fat. The batter is made from an egg yolk, a teaspoonful of butter and four of flour, beaten smooth, with the white of the egg, stiffly beaten, added last.

Boiled beets served with cream sauce are delicious. Cook the beets until they are tender, slice or dice them, and serve them with cream sauce, in the proportion of a cupful of sauce to a pint of beets. Simmer the sauce and beets together for five minutes.

Some Cookery Suggestions

SOME CELERY SOUPS.

DINNER MENU.
Puree of Celery.
Fricandeau of Veal, Brown Gravy.
Browned Potatoes. Peas.
Mayonnaise of Corn.
Tapioca Custard. Coffee.

CELERY makes a light, palatable soup, suitable for tempting the jaded appetites that seem always to develop with the first touch of warm weather.

Simple Recipes.

Celery Soup.—Take a quart of cut celery and boil until tender. Then add to one quart of boiling milk. Rub through a fine sieve and add one teaspoonful of salt and one saltspoonful of white pepper. Rub two tablespoonfuls of flour and one of butter to a cream with one cupful of boiling water. Add this to the boiling milk to thicken it and cook five minutes. Serve at once.

Puree of Celery.—Take four heads of fresh white celery and cut in inch pieces. Put into a stew pan with half a cupful of water and a small onion, sliced. Cook gently until tender. Then add three tablespoonfuls of flour and as soon as well mixed a pint of milk. Let this boil, then press through a puree sieve, season with salt, pepper, butter and a little cream and serve on the middle of a hot platter with a border of cutlets or chops.

Cream Soups.

Cream of Celery Soup. — Take the coarse outer stalks, wash and cut into half inch lengths. Put these into a saucepan, cover with boiling water and boil until tender. Drain and save the water. Mash the celery through a colander, return to the water and boil ten minutes. Then strain into a double boiler, and to each cupful of the celery water add a cupful of boiling milk. Season to taste with salt and pepper. To each pint add one teaspoonful each of butter and flour, rubbed together. Boil five minutes and serve with a little of the green top, chopped fine.

Onion and Celery Soup.—Take a half cupful each of chopped onion and celery, a tablespoonful each of butter and flour, three cupfuls of water, a teaspoonful of salt, a dash of pepper and milk or cream as needed.

Prepare the onions and celery and simmer slowly in the water until tender. Then run them through fruit press and return to kettle. Add seasoning, rub butter smooth with flour, pour on some of the hot soup, then return to kettle and boil. Now add milk or thin cream until it is the desired consistency. It should be rather thin, but creamy. It is nourishing and refreshing when one is tired.

He Found Her Crying.

Daddy's Bedtime Story — When Araminta Was Left Out In the Rain.

IT was raining; not a real hard rain, but one of the gentle patter, patter rains that are nice to go to sleep by, especially if you sleep beside a porch with a tin roof, as Jack and Evelyn did.

The children sighed contentedly. "It's lots of fun to go out in the rain if you have a good umbrella," Jack said.

"So it is," said daddy, "but Araminta Angelina hadn't any umbrella. She was stretched out under the beech tree, with her blue eyes staring at the sky. She lay just in the spot that her mistress, little Miss Bessie, had left her.

"Up in the sky the clouds were gathering, and before the sun set there was a shower. At first Araminta did not feel it, for the thick leaves of the beech tree kept off the water. By and by the water trickled down, and then Araminta began to cry.

"'Dear me; what can that be?' Mrs. Squirrel said to her husband. They had a nice home up in the beech tree.

"'I'll just run down and see,' Mr. Squirrel offered, while Mrs. Squirrel poked her head out of the door to watch him. Right at the foot of the tree he found Araminta crying.

"'Oh, ah,' she was sobbing; 'it's my new silk frock, and it won't wash!'

"'Whatever is the matter?' Mr. Squirrel demanded.

"'Oh, I'm Miss Bessie's French doll, and—boohoo!—she's forgotten me! Now I shall get my dress wet with the rain!' Araminta cried.

"Mr. Greenback, the frog, hopped up and listened to her. Mr. Mole poked his head up out of his cellar, and Grandfather Woodpecker, who lived in the hole in the chestnut tree across from the beech, scowled out of his door.

"Just then Mrs. Greenback came hopping up. When she heard what was the matter she whispered something to her husband, and croaking, 'Just the thing!' he hopped off to obey her order. Just then a cheery bowwow was heard across the lawn. 'Oh,' Araminta exclaimed, 'it's dear good Fido coming to save me!'

"When Mr. Squirrel heard that he dashed up the tree, Mr. Mole ducked into his cellar, and Mrs. Greenback, with one hop, was hidden among the grass.

"'Bowwow!' barked Fido joyously as he reached the tree. Then he picked Araminta Angelina up in his mouth. 'Be careful now or you will rumple my dress,' she ordered. And, carrying her very tenderly, he started for the house from which his mistress had sent him to fetch the doll when she remembered about having left her under the tree.

"So when Mr. Greenback returned to the beech tree with a big water lily leaf to hold over Araminta Angelina for an umbrella there was no one there, and he hopped home, wondering what had happened."

FASHION HINT

By JUDIC CHOLLET

As shown here the blouse is made of chiffon over a gauze lining and lace is arranged on this lining, but if something simpler is wanted the lace and lining both can be omitted and the blouse can be made of any soft material. The yoke that extends down over the shoulder is a feature. The little round collar is dainty as well as modish.

For the medium size the blouse will require three and a half yards of material twenty-seven inches wide, with one and one-half yards of lace ten inches wide and two and three-eighths yards of material thirty-six inches wide for the lining.

STUNNING BLOUSE WITH YOKE.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes from 34 to 40 inches bust measure. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 7908, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

100 Per Cent Heating Efficiency
Square Pot Furnaces consume to fine ash every pound of combustible fuel fed to them. They deliver to the hot-air flues for transmission about the house, every available heat unit in the fuel. They regulate with certainty for either mild or severe weather. They need little care—never clog with burned-out cinders, and give as good results on a minimum amount of fuel as others do fired to capacity.

HAROLD SCHENCK TO PLAY WITH PLAINFIELD LEAGUERS

Manager Ernest Dorflinger, of the Plainfield baseball team, had Harold Schenck, of this city, out in uniform at Parker Field last Saturday afternoon and will hand his name in at the next league meeting as a new addition to the Pets' roster. Schenck is the local player who has been a member of the Rutgers College baseball team for the past two seasons. During his college course he played the outfield and was one of the best hitters on the nine during the past season. In the game when Stevens beat Rutgers by a score of 4 to 3 three weeks ago with a single hit, that a two bagger, Schenck got two of the New Brunswick college's four hits besides doing some great work in the field. Last season he was captain and pitcher for the Trinity church team of the Sunday School baseball league. He was out on the field Saturday afternoon but could not be used because his name had not as yet been filed at a league meeting.

WONDERFUL ATHLETE WILL ENTER COLLEGE

Frezza, of Round Brook High School, Was Graduated Last Friday Night.

When Frank Frezza was graduated from Bound Brook High School last Friday night that institution of learning lost one of the greatest athletes that has ever sported its colors. For four long years Frezza has carried the silks of Bound Brook high on diamond, gridiron, ice and basketball court and he has starred in every department of athletics. So clever was this little dark haired athlete that he made every school team in his freshman year and played during every year of his high school course on every representative combination.

In basketball he was known as one of the most versatile and agile forwards in the State and was a terror for any guard to buck up against. He captained the basketball team last season. On the baseball diamond he was a clever fielder and hard hitter, so much so that Bob Bogardus has been playing him regularly since school closed with the Dunellen team of the Central New Jersey League. On the track he is a fast runner and good jumper and a better man in football would be hard to conceive of.

Although Frezza has no plans for the future as yet, it is probable that he will enter the University of Missouri in the fall where his brother is at present a sophomore. He desires to take a scientific course of study and although athletics are not fostered on a high plane by that college he is looking out for his studies now instead of the track, field or diamond. Frezza's parents want him to enter Rutgers but the little athlete wants to go to Missouri and it is probable that he will leave here for that college in the fall.

Not only is Frezza a stellar athlete, but he ranked highest among the five boys that were graduated from Bound Brook High School Friday night in scholarship. Many sport followers in this section seem to think that the Bound Brook player has spent years of his life in high school but this is due largely to the fact that he has played in athletics ever sine he entered the institution four years ago.

PETS VICTORY WILL NOW BE PROTESTED

Owing to a Ruling of the Umpire Against Dunellen Saturday Afternoon.

Manager Bob Bogardus announced during the game at Parker Field Saturday afternoon that his team would protest the result of the game no matter how it turned out but according to the league constitution played the entire nine innings. The trouble arose in the third inning when Schiller drove a long fly that looked good for a home run to deep right field with three men on the bases. All of the men had crossed the platter and Schiller was proceeding at a rapid clip around the bases when Umpire Dalley did the inevitable by calling the ball a foul.

Despite loud protests from the bleachers and from cohorts of both sides he stuck to his ruling and Schiller went back to the bat striking out. The ball, had it been ruled safe would have given Dunellen a fine opportunity of winning the game and so thought Dunellen Bob throughout the rest of the conflict. He notified Manager Dorflinger that the game was being played under protest and the matter will probably be settled at the next league meeting. Bogardus found many fans ready to sign a protest and a long list of names who saw better than the umpire did is in the possession of the Dunellen pilot.

PLAINFIELD WON WITH HARD HITS

Pets Down Dunellen by a Score of 6 to 3 Playing on Parker Field.

HARTER THE BIG NOISE

Dunellen Behind all the Way—McLaughlin Hit Hard but Whiffs the Most—Randolph Makes Fielders Work.

Clouting the sphere like demons when hits meant run and circling the bases in a manner that completely bewildered the Dunellen Central New Jersey Leaguers, the Plainfield Pets won a decisive victory over their old time rivals on Parker Field Saturday afternoon hanging up a tally card of 6 to 3. The score was even more one sided than it looks in print for two of the losers's runs came in the final session at the bat and for some time previous to the ninth the score had stood 6 to 1. McLaughlin was hit hard at times and these bingles, coupled with some errors that were exceedingly costly, gave the Plainfielders a score once in the second, three times in the third and once in the fifth and sixth. Cliff Randolph let his fielders do the work and they upheld him to perfection and while the mound man struck out but three of the opposition against McLaughlin's nine, his fielders took every chance offered for a putout and the lone error was made by Howard Craig in the last round.

A total of eleven hits were taken out of Wolf's offerings while Cliff held the opposition down to eight. Four of the Pets' clouts were two baggers and Dunellen got a two bagger and a three bagger. The brilliant feature of the whole contest was the playing of Joe Harter, the local center field, who pulled off some stunts in center field that savored of the big league stuff. In the eighth he went after McLaughlin's long fly with George Wolf on the first station and although it looked as though he had caught the ball, the wiley one let it fail easily to the ground and picking up the sphere threw it to second putting Wolf out. While this play would have counted for just as much had Harter held the fly and made the putout at McLaughlin's expense he preferred to take a chance on drawing Wolf off the first station and possibly making a double play.

Plainfield drew first blood in the battle when, in the second inning after Garretson had went out Coyle to Schiller, Dorman opened with a hit between first and second, went to the keystone bag and proceeded to third and home on Cliff Randolph's two bagger. This bingle brought Dorman all the way from first to the scoring station and was an opener for the brilliant hitting Randolph did all the afternoon. In their half of the third Dunellen got one tally when after Lindbloom had sent a long fly to Harter, Giddes got a base on balls, went to second and third on McDicken's long single and scored on Dixon's clout for one base. Plainfield's big round was pulled off in the fourth when the Pets pulled a trio of runs across the rubber. Eddie Stallings opened the round with a scorching two bagger, went to third on McLaughlin's bad throw to McDicken on the keystone sack, trying to catch Eddie napping, and came home on Harter's opportune single. Harter stole second and went to third on a passed ball and romped home on Garretson's two bagger which also scored Nelson who had previously got a base on balls and stole second and third. Plainfield got another counter in the fifth when Harter drove out a two base lick after Bill Stallings had fanned, and came home on Nelson's long single. Still another one came across in the sixth when Moran opened by flying out to Schiller and Randolph followed with what was perhaps the hardest hit ball of the game, traveling along the ground at terrific speed to the left field track. By some good fielding, however, Randolph was held on first and took second and third on Eddie Stallings' bingle.

In the ninth Dunellen started a rally that for a time looked disastrous for the Plainfielders but was soon squelched. Clough, the first man up got a berth at first on Plainfield's first error made by Craig, and scored from first on Giddes' three bagger over the left field track. Giddes then scored on McDicken's out at first, via Craig to Garretson. The next two batters were easy outs along the same route.

SOUTHERN TENNIS TITLES.

New Orleans, La., June 23.—With the cream of the Southern tennis talent on hand to compete for honors, the annual Southern championship tournament opened this morning on the couts of the New Orleans Lawn Tennis Club. Large delegations of players and enthusiasts are here from Atlanta, Memphis, Dallas and a number of other cities of the South. Only preliminary games were played today.

TRINITY WON FROM A WORTHY OPPONENT

Madison A. C. Got the Most Hits but Had to Be Content With Smaller End of Score.

Although the opponents of the Trinity Reformed church baseball team were changed from the Vitaphone A. C. combination to the Madison A. C. almost at the last minute Saturday, the church boys found a formidable opponent in the personnel of the Madisons and were extended to the limit in hanging up a 9 to 7 victory over the eleventh hour bookings. The Madisons were a bunch of exceptionally hard hitters and had it not been for some unusually brilliant fielding on seventeen bingles credited to this delegation during the afternoon might have proven disastrous to the Trinity representatives.

Glason was particular strong with the wagon tongue, pounding out a total of five safeties. What hits the Trinity boys secured were hard and long and generally resulted in a tally or two coming across the gutta percha. Both pitchers topped off their afternoon's wrk with three base hitters, Colthar's being of the kind that are ticketed for circuit spins, but the heavier was held at third where he was forced to watch the progress of the sphere traveling from the outfield to the home platter.

FIRST DEFEAT FOR THE CHAPEL TEAM

First Baptists Took Hope Chapel Into Camp in the Last Inning.

Hope Chapel's first defeat of the Sunday-school League season was rung up by the First Baptist leaguers Saturday afternoon, when the chapelites spilled their errors of the game in the ninth session and allowed the Baptists to run away with the game after securing two counters in the last trip to the plate, the final score being 10 to 8.

Each aggregation got a plentiful supply of safeties throughout the fray and most of the hits counted for tallies. The league leaders playing was uncertain throughout the whole nine rounds and a total of thirteen errors were thrown in as a side issue.

SIMMONS' VERSION OF THE "VICTORY"

Threatens to Withdraw His Team From the League If Ruled Against.

When the Royal Gaints and Sauer clash was called in the last half of the eight inning Saturday afternoon the Gaints were leading by a score of 4 to 2 over the league top liners and according to Manager Pete Simmonns of the Royals the Sauer's were at fault and this caused the calling of the battle. This is Simmons' side of the question: "When the game was stopped in the eighth inning the Royals had three men on base and there were two outs. Manager Simmon's went to bat and doubled to left field and although the ball fell in safe territory the umpire called it a foul. In the Saurer's half of the eighth Bergen hit to left field and if the line was there what they termed a foul mark the ball was a foul one by a matter of feet. The umpire declared this a fair ball and Manager Simmons thought it was time to interfere at this juncture and called his men to the bench, later leaving the field. "This is Simmon's version of the case and he further declares that if he has to play against eleven men in the future he will withdraw his aggregation from the league

He says that if the league refuses to allow him to keep Saturday's game as a victory it will be the last one played by the Royals in the league. The matter will probably be brought to the attention of the league governors at the next meeting.

ROYALS WERE AHEAD AFTER SEVEN ROUNDS

League Leaders Treated to Their First Reverse of the Season.

When seven innings of play was concluded between the Saurer and Royal Giants baseball teams Saturday afternoon the Royals were leading by a score of 4 to 2, Manager Simmons calling his team off the diamond at this point following a ruling of the official umpire. Up to the time of the stoppage the Royals had decidedly the better of the argument and it looked as though the Saurers were about to taste their first defeat of the season.

But one hit was made off Hall, while the Royals touched up Johnny Dixon's delivery for eight. Both teams fielded poorly and the run getting was aided materially by these slip-ups.

HIGH BRIDGE BEATEN

Final Score 1 to 0—Jennings Allowed But One Hit—Full of Snap and Ginger—Somerville Lucky to Get Their Single Tally.

In one of the best games ever played in Somerville, the team of that place shut out the High Bridge aggregation, of the Central New Jersey League, by a score of 1 to 0. The game was lost by High Bridge, through Jennings giving the first man to face him in the very first inning a base on balls, and then following it by a wild heave, giving Grimes a base and advancing Cunningham to third, and the latter crossed the rubber when Hand dropped the third strike on Wiltse and was forced to throw the ball to first.

High Bridge was never near the scoring line until the last time at bat when C. Walton got a single, and had reached third when Kraft ended the game by fanning the next three men to face him. Walton was the only High Bridge man to reach third. After the first inning no Somerville man went farther than second base.

NEARLY A NO-HIT GAME FOR WARRY

Veteran Heaver Mounts to a Niche in the Hall of Fame By Excellent Twirling.

SCOTCH PLAINS WON

Final Score Was 9 to 0—Played Together In Excellent Fashion—'Plains Smashed Offerings Of Opposing Twirler All Over the Lot.

A scratchy single in the seventh inning by McGilvern, right fielder of the Allentown semi-pro aggregation prevented Warry McLaughlin from being credited with a no-hit-no-run game yesterday afternoon, when the Scotch Plains aggregation won a game from that team by the score of 9 to 0. By mastering the Allentown ball tossers and smashing the offerings of O'Mara, their star box artist, for a total of eight hefty wallops, the 'Plains players supported the contention of their followers that they are one of the classiest nine in this vicinity.

The Scotch Plainers played well as a team, the individual efforts of no one player outshining that of another, with the exception of the superb flinging of the pill by McLaughlin. Although the former big leaguer only struck out four men, he had the opposing players at his mercy by making them hit slow grounders or pop flies to the infielders Henry Alberts at first base accepted twelve chances without an error, many of them being of the "wide" variety. O'Mara, the visiting twirler, although wild at times, pitched a fairly good game despite the belief to the contrary that the score implies. When going right he invariably had the home team at his mercy, but timely singles aided by errors of his teammates discounted all his efforts to hold the 'Plains players in check.

For the attraction of next week Mr. Alberts is endeavoring to sign either the Danbury or Dover team.

Saturday's Results.

Plainfield, 6, Dunellen, 3.
Somerville 1, High Bridge 0.

Somerville maintained its first place standing in the Central New Jersey baseball league Saturday afternoon by taking a hard fought game from the High Bridge ball tossers, and Plainfield had a comparatively easy time disposing of the Dunellen ball tossers who appeared to be experiencing an off day.

The Plainfield-Dunellen clash will be entered as a protest at the next league meting which will probably be held tomorrow night. All of Saturday's games were well attended and despite the one-sided score in Plainfield the contest was full of thrills and the spectators were fully repaid for their trip to Parker field. At Somerville the game was one of the best ever pulled off at that place and no scoring was done after the initial round, in fact but one man passed second base after that inning.

RANDOLPH TWIRLS PETS TO VICTORY

Repeats His Good Work of the Day Previous and Wins at Elizabeth.

ALLOWS BUT FOUR HITS

Moran's Work a Brilliant Factor—Sides Held to One Hit Until the Seventh—After that Round Scanlon Was No Puzzle to Locals.

Hard clouting after the seventh inning spelled victory for the Plainfield baseball team at Elizabeth yesterday afternoon when the Pets, reinforced by a wealth of stellar material took the field against the T. A. B. society of that place and came out on the bigger end of an 8 to 0 score. Randolph continued his great work of the day before, allowing but four hits and all of these were of the scratchy variety. The Abstainers could not connect with the offerings of the local man and were completely at his mercy.

Up to the seventh inning but one run had been made by either side and the game had been a close one as far as the stretch round. Plainfield got to the offerings of "Doc." Scanlon, the former Brooklyn National Leaguer in this round, however, and knocked the pill to the four corners of the lot.

Moran and Dickerson played brilliant fielding games for Plainfield, the former getting two running catches in deep left field that brought the crowd to its feet in admiration. A large delegation of local fans accompanied the Pets to the County Seat

"Service to any place at any time"

You Can Depend on Bell Telephone Toll Service

BELL TELEPHONE TOLL LINES are the important links that bind the many telephone exchanges into the one vast Universal Bell System. They bridge great distances and overcome the isolation that "local service" alone could not prevent. They are the all-important lines that make Bell Telephone subscribers neighbors, whether they live in the city or in the country, within a few blocks of each other or hundreds of miles apart.

Every effort is made, therefore, to make Bell Telephone Toll Service dependable because when storm or disaster blocks the railways, when mail is delayed and transportation stopped, then the need of Telephone Toll "service to any place at any time" is felt most keenly.

Our Toll lines are built in a most substantial manner to withstand bad weather and storms. They run as straight as possible from point to point through the sparsely settled sections and avoid the busy streets of the cities where there would be likelihood of interruption to service by reason of the city's activities. Every possible safeguard is provided to secure an uninterrupted service.

The best constructed lines, however, are sometimes forced to give way to severe storms, blizzards or floods. At such times, service would be seriously handicapped were it not for our careful provision for spare apparatus and special workmen to meet just such emergencies. For instance, the unusually severe sleet storm in the Western part of New York State last January destroyed pole lines and equipment to the value of $125,000.00 Yet the damage was repaired in record-breaking time and the service restored with little inconvenience to telephone toll users.

ARGUES AGAINST EQUAL SUFFRAGE

Miss Anne MacIlvaine States Her Objections to Giving Women the Ballot.

MAKES COMPARISONS

Colorado vs. New Jersey—Declares That the "Anti" Movement is Growing—Miss Holly Made Honorary President of Local Association.

Plans for carrying on the work of the Plainfield Branch of the New Jersey Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage were discussed at a meeting held at the home of Mrs. John Constable Moore, of Watchung avenue, yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Sherman B. Joost presided at the meeting and Miss Margaret Holly, who has been an active social worker in the city, was chosen honorary president.

Encouraging reports were received concerning the progress of its movement in this city and other parts of the State, and it was stated that the membership is increasing rapidly. Miss Reina Lawrence, treasurer, and Mrs. Charles L. Sykes, secretary, presented interesting reports.

Miss Anne MacIlvaine, of Trenton, recording secretary of the State association, and one of the vice-presidents of the National association, was the principal speaker She is vice-president of the State Consumers' League, a director of the State Charities and Prison Reform Association and a founder of the Y. W. C. A.

During her talk, Miss MacIlvaine made a strong appeal to the patriotism of the women, urging them to greater activity in the campaign for the preservation of womanhood and the sanctity of the home. She declared that archaeological investigation shows that women's rights' agitation began as far back as the days preceding the fall of Syria and Chaldea, that similar movements had preceded the fall of empires in Greece and Rome and in the French Revolution the women became the terror of the Terrorists and history is repeating itself in the acts of militant suffragists today.

Miss MacIlvaine referred to Mrs. Goddard, of Colorado, the first president of an equal suffrage league in that State, who had expressed her regret at the part she had taken in the movement and a desire to undo what she had done, because of the effect it had upon women in making them bold, aggressive and unwomanly.

The speaker made an interesting comparison of the laws of New Jersey and Colorado, showing how she considered the latter State had suffered. She said that before Colorado had suffrage prize fights were penalized but that now they are legalized and are attended by many women. Referring to the demand of suffragists for economic independence, the speaker said that it forces them into industrial fields often when it is unnecessary. This, she said, reduces men's wages, takes away their positions and takes women away from their homes, often rendering them unable to be mothers of healthy children.

The close alliance between suffragists and socialists was another point made by Miss MacIlvaine. She said that the socialist platform advocates equal suffrage as a means of freeing woman from the tyranny of man and shackles of religion and also spoke of the growth of Mormonism in four suffrage States.

In conclusion, Miss MacIlvaine said that the work of opposition to suffrage is growing so rapidly in Trenton that now salaried employes of the State association are required and that Emma Shuster, of Trenton, leader of the factory girls' strike, had recently become a member of the Anti-Suffrage Association and is working for the cause without compensation.

ILL MAN ATTEMPS TO COMMIT SUICIDE

William H. Werham, Jr., of Somerville, is in a Critical Condition.

Somerville, June 24.—William H. Werhan, Jr., aged twenty-eight years, of this place, attempted to commit suicide shortly after noon yesterday while at work for the William H Cawley Company at Flemington. Just what made him attempt to kill himself is not known. He was unmarried, and lived with his parents on East Cliff street.

Some few years ago Werhan was severely injured about the stomach while at work in the Cawley plant at this place, from which he suffered at times quite considerably. When fellow workmen found him yesterday he was given medical attention and then brought to Somerset Hospital at this place, where he is still in a critical condition.

THESE WON FINEST OF SCHOOL PRIZES

But Somehow the Successful Ones Were Apparently Overlooked.

Among the prize winners listed last week at the commencement exercises of the various schools there were nineteen very serious omissions, according to friends of the Plainfield Anti-Tuberculosis League. Dr. Frederick Hughes, who has collected the following interesting facts, states that the boys and girls who have just finished their seven weeks at the Anti-Tuberculosis League's Open School each won a prize. The first prize was six and one-half pounds. The second prize was nearly the same, in good solid flesh and blood, and adding all the prizes together there was a total gain of seventy-six and three-fourths pounds. Considering the very short period of time and the season, the spring being a season when delicate children thrive least perhaps, this large increase of weight is considered truly remarkable.

No less remarkable, perhaps, it is onsidered, is the fall in temperature which most of the children experienced. Although no open cases of tuberculosis are accepted at the Open Air School, nevertheless of an average attendance of sixteen children, eleven the first week had some fever. Any careful mother knows that this is an indication of trouble in a little body that cannot safely be ignored. Yet before the league opened this little "School of Happiness and Health" these eleven children were attending the regular school, sitting in class rooms with forty other children perhaps and, probably, running their fever a little higher every day. What has the experience of these children been in the Open Air School? During the last week, instead of eleven children having fever, only four had a temperature of 100.

The simple method which has resulted in all this good in so short a time is rest and occupation, food, plenty of it, and the open air. Such a successful experiment calls for another so the Anti-Tuberculosis League plans to open the school again for the regular summer school period of six weeks beginning July 7. Funds are needed and the league counts on the people of Plainfield to back up their experiment in health-giving and offers stock at $1.00 a share. Dividends are sure. All should invest.

Miss Cronce will soon be married to James Emery, of this city, who is a ball player in a minor league in the South. Among those present were the Misses May Stafford, Mary Cumbersen, Anna Lee, Agnes Leighs, Mabel Cook, Amy Chadwick, Margaret Keating, Annie Stafford, Elsie Knowlton, Miriam Emery, Alma Weber, Stella Rink, Helen Pearce, Mrs. William Carkhuff, Mrs. Clarence Larew, Mrs. Violet Emery, Mrs. J. ALLEGED "AFFINITY" RELEASED ON BAIL

Gertrude Nelson Returns and Former "Rev." McRorie's Trial Set for Tomorrow.

Miss Gertrude Nelson, of Mt. Bethel, the seventeen-year-old girl, who following her arrest in Brooklyn over a week ago has fought extradition to this State, surrendered to the Union county authorities this morning and will testify against the Rev. Willis S. MacRorie, of Mt. Horeb, when he is arraigned on the indictment charging him with a serious offense. Miss Nelson, who has also been indicted for a similar offense, through her counsel, former Governor Foster M. Voorhees, pleaded not guilty before Judge Connolly in the Court of Common Pleas. She was released in $1,000 bail, which was furnished by Manning F. Coddington, a wealthy Warrenville farmer. Mr. Voorhees protested against the amount of bail, which he claimed was exorbitant.

The trial of the deposed Methodist minister is scheduled to begin tomorrow, but it is likely that an adjournment will be asked.

SOMERVILLE COUNCIL TO EXTEND STREET

Makes Offer of $400 for Strip of Land in Order to Carry out the Plans.

Somerville, June 24.—At the special meeting of the Borough Council, last night, it was decided to offer Mrs. Antoinette Blackwell $400 for about 60 feet of her land on Eastern avenue for the continuance of East Cliff street to J. F. Vanderveer's line, who has agreed to dedicate enough of his land to continue the street to Vanderveer avenue. $100 will also be offered Mrs. Blackwell for enough of her property on East Hight street to make that thoroughfare 66 feet wide. At present it is but 50 feet wide east of Eastern avenue, and the intention is to straighten it through to Vanderveer avenue. In the event of the refusal of Mrs. Blackwell to sell, condemnation proceedings will be started to acquire the property.

A number of residents of North Bridge street vicinity complained of conditions in their neighborhood, and requested relief, particularly in the matter of street sprinkling. It was also claimed that the quantity of cinders and slag placed on North Bridge street, unless properly rolled and sprinkled, had better not been placed there. The matter was referred to the Street Committee, which promised to look into the matter at once. The resolution adopted at the last meeting to pay Miss Ella M. Speer $100 to reimburse her for the construction of a part of the sewer system on Franklin street was reconsidered and a further investigation of the matter will be made. The ordinance in regard to erect buildings within the fire limits was declared to be violated by G. A. Van Doren, who is putting up several one-story structures facing the Central depot, and the Fire Committee was directed to have the work stopped until the ordinance is complied with.

BETHEL BOYS' CONCERT.

In an effort to raise funds for camping purposes, the Bethel Chapel Choir Boys will give a concert Thursday night at the Nonpareil Clubhouse. Choirmaster Charles VanHorn is conducting the rehearsals. The committee of arrangements consists of Mrs. C. Lambert, Mrs. William Smith, Mrs. J. Kates, Mrs. William Jeter, Mrs. T. Johnson, Mrs. E. Thames, Mrs. William Kline. The Peerless orchestra will render instrumental selections.

WANT WHOLE DAY OFF.

The letter-carriers and clerks attached to the local postoffice are agitating a movement to close the office all day on July 4, and are now engaged in getting an expression of opinion from people throughout the city and borough. Postmaster E. H. Bird in speaking of the matter today said that if the carriers did not make the usual one delivery on the holiday there would be no delivery of mail at the carriers' window.

A CHURCH FESTIVAL.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the German Lutheran church will give an ice cream and cake sale in the Sunday school rooms tomorrow afternoon and evening. In the evening the Young People's Society will present a farce entitled "Borrowing Trouble."

UNIQUE SHOW IN WATCHUNG HILLS

Third Annual 'Indian Legend' Sets a Precedent for Originality and Effectiveness.

LARGE CROWDS ATTEND

Final Performance Last Night—Story of the Legend—Acted by Amateur Talent Composed of Watchung Residents.

A tribe of Watchung braves assisted by a band of Whites gave their final performance of the Legend of Watchung in the outdoor stage last night before an audience that surpassed the large one of the initial night. As on the first presentation every part of the show went off without a single hitch and the pantomime reflected with credit on those who have coached it during weeks of presentation. Although not a single word is spoken by the actors throughout the whole exhibition with the exception of the Indian warhoops and a few indistinguishable utterances of German, the audience understood perfectly what was going on between the rival settlers, and favorable comment was forthcoming on every hand from those who witnessed the Legend.

The steep, rocky slope of the hills formed a background for the show that could not be constructed by human hands and electrical effects formed a unique and original curtain. The little stream of water flowing between the spectators and the actors was shallow but the well-trained Indians displayed their genuine redskin instincts by paddling a canoe noiselessly down the shallow stream and launching it almost unseen at the camp of the Whites. Edward Bodin, in the person of Deer Prong, a tribial scout, rendered an original song written by Edward Spear, one of the Watchung residents.

William de LaR. Anderson, the author of the play, took the principal part, that of "One Feather," the chief of the Watchung Indians, and appeared as a genuine product of the redskin race when he assembled his tribe in camp on the banks of the mountain stream and proposed there to make his headquarters for the annual hunting and fishing expedition. His plans were brought to an abrupt end, however, by startling information advanced by Edward Bodin, as the scout, who informed the chief that an armed band of Whites from the German Valley was close at hand

A crafty plan for entrapping the Whites was laid by the Indian chief and Bodin went forth to light the signal fire but was discovered and fired upon by one who acted as an advance guard for the Whites. Bodin, the scout, grappled with the White man on the top of the tall Watchung cliff and finally succeeded in tossing the German's body over the cliff, dashing him to death on the rocks below much to the horror of the spectators. So real did the dummy that was hurled over the ragged rocks by the Indian appear, that many thought the White man really lost his balance and had fallen over the edge of the rocks, and shieks of horror went up from the fair sex present.

"One Feather" and his men finally succeeded in subduing the Whites and in grand council assembled the lands were then divided, the Whites the west and the Indians the east, and "One Feather" and "Wetumpka," with whom he had fallen deeply in love, met again, as fate would have it, and without which no story would be replete, and were joined in Indian wedlock.

The Indians in the cast were: "One Feather," chief of the Watchung Indians, William de LaR. Anderson; "Blue Wolf," sub chief of the Watchung Indians, E. T. Canning; "Deer Prong," the tribial scout, Edward Bodin; "Lame Dog," medicine man, John Mobus; braves, Messrs. Moldenke, Spear, Cahoone, Wheeler, Underhill, Haff, Kielblock, Gunn, Patte, McWade, Cleaves, Schmidt, Meier, Triano and Featherstone; squaws, Mrs. Kennedy, Cahoone, Bodin, McWade, Titus, Schmidt and Sullivan; Indian children: Masters Snoden, Texier, Triano, Mobus, Myers, Mills. Bartles, Titus, Giddis and Schmidt; Whites, "Captain Michelson," leader of the settlers, Lewis Snoden; "Wetumpka," Indian Princess, Mrs. Margaret Griffith and Miss Theresa Schmidt; men, Messrs. Leurssen, Groszmann, Herrman, Mobus, Hance, Schmidt and Bodin; women, Mms Snoden, Mobus, Schmidt and Case; children, Masters Myers, Mobus, Schmidt, Mills Titus, Myers and Hughes. Mr. Anderson is the author of the play and the director was Dr. M. P. E. Groszmann. Following the performance, dancing was enjoyed in the Improvement Society's hall and refreshments served by the women of Watchung.

LAWSON ON TRIAL ON SERIOUS CHARGE

W. Newcorn His Counsel and His Client Will Face Another Jury After Verdict.

The trial of Dr. James F. Lawson, of East Third street, who was indicted by the last Grand Jury on a serious offense, was started today before Judge Connolly in the Court of Quarter Sessions, in Elizabeth. Karin Anderson, also of this city, the complaining witness took the stand shortly after the proceedings began this morning and continued her testimony following the noon-time adjournment. The physician is represented by W. N. Newcorn. There are two indictments against the Lawson man and he will face another jury after this case is ended.

LEGISKA TO APPEAR AT TRAVELOGUE HERE

World-Famous Pianist Will Be Heard at Judge Ulrich's Entertainment.

After captivating the audiences in Europe with her brilliant performances on the piano, Miss Legiska came to this country last season and has done the same thing wherever she has appeared. The New York Sun, speaking of her, said, "Leginska will have to be set down as the little Miss Muffett, of the concert platform." The Buffalo Courier said, "She might justly be termed a female Rosenthal." The New York Journal, referring to her first appearance at Aeolian Hall last winter, observed, "Miss Leginska had no preliminary heralding and created the deep impression she did wholly on her own merits and these merits are of a very high order. She is an artist at the piano." The Brooklyn Daily Eagle, referring to her engagement in that city, said, "Altogether the debut here of the gifted English girl was one of the events of the musical season," and the Buffalo Express said of her, "Urgent has been the demand for a more general hearing of this wonderful little artist." "It seems strange," said the Cleveland Leader, "that Leginska, who is such a little person should have such unusual ability in the bravous style. Her scales are smooth and rapid, her trills brilliant and her climaxes are mighty, which is but in line with what the Musical Courier said of her in January last, 'The way she plays many bravour pieces is from a pianistic point simply hair raising. To hear Liszt's 'Campanella' as played by her is to hear it for the first time. She is a veritable whirlwind of temperament with a tiger's soft caress," remarked the same journal upon another occasion.

This brilliant artist will appear in connection with some other choice artists at Judge Ulrich's travelogue entertainment on Friday night and much of a great treat will the musical lovers of Plainfield lose if they fail to hear this, the greatest pianist that has ever come to Plainfield. The musical features in connection with an evening's travelogue may be something new and quaint for this city but it assuredly will be found a most delicious addition.

VICIOUS DOG DISOWNED BY TWO ALLEGED MASTERS

In response to several complaints filed by persons living on Johnston avenue, William Ashton and Andrew Merrimac, of that street, were arraigned in the city court this morning to decide the ownership of a dog that had bitten a number of children living in that district. Both men claimed that the other owned the canine and the police tried to solve the problem by turning the animal loose and letting it run to its master. This means proved fruitless, however, for the dog ran first to one of the men and then to the other.

It was finally agreed to have the two men appear before Judge DeMeza in the local court Tuesday morning, July 1, when the question will be decided. Mrs. Michael Mango, of Johnston avenue, whose son was bitten by the dog, was ordered to present her bill for medical treatment at that time and the owner of the animal will be compelled to pay.

GEORGE WILL BE THERE.

George Washington Randolph, of West Fourth street, the veteran janitor of the Vanderbeek building, leaves on Monday for Gettysburgh, where he will be the guest of the United States at the commemoration of the fiftieth anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburgh.

GOVERNOR FIELDER SPEAKS HERE TONIGHT

Public Meeting at High School in Interest of Jury Reform.

Governor James C. Fielder will address a public meeting to be held at the Plainfield High School Auditorium, at 8:15 o'clock tonight. He will discuss jury reform and kindred topics, but not in any sense as a candidate. The Governor after being entertained at dinner at the home of R. A. Claybrook, of Grant avenue, will go to the Democratic Club rooms at 102 North avenue, where he will meet the local Democrats at 7:20 o'clock.

The open meeting at the High School will be held at 8:15 o'clock. Preceding the address there will be music by Charles Suhr's orchestra. Those who are in charge of the meeting feel the importance of the general public being conversant with the subject of jury reform, it is hoped that a large number of people will attend the meeting so that they may be thoroughly informed before the coming Gubernatorial election this fall.

President Wilson not long ago made several speeches in this State on the subject of jury reform. At the meeting in Elizabeth it was stated that it was more important for a corrupt political machine to insure the election of sheriff in Atlantic county than it was to elect the Governor of the State.

FIRST EXCURSION OF SEASON THURSDAY

A Fine Day's Outing at Asbury Park for Plainfield Folk is Promised.

To escape the heat, to take one well-earned day's rest from toil, the annual Sunday schools excursion to Asbury Park on Tursday affords the cheapest and best opportunity. A whole day at the shore with a plunge in the cooling ocean waves and the chance to witness the many and varied attractions along the famous boardwalk and all for the nominal round trip fare of $1.25. The children can go for ninety cents.

The occasion will mark the annual outing of the First M. E., Monroe Avenue M. E., Grace M. E., Grace Episcopal, Heavenly Rest Episcopal, Holy Cross Episcopal, St. Stephen's Episcopal, Evona Chapel and Dunellen M. E. churches. But one does not need to be identified with any of these religious bodies to be welcome; anybody can go.

The train will be run in three sections, totaling thirty passenger coaches and two combination cars. The first section will consist of ten coaches and a combination car. It will take on passengers at Dunellen, Clinton avenue, Grant avenue and North avenue. The second section, consisting of ten cars, without a combination car, will only stop at Grant avenue and North avenue, while the third section, consisting of ten cars and a combination car, will stop at Grant avenue, North avenue and Netherwood. The time-table follows: Dunellen, 8:04; Clinton avenue, 8:06; Grant avenue, 8:09; North avenue, 8:12, and Netherwood, 8:15. The return trip from Asbury Park will start at 7:10 o'clock in the evening.

All the concessions and other attractions are open at the Park for the season and the New Monterey hotel is also open. One of the special attractions for the Plainfield excursionists will be a band concert in the afternoon, Pryor's Band formally beginning its season's engagement at the Casino.

THIEVES TAKE SWEETS; VALUABLES UNTOUCHED

Frank Rowley's drug store in West Front street was entered last night by persons who evidently allowed their craving for ice cream, candy and other sweet-meats, outdo the limitations of their pocketbooks and selected unlawful methods to satisfy their desires. Although the miscreants left valuable cutlery and toilet articles untouched they helped themselves to a liberal amount of ice cream, soda water, cigars, cigarettes and preserved fruits. Mr. Rowley has asked the police to investigate.

CARTER'S SCORE LED AMONG BOYS

Title Holder Returned Lowest Card in the Metropolitan Championship Event.

FEW LOCAL ENTRIES

Three Invited Junior Competitors Established Good Marks—Qualifying Eight for Championship Play This Afternoon.

Phllip Carter, of Nassau turned in the lowest score in the qualifying round for the Metropolitan Championship played at the Plainfield Country Club this morning, his card being 36-39, 75. Among the competitors were three who came here on invitation and all of this trio set up god marks during the qualifying round of play. They were Maxwell, of Philadelphia; Badham, of Lawrenceville and Ogden, also of Lawrenceville. Carter is the interscholastic champion.

The first eight best scores turned in this morning qualified for the championship division which was started at 1 o'clock this afternoon. The players in this division were Carter vs. Stearns, Lummis vs. Dyer, Jones vs. Grier, Lewis vs. Conolly. Second division, Taylor vs. Maxwell, Church vs. King, Pierson vs. Lawes, Badham vs. Beals. Third eight, Downey vs. Ogden, Trowbridge vs. Prentiss, Haris vs. Redham, Hutchinson vs. Butler Fourth eight, Trowbridge vs. Poter, Janeway vs. Eggers, Willoughby vs. Stiles, Feterhoff vs. Conger. Fifth eight (Bye), Poter, (Bye) McKenzie, Reed (Bye), Van Doren vs. DuBois.

A complete list of the contestants and scores turned in this morning is given below:

Connolly, Rocklad, 40-39, 79; Maxwell, Philadelphia (invited), 38-44, 82; Carter, Nassau, 36-39, 75; Lummis, Apawamis, 41-41,82; Grier, Suburban, 43-51, 84; Church Plainfield, 42-42, 84; W. P. Taylor, Park Golf Club, 44-45, 89; Beals, Wykagyl, 44-41, 85; Jones, Canoe Brook, 43-40, 83; Stearns, Rahway Hunt Club, 42-39, 81; Butler, Plainfield, 53-44, 97; Lewis, Flushing, 40-43, 83; Dormy, Canoe Brook, 52-45, 97; Harris, Baltusrol, 50-44, 94; Redman, Apawamis, 46-49, 95; Lawes, Upper Montclair 43-44, 87; Pierson, Montclair, 50-40, 90; Trowbridge, Flushing, 47-51, 98; Hutchinson, Forest Hill, 48-44, 92; Badham, Lawrenceville (invited), 41-41, 82; Prentiss, New Brunswick, 46-47, 93; King, Essex County 44-43, 87; Ogden, Lawrenceville, (invited), 47-46, 93; Conger, New Brunswick, 51-55, 106; Van Doren, New Brunswick, 55-59, 114; Stiles, Forest Hills, 50-53, 103; Harris, Baltusrol, 50-44, 94; Reed, Jr., Baltusrol, 58-51, 109; McKenzie, Plainfield, 50-59 109; Fetterhoff, Upper Montclair, 54-53, 107; DuBois, Plainfield, 52-57, 109; Eggers, Canoe Brook, 51-54 105; Potter, New Brunswick, 53-54, 107; Janeway, New Brunswick, 51-57, 108.

A unique golfing event is being held on the links of the Plainfield Country club today and will continue tomorrow in the second annual junior championship of the Metropolitan Association. Judging by the first annual affair of last June, which was also held over the local course, one would have to go a long way to see a better free show. No territorial lines were drawn last year in the desire to get the contest well launched and in consequence small boys from as far distant as St. Louis, competed. At that time the parcels post was not in operation but now the contenders can be shipped safely, care of Leighton Calkins, president of the local club, provided charges are prepaid.

Such a collection of golfing microbes as gathered here last year would have done credit to Palmer Cox's Brownies. Indeed, it was a sort of golfing kindergarten. Scarcely one of them brought cases and clubs of standard size. Some of their caddie bags looked as though they had been picked off a Christmas tree and that Santa Claus had intended them to hold burnt matches rather than golfing implements. They were enough, however, for many of the competitors were scarcely four feet high. It was surprising to see how many of the boys wore glasses, some of them of the large windowed variety that made the players look like precocious little owls, minus wings. Hoot mon.

There was also a great array of fond papas and mammas out to speed on little Willie and some of the paterfamilias got so "het up" over the kiddo's good scores that they ignored the hard showers and peeling down, went out for a hard round themselves, just to "show son" what they used to do much as old man Peck used to demonstrate to "Hennery," the bad boy Some of the fathers, it was whispered, were prouder of the performances of their players in pinfeathers than they will be a few years hence, when Jack or Tom, "Knocks the socks" off them in every round and then blows cigarette smoke into

WANT TO LAY PIPES IN SOMERSET COUNTY

Union Freeholders Make Request of a Twp. Committee for Sewer Connection.

Representatives of the Union County Board of Freeholders together with County Engineer Jacob Bauer appeared at a public hearing of the North Plainfield Township Committee, in Somerset county, yesterday, to urge favorable action on the petition to allow the county to lay a section of the proposed sanitary sewer from Bonnie Burn Sanitorium to a connecting point with the Plainfield system, through one end of the township. Only one objection was raised and that was the closing of a street while the work is in progress.

The Township Commitee appeared to favor the proposition, and Chairman W. deLaR. Anderson and Alexander Achibold, committeemen, and Township Clerk George Mobus were authorized to accompany Mr. Bauer when the proposed route is laid out. The Committee will have the power to approve or disapprove of the county plans.

their faces in the club bus going home. The score or more of near sweethearts present should not fail to be mentioned. They sat in chairs around the putting green, their hair in braids down their necks, pulling their feet out and then pushing them back into their neatly whitewashed slippers.

Seriously, however, the affair is almost certain to include the national and sectional champions of the nineteen hundred and twenties and the collegiate honor winners of the nineteen hundred and 'teens. The Scholastic was the avenue through which Travers, Herrshoff, Evans, Legg and a host of other cracks first bathed in the limelight.

Thirty entries, irrespective of the home club, have been received. Stewart Connolly, Rockland, last year's winner, will defend his title. Philip Carter, Nassau, last year's interscholastic champion, is also in the running.

Among those who teed off this morning were:

Kimball Artha, Donald G. Harris and F. A. Read, Jr., Baltusrol; John D. Beals, Jr., Wykagyl; Philip Carter, Nassau; D. Chambers, New Rochelle; Stewart Connolly, Rockland; Harold Downey, Alan Eggers and Roger Jones, Canoe Brook; Frank W. Dyer and A. L. Pierson, Jr., Montclair; A. C. Feteroff and Charles O. Lawes, Upper Montclair; Edgar B. Grier, Jr., Suburban; Hubert Hutchinson, Richard C. Stiles and Roger S. Stiles, Forest Hill Field; Morer P. Lewis, Sherman Trowbridge and Buel Trowbridge, Flushing; A. A. McAleenan and Donald McAleenan, Hollywood; Douglas McGrath, Yountakah; Alansan Prentiss and Earle Van Doren, New Brunswick; John Lummis and Benjamin Redman, Apawamis; Alfred B. Willoughby, Westfield; and in addition the following Plainfield boys: Leonard Church, Edward Wallace, Fred Butler, E. S. Lyon, J. W. Zerega, Donald King, G. Clay, Hayward Erickson, K. C. McKenzie, Harrett DuBois, Henry Zook, W. Harrington and others.

TALK OF NEW SCHOOL IN WARREN TOWNSHIP

The citizens of Warrenville and Mt. Bethel at a school meeting at the former place, Saturday night, on motion of Henry Rogers, appointed a committee of three to select several proposed sites between the two places upon which a two-room schoolhouse can be built and to submit the same at a public meeting on Saturday night July 5, when a special election will be held to vote on building a new school building.

J. Brognard Betts, of North Plainfield, assistant State commissioner of Education, and H. C. Krebs, superintendent of schools of Somerset county, explained the provisions of the State school law. They urged the advantages of building a two-room school, showing that it would be more economical than a single room one.

William Crab, representing the Dead River section, objected to this plan, although there are only ten pupils in his school. Yet he didn't believe in saving $700 a year, the cost of conducting that school, for the sake of giving the children graded teaching.

CO. K NOTES

Co. K will be well represented at the outdoor session of the school of musketry to be held at Sea Girt, Monday, June 30; Tuesday, July 1, and Wednesday, July 2. Those of Co. K who will participate will be Captain Charles A. Peterson, First Lieutenant Arthur R. Phillips, Quartermaster Sergeant James A. Thompson, Sergeant Oliver R. Pearson, Corporal George B. Howell, Privates Fred Bowe Jr., Frank S. Osmun, Philip Millwater, Elmer Archbold, Rudolf Heinold and Adam A. Miller and Artificer Gunnar W. Hansen. Several others qualified at the winter's course of instruction, but owing to business will be unable to attend the outdoor school. Major William B. Martin, of Elizabeth, one time captain of Co. K, organized the school of musketry and in little less than a month had 700 National Guardsmen of the various regiments enlisted for the course. One hundred and seventy-five of these qualified for the outdoor try-outs for the State rifle team, which will represent New Jersey in the National Rifle Association matches at Camp Perry, Ohio, this fall. Of the total number who qualified sixty-six were from the Second Regiment. Company K's average as a whole is one of the best throughout the State for the winter's course which has just ended.

The "Surprise Fire" target, which was erected by Sergeant Thompson and Corporal A. H. VanArsdale last week, has met with the approval of the men of the school of musketry and is being used every night.

A warm contest has arisen between First Lieutenant A. R. Phillips, First Sergeant George L. Apgar and Quartermaster Sergeant James A. Thompson for supremacy on the revolver range. Lieutenant Phillips is holding first place at present but is being hard pushed for the initial position by both his other contestants.

The men are looking forward to the annual encampment, which will be held at Sea Girt this year from August 2 to 9, inclusive.

Several improvements have been made in the quartermaster's storeroom which has relieved the congestion which has heretofore confronted that officer.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The annual picnic of the Primary Graded Union of Sunday school teachers will be held at the home of Mrs. C. Frank French, on Washington avenue, tomorrow afternoon. If stormy, the affair will be held on Friday afternoon.

FATHER BOGAN ON PAROCHIAL SCHOOLS

Catholic Church Provides the Complete Education Priest Tells Graduates.

During the course of his address at St. Mary's church Sunday evening on the occasion of the closing exercises of St. Mary's Grammar School, Rev. Father Bogan referred to the high standard attained by the pupils and expressed his gratification at the work done in the first year high school course adopted for the first time during the year just closed. He referred with special congratulation to the work done in algebra and preliminary Latin. He took occasion to pay tribute to the Public Schools as an institution of the State, and to the teachers, many of whom he believed realized and deplored the limit necessarily put upon them. "For," he said, "I firmly believe there are few, if any, among the ladies and gentlemen who have taken to the profession of teaching who do not deplore the restriction necessarily put upon them by the State, when religion as a fundamental principle for morality in education may not be taught." "Realizing with them the incompleteness of education that neglects the soul, the Catholic Church," said he, "draws her children about her and, as a Mother most solicitous for the eternal as well as the temperal welfare of her offspring, keeps ever before their minds their dependence upon their Creator, obedience to whose laws alone assures intelligent self-control and submission to all right authority."

Quoting the words of George Washington in his farewell address to the American people: "And let us with caution indulge the supposition that morality can be maintained without religion. Whatever may be conceded to the influence of refined education, on minds of peculiar structure, reason and experience both forbid us to expect that national morality can prevail without religion," Father Bogan drew from these words an unbiased approval of the system of education adopted by the Catholic Church with the consistency of continued sacrifice. "Surmounting the clouds of prejudice that so frequently obscures our mental vision, I call upon our fellow-Americans to look dispassionately upon our contribution to correct citizenship. From kindergarten to the last hour of the higher grade of Grammar School,—and this year through the first year of High School,—we teach our children the same grade work as that required by the State. To the honor of our High School authorities, be it said, they recognized this to the extent that our grammar graduates enter High School on the credentials of our teachers whose conscientious report of work and examinations is accorded the courtesy of accredited acceptance. All therefore, that the State requires from its educators is given in our school.

"Now let us look upon the system of remuneration. Called upon through the proper agency of investigation, the schools are visited, let us say, by a State inspector. Examining the grade of goods produced by each educational factory he visits, ho compares it with the standard required by the State, and for each individual of the product he apportions about fifty-two dollars that the plant be kept in operation and the standard product be continued. Passing from factory to factory, he comes to one with an unusual sign upon it—A Parochial School. Interested in education, no matter where given, he enters and finds a cordial welcome to his desire to compare the product with those of other educational factories. To his astonishment, perhaps to his chagrin he finds the standard requirements. 'You are giving to your State,' he says, 'all that the State requires. I am assured of this from close examination of your product. There is, however, a serious obstacle in the way of honorable remuneration. Taking the principle of real Americanism from the lips of 'The Father of our Country' you give more than the State requires, though Washington warns us that 'both reason and experience forbid us to expect that national morality can prevail without religion. You though more thoroughly American according to this unquestioned authority than we who look upon you with disdain are penalized for your principle and punished for your patriotism."

"This," continued Father Bogan, "is the position we occupy. To ask a penny from the State treasury even on account of the Washingtonian guarantee we give to our education would be unfair as the claim of an atheist-American to the State's reward for his blatant blasphemies. For in the separation of Church and State as here in force religion and irreligion are on the same footing. No, we ask no alms, we want no favors. Ours is a business proposition to people otherwise eminently just in business transactions. We give to the State what the State exacts, and so long as we do we hold out the hands of honest men, who, begrimed though we be by the prejudice of our fellow-Americans, are none the less insistent upon the honest recognition of honest and effectual endeavor."

Turning to the young graduates who had previously received their diplomas and gold medals from his hands, he said: "Trite as the phrase may be, it still conveys the thought uppermost in my mind, the 'wide world,' with its smile of unrestricted freedom, welcomes you to endeavor. Business activities claim your zeal. Opportunity has its finger on the electric button and you are called to the door to give it entrance. You young girls, will soon find field for your knowledge in business office or in cultured companionship of travel. You, young men, will soon know that a commercial valuation is put upon your creed, though its claims be rejected by employers. See to it, that you bring no blot upon your class escutcheon. You have unerring principles to guide you; follow them unfalteringly and yours will be a valued addition to the nobility of moral companionship and an unswerving devotion to interests entrusted to your keeping."

CABINET DISCUSSES SOME SERIOUS CHARGES

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Washington, June 24.—The Cabinet spent two and a half hours today in discussing the developments arising from the order of the Department of Justice to postpone the cases against Maury Diggs and Andrew Caminetti and the Western Fuel Co., as a result of which at least four members of the Cabinet are involved. A statement will be issued at the White House late today.

HAD PRESAGE OF DEATH.

Was Talking of It When Lumber Crushed Him and Another.

Harrison, N. J., June 24.—John Husselman of this city, superintendent of the lumber yard of E. W. McClave & Co. here, had a premonition that something was going to happen to him. He spoke frequently during the day about his foreboding, and some of the men chaffed him.

John Bissell, of 44 Monroe street, Newark, one of the yardmen, was on top of a pile of lumber thirty feet high just before quitting time, and Husselman stood on the ground nearby. Bissell made some light remark about Husselman's premonition. As the superintendent shouted back an answer the pile toppled over, burying Husselman underneath a pile of heavy timbers.

Bissell jumped clear, but both his arms were broken and he received internal injuries. It took the yardmen half an hour to uncover Husselman. He was dead.

DYING ON DIPLOMA DAY.

Worry About Her Graduation Caused Illness of Girl.

Kearny, N. J., June 24.—The triumph that Genevieve Hoonan of 280 Kearny avenue, this city, was to have tonight at the graduation exercises of St. Cecilia's parochial school will not be hers. She may not live out the day, for she is dying of heart disease, and her condition was very grave, it was said.

It was worry over her standing that brought on her illness. Several weeks ago she began to fear that her rank in studies would not be high enough to enable her to win the coveted diploma, and she grew so anxious that her health was broken.

BURY CANARY IN STATE.

Funeral Service Read Over Bird In Silk Lined Coffin.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 24.—A pet canary owned by James McLaughlin was buried in a small cemetery in the back yard of the McLaughlin summer home in Chelsea. It was placed in a silk lined metallic coffin, and Helen McLaughlin read the burial service over her pet. The canary had been in the household fourteen years.

When the family's cat killed the bird little Helen was so grief stricken that she asked her father to allow her to hold a regular funeral service.

DRIVER HURT IN CRASH.

Car Hits Wagon and Farmhand Is Severely Injured.

Camden, N. J., June 24. — Charles Horner, twenty-two years old, a farmhand employed by Charles F. Hill of Delair, N. J., was severely injured when a trolley car hit a wagon he was driving at Eighteenth and Federal streets, this city.

He was cut and bruised and may have internal injuries. He was taken to Cooper hospital. The wagon was wrecked.

PELKY ACQUITTED.

Arthur Pelky, the puglist, was acquited last night of manslaughter in connection with the death of Luther McCarty, who died in the first round of a scheduled ten-round bout at the Burns Arena, Calgary, Alberta, May 24 last. It was charge by the Government that McCarty died from a blow administered by Pelky. The jury was out forty-five minutes.

DOUBLE BIRTHDAY PARTY FOR TWO LITTLE ONES

Dorothy Sweeny, aged four years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew D. Sweeny, and Ruth Wheeler, aged five years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Wheeler, of Mountain avenue, the borough, were given a birthday party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler, Thursday afternoon. Dorothey Sweeny's birthday anniversary occurred on June 15 and Ruth Wheeler's on June 19 and it was planned by the parents to make a double celebration.

The affair was held on the lawn. The decorations were especially attractive, with daisies and roses. There was a May pole which added to the enjoyment of the children. The table decorations pleased the little folks. In the centre was a pond with several small ducks and two birthday cakes, one bearing five candles and the other four. Favors were distributed among the guests. The children present were Helen Babcock, Helen Foster, Lola Foster, Eleanor Sheppard, Ethel Wheeler, Dorothy Sweeny, Evelyn Sweeny, Warren Sweeny and Ruth Wheler

TROUBLESOME COUPLE BANISHED FROM BORO

Frank Monchow, 56 years old, of 218 Greenbrook road, arraigned this morning before Recorder Gano in the borough police court was sentenced to a term of seven days in the lock-up, on a charge of being intoxicated. He was arrested last night by Roundsman Pope and Marshal H. Swody.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Finnegan, of 80 Greenbrook road, who were ordered to leave town today by Recorder Gano when arraigned before him yesterday morning on a charge of "disturbing the peace and quiet of the neighborhood" in which they lived, were again arrested last night for a similar offense. As they had their household property packed and ready to move to another town, the Recorder again suspended sentence on them and re-warned them that if they were not outside the boundary line of North Plainfield by the specified time, he would send them to jail for a term of 60 days each. They have gone!

Simon Sansadek, of West Front street, this city, was arrested by Marshal Herman, of the borough, last night, for being intoxicated. Arraigned this morning before Recorder Gano he was fined $3 which he paid.

CENSUS ON SUFFRAGE.

Tomorrow morning, members of the Plainfield-North Plainfield Equal Suffrage league, residing in North Plainfield, will begin a house-to-house canvas in the borough to ascertain the sentiment of opinion regarding "votes for women." The borough has been divided into eighteen districts for this purpose and one or more members will be assigned to each district. The canvassers wil continue their work on Thursday.

LEADERS DECIDE TO IGNORE SULZER

Said Governor Has Talked of Compromise.

DIRECT PRIMARY DOOMED

Organization Has Votes In Both Houses and It Is Apparent Sulzer's Fight Is Losing One Unless Some Sort of Compromise Is Reached.

Albany, N. Y., June 24.—Governor Sulzer, who only a few weeks ago maintained that his bill must pass in its original form and without a single change, "even to the dotting of an 'i' or the crossing of a 't,'" was actually talking compromise with emissaries from the enemy's camp while an eleventh hour spectacular demonstration in support of the Sulzer direct nominations bill was being staged at the capitol.

Senator John W. Murtaugh of Chemung, who on more than one occasion has denounced Governor Sulzer bitterly on the senate floor, had a conference with the governor, at which he submitted a suggestion he had made before the regular session adjourned for submitting the question of whether the state convention should be abolished or not to a referendum at the election next fall. When the proposition was made originally Governor Sulzer was represented as utterly opposed to the idea. The abolition of the state convention is the chief issue between Governor Sulzer and the organization.

Murtaugh Brings Surprise.

For that reason information that Senator Murtaugh's suggestion had not fallen on unwilling ears in the executive chamber when it was broached anew, came as more or less of a surprise. The governor, however, made the condition that the suggestion for a compromise must reach him in such a fashion as to be obvious that it came from the opposition and did not originate with him.

"I will do no bargaining with Mr. Murphy or the organization, but if the bill should come to me with such a referendum clause attached I would sign it." That is said to represent in substance what the governor had to say to the Murtaugh proposal. The senator, who is chairman of the judiciary committee, to which the governor's direct nominations bill with other direct primaries measures introduced at the extraordinary session was sent, promised that he would submit the matter to the senate leaders and to the members of his committee. The plan has the approval of some members of the Sulzer "war board."

Organization Men Sore.

The organization leaders are not in any mood for compromise of any kind. For that reason the general impression at the capitol is that any suggestion from the governor will be rejected. The governor's wholesale denunciation of the organization has embittered the leaders.

The judiciary committee of the assembly met last night before the session and reported the governor's direct nominations bill "for consideration." At the same time the Blauvelt bill, which the governor toward the close of the regular session denounced as a fraud on the voters, was reported favorably in an amended form. In the assembly direct nominations bills have been made a special order on second and third reading for today, and before the sun sets the governor's bill is scheduled to meet its second Waterloo in the lower house. In the senate the grim work will be done tomorrow.

TO PROBE STERLING WRECK.

Faulty Track Construction Is Alleged as Cause of Smash.

Albany, N. Y., June 24.—A thorough investigation of the Pennsylvania railroad wreck near Sterling station has been ordered by the public service commission. Commissioner Decker sent Chief Inspector Vanderman and an assistant to the scene and they will begin work at once. A telegram from District Attorney Cook of Livingston county, who was prevented by the railroad officials, it is alleged, from examining the wreck, will be given further attention. Cook asked for inspectors who already had been sent. Commissioner Decker said that he was glad to have the district attorney's assistance and that the wreck would be thoroughly investigated. The assertion is credited to the district attorney that the wreck was due to faulty track construction.

DOES IT PAY?

Facts and figures regarding the Morris Park realty sale, which proved to be the most remarkable in the history of real estate dealings in this country, are particularly interesting so far as they prove that "advertising pays." The real estate brokers generally were astounded when it was announced that the sale would occupy at least two weeks but they were more so when they saw the unprecedented use of printer's ink to advertise the auction.

When the last lot had been sold and the selling brokers made a settlement it was found that the fabulous sum of $225,000 had been spent on previous publicity and that of this amount, were wisely, nearly $200,000 had gone for newspaper space. The total receipts from the sale of the tract amounted to nearly $4,000,000.

Suppose that the newspapers of New York and the suburban places, among which were Plainfield, had not been resorted to and that the enterprising brokers had confined themselves to other channels or reaching the public and that a trifling sum had been spent in this way, what would have been the result. Does any sane business man imagine that one-tenth of the receipts would have been obtained?

This is but a single instance, but what would have been the result? when rightly directed, pays and pays well.

CORRECT REPORTING.

It was with a real and sincere sense of satisfaction that we read all the newspaper reports of the unfortunate and unavoidable happening yesterday wherein a child met her death by dashing unexpectedly before William F. Arnold's automobile, for in every instance the fatal accident was correctly reported. None placed any blame on Mr. Arnold, one of the finest men that ever lived in this city, but on the other hand it was plainly stated that there was no fault on his part and that the sympathy of the public was extended to him. No earthly power could have prevented the accident and Mr. Arnold's conduct after it occurred was just what we who know him well would have expected, but it was good to learn that others took pains to state the facts rightly.

A TIMELY WORD.

It was not many years ago that during the heated month of August, when the heighth of the vacation season is reached, there was not a single evanglical minister to be found in the city to officiate at a funeral service. According to a statement made by a leading undertaker at that time, the condition of affairs was stated in the news columns. The ministers had not arranged among themselves for any calls to be made for their good offices during the period when they would be away. Would it not be well for them to act now to prevent against any such similar unfortunate condition.

ADVERTISING HERSELF.

In waving her handkerchief and cheering at the convention of the International Woman Suffrage Alliance at Budapest, for the violence of the British militants, Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont expressed her individual opinion only. All but a few of the delegates resented her conduct, and there is no question that American womanhood strongly disapproves it. Mrs. Belmont's course is doing the woman suffrage cause no good at home or abroad.—Jersey City Journal.

On her triumphal return, if properly advertised by her press agent, possibly Mrs. Belmont might induce Hammerstein to put her on for a "turn" at the Victoria for now that P. T. Barnum is dead Oscar offers the best opportunities.

Though the body of Gregory T. Humes was placed in a grave at New Haven, Conn., yesterday, his memory will live forever in journalism. Fatally injured in the railroad wreck at Stamford, Humes, a reporter for the New York World, was lifted from the debris and though barely conscious and in physical agony his first thoughts were of his paper, and his first words to his rescuers were a plea that it be quickly notified of the disaster. Four hours later he was dead.

Says the Philadelphia Record, which scorns "Dollar Diplomacy," "We and Japan buy too much of each other to allow the words we use to become very hard." "Consistency, thou art a jewel."

Grover Cleveland died five years ago today. It marked the passing of a statesman who never "played to the gallery."

PERSONAL.

Rev. and Mrs. D. Y. Campbell, of this city, are parents of a boy born to them this morning. Mr. Campbell is pastor of Calvary Baptist church. This is the first son born to the couple.

Miss Edith Wheeler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Wheeler, of Mountain avenue, was operated upon at Muhlenberg Hospital, yesterday for appendicitis. Her condition is favorable for an early recovery.

Dr. and Mrs. F. E. DuBois, of Washington avenue, are parents of a girl, born to them last night.

Mrs. Bertha Lorenzen Krause, formerly of Plainfield, has returned here, where she intends making her home in the future.

Supervising Principal Arthur B. Vossler, of North Plainfield, has returned home from Durham, Pa. where he was the guest of Paul E. Mertz, a member of the Borough High School faculty.

Miss Flora A. Randolph, formerly of this city, but now of Berkeley, California, is visiting Mrs. John Titsworth, of Madison avenue, for a few days.

PROCTOR'S GREAT SHOW.

Joe Spissell and Co., in one of the best comedy acrobatic acts on the vaudeville stage, is the headliner at Proctor's this week, offering a novelty pantomime "A Night in a Cabaret." It is a scream from start to finish. "Goff" Phillips, the funny blackface comedian, is a fun dispenser and pleases everyone. The Broncho Four in a sketch entitled "The Stranger," taken from one of Brete Hart's stories, is popular and the quartet can surely sing. Evelyn Ware, a singing comedienne, sings well and her monologue is good. Charles B. Ward & Co., in a farce comedy skit, "The Twin Flats," is another mirth producer. "Through Many Trials," a two-reel Pathe feature, is announced for tomorrow.

DANCE FOR JUNIOR GOLFERS.

A special phonograph dance will be given under the auspices of the Plainfield Country Club members in the club hall tonight for the benefit of the junior golfers taking part in the Metropolitan tournament. The boys from out of town who are competitors in the event will be entertained tonight at the homes of the local club members so that they may be on hand early tomorrow morning for match play rounds.

AUTO BUS RUNNING AGAIN.

The initial trip of the auto bus from Plainfield to Mt. Bethel took place on Saturday and it is proposed to make regular trips at convenient hours between Plainfield Mt. Bethel, Sterling Watchung, as well as South Plainfield. During the school year the bus will be operated so as to accommodate children attending the borough and city public schools.

THE FORUM.

Editor Plainfield Daily Press:

Referring to C. Williams in your paper of June 21, in which the writer states that "there seems to be no doubt about the right for woman to vote," I feel that this statement shows either a lack of knowledge or of appreciation of the opinion held by many prominent people, probably the great majority, on this subject. Chief Justice Marshall, Elihu Root and many others have expresed themselves as directly opposed to this view. I quote from the writer: "No one should be kept from her right to vote because some do not care, and others may be too cowardly to accept the consequences that the exercise of such a privilege might entail." "Too cowardly to accept the consequences." A subtle hint here of impending evil. The consideration of the consequences which might result from the granting of woman suffrage might well make the bravest shudder. The development of sex antagonism—man versus woman.

A woman's party has already been stated in Colorado. No peaceful picture here of man and woman working together for the betterment of the human race, man through the ballot and woman through the influence which comes through political independence, but a picture of political strife both abroad and in the home. Our English cousins have demonstrated to us what a woman thwarted in her political ambition will do. Thank God for some farsighted "Cowards!"

I beg the writer to read carefully the "Constitution" and the "Declaration of Independence," for which, although writen by man and considered old-fashioned by many, some of us still hold love, veneration and respect.

The writer will find that the only literature classing women with idiots and criminals emanates from the pens of suffragists.

MARIE LOUISE BARRE.
June 22, 1913.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

The answer of Mr. Jeffery to my article which you were kind enough to publish in your issue of June 17th inst., is excusable upon the ground that he is evidently not familiar with the real estate values in this city; though he may know something about bungalows at Berkeley Heights, N. J.

His suggestion, "If Mr. Endress has anything further to suggest to the Commission, it will be well for him to prepare a statement and to appear before that body etc.," is neither needed, or desired.

The Common Council at its public hearing afforded everyone interested an opportunity to be heard, and so did the commissioners at their public hearing, at both of which I appeared with all the facts in my possession and to which I cannot add anything.

Why was Mr. Jeffery not there? Was it because he resided at Berkeley Heights at the time? Or were the additional words "Board of Trade" (a body created by Mr. Jeffery and of which he is practically the self-appointed head) necessary before he could make a sufficiently dignified protest?

The damages afforded me by the able commissioners appointed for this purpose are easily explained to any one sincerely interested in the progress of our city. He need not be very familiar with the real estate values either.

The bulk of my property fronts on West Front street, and is so assessed. Mr. Mills' property fronts on West Second street, and is so assessed. If Mr. Jeffery, or anyone else who holds his views, has Front street property to sell in the business section at West Second street prices I stand ready, at all times, to buy it under such conditions.

These undeniable facts give Mr. Jeffery's "Laughable Paradox" a rather chameleonic appearance.

The commissioners have performed their work in an unbiased, able and conscientious manner, with but one aim, "To give everyone his just due." This fact all fair minded citizens admit. If they were slow (?) in not discovering the self proclaimed superior knowledge of Mr. Jeffery in time, they are, in my opinion, excusable upon the ground that Mr. Jeffery only recently removed here from Berkeley Heights, N. J., a community with which Plainfield has, so far, had very little intercourse.

Mr. Jeffery, prior to his moving here, thought it proper to force his superior knowledge upon the citizens of New Providence Township, of which Berkeley Heights is a part, by closing up what is known as the Diamond Hill School and in spite of his superior knowledge the people of said township straightened the school matter out for themselves and in their own way, by depriving Mr. Jeffery and everybody belonging to his superior circle, of all official authority.

The chaotic conditions he brought about in this matter are of a recent date and therefore still fresh in every one's memory.

He does not own property in the street to be improved, and the one party, who has but a small interest in one parcel affected, has evidently succeeded in misleading Mr. Jeffery as to his importance which he could not impress upon Plainfielders, and this particular party's objections to the improvements are based upon notoriously selfish grounds; which fact is also known to the well informed citizens as well as the commissioners.

I am not engaged in any business at this time, therefore need no free advertising; others may need it, but I shall hereafter decline to be any party to such proposition.

"Abe" Lincoln's father once instructed "Abe" to drive the skunks from under the family barn, and upon enquiry by the father why "Abe" had not done so, "Abe" replied, "The more you stir them, the more they stink."

Respectfully yours,
FRED ENDRESS.

Lindeman & Sons, $525 Player-Piano

(88-Note)

Will Be Offered for

$445

Lindeman & Sons sell their pianos to dealers all over the country. They publish a catalogue from which these dealers, even in far Western States, can order by telegraph as their local stocks are sold out.

Every year the catalogue is changed as new models are produced.

This year "Style W" is to be dropped from the catalogue, another model taking its place.

Lindeman & Sons have on hand just 95 "Style W" Player-pianos. They wish to dispose of them quickly. To do this they have lowered the prices so that we may sell them for $445, instead of the regular price, $525.

A Thoroughly Up-to-Date High-Grade 88-Note Player-Piano

This is just what this "Style W" is. The piano is the Lindeman Piano, which has been famous for more than half a century, and which is one of the five great pianos on the Wanamaker Roll of Honor.

The player action is one that is being used in pianos costing even more than the Lindeman.

It is an 88-note player-piano that can play all the modern rolls of music.

The accompanying sketch shows the chaste, classic design of its rich mahogany case.

The beautiful tone of the instrument, and its almost human touch when you play it, may be heard and felt when you come to investigate this announcement.

Special Summer Terms of Payment will be made to all who may care to avail themselves of this unusual opportunity; an opportunity that cannot be repeated when this limited lot is sold.

The Long Summer Evenings

are made still more beautiful, whether in the city or in the country, if a player-piano is brought into your home, especially for the children.

PLAN FIGHT ON CURRENCY BILL

House Leader Mann Scores President's Tactics.

TALKS OF PATRONAGE BAIT

Representative Calls Bill "Jumble of Discordant Ideas" — President Much In Earnest as He Pleads For Speedy Passage of Measure.

Washington, June 24.—When the two houses of congress heard him deliver his address on the subject of the necessity for monetary legislation, any doubt that President Wilson intended to use his authority and influence to put a new banking law on the statute books at the present session was removed.

Afterward senators and representatives generally agreed that the issue of enacting a currency measure now or postponing it until the regular session of congress next winter had been sharply drawn between the president and those who have held that the extra session should end with the passage of the tariff bill.

"We must act now, at whatever sacrifice to ourselves," said the president in his address, and he emphasized the "now" with a snap of the jaws. And he clinched his demand for immediate currency legislation when he told the senators and representatives that he had "come as the head of the government and the responsible leader of the party in power to urge action now." There was something about the second "now" that suggested defiance.

The gauntlet thrown down by President Wilson immediately was picked up by Representative Mann, the Republican leader in the house. After escorting the president out of the chamber, as one of a committee appointed for that purpose, Mr. Mann prepared a statement in which he said that there was nothing in the president's address "unless it be considered as a threat that patronage will be withheld until a banking and currency bill is passed."

Discordant Jumble, Says Mann.

Mr. Mann criticised the president for attempting to treat the subject as purely partisan and for failure to extend to congress "the courtesy to express any opinion concerning the principles upon which a banking and currency bill should be based." The proposed bill, he contended, was a jumble of discordant ideas. The president, he said, came before congress like a schoolmaster telling fourth grade school children to be good. The Republicans would support the bill if it would advance the interests of the country, he declared, but they would not tolerate partisan political control of banks or the issuance of currency. He indicated an intention to fight the bill.

On the other hand, there was talk among Democratic representatives that the president's evident determination to obtain monetary legislation at the present session would bring into line most of those Democrats who believed the measure should not be considered until the regular session of congress. Another point advanced to support the prediction of immediate action was that Secretary Bryan's indorsement would bring to it the support of the commoner's friends who had not been favorably inclined toward the measure.

MONOPOLY NOT ALWAYS EVIL

Bill Introduced to Legalize Certain Forms of Railroad Combine.

Washington, June 24.—The legalization of railroad monopoly under supervision of the interstate commerce commission, which body shall have power to determine when it is to the best interests of the country to suspend the Sherman anti-trust law, was provided in a bill introduced by Representative Levy of New York.

Public benefits may be derived from certain forms of railroad monopoly despite the apparent unlawfulness of such combines, the New York representative declares.

TWO GIRLS DIE OF POISON.

Chicago Physicians Want Sale of Mercury Tablets Restricted.

Chicago, June 24.—Physicians voiced a demand that city authorities take quick action to place restrictions on the sale of mercury tablets.

Two young girls have died in Chicago within twenty-four hours after swallowing the drug, and a third was rushed to the county hospital with but little hope for her recovery. Medical men fear an epidemic of suicides by the bichloride route, since public interest became centered about the case of D. Sanders Walker, the Macon (Ga.) banker.

Of Interest to Women and the Home

The Housewife's Daily Economy Calendar

Cooking By Recipes.

There are some famous home cooks —for which every one ought to be thankful—who need no recipes to cook by. There are others with no claim by fame who need the recipes, but do not use them on the plea that they do not like to work by rule. They go on frying and boiling everything in the larder, and their families suffer from lack of variety and too often from lack of really palatable food.

There is a knack about cooking by rule, it is true, but it is a knack which any one can acquire. First read the rule carefully, thinkingly, and then follow it exactly. That is the knack. If you are cooking according to the rule in your own head, you can alter it as you go along, and the results will be good. But if you are cooking according to somebody else's rule, follow it exactly until you know it. Then, if you want, you can alter it.

The Method.

First read the recipe. Gather all the materials wanted about you and weigh or measure them accurately. Remember that a cupful of flour means a level cupful, measured after it is sifted, unless the recipe states otherwise. Any weight or measure means even weight or measure. A teaspoonful, for example, means a level teaspoonful, not one heaped up to two or three teaspoonfuls.

Have all the utensils you may need within easy reach.

Then, when you have everything ready, begin to put your recipe together. And remember, when you are judging the recipe by the dish produced, that almost as much depends on the cooking as on the mixing of the food. Make notes in your recipe book about the proper way to regulate the heat to cook each new dish.

Of course, different grades of flour, different atmospheres, and other differences in materials and conditions, do make changes in every recipe advisable sometimes. But first follow the recipe exactly, and the next time you use it modify as your first experience has made advisable.

Some Cookery Suggestions

FRIED VEGETABLES.

BREAKFAST MENU.
Grapefruit. Cereal, Cream.
Broiled Chops. Fried Eggplant.
Griddle Cakes, Syrup.
Cafe au Lait. Cocoa.

FRIED EGGPLANT.—Take a nice firm eggplant, pare the vegetable and cut into thin slices. Dust with salt, pepper and flour; then dip in one egg beaten with a tablespoonful of milk. Then cover with breadcrumbs. Fry in deep, hot fat.

Dipped In Batter.

Fried Cucumbers.—Take large cucumbers, peel and cut in half lengthwise. Lay in iced water for one-half hour. Make a batter of a beaten egg, a cupful of milk, a dash of salt and a large cupful of flour. Dry the cucumbers, dip them into this batter and fry to a golden brown in deep fat. Drain in a heated colander and serve.

Fried Celery.—Cut celery stalks into pieces three or four inches in length and boil until tender in water seasoned with salt. Drain and lay the pieces separately on a dish to cool. Make a batter of three well beaten eggs stirred into a pint of rich milk, with half a pint of grated breadcrumbs or of sifted flour. Beat the batter very hard after it is mixed. Dip each piece of celery twice into the batter and fry in deep fat until a light brown. Drain and send to the table very hot.

Some Grilled Vegetables.

Egg Balls and Grilled Tomatoes.—Pound the yolks of five hard boiled eggs into a smooth paste with the beaten yolk of one raw egg. Add a teaspoonful of chopped parsley and half a teaspoonful of anchovy essence, a dust of celery salt and cayenne. Divide the mixture and with floured hands make it into balls. Pass these through raw eggs, then cover them with fine dry breadcrumbs and fry them a golden brown. Cut some tomatoes which are not overripe into rather thick slices, drain them on a cloth for a few minutes, then dip them into warm butter and grill them. Serve the eggs on a border of savory rice and fill the middle of the dish with the grilled slices of tomato.

Grilled Mushrooms. — Remove the stalks from large mushrooms and peel carefully. Spread the inner sides with butter; dust with salt and pepper and place on a grill over a very clear fire. Cook slowly until soft all through. They must be served on a hot dish, which should not be uncovered until the mushrooms are to be served. Some people like a few drops of anchovy sauce on each mushroom; others prefer a flavoring of red pepper and lemon juice.

The Robin Sang His Prettiest Song.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

The Missionary Robin's Lovely Evening Song.

THE robin family were having a lovely time in the cherry trees. Jack and Evelyn grudged them some of the cherries which they were allowed to eat so freely, but daddy said the robins were only collecting their wages for the hard work they had done keeping the trees free from bugs all year long.

"The robins are real little missionaries," daddy said. "Most people do not stop to thank them.

"Not only do they do missionary work when they clear our gardens and fruit trees of naughty worms and insects who would spoil the fruit or vegetables, but their beautiful songs cheer many a tired or sorrowful heart.

"One year Mr. and Mrs. Robin—I don't know their other name—built a lovely nest on a tall oak tree that towered high over a little hillside road.

"It was a beautiful hill, and halfway down was a gray house in which lived a gray haired couple and their grandson. They had little money, and the boy, who wished very much to get on in the world, worked very hard in the summer vacations to save money with which to go to school in the winter.

"Mrs. Robin noticed him going down the hill, and she said to her husband, 'He looks tired, poor boy.' When they saw he went into the gray house where the old lady fed them with crumbs they were more interested than ever.

"Mr. Robin, who brought home the gossip of the neighborhood while Mrs. Robin was brooding over the eggs, told her the next morning, 'He is the old couple's grandson.'

"So they watched for him in the evening, and when they saw him coming along the road Mrs. Robin said to her husband:

"'Poor fellow; he looks so tired. Sing something to cheer him.'

"So Mr. Robin flew to the top limb of the oak tree and, perching there, began with his 'Cheery, cheery, cheery!' to sing one of his merriest songs.

"The boy looked up at the oak tree. Like his dear grandmother, he loved birds. 'You darling,' he murmured.

"And every evening after when the boy passed along the road Mr. Robin would fly to the top of the oak tree and sing of the beautiful things that are in this gray old world of ours and which some way only the birds and poets seem able to see and tell about.

"And one evening as his grandmother waited for him at the door, listening to the robin's song, too, he said as she came to meet him at the gate:

"'Since Robin Redbreast sings so cheerily for me the hill doesn't seem long.'

"And if that wasn't missionary work on the part of those little robins, why, your daddy doesn't know what real missionary work is."

HINTS ON FASHIONS IN THE METROPOLIS

Some Suggestions to the Woman Who Would Be Gowned Correctly.

New York, June 24.—One of the most striking features of present day fashions is the vogue of combinations of materials in the same costume. Bengaline and taffetas are put together in some of the newest frocks. For instance, a ruby bengaline skirt with only a suspicion of drapery in the back had a jacket in taffeta of the same tone, the jacket half Bulgarian, half Russian. The wide turnover collar and cuffs were of cream linen of the coarse variety. The buttons were of white enamel, quite plain. Gabardine, or very fine rep, one of the novelties of the year, makes some exquisite gowns for the afternoon. With insertions of Bagdad embroidery it is extremely smart. All the new dyes look rich in the gabardine, too.

Casaque is the French name given to the short, Eton front, swallowtail back jacket that is so fashionable just now. The casaque may be finished with a wide swathed belt in silk or satin or soft leather that comes for such a purpose, or it may have only a narrow belt of brocaded stiff ribbon. This ribbon, which is quite antique, is not pretty, yet Paris has gone mad over it. It is hard, the colors are indiscreet, and it is as stiff as a board; yet some of the best gowns have belts and bows of it, and some of the most dashing hats have long slim loops of it wired to stand on top of the crown.

It was thought when velvet appeared in trimmings during the early spring, that with the bright and warm days of April and May, velvet would take flight to give place to a garnish more appropriate and less heavy. But not at all. The very latest dresses appear to seek a touch of velvet somewhere. If it cannot be introduced in the gown, then the wearer orders a big rose or orchid in velvet to produce the desired effect in the way of a belt bouquet.

Certainly the satin or supple taffeta frocks trimmed in nothing but small folds of velvet of a highly contrasting shade, are beautiful, even though they be not practical for hot summer days.

This is a great season for laces of all kinds. The finer laces, just for the moment, seem to have precedence over the bolder, heavier patterns. The Alencons, Malines, Chantilly, Spanish, Pointe de Venice and cobweb laces are very much in demand, and among the cheaper varieties the shadow laces are most popular. Mounted over soft silks or chiffons, the designs of these laces are thrown into relief and their beauty is accentuated.

In these days of sheer and transparent effects it is not always necessary to have a soft silk foundation, but it is better to have it, as it does away oftentimes with a petticoat and consequently there is no necessity for bulk beneath the filmy folds of lace. This foundation, however, should be veiled by chiffon to soften the lace. A charming scheme shows the foundation of flesh-colored messaline, with a veiling of chiffon in the same delicate tone.

There are innumerable ways of using lace on the new gowns. One of the most popular is in the tunic or overskirt. This may be draped to the waist line in the front, to show the cothurns, or sandals, with their lacing of ribbon, or it may spread like the old time pannier, leaving the foundation of the skirt visible in the front. The crossed draperies, carried a little to one side of the front, are very well liked, while the very latest idea shows much drapery directly in the back, where it is raised in a more or less bunchy effect, dimly reminiscent of the bustle age. Perhaps the most popular mode is the three-flounced skirt.

Laces are used in abundance on the bodices of the newest frocks. They are the favored fabric for the all-over transparent blouse. When the blouse is of silk the lace is generally used for the fichu or deep collar. The smartest blouses owe their distinction to an almost prim simplicity. The foundation is a little plain kimono waist and the trimmings consist of the fichu, collar or vest.

The all-over lace blouses to be worn with different skirts are very much liked this season. They are inexpensive trifles, many not costing more than $5, but they are very effective. Some are made with a yoke, others merely have a pleated frill in front, but all of them are comparatively simple. As a rule they are developed in the shadow lace, which is effective and cheap. These lace blouses are a very desirable addition to the wardrobe. They can be relied upon to add a finishing touch to many a gown which otherwise would be considered out of date. They are made in various styles and may be had at all prices.

Linen skirts will be worn a great deal during the summer. The plain, narrow, close-fitting garments, with pearl buttons in front, are still favored. With them a variety of shirtwaists are worn. Some are blouses pure and simple, with a sailor collar. Others are plain shirtwaists, open at the throat and given a finish in front soft colored silk.

Buttons are much in evidence this season. They are used on the front by a carelessly knotted tie of some and the back of gowns, wherever there is any excuse for them. Indeed they are now seen even where there is really no excuse for their existence. Last season they were popular to a great extent, although a certain fitness was observed in their use. Just now, however, they are sewn in the most impossible places, distinctly as ornaments or trimmings. They may be of any material. Ivory effects made of celluloid in the form of acorns, the top of which is in color, are offered. They should harmonize with the costume, however. They come in blue, lavender and many other colors and shades and also in white and black.

This is the season of tulle or fine net. It is used on hats to replace the aigrette; and balls of black and white tulle, mounted at the end of a supple wire and used as pompons, are seen. Hats are softened in outline by innumerable folds of the airy material; and now that the veil is less obligatory and is so often dispensed with, a scarf-like length of net is often worn by Parisian women, which, passing under the chin, is thrown over the left shoulder in the back.

Now that women are supposed in the afternoon to drop the street suit for the more elaborate toilette, the cloak has become an absolutely indispensable accessory to the wardrobe Cloaks come in every style, from the simple coat to the elaborately draped garment. Some are short to the knee, while others come down to the edge of the skirt, which in this case is only seen through the opening left in front by the draperies. Almost all, even traveling cloaks, are made with kimono sleeves, which have become obligatory as accompanying the elbow sleeves of the gown. These cloaks are draped with as much care as the skirts. Some have a sketchy outline resembling the panniers of the olden times. They are finished without collar, or with round short collars, some of which are pointed on the shoulders. But the large square collars falling low in the back are no longer fashionable.

black, but it would be just as effective made from any other seasonable material.

College girls who are beginning to think ahead for the fall outfit could find nothing better for a coat to the tailored suit. For summer the three-quarter sleeves are preferred, but if the coat is being prepared in advance the long ones are better style.

For the medium size the coat will require four yards of material twenty-seven inches wide, with three-quarters any width for the vest.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes from 34 to 42 inches bust measure. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 7901, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

PENNY-A-DAY SCHEME AT PUBLIC LIBRARY

The following statement is issued by the librarian of the Plaineld Public Library.

In its constant effort to increase its usefulness and widen its scope, the Public Library, like all public institutions, is limited in the service it can render by the amount of money appropriated for its use. The question is always a choice between endless opportunities. To use money for one purpose precludes using it for another.

In buying books, the Library is spending the tax-payers' money, and a moral obligation rests upon it to see that the money so spent renders a real public service, and is not wasted. The necessary result is never satisfactory to lovers of a certain popular order of literature. Most fiction, for example, is wanted when it is new and talked about. Everybody wants to read the newest and best novel at the same time. Only those who have catered to popular demand can appreciate the necessity for treating in a diefferent category the purchase of those books which are of permanent value (where single copies are all that is generally needed), and the purchase of transient literature of which many duplicates are demanded at once, which duplicates must later on be discarded or sold as the demand dies out. If the Library trie to satisfy fully this demand, it would shortly find its shelves overloaded with numerous duplicate copies of discarded but once popular novels. The Library, of necessity, has taken the other horn of the dilemma and tried to spend most of its funds available for books in the purchase of well selected non-fiction of permanent value, buying generally only single copies of the best fiction.

This service the Plainfield Public Library is now going to try to enlarge by establishing a 'Penny-a-day duplicate collection." This does not displace any former service, but is entirely additional. The "Pay collection" is strictly a duplicate collection, supplemental to anything the Library has been able to do before.

The plan of operation of the "Duplicate collection" is as follows:

The Library has purchased a small number of duplicates, 76 volumes to start with, of books which seem to be in greatest demand. These will be placed in a conspicuous place occupying the first bookcase to the right of the main loan-desk On being withdrawn from the Library, these books will be specially covered. Any person, whether a regular card-holder of the library or not, may withdraw one or more of these books on payment of one cent per day per book. Persons not regular card-holders may be required to deposit against the withdrawal of books, the value of such books. The co-operation of users is asked in the Library's effort to keep these books clean and attractive, so that they may be sold later if advisable after the demand therefore has decreased. Attention is called to the purpose of the Library to increase its stock of free books with any surplus receipts from the duplicate pay collection, also to the fact that even those who do not care to take advantage of the pay privilege will be benefited because of the decreased competition for the free books.

WITH THE JUNIOR GOLFERS.

The links at the Plainfield Country Club are a rendezvous for junior golfers today who are competing for the Metropolitan juvenile title. The competition this morning brought about some good results and some records are bound to fall before the event closes tomorrow afternoon.

A few hints for the junior:

1. Don't watch the pair behind, even if they drive into you. You can complain afterwards.

2. Don't experiment, unless you are in a desperate difficulty, or are dormy.

3. Don't watch your opponent, you are playing your game, let him play his.

4. Don't debate, even with yourself; there is the hole; there are your clubs.

5. Don't be too systematic, golf is a combat.

6. Don't take your eye off the ball—never. And when the game is over

7. Don't complain or explain.

A number of the juniors appeared a trifle fussed up when they teed off this morning but the fond parents present attributed this to absentmindedness. There are two limits to absentmindedness. One involves the case of the man who put his knife and fork in his lap and attempted to cut his stake with the napkin. The other involves that of a golfer who teed up his driver and attempted to swing at it with the ball.

Why is it:

That the slowest and poorest boy golfers always insist upon standing upon the putting green to count up their strokes and put down their scores?

The lad who starts out believing he is beaten in advance gives his rival dormie 18 before a stroke is played.

The difference between the youth array of talent is mainly this for us it's "pluck," for our opponents, "luck"—that turns in the winning score.

In the philosophy of many golfers, anything you can get away with is a well played shot.

A pointer. Spare the sand and spoil the shot.

BRUGGY COUNTED OUT.

Frank Bruggy, the former Bound Brook backstop, who has been playing a strong game for the Lawrence team of the New England League this season, was struck in the head by a pitched ball in a game against the Lynn Club last Wednesday and rendered unconscious. A physician was summoned from the stands and soon revived the burly catcher, who gamely returned to the game, taking a stand in left field. After striking the big fellow the ball bounded into the grandstand and struck a woman spectator injuring her slightly.

Queries, Comment and Answers

Sporting Editor:

Query—Please tell me the value of a silver dollar dated 1801? S. B.

Answer—The coin in question is now worth $1.15.

Sporting Editor:

Query—In a game recently played, a batter batted out of his turn and got a base on balls. The manager of the other side protested to the umpire and that official waved him to the bench. Then the pitcher pitched one ball to the next batter and the manager then stopped the game and made the umpire listen, then he called the man out. Now is the man out or does the rule in the book stand? Neither side presented an argument and the players on the side where the batter batted out of turn made no kick.

A bets B that the man was out. Is he or is he not? Will you please answer this question in the way you think best? O. P. C.

Answer—You do not make yourself clear O. P. C., but I take it that you are in doubt as to whether or not a man who bats out of turn is out. The man on the base is not out, but the next batter must be credited with the balls and strikes that the former batter had called on him before he reached first base. The first man does not become a base runner however, and must return to the bench, and await his proper turn at the bat.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Some time ago I noticed a query in your paper regarding the recent water pressure test that was made at the Woolworth building and would like to secure some additional information regarding this test. Was the water used in the test relayed in any stage of its journey or was it pumped direct and what was the exact pressure? C. B. M.

Answer—On the twenty-seventh floor of the Woolworth building there are two tanks and two smaller pumps, which in case of emergency can be used to relay the water pumped from the cellar, but neither this water nor the pumps were used in the test you speak of. It is estimated that the water was pumped 780 feet above the street level and the pressure in the sub-cellar was 350 pounds per square inch. At the nozzle the pressure was twenty-two pounds per square inch.

Sporting Editor:

Query—When will the big celebration occur on the battlefield of Gettysburg and does the Government pay the expenses of the veterans? S. S. M.

Answer—It will begin on July 1 and end July 4. Every veteran of both the blue and gray armies who was honorably discharged from the service, will be transported to and from and maintained at it by the government with government funds and an appropriation from his own State.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Who pitched for the Plainfield baseball team in the game played against Rahway on Crescent Oval July 8, 1905? Did Dave Driscoll play with the team on that occasion and how many hits did he get in that game? F. F.

Answer—Beck pitched that particular game for the Plainfield team. Driscoll was captain at the time and his record for that game was: A. B., 4; R., 2; H., 1; P. O., 7; A., 0; E., 0. He figured in one double play and Plainfield won 12 to 2.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Does the catcher get credit with a put out if a pitcher succeeds in striking out a batsman? G. O. P.

Answer—Well, I should say so. Who would if he didn't?

"MAC" SAYS

Wanted—Respectable party to adopt a healthy, acclimated jinx. Is gentle, house-broke and will work anywhere. Apply Bob Bogardus, manager Dunellen Central New Jersey League baseball team. (One time.)

Bogardus and his pets seem to be followed by a persistent jinx who will not let the Dunellenites return to their winning stride.

Dunellen's appearance on the diamond Saturday afternoon was the signal for a large turnout. The heat was very warm in the outfield, especially around the Harter territory and toward the end of the game it got hot around the plate. If the game had only been a circus we would have risked and said the heat was intense (A elite bog not much used in colonial times).

Uncle Si Garretson allowed as how he wasn't goin' to get all hot and he stayed around the first corner on several occasions instead of returning to the players' bench.

This loitering peeved Umpire Dalley and several times it looked as though Garry was ticketed for the shower baths (wherever they are).

The Plainfield outfield looked about 45629 per cent. stronger with Joe Harter. The wiley one worked Saturday like a demonstrating auto and certainly had his drivers sitting up and taking notice on several occasions.

If the Weather Gent is good there will be a two for one affair at the local yard on July 4, and the Pets allow it is nothing but a local win. If they keep up their work with the mace it's a cinch.

Harold Schenck appeared on the field Saturday afternoon and Manager Dorflinger will hand to his John Hancock at the next league meeting. The ex-collegian will probably play the outfield for the Pets.

Percy Harney, the Bound Brook twirler, shocked his many friends in that burg yesterday morning by packing up his duds and leaving for the Philadelphia Athletics' camp. Percy has signed a contract to play for Connie Mack.

A number of local juvenile jumpers and runners are taking daily workouts on Parker Field getting into condition for that Fourth of July meet. It will be a big affair and many local entries are expected.

Kiujiro Okazaki, a member of the Japanese parliament, an apostle of peace and a baseball "fiend" of the first rank, arrived in New York yesterday from Tokyo by way of England on board the Cunard liner Carmania. He comes primarily in the interest of peace between this country and Japan, but before he did anything in the way of diplomatic investigation he went to see the game at the Polo grounds between the Giants and the Superbas. The above is from a snapshot taken at the game.

NORWOOD A. C. OPENED ITS SEASON WITH A VICTORY

In a junior ball game played yesterday afternoon the Norwood A. C. nine defeated the Crescent A. C. by a count of 5 to 3. This was the first game of the season for the Norwood team and the victory will probably inspire the players soon to attempt to gain the city amateur championship. Rutledge and Harper formed the battery for the victors and both did excellent work.

Causebrook and Gilder, who formed the losing battery, did some good work in the points but were accorded discouraging support by their teammates.

SWATFEST WON BY THE SHAMROCK BALL TOSSERS

Heavy hitting on the part of individual members of the Shamrock A. C. brought that nine a victory in its clash with the Netherwood A. C. yesterday afternoon, the final score being 20 to 15. Both teams hit the ball hard and the runs were batted across the pan in every inning. Denny struck out nine batters and Maiden eleven.

LOCAL WOMAN GOLFER TIED FOR SECOND BEST NET SCORE

Playing on the Deal Club's golf course yesterday afternoon in the first round of the two-day golf tournament for women members of the Metropolitan Association, Mrs. N. P. Rogers, of this city, turned in a score card that was one notch higher than that of Mrs. W. J. Faith, who won both gross and net scores for the afternoon. Mrs. Faith's card was 89, while Mrs. Rogers had one of ninety.

Mrs. Rogers, who was playing under the colors of the Ballusrol Club, tied for second best net score with Mrs. C. W. Rendigs, of Midland. Mrs. Rogers' card: 90, 3-87.

ONE SIDED BALL GAME WON BY MONROE NINE

In a Sunday game the Netherwood A. C. was defeated by the Monroe A. C. by a score of 13 to 9, hitting Schinkle, the Netherwood team's pitcher, to the four corners of the lot. Healy, the Monroe's box artist, twirled his usual steady game, striking out thirteen men and allowing but two free passes.

The feature of the game was the hitting of Fitz, Dixon and Taynor. Anderson, the catcher, who relieved Morley in the second inning after the latter had sustained a serious injury to his hand, caught a great game. Fitz, besides being one of the leaders with the willow, did some excellent fielding.

MONROES WON A CLOSE GAME FROM MT. PLEASANT

Playing on Haskard's Oval yesterday afternoon, the Monroe A. C. defeated the Mt. Pleasant A. C. by a score of 9 to 8, winning the game by some heavy hitting at opportune moments. The feature of the contest was the slugging of Fitz for the Monroe, and Kane, Conner and Mowen for Mt. Pleasant. A double play was pulled off between Morley, Smith and Fitz. McClinton and Cullen also fielded well for the Monroes.

M'LOUGHLIN WINS FOR AMERICA

The match between the American champion, Maurice E. McLoughlin, of San Francisco, and the English crack, H. Roper Barrett, who were drawn together in the first round of the English lawn tennis championship at Wimbleton, England, yesterday, ended in a victory for the Stars and Stripes by 3 sets to 2. The match was freely fought throughout and ran its whole length before the more youthful competitor was able to overcome his English rival and claim the victory for America. Excitement among the big gallery of spectators ran high from start to finish, and McLoughlin was accorded a gratifying reception when his triumph was announced.

ORTON SUCCEEDS MIKE MURPHY.

Vivian Nickalls of the Detroit Boat Club and a former noted English oarsman, was yesterday elected rowing coach, and George W. Orton, a well-known distant runer, was chosen coach of the track team, at a meeting yesterday of the Board of Directors of the Athletic Association of the University of Pennsylvania. Both men have signed contracts for three years and will begin their duties next Fall at the opening of the college year.

House of Lords Royal Gallery

The Throne House of Lords

The House of Parliament From the River

ENGLAND is justly proud of her famous Parliament House—that commanding structure which stands on the banks of the Thames and dominates the view of London from every point. It covers eight acres and was erected at the cost of nearly fifteen million dollars, and is today the largest and most beautiful meeting place of any legislative body in the world. It was formerly known as the Palace at Westminster and was the home of a number of England's rulers before the time of Henry VIII. This monarch practically gave up possession of the splendid palace when he moved to Whitehall, leaving the Westminster Palace to the Lords, Commons and great offices of State.

The beginning of Parliament House dates back to the days of King Canute, who when he came to the throne of England took under his protection the abbey and monastery of St. Peter's at Westminster adjacent to the palace. In 1035 a part of this palace was destroyed by fire but it was soon rebuilt. Additions were made in the succeeding reigns, notably by William Rufus to whom the existence of the present Great Hall is due. Henry III added other apartments and redecorated the old ones. Nearly all of the Plantagenet Kings spent large sums on its extension and decoration. Several times it was partly destroyed, but this always resulted in the parts being rebuilt on a larger scale and decorated in a more beautiful fashion. The most extensive alterations were made during the reign of Edward II. The Courts of Law and offices of the High Treasurer and Lord Chancellor were rebuilt. The extent of the Palace at that period can be realized when it is known that it covered the whole of the site between Westminster Abbey and the river.

From the reign of Henry VIII the building at Westminster ceased to be a royal palace and all the succeeding events which occurred there are recorded in Parliamentary history. As time went on more space was required for the transaction of business and additions were added from time to time. This caused the accumulation of a lot of lumber in the cellars and an order was issued that it be burned in the grates. While this order was being carried out on October 10th, 1834, a flue was set on fire and notwithstanding that every effort was made to quench the flames the entire palace with the exception of the Great Hall was destroyed. Many of the pictures and articles of furniture were saved, but the historic old buildings representing the architecture of several centuries were swept away. The traditions, however, did not perish, for the rules and regulations of Parliament are the same today as they were centuries ago for no country clings to antiquated customs with a greater tenacity than Great Britain. As soon as the site could be cleared designs for a new building were invited, and one hundred and eight were submitted by English architects. A Parliamentary Commission was appointed to decide upon the style of architecture, and after much wrangling among its members the drawings that were submitted by Sir Charles Barry were selected. The design is based upon the Sixteenth Century Gothic style with some modern additions. Barry was hampered by suggestions from the Commission from time to time, but he finally succeeded in having one of the most beautiful buildings in the world erected. Certainly as a specimen of modern Gothic architecture it excels anything in existence today.

Visitors are shown through the building on Saturday, and ample time is allowed for a thorough inspection of the beautiful furnishings and decorations of the rooms. During the sessions of Parliament it is almost impossible to gain admittance as the accommodation for visitors is so limited that members are compelled to ballot each day for the right of issuing visitors' tickets. Parliament usually goes in session about two o'clock and closes at midnight. The visitors' entrance is by the royal staircase under the Victoria Tower which ascends to the Norman Porch, where a door on the right opens into the King's Robing Room. This apartment is rich in frescoes illustrating the legend of King Arthur. At the recent opening of Parliament King George V used this chamber when he donned his robe and crown for the procession which passed through the Royal Gallery to the House of Lords. There is nothing particularly noteworthy in this Gallery except the two large frescoes "The Death of Nelson" and "The Meeting of Wellington and Blucher After Waterloo."

It would be useless to attempt to describe in detail the beauties of these apartments, and the writer must be content to tell only of the things which seem to please the average traveler and the House of Lords is one of these. It has been called the "Gilded Chamber," and justly, too, for it is certainly the most gorgeous apartment in the whole building. It is lighted by twelve stained glass windows containing portraits of the Kings and Queens of England. In the niches between the windows are statues of the barons who compelled King John to sign Magna Charta. Red morocco benches are used to seat the five hundred and fifty noble Lords who are entitled to seats in the House. The throne, covered with a gilded canopy, is at the South end of the room. On the left is the Queen's throne, and on the right is a lower throne for the Prince of Wales. The seats on either side are reserved for Ambassadors and other distinguished guests. Directly in front is the "Woolsack" on which the Lord Chancellor sits, and at the other end is the Bar at which the faithful Commons attend to hear the speech from the Throne and to hear the Royal Assent to the bills which they have passed. Above are two galleries—a small one for favored visitors and another for the reporters. The room contains some remarkable frescoes, among them heroic symbolical figures of Justice, Chivalry and Religion.

The House of Commons is a much smaller and plainer apartment than the House of Lords but none the less interesting, for it was here that the great Gladstone used to speak and when in power dominated the policy of England. There, too, Disraeli, that suave, crafty statesman, forced Parliament to do his bidding many times. The Speaker's Chair takes the place of the throne, and the mace which rests on the table before him is the symbol of the dignity and privilege of the House of Commons. This room was first used in 1852 and has been the scene of many stirring events.

Westminster, or the Great Hall, is one of the show places of London. It is said to be the largest hall in the world with a timber roof unsupported and was built by William Rufus and enlarged by Richard II. In 1820 it was discovered that parts of the roof were decaying and this was restored by the use of oak lumber taken from some of the discarded English battleships.

The Courts of Justice on the west side of the Hall are interesting from the fact that Kings and Queens have been on trial within their walls. It was in these rooms in 1517 that three Queens—Katherine of Aragon, Margaret of Scotland and Mary of France—pleaded with Henry VIII for mercy toward the four hundred and eighty men concerned in the "Rising of the Prentices." Thomas Wentworth, the Earl of Strafford, was tried there in 1640, while King Charles I and his Queen were seated behind a curtain listening to the case. Less than a year later King Charles himself was brought to trial as a "tyrant traitor and murderer." Warren Hastings was tried before the Court in this building in 1788. In 1882 the Courts were moved from this place to the Royal Courts of Justice Building on the Strand.

Fifth eight—Richard Potter, New Brunswick, defeated F. A. Reed, Baltusrol, 1 up; Keneth McKenzie, Plainfield, defeated Earl Van Doren, New Brunswick, 1 up.

The rising generation of golfiacs put in a large morning and larger afternoon, yesterday, at the Plainfield County Club in another attempt to find out what youngster of less than 19 years can most persistently pursue the pale pill.

Indeed, the juniors of the Metropolitan golfing district had such a good time last June in staying at the homes of Leighton Calkins, et als, that they managed to have a double dose prescribed this time and if they can stretch the fixture a little more they may be able to run in a junior promenade, cake walk or something of that sort.

The age limit has been shoved up a year, from 18 to 19, and if the trick can be done each season Steward D. Connelly, of Rockland, intends to keep on defending his title until he grows whiskers that are long enough to braid. From that point he can step directly into the seniors' annual contest at Apawamis. Surely now that the tribe of Apawamis has become the Omega of golf, why should not Plainfield be its Alpha? It is the greatest town on earth for kids, excepting Asbury Park.

Consternation was caused when Philip Carter, ex-interscholastic champion, announced that he was coaching his brother, Paul, who will be 4 years old next September, and has only a couple more teeth to cut for the 1914 contest. Said Paul was able to make a 190-yard hole up hill on the Bridgehampton course in 7 against par 3 before he knew his letters. Paul will play for the featherweight title.

Philip burst upon an unexpectant world as runnerup to John M. Ward in the Shinnecock Hills tournament when he was 13½ years old, but now feels his early education on the links was sadly neglected. The point is there is an upper limit at 19, but you can play the lower without hindrance, so why not get a glass enclosed course and try out the hot house forcing principle?

Somehow the extraneous features of the affair stick out more plainly than the golf, which is not unlike that of their elders. For instance, one contestant lost his ball back of a barn, had to drop back and loft his shot over a house and clump of trees and then went out of bounds. He gave no outward sign that he was thankful he wasn't in California and that the trees were not red-woods, but just grew mature, florid and used picturesque language.

Only one boy was disqualified and he because he erred from lack of knowledge as to rules. He was Kimball Atha, entered from Baltusrol.

New holes put in commission since last year have made the course three or four strokes harder, according to Phil Carter, whose latest fear is that he can never win high honors because his fingers are too short to grip clubs well. When he was a kid, he says, he caught for an amateur ball team, and he thinks the balls drove his fingers backward into the palms of his hands.

Not one left-handed player put in an appearance, which worried L. Calkins greatly. Lest the southpaws be-

OUTDOOR PLAY BY CAMP FIRE GIRLS

Presented Last Night for the Benefit of the Silver Bay Fund.

A large audience was given a rare treat at the Y. W. C. A. last night when the Camp Fire girls of the association presented a play entitled "Every Girl" in which members of the Kitchi Kimiwam division took the various parts. The story of the play, while simple, was well presented and Miss Marion Mair, as "Every Girl," took her part in excellent style. During the course of the entertainment, several dances which are prominent in the work of this organization were given, among which were the "Fire Fly Dance," "Wild Bird," "Dance of the Flowers," and the "Turn Tiller Folk Dance." At the conclusion of the play an epilogue was delivered by Miss Margaret Ewart, following the singing of "Wohele for Aye," the national camp fire song.

Among those who took part were the Misses Margarete Penny, Elsie Van Denburgh, Clara Hallard, Marion Englebrandt, Ellen Doughty, Elizabeth Wetherell, Ethel Glazier, Marjorie Burtis, Grace Van Denburgh, Mary Lynn, Marion and Gertrude Mair. The play was given for the benefit of the Silver Bay fund.

BAND'S FESTIVAL LARGELY ATTENDED

First Entertainment of the Dutch Arms' Band in Trinity Reformed Church.

An attendance numbering close to 800 persons, greeted the members of the Dutch Arms' Band of the Trinity Reformed church last night when they held their initial entertainment and festival in the Sunday school room of the edifice amid elaborate decorations consisting of a profuse display of red and white coloring, the colors of the band. Assisting the members of the organization in the entertainment were the Sunday school pupils of class twenty-four who gave a similar festival three weeks ago at which the Dutch Arms Band furnished the music and in return the Sunday school class did the work for this affair. The hall was appropriately trimmed with red and white crepe paper that was draped about the booths and pillars, and the platform on which the musicians were seated was covered with large American flags.

Pupils in the intermediate Sunday school classes acted as waitresses and served large quantities of strawberrie and ice cream during the evening. A musical program consisting of these numbers was rendered: March, "The White Hussar," by W. S. Ripley; schottische, "Darling Gracie," by W. S. Ripley; concert horn quartette, "Reverie" and "Red White and Blue;" serenade, "Evening Bells" by W. S. Ripley; march "Flag of Truce," by L. P. Lamendeau; march, "Green Mountain," by W. S. Ripley; march, "Honor Bright," by W. S. Ripley; waltz, "Till the Sands of the Desert Grow Cold;" waltz, "The True Friend," by W. S. Ripley; march, "Flag of Truce," by L. P. Lamendeau; finale, "The Star Spangled Banner."

MISS HELEN HYDE IN THE BRIDAL PARTY

Miss Helen Hyde, of this city, was one of the bridesmaids at the wedding of Miss Frances Castles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wesley Castle, of Normandie Park, Morristown, and Pomeroy Tucker Francis, of Troy, N. Y., which took place yesterday afternoon in St. Peter's Episcopal church, Morristown. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Philemon F. Sturges, rector of the church.

The bridegroom is one of the owners of the Troy Times. His father, the late Charles S. Francis, was for several years American Ambassador to Austria-Hungary and Minister to Greece, Roumania and Servia. The bridegroom was graduated from Yale in 1912.

CLOSED TEMPORARILY.

The International Motor Company has given notice that it will close its entire plant on June 27 for ten days to allow the company to make a number of needed repairs to the equipment and the boilers. The plant has been working steadily ever since it was operated some time ago and this will be the first time that operations have been suspended for any length of time. It is understood that many of the men, whose homes are out of the city, welcome the chance for a little vacation.

SO BE CAREFUL ABOUT FIREWORKS

Buy Only Those You Can Use for "Safe and Sane" Ordinance is in Effect.

WHAT LAW PROVIDES

Severe Penalties for Violation of City's Ordinance and it Applies to Dealers as Well as Retail Buyers in Plainfield.

Despite the fact that the Common Council has adopted an ordinance which provides for a "safe and sane" celebration of the Fourth of July, it is reported that local dealers have laid in their regular stock of fireworks and intend to sell them the same as in years past, which would be in violation of the new ordinance.

The ordinance distinctly specifies what the dealers can sell and that certain kinds of fireworks can be discharged on private property only, and the members of the Council say that in view of this no one will have any reasonable excuse for a violation. The first provision of the ordinance is that no person shall fire or discharge within the limits of the city any cannon, gun, revolver, toy pistol or fire arm of any description whether loaded with blank or full load.

The only exception is made in the case of military exercises or with members of the police department while on duty in defense of life or property. It does permit the use of small paper cap pistols. Roman candles, not over fifteen balls, mines not over fifteen inches in length, triangles not over twelve inches, colored fires, fire-crackers not over one-half inch in diameter, and torpedoes not over three-quarters of an inch in diameter, all of which can be used on July 4 only, unless the date happens to fall on Sunday and then on the following day, between the hours of 6 o'clock in the morning and 12 o'clock midnight.

The Mayor is given the power to issue special permits for the display and discharge of fireworks by properly qualified individuals at any time and place to be specified, but application for such permit must be made at least twenty-four hours before the time when the event is to occur. The ordinance further prohibits the setting in motion of any toy or other balloon containing a lighted torch or burning material of any kind.

Section five of the ordinance prohibits any person or corporation from selling such fireworks as are described in detail, but dealers are permitted to sell fireworks to be used in connection with an exhibition for which permission must be secured from the Mayor, and such purchaser must show his permit signed by the Mayor.

Persons violating sections 1, 2, 3 or 4 of the ordinance, which pertains to the firing or discharging of fireworks are liable to a fine of $20 for each offense, and dealers who violate the ordinance by selling those things prohibited, shall upon conviction, be punished by a fine not exceeding $100 for each offense.

CAN YOU BLAME BOY WHO LONGS TO SWIM?

The need of a public swimming pool in this city was shown this morning when four small boys were arraigned before City Judge W. G. DeMeza, charged with bathing in Green brook in the vicinity of the West End avenue bridge, in violation of a city ordinance. During the past few days a large number of boys, white and colored, as well as colored girls, have been visiting this swimming hole, which is in view of the public road.

Roundsman Charles Flynn, with an officer from North Plainfield, visited the place yesterday afternoon with the result that four boys were captured. The majority beat a hasty retreat, some carrying their clothes on their arms. While the colored girls found it more difficult to escape, they finally succeeded.

Judge DeMeza, in talking to the boys this morning, said that it was a shame that there is not a place in the city where they could swim without being molested. He advised the youngsters to walk to Scotch Plains, where there is a pond in which they can swim. The boys caught yesterday were Frank Smith, 10 years old, of 435 Spooner avenue; Edward Goff, 13 years old, of 541 West Third street; Cecil Harvey 13 years old, of 115 Madison avenue, and Dorco Pastor, 12 years old, of 116 Elm place.

HADLEY TO SPEAK AT REPUBLICAN RALLY

Missouri's Governor to Fire Opening Gun of the G. O. P. State Campaign.

Under the auspices of the State County Chairmen's Association and the Mercer County Republican Club the State campaign will be formally opened with a rally to be held in the Broad Street theatre, Trenton, Saturday afternoon, June 28, at which Governor Herbert S. Hadley, of Missouri, will be the speaker.

Governor Hadley has been in the East on business in Washington for several days and has been taking advantage of the opportunity to respond to a number of requests to deliver addresses. The plans for his appearance at the State Capitol were completed Monday night at a meeting of the Mercer County Republican Committee.

The fact of Governor Hadley being here caused the State County Chairmen's Association to decide on the time being opportune for the opening of the campaign and delegations will be sent to Trenton from every county in the State.

Former Assemblyman Herbert Taylor, of Essex county, president of the State County Chairmen's Association, will be selected as chairman of the meeting and he will be introduced by Frederic R. Brace, president of the Mercer County Republican Club.

Winkler's Second Regiment band has been secured to enliven the occasion and the theatre is to be profusely decorated.

FIRST EXCURSION FOR THE SEASON TOMORROW

Last Sunday morning's attendance in the First M. E. Sunday-school eclipsed all figures of the year; even Children's Day and Christmas were outdone. Here, as in nine other schools of Plainfield and Dunellen, the children were deeply interested in the distribution of tickets for the annual excursion to Ocean Grove and Asbury Park, which takes place on Thursday of this week. Plans are being made to take the largest number of persons to the shore that has ever gone out of Plainfield on a June excursion. The attractions on the boardwalk are all in full swing, except Pryor's Band, which gives its first concert at the Casino on the excursion day. Three Protestant Episcopal schools, Grace, St. Stephens and Heavenly Rest, accompany the Methodist schools of Plainfield and Dunellen and the Wilson Memorial and Evona Chapels. The committee will generously take all the children and teachers from the Plainfield Children's Home to the shore as its guests for the day.

The Central Railroad will make an extra effort to accommodate the patrons of the inaugural excursion of the season. The train will run in three sections, of ten coaches each, the first and third sections carrying baggage cars for the convenience of those bringing trunks, baby carriages, etc. The first section will leave Dunellen at 8.05 a. m., and stop at Clinton avenue, Grant avenue and North avenue. The second section will make only the Grant avenue and North avenue stops. The third section will stop at Grant avenue, North avenue and Netherwood. Returning the first section will leave Asbury Park at 7.05 p. m., the others following at three-minute intervals. They should be home by 8.30.

FOR FIRST TIME HE SAW AN OCEAN LINER

For the first time in his life, William F. Pagels, a noted architect, whose home is in Chicago, saw an ocean steamship today when as the guest of Jacob E. Waldorf, of East Seventh street, assistant freight traffic manager of the Hamburg-American Company, he inspected the Imperator, the giantess of the seas, as she was about to depart from New York on her triumphal initial return trip to Germany. Mr Pagels was escorted about the "boat" by Commodore Ruser and before the steamship left was a guest at a private luncheon.

Mrs. Pagels, who is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Waldorf, will leave on the Kronp'n Cecilie on Saturday, July 5, for an extended stay abroad.

COMMISSIONS TO LOCAL VETERANS

Seventy-five From This City Will Attend Fiftieth Anniversary Celebration.

GOVERNMENT AS HOST

More Than 40,000 Veterans Expected to Be Present—Gettysburg Transformed Into a Tented City—Cared for by the Government.

When the annual encampment of the Pennsylvania G. A. R. opens next Thursday morning an influx of veterans from all parts of the country, among whom will be nearly seventy-five from Plainfield, will take up their headquarters at Gettysburg for the grand reunion celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of one of the greatest conflicts of modern times, the decisive battle of the Civil War. The New Jersey veterans, as well as those from all other parts of the country, will find all arrangements for the great gathering completed and every detail perfected both as to the care of the Union and Confederate veterans and the visitors during the anniversary celebration. The great battlefield at Gettysburg has been transformed into a tented city and the festivities will begin on July 1 and end on Independence Day. The local veterans received their papers from Washington yesterday and will leave this city early next Tuesday morning.

It is expected that fully 40,000 old soldiers will attend the half century celebration and many of these will bring their families with them. While in Gettysburg they will be entertained by the Pennsylvania veterans and for their comfort and entertainment the Federal government, individual States, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the G. A. R. and the United Confederate Veterans have worked unceasingly for nearly a year and the presence of the old soldiers themselves only remains to make the celebration one of the most unique events in the history of the nation.

Many of the veterans will spend their time in true war fashion, camping in the open air on army cots and in tents furnished for their comfort by the government. For the use of the reunion participants the Government has provided numerous small tents and for some distance around the border of the town there have been erected large brown tents in which bunks for five men are supplied, also a sufficient amount of food and cooking utensils so that the men can take care of themselves to a large extent during the celebration. Water mains, sewage pipes and drainage systems have been put in operation and before the veterans begin to arrive next week a new electric lighting system will be installed.

A great tent, seating between 10,000 and 15,000 persons, has been erected adjoining the main camp in which all exercises and reunions of the veterans will be held. The Pennsylvania Gettysburg Commission, in charge of the arrangements for the reunion has urged that all veterans, North and South, wear army corps or division badges as a means of identification. The commission has made no recommendation in the matter of wearing of uniforms, but each old soldier, whether "Rebel" or "Yank," will be welcomed heartily in their old wartime costumes.

In order to avoid as far as possible congestion of the railroads at the station at Gettysburg in bringing and taking away crowds the camp will be opened, in complete readiness, on Sunday, the 29th, and will continue open until the following Sunday, July 6. This applies to the veterans only.

The entire State constabulary today is establishing headquarters at Gettysburg to police the crowds, which are expected to run up into the hundreds of thousands. The encampment grounds, inside and out, will be guarded constantly by regular army troops. The camp is located near the famous battleground at the southwest edge of the town and adjoining historic Seminary Ridge and the scene of Pickett's charge.

According to the latest plans of the reunion commission, the first day, July 1, will be "Veterans' Day," with exercises under the direction of the Pennsylvania Commission, the G. A. R. and the United Confederate Veterans. July 2 will be "Military Day," when there will be exercises conducted by the United States army. On July 3, "Civic Day."

WANT 4 CYLINDER FIRE ENGINE HERE

Councilmanic Committee to Advise New Bids for Auto Fire Apparatus.

The Councilmanic fire and building committee will meet Friday night to take steps to re-advertise for bids for an automobile fire engine, it having been decided that what is needed here is a four cylinder engine, instead of a six, which was advertised for a few weeks ago. That is the opinion of the committee and it will recommend to the Council that bids be re-advertised for at once.

Councilman Fred Endress in speaking of the matter today, said that in Plainfield such a high-power engine as a six cylinder is not needed, and that seemed to be the opinion of others who are conversant with this style engine. Personally, he favors purchasing two smaller engines, in preference to one big machine. The committee with Fire Chief Doane will go to Roselle tomorrow night to witness a demonstration of a LaFrance automobile engine. If it is decided to re-advertise for bids, arrangements will be made at once to have an official test of the engines of the bidding concerns.

JURY IS STILL OUT IN DR. LAWSON CASE

No Verdict Yet Following Physician's Trial on a Criminal Charge.

Elizabeth, June 25.—The case of the State against Dr. James F. Lawson, of Plainfield, charged with performing an illegal operation on Karin Anderson, of that city, was given to the jury at noon today and at 2:45 o'clock the jury was still out.

Dr. Grimberg, the interne in Muhlenberg Hospital, Plainfield, was the only witness on the stand this morning. He testified as to the condition of Miss Anderson while she was in the hospital, and although contradicted by other physicians called for the State, it was considered by those in court that on cross examination the prosecution was unable to shake his testimony.

SEEKS TO RECOVER $500 FROM THE P. S. C.

Richard McCullough, of North Plainfield, is the plaintiff in a $500 damage suit against the Public Service Corporation, which is being tried today before District Court Judge Walter L. Codington represents the plaintiff and Clarence Case, of Somerville, is counsel for the company.

The collision between the defendant's rig and the automobile is said to have occurred on November 29, 1912, on Westfield road Roselle. The occupants of the car were injured, it is alleged, beside the damage to the car.

REHEARSAL NIGHT CHANGED.

Beginning this week and until further notice the rehearsals for the junior Municipal orchestra will be held on Tuesday evenings instead of Thursday evenings in the Washington School auditroium, under the direction of Martin A. Korff. The regular weekly rehearsal was held as usual last night and a large increase in the number of musicians was noticed and the enthusiasm over the new idea evidenced itself on every hand. The next meeting will be held Monday instead of Tuesday and many more instrumentalists are yet needed.

GREAT OVATION GIVEN FIELDER

Acting Governor Greeted by Enthusiastic Crowd Advocates "Jury Reform."

SAYS HE'S CANDIDATE

Review Efforts for Some Satisfactory Plan for Reforming the Jury System—Entertained at the Queen City.

Upon the occasion of his first visit to Plainfield, Governor James C. Fielder, last night, was given a great ovation by a large number of people who had gathered at the Plainfield High School auditorium to hear him discuss the subject of "Jury Reform." As he entered the auditorium the Governor was greeted with a hearty round of applause and when introduced by Mayor Percy H. Stewart the orchestra played "Hail to the Chief," while the audience again applauded. Incidentally, the Chief Executive announced himself as a gubernatorial candidate and this was the signal for more applause.

In introducing the Governor, Mayor Stewart commented on the fact that it was fortunate that the city has opened the public schools for such gatherings where great public questions can be discussed and citizens can get in close touch with one another and hear the factors in the great undertakings at Trenton and elsewhere. He said that all had reason to feel proud of the records of the Governors of New Jersey and that it was hardly necessary to refer to the preceding and present Governor as shining examples. He hoped, he said, that Governor Fielder would consent to become a candidate for Governor, which announcement brought forth hearty applause.

In taking up the subject of "Jury Reform," Mr. Fielder spoke in part as follows:

"Considering how hard it is to arouse public sentiment it is gratifying to see so many people here. What is everybody's business is generally nobody's business. The advantages of getting together in this way are of incalcuable value. It is a fine thing to discuss jury reform and other public questions in a school like this, a building which belongs to the people. I was glad to learn that even before the Legislature passed a law opening the public schools for such gatherings, your city had already taken this step.

"While I am to speak on the question of jury reform, I am glad to have an excuse to meet the good people of Plainfield. The subject is not a dead issue. You voters will be called upon in the fall to give your attention to it at the polls. It required scandals in some of our counties to arouse the people to a sense of duty.

"In the past our grand juries have been drawn by the sheriff, who have been the arbiters. Efforts have been made in a legal, but not true method and it has been so with our petit juries. They have been picked. The sheriff's office has been under the control of a boss or influence of some kind and there was no fear of the criminal law. It has generally been a case of regard for past favors. There have been indictments where there should not be and there have been cases where indictments were not found when they should have been. It is not necessary to specify any particular sheriff, but the whole system has been wrong.

"The desire was to change the system by taking so much authority out of the hands of one man and place all the necessary safeguards about the system so that grand and petit juries who would do their duty might be selected. I have seen the blind, the lame and the halt drawn for jury, men who were too lazy to earn a living who took this easy method of earning $2 and it has been common knowledge that it was impossible to get a verdict in some cases. The bar association took the matter up and afterward sheriffs became a little more careful.

"Several remedies have been suggested. One does not want to quarrel with the Legislature. I believe that the majority are honest and when they said that 'the people elect the sheriff, can't you trust him?' the argument seemed almost undisputed. In theory this was all right, but not in practice.

"If the sheriff happens to be a good fellow it is almost impossible to defeat him on any single issue. I believe that the Supreme Court Justices should name commissioners and they in turn select juries. I thought that the best plan whereby the system could be taken out of politics. There is no politics in the selection of Supreme Court Justices nor in its decisions and we should feel proud of that fact.

"The plan to have two commissioners, representing the two leading parties, appointed, they to select jurors by lot or random, failed. I drew this bill at the request of Governor Wilson and submitted it, but the Legislature did not agree with it. There was another plan, that of having the Governor appoint commissioners, but I did not think that wise as the Governor is more or less connected with politics and always will be and he does not know men as well as the Justices. Then at a conference between the Governor and the Democratic members of the Legislature the plan of having the Chancellor appoint a commissioner to work with the sheriff in the selection of juries, was suggested and it was agreed to submit this to a vote of the people. A referendum was insisted upon.

"It was thought wise to curtail the powers of the sheriff and to eliminate him as far as possible from politics. I prepared a bill providing that the sheriff in each county select a list of grand and petit juries, the same to be submitted to the Supreme Court thirty days before the opening of court, the court to have the power of striking off as many names as thought wise and if more than 20 per cent. of the names were eliminated, a new list was to be prepared. If not then jurors were to be selected from the original list.

"According to this system metal disks bearing numbers corresponding with the jury lists, there being two boxes, one for the grand and the other for petit juries and they to be selected by chance. Next November you will have an opportunity to vote on this proposition.

"I believe it to be as much a duty for a man to serve on a jury as it is to vote. I would impose a fine if a man refused to serve. We cannot get a proper jury or system so long as men refuse to do their duty. You never know when you will get into court and in that case you want your case submitted to a jury of your peers, men who are thoroughly competent to judge the merits of it and in this way you are all interested."

The Governor then referred to the eight years he has served in the Legislature and now as the Chief Executive, declaring that this service had tended to widen his knowledge and give him life-long friends. He counted these years the happiest in his life. He considered that a man is amply rewarded for such service and urged those present not to let a chance to serve the State go by, adding that the State needs such men. The Governor emphasized the importance of people keeping in touch with their legislators and letting them know their wishes, not waiting until they do something they don't like and then criticise them for it. Pat them on the back and encourage them when they do well. It goes a great way. Mr. Fielder recalled an incident since he became Governor in which he invited a certain prominent and influential citizen of Essex county to call at his office and discuss the jury reform bill, believing that he might be able to get his help. He failed, however, being told that his measure was all wrong and that the people did not want jury reform. "I was criticised for that act," said the Governor, "but I want to say that if I cannot talk with any man in this State five minutes without being contaminated it is time I got out.

"We as Democrats now know how to do things and need another year to perfect legislation. We must redeem promises made, ascertain what the people want and then by united effort give it to them. Locally we are getting away from partisan politics, and I think it is a good thing.

"I am trying to succeed the biggest Governor New Jersey has ever had. It is a large contract and I recognize the brains and ability of my predecessor and I realize I suffer by contrast but I am an accidental Governor. You had to take me as you had no choice. I have a little ambition and have consented to become a candidate for the nomination and I am ambitious to be elected." Addressing the Democrats present, Governor Fielder asked them to remember what he had said when the primaries are held in the fall.

Prior to the meeting, the Governor was entertained at dinner at the Queen City Hotel by members of the Plainfield Democratic Club, under whose auspices Mr. Fielder came to this city.

RECREATION CENTER FOR THE YOUNG FRIENDS ASS'N

A finely equipped and laid out playground for the exclusive use of the Young Friends' Association will be opened on Watchung avenue in the rear of the site recently purchased for the new postoffice and adjoining the Friends Meeting House. The ground has been leveled off and a baseball diamond will prove one of the most popular diversions for the juvenile pleasure seekers. There will also be tennis courts.

All kinds of outdoor games will be fostered by those in charge of the movement and the playground will be run on an independent scale with athletic supervision during the summer.

CARTER STARS IN JUNIOR PLAY

come extinct and there is no one to furnish an object lesson as to the desirability of ambidexterousness he has a scheme to rear a few golfers in an exclusively left-handed arm chair lunch.

To make a complete story of the festival, mention should be made of this season's styles in summer drinks among the boys. You can imbibe anything non-intoxicating, so long as it is purple to match Connelly's locks. Talk about the chocolate soda Lew Fields used to draw in "The Girl Behind the Counter" after the neckties in the case had furnished the desired shade! Grape juice was found to be the most convenient thing to tint such tonsil varnish. Lest some fond parents fear fermentation was lurking in the bowl, let it be expressly denied. Even the brandied cherries were locked up in the safe, lest the visitors get "ossified" thereon, while only weak tea was served them, and when toast went with the tea there was a standing order to make the toast weak also.

"I should worry," said Steward Elk as he rolled in the fourth barrel of grape juice and put it on tap; "this grapeshot beats anything since the Concord fight."

One youngster drew a bye in the fifth set. After waiting half an hour, he told the committee he feared Mr. Bye was going to default.

The array of sons, brothers, nephews and cousins of golfing celebrities was unprecedented. Some said the game came to them naturally, and others as a sort of handdown. For instance, W. C. Shearns, Jr., cousin of Jack, the Princeton sharp, remarked: "Golf runs in our family, which is crazy over it. I'm going tomorrow to the Adirondacks for the summer. There's no golf there. Gee, I'm glad!"

EDUCATORS TO MEET AT SALT LAKE CITY

To Start Campaign to Raise $10,000,000 for Education's Advancement.

Salt Lake City, Utah, June 25.—The local committee in charge of arrangements for the annual convention of the National Educational Association, here next month is in daily receipt of advices indicating that the attendance will establish a new high figure in the record of the association's meetings. The convention will be held the week of July 7. The general sessions will take place in the Mormon Tabernacle, famous for having the most wonderful acoustic properties in the world. Numerous other halls and auditoriums will be used for the meetings of the different departments and sections of the convention. The speakers before the general sessions will include many of the most eminent educators of the country. It is expected that the convention will perfect the plans for the proposed nationwide campaign to raise $10,000,000 as a permanent interest bearing fund to be used to advance the interests of public education though the association. The money is needed, it is declared, to meet the new demands for educational progress.

TELEGRAPHED PARENT THEY WERE MARRIED AND HAPPY

Red Bank, June 25.—"We are married and happy," read a telegram received late Monday night by S. L. Sherman, of Branch avenue, here. The message revealed the elopement and marriage of his son, Fletcher Sherman, aged twenty-five years, to Myrtle Aller, aged eighteen years, daughter of Cornelius Aller, of Monmouth street, Red Bank. The principals were married in Philadelphia Sunday evening. They eloped on the eleven o'clock train from Red Bank Sunday morning. Miss Aller was a member of next year's graduating class of the local high school. This morning the parents of the couple said they knew of an intended marriage, but did not expect it to happen before Miss Aller was graduated.

BOY OPENS BANK ACCOUNT WITH PART OF STOLEN CASH

Summit, June 25.—With part of the proceeds of a raid on the cash register in the saloon of Robert J. Murphy, of Union place, Fidi Lucanio, twelve years old, of 26 Orchard street, opened an account in the First National Bank and now has $1.25 to his credit. That is all that remained of $30 he admits having taken.

According to the boy's story, he gained entrance to the place Sunday afternoon. The theft was reported to the police. The Lucanio lad, who has been involved in similar situations before, brought suspicion on his own head by the prodigality with which he was spending money.

The boy bought a bicycle and quantities of candy, ice cream and ginger pop. When he got down to $1.25 he decided he had squandered enough and accordingly opened the bank account. His arrest followed.

P. H. PACKER FILES CHARGES FOLLOWING FLAGPOLE RAID

Long Branch, June 25.—Coincident with his spite fence troubles, P. Hall Packer, former Mayor of Seabright, has been involved in a fresh dispute. Fulfilling an order of Council, William H. Conover, superintendent of streets, and Patrolman Edward Brehm Monday chopped down a flagpole that Mr. Packer had erected in that town, east of Ocean avenue, near the railroad tracks.

Packer at once caused warrants to be issued against Conover, Brehm and Councilman Calvin Magill, charging trespass, and has retained Attorney-General Edmund Wilson to press the case.

Some time ago the Council ordered Packer to remove the pole, but he declined. He had put it up several years ago and declared it was on private ground. The Council gave notice that if the pole was not removed it would be chopped down.

The "spit fence" trouble is of long standing—the fence shutting off from view the $10,000 bungalow of Mr. Packer. An effort is being made by Rumson road cottagers to buy the property of J. M. Allgor, adjoining the Packer premises, to remove the fence.

HURLED THROUGH WINDSHIELD.

New Brunswick, June 25.—Alexander Arskine and his daughter, Ethel, of Philadelphia, were severely injured Monday, when their automobile struck a telegraph pole on the Metuchen road near here. Both Arskine and his daughter were hurled through the windshield and they suffered cuts and bruises about the head and body. They were brought to the Wells Memorial Hospital, where it was said they would both recover. Miss Arskine was at the wheel of the automobile when the accident occurred.

THE CURRENCY QUESTION.

President Wilson read to Congress on Monday his second special message. Like his first, it was short and to the point. It was upon the question of Currency reform. The President has the capacity of stating much in a few words. He has thus established for himself a reputation for short, yet illuminating messages. Everybody reads them. Such messages are very instructive. The people like the innovation. It is probable that the custom he has established will never again be departed from.

The currency scheme, as proposed, seems to meet the general approval of Congress, the press and the people. The general imprssion is that it purposes a plan that will put the control of the output of money in the hands of the National authority, and remove it from the manipulation of the banks and a few bankers. The very thought of a few men directing the rise and fall of the money of the nation has been and is most obnoxious to the masses. The people believe that the money of the country should be in the control of the officials elected by them and the removal of such control from a few banks and bankers makes the plan suggested very popular.

It is evident the President feels that the proposed plan is a necessary complement to his tariff policy, and that it is essential to its success. A successful reduction of the tariff without any injury to business, coupled with a wise currency revision will make the administration at Washington very strong with the people. The way the President has so far handled both the tariff and money problems has evidenced great wisdom and statesmanship. It is an enlightened public exhibit. It has been a remarkable public example. Its wisdom, conservatism and constructive statesmanship command unusual admiration.

OFFICE SEEKING THE MAN.

No man should receive a nomination this year for Governor of the State simply because he wants it. In these days of direct primaries, nominations should be left to the people. That is the purpose of the primary, and, more than that, the candidate who does the least to get a nomination will be the most likely to receive it. The people know a lot more about whom they want to see nominated than the political manipulators think, and they know one thing better than any other, and that is they do not want machine made nominees in any party.

AN INDEPENDENT CHILD.

The Progressive party held a meeting of its State Committee at Asbury Park last week. The spirit shown indicated that there is great interest throughout the State in the Progressive cause. There was not the leas tlack of interest or fighting spirit. Nineteen of the twenty-one counties were represented and the other two reported activity all along the line. There was not a discordant note as to the future of the party.

By unanimous action it was voted to run a Progressive candidate for every State and county office. No amalgamation, no fusion, was the watchword. If the Republicans or Democrats wish to come along and nominate the same candidate nominated by the Progressives, they can do so, but no act will be done by the Progressives which by any possibility may merge the Progressives with any other party or destroy the political entity of the Progressive party. The Progressive party is a lively child.

ENEMIES AS AN ASSET.

The Democrats in New York seem to be having a fine time. Sulzer is certainly stirring up the snakes. He has Murphy and Tammany Hall after him good and hard. But he should be glad of that. He should not desire a greater compliment and he surely could have no higher commendation of his work. When a public official has the approval of a political boss like Murphy and a machine like Tammany Hall, good-citizens should shun him.

Such opposition is high praise. Many a man is loved for the enemies he has made.

LaMonte has saved the people the trouble of pricking his gubernatorial balloon for he has done that for himself. Ordinarily a man who can't carry his own county at an election and obtains office only by appointment would not make a vote-getter in a State election and this seems to apply to the political campaign financier from Somerset county.

Says the West End Avenue Sage: "If this jury reform and all these other reforms spring into being, there will be no necessity for living. We can just flap our wings and fly to heaven." But the W. E. A. S. adds that this mundane sphere looks good to him for some time to come.

LAWN FESTIVAL FOR CHURCH ORGAN FUND

Park Avenue Baptist Church Women's Strawberry and Cream Festival.

Many attended the strawberry festival held on the lawn at the home of Daniel Van Winkle, on East Fifth street, yesterday afternoon and evening under the auspices of the women of the Park Avenue Baptist church and as a result the organ fund of that church has been considerably swelled and the affair was a great success in every way. Tables were arranged on the spacious lawn and a committee consisting of Daniel Van Winkle, Nathan Wilson and Fred Mills decorated the shrubbery and trees with large American flags, and Japanese lanterns were strung over the tables to furnish the necessary light for the diners.

In the evening, Dr. Maguire, the pastor of the church, took the guests on short automobile trips about the city and this added much to the pleasure of the occasion. The committee on arrangements consisted of Mrs. Thomas Gage, Mrs. Daniel Van Winkle, Mrs. Ira Van Arsdale, Mrs. Chas. Steiner, Mrs. Geo. Place, Miss Florence Hawkins. The candy table was in charge of Miss Elinore Stutsman and Miss Betty Mills and cake was sold by Miss Edith Bush, Miss Nellie Gage and Mrs. William Doane. Miss Edna Groff, Miss Martha Casner, Mrs. Willard Maxim and Miss Carrie Kling were in charge of the lemonade table. The waitresses were the Misses Marie Kling, Evelyn Manley, Hilda Van Winkle, Laura Lord, Ruth Maguire, Mabel Stutsman, Ora Bush, Gertrude Groff and Mrs. Charles Hellyer and Mrs. J. M. Hawkins.

Luhr is in charge of the general arrangements, which insures a good time for everyone.

THE FORUM.

"JEFF AND MUTT."

Editor Plainfield Daily Press:

Dear Sir:—The communication appearing over the signature of "Fritz" Endress, in yesterday's issue of your paper was probably written by Mr. Endress' counsel, who is indeed an excruciatingly funny man, as indicated by his outburst of humor at different points in the half column diatribe.

I am only interested in the Madison avenue widening proposition by which Mr. Endress, at the expense of others, seems to benefit to the extent of being paid for a portion of sidewalk, now in public use; therefore, I shall not attempt to argue with him as to whether my knowledge is superior to that of the Commissioners, but the assessments levied by the Commissioners appear so inequitable that those who are perhaps not so intelligent as the gentlemen in whose hands this important matter was entrusted, and Mr. Endress, can readily see the inequality.

As to my activity in Berkeley Heights referred to by Mr. Endress, I would state, that I have no occasion to feel ashamed of the part I played in closing the "Diamond Hill school house," which was the last ungraded school in Union county, with an attendance so small as not to warrant keeping it open. My action was directed by a majority expression of the people and was approved unanimously by the Board of Education of which I was president and was also approved by the County Superintendent of Schools.

I learned yesterday, from friends at Berkeley Heights, that Mr. Endress had spent a portion of a day there looking into my character, and to learn all that he desired. I am informed that he dispensed hospitality with a lavish hand at the village hostelry. I am glad that Mr. Endress has investigated me, because I feel that my public and private character will stand out as favorable in the limelight of public scrutiny as will his, or anyone else's.

I am not the self-appointed president of the Board of Trade, as Mr. Endress suggests, but on the contrary, was elected to that office at a meeting attended by seventy-nine members, among them being Mr. Endress. He has since declared that he will resign from the Board of Trade because the executive commitee took up the Madison avenue widening proposition.

So far as Mr. Endress' personal attack upon me is concerned, I can only say that in a matter of this kind where justice is at stake, we must expect to be slandered by the vituperative tongues of those who seek to benefit by injustice.

With reference to the little anecdote at the end of Mr. Endress' letter, concerning a command by Abraham Lincoln's father to rid the farm of skunks, and Abe's reply that the more you stir them up (meaning the skunks) the more they stink, impels me to say, that so far as the present issue is concerned, the offensive odor is on the Endress side, which would seem to indicate that the pole cat is in close proximity to him.

The fact still remains that Mr. Endress has not answered the point in question, that is, why he should receive damages at the rate of $23.63 per foot and his neighbor, on the basis of $6.93 per foot. Nor does he further explain, why he should get damages now, when two years ago he requested the Council to take the land in question without cost to the city, so greatly would the widening of the street improve his property.

WILLIAM JEFFERY,
Pres't Board of Trade.

A WORTHY CAUSE.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

Mrs. Murray, of Terrill road, whose husband was killed some time ago by an automobile driven by a well-known resident of North Plainfield, as Mr. Murray was returning home from business in New York, is very anxious to keep her little farm of twelve acres, so that she may bring up her family of eight children to be useful, healthy and independent. It is Mrs. Murray's motive now to secure a garbage route in Plainfield, thus enabling her to keep chickens, raise some pork, fertilize the little farm for raising vegetables for market and last, but not least, to use the revenue collected from customers for removing garbage, to a mighty good advantage. Mrs. Murray's oldest boy, not yet sixteen years, is certainly proving himself the man of the family and since the sudden death of his father who was earning a fine salary, this young boy bas been the pride of his mother and sisters in working from early morning until late at night and shouldering the family burdens with his mother. He has now secured a good outfit and is prepared to collect garbage in any part of Plainfield on or after July 1. All who are willing to help this most worthy family of a mother and eight fine children to be happy, helpful and independent and will allow this boy to collect the garbage as mentioned are requested to address, P. A. Murray, Terrill road, Plainfield, N. J., R. F. D.

FIELDER ON GEBHARDT'S SOMEWHAT STRANGE ACT

Governor James C. Fielder upon his visit to Plainfield, last night, was questioned by newspaper men as to the impropriety of William C. Gebhardt, clerk of the Supreme Court, using the official stationery of his office in writing to Governor Sulzer, of New York, in his efforts as a lawyer to prevent the extradition of Miss Gertrude Nelson from Brooklyn to Union county, where she was wanted as a witness in the case against Willis S. MacRorie, the deposed Mt. Horeb Methodist minister.

The Governor declined to commit himself on the subject, other than to say that he could not understand how an official might do such a thing. However, he did not think it a judicious practice. Referring to the argument before him when Prosecutor A. A. Stein was seeking extradition papers, the Governor said that Mr. Gebhardt, who opposed the action, "did not have a leg to stand on," and he promptly complied with the request of Mr. Stein.

Keep Books With Your Furnace

Many heating systems make but partial payment on running cost and up-keep. They ceaselessly cry "coal," "coal"—"attention," "attention," and repay a never-ending outlay of cash and labor with chilly rooms, dust, dirt and discomfort.

"Square Pot" Furnaces never treat you that way. They pay back every dollar of installation and up-keep cost in thousand per cent dividends of comfort and satisfaction — in healthy house warmth and in lessened demands on pocketbook and time.

Here you see the square firepot. Ashes never clog it.

The Square Fire-Pot does it. This firepot increases heat radiation by almost 25 per cent and, by the simple turning of a crank, maintains a live fire. This means efficient service without heat waste. It means less care. It means more for your money. Square Pot boilers for hot water and steam heating have these same good features. Ask your dealer to demonstrate them.

Transplaning Successfully.

A good deal of money is wasted by the amateur in her garden because she does not understand when, what and how to transplant. Most annals and perennials, both, do better for transplanting at least once. Many should be transplanted twice. A few, among them poppies, should be planted where they are wanted, and never moved.

How and When.

A successful florist says that every plant—excepting a few, like poppies—should be transplanted three times to do their best. The annuals, for instance, if they are planted early in the spring in a box in a sunny window should, after the second leaves have appeared, be transplanted into a bigger box. A few weeks later they should go into two-inch pots and a few weeks after that into the garden bed. If they are planted out of doors two transplantings will do; the first when the second leaves have come, the second before flowering time. One transplanting, after the second leaves appear, strengthens and improves annuals, and is all most amateur gardeners are willing to undertake.

Perennials, planted in the spring, after warm weather has arrived, should receive their first transplanting early in July. They should then be put in rows a couple of inches apart where they can be watered and weeded through their first summer. Sarly in October they should be transplanted into their permanent position, where they will bloom next summer

The trouble with transplanting, as it is often done, is that the roots of the plants are allowed to become dry. If they never become dry, the plants will wither and die. Try putting an inch of water in a tin pan, and dropping the seedlings into this as soon as you dig them up from the seeding bed Carry them in the water to their new home and leave them in it until the ground is ready for them. Then put them in, dripping wet, pack fine, dry earth around the roots and pour two or three tablespoonsful of water about each plant. Cover each with a little tent of newspaper through the sun of its first day, and water it at least three times in the first twenty-four hours. Cared for in this way any transplanted root will live. As an added precaution, transplant everything late in the afternoon, after the sun has gone down, so that it will have the cool of the night before the heat of its first day in its new home.

Some Cookery Suggestions

CRYSTALLIZED FLOWERS.

ANY flowers which are not poisonous and which taste good may be crystallized. These crystallized flowers make dainty accessories to a summer luncheon. Roses and violets have the most agreeable flavors. The scent of the sweet smelling flowers seems to become crystallized into taste.

Preparing the Fluid.

The flowers must be fresh and quickly dried. A good way is to spread them on trays in a warm room or place them upon a shelf where the sun may dry them. They must not become limp or they will not crystallize.

While the flowers are drying the materials for crystallizing them should be prepared. For this dissolve one-half teaspoonful of isinglass in a teacupful of hot water; boil one-quarter of a pound of lump sugar in a half pint of water until it forms a thread from a cold spoon. Allow both solutions to become cool, but not thick.

Dipping the Flowers.

Take some powdered sugar. If an entire spray of flowers, as a spray of roses, are to be crystallized the liquid should be poured into convenient sized dishes, and these should be nearly filled.

The flowers should be dipped into the isinglass water one by one, and then held head downward for a short time so it may run off them again. They should then be dipped into the spun sugar and drained thoroughly. With a sugar sifter the whole of the stalk and petals is then covered with the powdered sugar.

Treating the Petals.

The petals require very careful treatment. Grasp the flowers just below the head with the fingers of the left hand and with the right hand separate any of the petals which may have been caught together with the sirup. For this you can use a pair of tweezers or a small camel's hair brush.

The flowers may now be laid on oiled or slightly buttered white paper to dry. For this part of the process a very even heat is necessary.

The flowers must not be put in the oven, near a hot fire or anywhere that there is likely to be steam. They take overnight to dry. If they are damp on the under side when the rest is dry they may be turned over and powdered again with sugar.

The Swallows Built a Nest on the Tent.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

The Emperor And His Little Feathered Guests.

"YES," said daddy; "very odd places our little friends, the birds, sometimes choose for building their nests."

"What was the oddest place you've ever heard of, daddy?" Jack and Evelyn asked as they leaned over his chair.

"Well, let me see," daddy replied. "There was once a very great soldier named Charles. He lived about 400 years ago. He was the ruler of Spain and Germany, and he had many wars, in which he generally was the winner.

"In one of these wars this emperor with his army pitched camp before an old town which was particularly hard to take. In those days towns had high walls built around them.

"When the Emperor Charles and his army tried to take the town of which I speak they knew they would be a long time winning it. So they pitched their camp there. All over the great field outside the city walls rose the tents of the army, and largest of all was the tent of the Emperor Charles.

"It was springtime, and the little birds were coming back to that pleasant country from the winter homes far off in the lands where grew the orange and the olive trees.

"Among these home returning birds was a pair of swallows, and when Mrs. Swallow looked about for a place in which to place her nest she took a notion to build it high upon the emperor's tent. It was carefully concealed, and at first no one noticed it, but by and by some camp busybody spied it out and told some one else. One day quite a large party stood staring at the little swallow mother brooding over her eggs.

"'The little swallow seems to think the emperor's tent but a shed,' some camp joker said, trying to make fun of the good emperor's simple ways.

"The joker did not know the emperor was in his tent and was greatly frightened when he strode out to see what they were talking about.

"When he saw the little feathered mother he said: 'She is my guest. Let no one dare hurt or trouble her.'

"At last the army made a hole through the walls of the city, and the soldiers began to pack up their tents to take them with them when they moved into the town.

"Only the emperor's tent was left standing, for, as he went, he looked at the nest in which the little swallow mother now had her feathered babies. They were not yet quite ready to fly.

"'Leave it standing,' Emperor Charles said to the soldiers who stood ready to take down his tent. And so the tent stood till the swallow's little brood had learned to fly and gone off to find homes of their own."

VOTES FOR WOMEN

Conducted by the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield.

It is unquestionably true that the organization of the anti-suffragists has already been of marked benefit to the suffragists in this State, since it has caused women to be aroused from their lethargy and indifference concerning political matters and made them think. When people think intelligently without prejudice or guile on this important subject of woman suffrage, they invariably become suffragists. The writer called upon four women in Plainfield last week who are pronounced suffragists, but who have hitherto failed to enroll themselves in the local league because they have conscientious scruples against belonging to an organization in which they can do no active work. They are glad, however, to express their sympathies with the cause of woman suffrage by signing the white slips which are now being circulated from house to house, and which call for neither dues nor actual work. Personally, I believe that a large proportion of the women of New Jersey are inclined towards suffrage and have needed only the stimulous of opposition to align themselves under its banner.

Since the anti-suffragists are still claiming that only a small proportion of the women of the country want the ballot, we urge every silent sympathizer with equal suffrage to send her name at once to Mrs. A. B. Jones, 981 Central avenue, chairman of the enrollment committee. Now is the time when, if you really love your country and are eager to do your full share of service to the world, you can best help by enrolling. The ballot is the most powerful and the most peaceful of all weapons; without it, a large part of all the work that women are doing in churches, clubs, societies and as individual charity workers, is wasted effort. There is no more pitable sight than to see some women trying to block the path of other women in their upward progress. Said a thoughtful business man to the writer recently, "I can well understand why some men might oppose the ballot for women, but why any woman should try to keep the vote from her sister is beyond my comprehension, since she, herself, does not need to vote unless she choose." "True," I replied, "But the anti-suffragists claim that they would be forced to vote to offset the ballots of the 'bad' women." "Oh well," he said, "if women are going to be so much more conscientious than men in using the ballot, we surely need their vote, and it should be actually demanded of them for the good of the country." "Queer, isn't it," he continued, "that any women could hold such opinion of her sex and be so ignorant of the results of woman suffrage where it is in force. How do you account for it?" "Ignorance and prejudice," I replied, "the two great obstacles to civilization and progress in the entire history of the world. I venture to affirm that if any fair-minded woman, now doubtful as to the value of the ballot to herself and to others, would read the Woman's Journal faithfully for four months, getting from it the enlightening news from all over the world, she would become a suffragist. But the trouble is to get them to read it."

The issues of the Woman's Journal of June 14th and 21st are so important and interesting that I wish they might be read by every man and woman in America. Telling as they do, of the recent splendid victories in Illinois, Norway and in the U. S. Senate Suffrage Commitee, the text of whose remarkable report is given in full and may well be termed a classic, they are valuable for record to anyone interested in the cause of human progress. They include, also, interesting accounts of the Congress of the International Woman's Suffrage Alliance at Budapest, over which our own Mrs. Carie Chapman Catt presided, and where five continents and twenty-five nations were represented by official and fraternal delegates. On June 17th Mrs. Catt was presented with an address, signed by the delegates of all the countries, assuring her of their love and esteem and begging her to reconsider her intention to resign the presidency. The whole audience arose and remained standing while the address was read. Mrs. Catt warmly thanked the delegates, but her personal opinion was that the president should serve only one term.

In these above-mentioned Journals will be found, also, a full account of the funeral of Emily Davison in England, and the thrilling story of that brave Englishman, Frederick W. Pethick Lawrence, who has sacrificed his entire large fortune and his heirship to a larger one, as well as his liberty and his health, to the cause of woman suffrage. It is pathetic to note that "He was forcibly fed 114 times, resisting to the limit every time." (The cablegrams, incorect as usual, gave it as 14 times). A few weeks ago he was released under the Cat and Mouse Bill, with shattered health but unabated couragge. Though so changegd as to be hardly recognizable, and too weak to leave his bed, he sent a plucky letter with his ticket of leave to a huge protest meeting, where the letter was read and the ticket of leave torn up in sight of the audience, amid thundering applause, Israel Zangwill making, on this occasion, one of the greatest speeches of his life.

"Victor Hugo says there is one thing more powerful than kings or armies—'The Idea whose time is come.' This year twelve State legislatures have given majority votes of both Houses for suffrage, and eight of them were States that had never done so before. When the chairman of the legislative committee in Massachusetts, was congratulated the other day on geting a big majority for the suffrage amendment in the Lower House for the first time in history, she answered, 'It was the changed atmosphere that did the business.' It would not have done the business in Massachusetts or anywhere else, without good legislative work; but the best of legislative work could not have done it before the political atmosphere changed. The change came last November when three great States were added to the suffrage column, and the country, for the first time, woke up to a realization that equal suffrage was inevitable. Illinois had a seasoned boat and most skillful oarswomen, and this enabled her to come in on the crest of the wave."

A. S. B.

LOUISE B. DORR.

In regard to the anti-suffrage assertion that thirty State forbid night work to women, Mrs. Florence Kelley writes:

"Only four States have any closing hour whatever for adult women. They are Massachusetts, New York (passed this year), Indiana and Nebraska. None of these has been tested in any court of last resort, State or Federal. Twenty-six States place some limit upon the working day, but twenty-two of them have no closing hour. The interesting fact is, however, that California, Washington and Colorado—all of them suffrage States—have the eight-hour day, thus marching ahad of the procession."—Woman's Journal, June 21st.

FASHION HINT

By JUDIC CHOLLET

Drapery is exceedingly smart, and just the little bit shown in this skirt is so girlish in effect that it is especially adapted to the younger contingent.

TWO PIECE DRAPED SKIRT.

The shaped overlapping edges are pretty and unusual too.

Altogether the skirt is most attractive and available for the coat suit, the entire dress and for wear with separate waists. It consists of only two pieces, the back being fitted by tucked darts. The making is easy and the result modish.

For the sixteen-year-old size the skirt will require three yards of material twenty-seven inches wide, the width at the lower edge being one and a half yards at the bottom.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes for girls fourteen, sixteen and eighteen years of age. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 7300, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

OFFERS CASH FOR BRIDGE.

Newton, June 25.—If the Board of Freeholders will raise the River Styx bridge four feet higher above the water when they repair it, Hudson Maxim, an inventor and a resident at Lake Hopatcong, has offered to provide $1,000 toward the additional expense. The proposition has been received by the Board, and there is not much doubt that they will attempt to raise the structure. Mr. Maxim says that the bridge is too low over the river, a tributary of Lake Hopatcong, and that it interferes with navigation.

GOLF TOURNEY.

New Haven, Conn., June 25.—The annual tournament for the championship of the Connecticut State Golf association was opened under favorable conditions today on the links of the New Haven Country Club. Many players of a high class are among the entrants and some spirited competitions are promised. The final rounds in the tournament will be played Saturday.

Queries, Comment and Answers

Sporting Editor:

Query—A batsman takes his position and then runs up four feet on the first ball pitched to him. He strikes at it and misses. The umpire calls him out. Was this decision correct?—D. R. T.

Answer—If the batter stepped out of his box, the umpire did right in calling him out. The batter's box is six feet long, so you can see that it would be possible for the batter to step up four feet without violating a rule. In the case you mention the umpire probably called the batter out for stepping beyond the limits of the batter's box.

Sporting Editor:

Query—A batter hit a ball in front of the plate and as he starts for first the ball bounds up and strikes him. Is he out?—F. U. L.

Answer—If the ball hits the runner in fair territory, which it did in this particular case, he is out.

Sporting Editor:

Query—I am under eighteen years of age. Can I secure a motorcycle license?—G. U. Y.

Answer—You could, but be careful.

Sporting Editor:

Query—There is a man on third base with two strikes on the batter. The batter, who has a grouch on about something, throws his bat at the third strike and causes the catcher to miss the ball. The runner on third scored and the batter made an attempt to get to first on the "missed third strike." I called the batter out for interference and sent the runner back to third base. Was I right?—R. P.

Answer—If the conditions were as described the batter was out for interference, and the runner should be sent back to third.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Kindly tell me how to find out if an article is patentable and what it costs to patent an article.—D. A.

Answer—You'd better consult a patent attorney or a manufacturer or dealer in articles similar to the one you have invented. Between $75 and $100 is the usual cost, including lawyers' fees for patenting an article.

Sporting Editor:

Query—How can a local canoeist enter the races to be held on the Cranford River, July 5?—K. T.

Answer—Write direct to the Cranford Canoe Club, Cranford, N. J.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Who was secretary-treasurer of the Plainfield Baseball Club when Philip Doab managed it?—E. D.

Answer—Lipes Groo served in that capacity.

BASEBALL NOTES

Zimmerman and Bridwell are the only members of the Chicago Cubs batting for .300 or better.

After cleaning up in their series with the New York Yankees the Cleveland Naps fell down badly in the East.

McDonald of Boston, Cravath of the Phillies, and Hyatt of the Pirates are having a merry battle for the batting honors in the National League.

Manager Chance declares that he has scratched Bermuda off his list and that the Yankees will go elsewhere for their training next spring.

Pitcher Perryman who was with the New York Giants last year, is flinging in good style this season for the Roanoke team of the Virginia league.

The Brooklyn Dodgers are breezing along about 150 points higher in the National league standing than they were at this time last year.

Pitcher Dick Rudolph, who is winning games for the Boston Braves, was tried out by the Giants several years ago and turned adrift by McGraw.

Baseball fans of Auroro, Ill., presented Charley Stengel, of the Brooklyn team, with a handsome gold watch during the recent visit of the Superbas to Chicago.

The showing of Joe Kelley's Toronto Maple Leafs this season has been pretty much to the gloom. Last year Joe's boys won the International league pennant.

A party of French citizens of Woonsocket, R. I., recently journeyed to Boston to see the playing of Dubuc and Rondeau, of the Tigers, who compose the only French battery in captivity.

Captain Dave Morey of the Dartmouth College baseball nine has signed with the Philadelphia Americans. He is a pitcher with plenty of speed and a good variety of curves.

Connie Mack's Athletics already have won 11 games from New York Yankees. The White Sox have been almost equally successful against the Tigers, having won 10 games from Jennings outfit.

Josh Clarke, formerly with the Boston Braves and the Kansas City Blues, has succeeded "Ducky" Holmes as manager of the Sioux City team. He is a brother of Fred Clarke, the manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

It is said that Pitcher Snyder, recently released by the Quincy Three-I league club, is a professional pugilist. He licked two or three players and got away with it, but when he wopped an umpire on the knob he was handed his hat.

Of the dozen leading pitchers of the American league the Athletics have five—Bender Plank, Houck, Brown and Bush. The Naps are next with four—Falkenburg, Gregg, Mitchell and Blanding. Johnson of Washington and Collins and Wood of Boston complete the list.

It looks as though Rube Marquard's record of winning 19 straight games in the National League, and the performances of Walter Johnson and Joe Wood in copping 16 straight in the American league last season will stand good for some time to come. Both Alexander of the Phillies and Falkenberg of the Naps cracked after winning 10 straight this season.

MRS. ROGERS WINNER OF GROSS SCORE PRIZE

Local Woman Defeated Mrs. W. J. Faith in the Final Round of Play.

Because Mrs. W. J. Faith, of Wykagyl required a score of 100 in the second and final round of the two-day tournament for the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association, over the links of the Deal Golf and Country Club Monday, she lost her opportunity to win the gross cup. Her total was 189.

Mrs. N. Penington Rogers, of this city, with a foundation of 90, came in with 97, for a total of 187, which captured the honors. Mrs. C. W. Rendigs, of the home club, also returned a 187, but her handicap of 8 for the double round left her the net 179, and in view of the fact that she had captured this prize, she could not take the gross.

Mrs. Rogers' card was 187-6, 181.

GYMNASTIC UNION'S TURNFEST AT DENVER

30,000 Visitors, of which 6,000 Are Active Turners, Gather There.

Denver, Colo., June 25.—What promises to be the most successful turnfest ever held by the North American Gymnastic Union began in Denver today and will continue until the first of next week. In honor of the occasion the business section of the city is gorgeously decorated with flags and bunting combining the national colors of the United States and Germany. Thirty thousand or more visitors are expected here during the meet. Over 6,000 active turners will participate in the different events and exhibitions.

The athletic contests and gymnastic exhibitions will take place in the great stadium recently completed here. In addition to these exhibitions there will be contests in singing and oratory. Historical pageants, with scores of magnificent floats and hundreds of beautifully costumed men and women, with brilliant electrical effects, will occupy the evenings during the festival.

At the conclusion of the turnfest the thousands of visitors will start on sightseeing excursions to Pike's Peak, the Garden of the Gods, the Royal Gorge, Glenwood Springs and other Colorado resorts and places of interest. Many of the Eastern visitors will make the trip to the Pacific coast before returning to their homes.

COSGROVE AND DALTON STAR AS AMATEUR BALL PLAYERS

"Wallie" Cosgrove and "Bill" Dalton, who played right field and third base respectively for the Plainfield baseball team last year, are playing this year with the Crescent team in the amateur league which includes Englewood, Seventh Regiment, Montclair Commonwealth and South Orange. On Saturday, the Crescent A. C., which is leading the amateur league with a clean record, defeated South Orange by a score of 16 to 1, hits, of which Dalton led with four, and Cosgrove came next with three. Cosgrove is the lead-off man and Dalton follows him in the line-up.

The winners collected twenty-two

THREE LOCAL RACERS ENTER BIG REGATTA

Slocum, Schooley and McNamee Will Be Starters at the Cranford Event.

A trio of Plainfield canoeists have entered the annual regatta of the Cranford Canoe Club which will be held on the Cranford River on Saturday, July 5, in connection with the yearly carnival. An attractive array of prizes have been offered for competition and the local paddle wielders are optimistic of their chances of making a clean-up in the respective events in which they have entered. Plainfield has heretofore been represented by not more than a single entrant in this big event and up to this time no prizes have come to the Queen City. This year, however, the Plainfield competitors look decidedly stronger and will no doubt make a pressing bid for honors.

Two of the Plainfielders have been practicing regularly on the South Plainfield lake where they have a canoe and will represent Plainfield in the regatta, while the third will sport the silks of the Tuscarora Canoe Club. Louis Slocum and Daniel McNamee are the Queen City representatives, while William Schooley, another local boy, will race for the Newark club. All three of the entrants have done more or less competitive racing during the past two years, Schooley probably being the more experienced of the trio. Slocum and McNamee have been competitors in a number of minor meets and McNamee was one of the racers in the Spring Lake, Wesley Lake and Belmar carnivals at the shore last summer.

Schooley will pair off with Sanford Spawn, a teammate, in the Cranford doubles and both of these men will enter the singles. They will oppose Slocum and McNamee in the doubles and the two Plainfielders will also enter the singles and will again have to compete against Spawn and Schooley. The Newark boys are also contemplating entering the swimming events but it is not known whether or not the Queen City representatives will try this particular part of the program.

SUMMER SCHOOL OPENS.

Morristown, June 25.—The summer school for clergy under the auspices of the social service committee of the Episcopal Diocese of Newark, has opened at the Morristown School with about thirty-five clergymen in attendance. They arrived here about 5 o'clock and were taken to the school, where afternoon tea was served and later dinner. The session will continue until Friday. The courses announced are: "Pastoral Work in Country Districts," by Rt. Rev. E. M. Parker, bishop coadjutor of New Hampshire; "Sociology," Herbert N. Shenton, of Columbia University. "Community Leadership of a Country Church," Rev. Howard Bartow, Cohasset, Mass.; "Community Problems," Professor E. L. Morgan, Massachusetts Agricultural College; "Social Service in a Church," Rev. F. M. Crouch, field secretary of the joint commission on social service. Special lectures are expected from Mrs. C. B. Alexander, of Hoboken, and by Rev. R. H. Milton Augustine, of Hanover. The clergy in attendance are entertained at the school, the usual staff being retained until after this gathering.

AUTO HITS PASTOR AND WIFE; LATTER DIES OF INJURIES

Pennington, June 25.—From injuries received, when she and her husband were run down by William Trudel's automobile in Main street, Princeton, Mrs. Wright Eckersley, wife of the pastor of the local Methodist church, died here at her home yesterday. Mr. Eckersley, who was dragged by the car, was not seriously hurt.

Mrs. Eckersley never recovered consciousness. Besides sustaining internal injuries, she had concussion of the brain, a broken leg and many bruises.

Her daughter, Miss Edna Eckersley, is in Scotland, where she went last fall to study.

In explaining the accident, Mr. Trudel, the owner of the car, says he was turning into a lane, and thought the Eckersleys were going to clear the driveway before he could reach it.

Mr. and Mrs. Eckersley came here about three years ago from Easton, Pa.

DENTISTS TO CONVENE.

Asbury Park, June 25.—Demonstrations and lectures on the care of children's teeth will be a feature of the convention of the New Jersey State Dental Society to be held here July 16, 17 and 18. Clinical work will be emphasized.

Members of the association are looking forward with interest also to the reading of a paper on "The Human Mouth in Relation to Preventive Medicine and Public Health," by Dr. W. G. Eberseole, of Cleveland, secretary of a "mouth-hygiene movement." A public lecture along the same lines, with lantern-slide illustrations, will be delivered by Dr. Thaddeus P. Hyatt, of New York.

Arrangements for the convention are being made by Dr. W. I. Thompson, of this city, president of the association; Dr. H. B. Van Dorn, of Red Bank, president of the Monmouth County Dental Society; Dr. Joseph Kussy, of Newark, president of the Central Dental Association; Dr. Henry Fowler, of Harrison, chairman of the State society clinic committee, and Dr. J. H. Wagner, of Elizabeth.

SEEK "BETTER BABIES" BLANKS.

Asbury Park, June 25.—A request came yesterday for a "Better Babies" contest entry blank for Lillian Dorothy Smith, of 193 Hollywood avenue, East Orange, who, according to a letter received by Colonel John W. Aymar, chairman of the carnival commission, is "eighteen months old, can walk, has sixteen teeth, can say 'papa' and a number of other words." The letter is signed "Edward C. Smith, per L. M. S."

J. C. Hall, general agent of the Home Life Insurance Company, with offices in the Scheuer building, Newark, has written for information about the "Better Babies" contest. He says that while he does not intend to enter any of his children in the baby parade, he might enter his youngest in the contest.

OCEAN GROVE PROGRAM.

Ocean Grove, June 25.—Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink will give a concert at the Auditorium, July 21, it was announced yesterday by Tali Esi Morgan, musical director. Sousa and his band will play in the afternoon and evening of August 11. A children's festival will be held August 2 and the oratorio, "Messiah," will be sung August 9. The queen's coronation will take place at the Auditorium August 15, and on August 20 there will be a "Fairyland" festival.

COMMENCEMENT AT OBERLIN.

Oberlin, O., June 25.—George E. Vincent, president of the University of Minnesota, spoke before the graduating class of Oberlin College today on "A Philosophy of Life." President King presented diplomas to one of the largest classes in the history of the college.

PLAN TO RESTORE HISTORIC CATHEDRAL,

100,000 Catholics Appealed to Aid in Repairing Edifice Burnt in 1794.

New Orleans, La., June 25.—Letters were mailed to 100,000 Catholics in the parish of New Orleans today calling on members of the church for contributions to repair the historic St. Louis Cathedral in this city. One hundred thousand dollars is needed to save the old structure which threatens to collapse.

The cathedral was completed in 1794. It was a gift to the city from Andres Almonester y Roxas. His only request in return for his generosity was that a mass be said each Sunday afternoon for the repose of his soul. During the 119 years that have intervened there has been no omission of this service. Owing to the present dangerous condition of the cathedral the priests say this mass each sunday at the risk of their lives. No other persons are allowed to enter the building.

As were all the old buildings in New Orleans, the foundations of the cathedral were laid on cypress sleepers. So long as these sills lay below the permanent water level they did not rot but with the improved drainage of to-day the permanent water level has been carried far below the old logs, which have rotted and allowed the walls to settle.

It is the opinion of Archbishop Blenk that there will be no difficulty in raising the $100,000 needed, as it will require only one dollar from each member of the parish to make up the entire sum.

AUTOISTS' CHIEF, WHO SAVED OTHERS, CAUGHT SPEEDING

Atlantic City, June 25.—Franklin Hodge, president of the Pennsylvania State Automobile Association, recently sent out scouts through Jersey, who discovered that Squire Weeks, of Pleasantville, five miles across the meadows from Atlantic City, was the most dangerous to speeders.

Hodge then sent out several thousand circular letters, warning members of his association and autoists in general about Weeks. Sunday he started for a short trip himself. He got as far as Pleasantville and then forgot about the warning he had sent out. When he hit the mainland borough the speed trap caught him.

Yesterday Hodge admitted the charge and paid $10 fine and costs.

"ALEXANDRA DAY" OBSERVED.

London, June 25.—"Alexandra Day," an annual observance instituted last year in token of the loyalty and affection of the people for Queen Alexandra, was widely celebrated today throughout the United Kingdom. About two-thirds of the people seen in the streets of London wore Queen Alexandra's favorite flower, the little pink and white wild rose. Flower stands were erected in many of the public squares and were presided over by ladies of the nobility. The proceeds of the sales will be donated to numerous charitable and benevolent institutions in which Queen Alexandra is interested.

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

By far the best program so far this season is on the boards for the free circus at Luna, Coney Island. Sensational acts fill the entire bill. The performance, which is given in a large ring over the lagoon in the center of the park, is continuous from noon until midnight and the whole show, as well as many other features may be witnessed for the price of admission to the park which is only ten cents. Luna was never as inviting as it is now. Cool breezes pervade it from end to end and the many shaded nooks and corners are a welcome relief to superheated denizens of New York. This has been amply proven by the record breaking crowds that have journeyed to Luna Lely the past week. Fire and Sword, the realistic reproduction of the fall of Adrianople in the war between the Balkan States and Turkey is the big show, in fact the biggest Coney has ever had. The modern warfare is well worth seeing, particularly if your best girl is one of the nervous sort who wants to hold hands when the guns go off. Beside Fire and Sword the Fourth of July will be a quiet and peaceful day of rest in some country town. All the new rides and thrills are thronged daily. There are sort of odiferous roller coasters, compromises between a switchback and the chutes, and giddy dips which furnish sensations for a time. Tornado and Flood, the reproduction of the Omaha and Dayton disasters continues to draw and there is the new animal show. This is the Darling aggregation with twenty groups of wild animals, far better trained than the average. Huge lions, tigers, hyenas and bears, many of them handsome fellows, go through their work in a quiet obedience to their trainers that is a pleasant contrast to most acts of this sort. The evolution of Luna this year is the greatest achievement in the history of the amusement world. As though a magician had waved his magic wand over its acres of beach land Frederic Thompson has transformed the whole enclosure into a wonder place of novelties.

THATCHER DEAD; FAMED MINSTREL

Former Plainfielder, Pioneer Burnt-cork Comedian, Dies at East Orange.

HE TRIED X-SCIENCE

His Life on Stage Began at Age of 12 and He Played Many Parts in His Time—Once Leader in "Big Three" of Minstrelsy.

George Thatcher, one of the pioneers of negro minstrelsy, and a resident of Plainfield for many years, died yesterday at the home of his nephew, Joseph M. Thatcher, 7 Glenwood avenue, East Orange, in his sixty-fourth year. Death was caused by a cancer in the back of the neck. Mr. Thatcher was active until last March, when he was obliged to leave "The Littlest Rebel" company at New Orleans, where he had been playing with Dustin Farnum. A physician then pronounced the ailment incurable, but members of the family refrained from telling him that he had cancer. It was suspected, however, that he knew what the trouble was, though he never spoke of the disease.

Mr. Thatcher had never professed religion, but he became a Christian Scientist and said many times that his one reason for wanting to get well to show the world "what wonderful things God has done for me."

Thatcher was born at Huntly, Md., on July 15, 1849. He ran away from home at the age of 12 and early in life went on the stage. He got his first start with the San Francisco Minstrels. In the '80s he was one of the big three in Thatcher, Primrose & West's Minstrels. Later he took out his own company, Thatcher's "Tuxedo," and then his comic opera, "Africa." At times he played in vaudeville, doing monologues which he wrote himself. He also appeared in the role of a porter in George Ade's "County Chairman." For the last two years he played an old negro part in "The Littlest Rebel." His wife, whose stage name is Zenaido Williams, was in the company with him.

Mr. Thatcher at one time lived in Westfield, later removing to this city, purchasing a fine residence on West Eighth street, where he lived for a numbers of years during his success in ministrels. He had many friends in this city with whom he was popular. Some few years ago he appeared at the Plainfield theatre, playing the part of "Sassafrass Livingston," in "The County Chairman," in which he made a big hit. Within the past year he appeared in vaudeville at Proctor's theatre, where he was given an ovation by his friends.

The minstrel's funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at East Orange. Frank Howard, once of Thatcher's company, who wrote "When the Robins Nest Again" and "Only a Pansy Blossom," will sing "Could He But Speak Again." It is also likely that Dick Jose, who was also in the company, will sing.

Mr. Thatcher is survived by his wife and one daughter, Mrs. Joseph K. Parker, of Little Silver, N. J.

MRS. FITZHUGH WILL BE GIVEN NEW TRIAL

"Mrs. Catherine Randolph Fitzhugh," the young woman who confessed to stealing a mesh bag in St. Bartholomew's church, New York, belonging to Miss Dorothy Fisk, of this city, is to have a new trial. Judge Swann has so decided because two jurors in court yesterday upon his invitation said that they would have voted for acquittal had the testimony been presented to them.

Judge Swann was clearly provoked. He declared that the evidence was overwhelming against the defendant, adding, "This is the worst I ever saw in all my life. We will have to open the default much against my will and sense of justice. If this case is to be tried again we ought to have moving pictures of the crime. I would suggest that jurors be notified that a crime was about to be committed so that they can be present and see it."

GREAT TRAVELOGUE.

The entertainment to be given at the Plainfield High School tomorrow night will include some of the best talent appearing in New York the past season, Judge John Ulrich, under whose auspices the affair will be given, having spared neither expense or pains to secure the best. Aside from the travelogue, which will take the audience to interesting places abroad as well as this country, the musical program will be of an exceptional merit. The artists are famed for their talents and the program will be a popular one throughout.

MISS JANE EVERITT IS NOW MRS. ROSER

Bride's Cousin, Rev. George Bolsterle, Officiates at the Ceremony.

Miss Jane M. Everitt, of the borough, and Charles D. Roser, of Chicago, were married at 7.30 o'clock last night at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Mary E. Bolsterle, on Fairview avenue. Rev. George Bolsterle, pastor of the Anderson Memorial Reformed church, of New York, and a cousin of the bride, performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a gown of crepe meteor and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses. She was attended by Mrs. William Fraser, of East Orange, a cousin, while William Fraser was the best man. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Frederick Everitt, of East Orange. The wedding march was played by Miss Mary O'Conner, of this city, and Mrs. Alfred Seidel sang "O Promise Me," after the ceremony.

Mrs. Roser is a graduate of the training school for nurses at Muhlenberg Hospital, class '09, and the guests included a few of her graduate nurse friends and relatives to the number of about fifty. Following the ceremony there was a reception and later the couple left for Chicago, the former home of the bridegroom. Upon there return they will reside in Rutherford.

The bridegroom is connected with the Union Carbide Company, of New York, and for some time past has been making his home in Plainfield. The bride received a large collection of wedding gifts from relatives and friends. One which she prized highly was the orange blossoms sent to her by her uncle, William Everitt, of Santa Barbara, Cal., which she used as a part of her personal adornment. During the reception, supper was served by Mrs. Henry Johnson.

MISS HELEN CASE DR. SHERMAN'S BRIDE

Her Brother, Rev. Clifford P. Case, Performs the Marriage Ceremony.

Somerville, June 26.—Miss Helen S. Case, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Case, of Hightstown, formerly of this place, and Dr. James Sherman Ogden, of Paterson, were married at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the First Reformed church. Rev. Clifford P. Case, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., a brother of the bride, performed the ceremony, assisted by Rev. Dr. William S. Cranmer, pastor of the local church.

The maid of honor was Miss Mabel H. Case, sister of the bride, and Miss Gladys Kovessy, of New York, was the flower girl. The ring bearer was Miss Elizabeth Case, niece of the bride, from Poughkeepsie. Charles W. Moore, of this place, was the best man and the ushers were Clarence E. Case and Albert E. Case, brothers of the bride, and Walter Barnes, of this place and Kenneth Hankinson, of New York. Miss Laura Hoagland played the wedding march and the junior choir of the church sang.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Case. The bride received a large number of gifts. She was formerly a teacher in the public schools of Somerville.

STRANGERS CLUB GIVES A FINE ENTERTAINMENT

A musical and literary program was rendered last night by local talent under the auspices of the Stranger's Club at Mt. Zion A. M. E. church. Old-time songs by the Lambert Quartet were well received by the large audience which taxed the capacity of the church auditorium. Recitations by Samuel Jackson, J. A. Whiting, Robert Watson, W. H. Peoples, together with vocal and instrumental music by O. F. Anderson, Mrs. James Height, and A. P. White comprised the remainder of the entertainment, which was concluded by a short address by the pastor, Rev. W. H Hicks.

The committee of arrangements consisted of O. F. Anderson, F. S. Wood, J. H. Whiting, G. T. Hill, John Milford and J. E. Ingraham.

GETS VERDICT FOR DAMAGES TO AUTO

McCullough's Counsel, W. A. Coddington Secures $344 For Injuries to Car.

Former Judge William A. Coddington, counsel for Richard McCullough, of North Plainfield, who sued the Public Service Electric Company, for damages to his automobile in a collision with the defendant's wagon, secured a verdict of $344.62 in the District Court yesterday for his client, which was the full amonnt asked for in the action. The case was tried yesterday before Judge Walter L. Hetfield, and the jury rendered its verdict at 7 o'clock last night after a short deliberation. Judge Clarence E. Case, of Somerville, represented the corporation. The accident took place on the evening of November 29, 1912, in Westfield road, Roselle Park.

In the McCullough auto were Joseph McCullough, son of the plaintiff; his sisters, the Misses Mary and Anna McCullough and Miss Lena Parrault. According to the testimony, the corporation's wagon was lacking lights to make its presence in the road noticed by the drivers of other vehicles. When Joseph McCullough steered the machine to one side of the road to avoid a mound of dirt the wagon struck the left side of the auto. A ladder protruding far out from the Public Service vehicle struck Miss Parrault rendering her unconscious and the auto was badly damaged.

The Public Service, through Mr. Coddington, settled all claims made by the injured women, but refused to pay for the fixing of the automobile with the result that suit was instituted.

DAY'S OUTING FOR GEORGE LUHR'S BOYS

The Knights of the "No Pushee, No Pullee" Invaded Palisades Park.

Over one hundred trolleymen, accompanied by their families enjoyed an outing yesterday at Palisades Park given under the auspices of the Dunellen Public Service Social and Athletic Club. The Dunellen delegation were joined by the local contingent at 10:30 and the start for the amusement park was made in special trolley cars, the use of which was donated by the railway corporation. En route the party was added to when members of the club working on the Rahway branch joined the excursionists.

Arriving at the park at 1:45 o'clock in the afternoon, the happy gathering immediately started to enjoy the various attractions. Although refreshments were served on the trip a dinner was given in a large pavilion at which Superintendent George Luhr and Frank Keenan, local shop foreman, made addresses. For the many young folk that accompanied the P. S. R. employes, toy balloons and other things were distributed. The merry-go-round, scenic railways, shows and rides of many kinds were also enjoyed.

The homeward trip was regretfully started at 7 o'clock. Refreshments were again served while returning. The committee which arranged the pleasant affair are George Luhr, Frank Keenan, Herbert J. Smith, H. J. Eick, William Borgeff, P. A. Murphy and N. J. Nevins.

Final instructions to the Plainfield veterans who will leave Sunday morning for Gettysburg, Pa., to attend the fiftieth anniversary of the Battle of Gettysbrg were sent out this morning by Adjutant H. Craig Smith in the form of personal communications to answer the many questions that have been submitted to him during the past two weeks. Over one hundred old soldiers will leave Plainfield on the 5:18 train Sunday morning, assembling at the North Avenue station, where they will be supplied with the proper passports entitling them to transportation on the special train provided by the government. An order, signed by Captain William Hand and Adjutant H. Craig Smith, of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., notifying all the veterans to be on hand at the railroad station about 5 o'clock Sunday morning so that the Post may go in a body. Veterans suffering from infirmities of age or who are so ill that may make them dependent upon the government while in Gettysburg are asked to remain at home and only those who are well enough to stand the long trip involved are requested to make the trip.

Union and Confederate soldiers, aggregating 40,000 in number, are expected to be present on the historic battlefield when the observance opens Thursday morning, coming from all parts of the country to take what may be a final look for many, at the soil on which they fought for their country and which is held dear in the heart of every one. COLORED ROWDIES BATTLE IN TROLLEY

Alleged to Have Been Drinking, Negro Fighters Will Be Arraigned in Court.

Seven colored men alleged to have been in an intoxicated condition, fighting in a Main Line trolley car en route from Westfield to this city late last night, caused several women to faint and broke windows and other fixtures in the car. At the station at Watchung avenue and East Fourth street, Sergeant Flynn was summoned. In their efforts to escape arrest, the combatants knocked into many passengers blocking their path. Several were captured, however, and this morning other arrests were made.

The prisoners are Harold Hill, of 310 Arlington avenue; Josuah Diggs, 528 West Third street; Leroy Johnson, 536 West Third street; Irving Cassett, 216 Plainfield avenue; Nolan J. Henry, 518 West Fourth street; Walter Carr, 530 West Third street; Hazel Cuff, 541 West Third street, and Frank Becker, of South Second street. They will be arraigned tomorrow morning before City Judge DeMeza. The Public Service Railway will take an active interest in having the fighters punished to the limit of the law if found guilty.

Miss Catherine Sloyan, a sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, and James Hammil, of this city, was best man.

ALLEGED BIKE THIEF WILL BE ARRAIGNED

A telephone communication to police headuarters yesterday afternoon advising that a man with a stolen bicycle was seen in Madison avenue, led to the arrest of Robert Wilson, alias Hunt, of West Fourth street, who will be arraigned tomorrow morning before City Judge DeMeza, charged with the theft of the vehicle. Patrolman McCarthy found the wheel in the possession of Joseph Handleman, of 909 West Third street, who said he purchased the mount from Mrs. Christian Corliss, of West Third street, for $4.50. The latter said her husband had secured the alleged stolen property from Wilson, whom she knew as Hunt.

LAWSON IS GUILTY THE JURY DECREES

Strong Recommendation for Mercy Made in Verdict Against Physician.

Elizabeth, June 26.—Deliberating for four hours, the jury which tried Dr. James F. Lawson, of Plainfield, on a criminal charge, rendered a verdict of guilty yesterday afternoon in the Court of Quarter Sessions, at the same time making a strong recommendation for mercy. The colored physician will be sentenced by Judge Connolly the early part of next week. Although the physician has been indicted on a similar charge but in which another complaining witness is named, it is probable, according to rumor, that he will not be forced to stand trial for it until next fall at least.

The Lawson trial began Tuesday and went into the hands of the jury at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Miss Karen Anderson, the complaining witness, repeated the story on the witness stand that she told Chief Kiely, who arrested the doctor. Her tale was almost entirely denied by Dr. Lawson when he testified in his own defense. Dr. Grimburg, until a few days ago house physician at Muhlenberg Hospital, in many respects supported the testimony of the defense. Dr. Frederick J. Hughes and Dr. William H. Murray told of an operation they performed on Miss Anderson as a last resort to save her life.

Asked today whether the decision would be appealed, William Newcorn, counsel for the defense, said, "I have nothing to say." He added, however, that he had not decided what stand to take.

FUNERAL SERVICES OF CHARLES MESSERSCHMIDT

The funeral service of Charles Messerschmidt, aged 38 years, formerly of this city, who died at his home in Philadelphia on Tuesday, will be held at the home of his father, William Messerschmidt, 511 Washington street, tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church will officiate, and the burial will be in the North Plainfield cemetery.

While a resident of the city Mr. Messerschmidt was employed for a time by Neuman Bros., the Watchung avenue grocers, and while in Philadelphia he was employed by the Michelin Tire Company. He is survived by a wife, his father, William F. Messerschmidt, and a brother, Harry Messerschmidt, of New York city.

LAWYER BIRD'S GALLANT ACT.

George W. Bird, of the law firm of Swackhamer & Bird, performed a gallant act this morning when he stopped a runaway horse on Park avenue, which threatened serious consequences for Vincent Lavinski, who was driving, and his two small brothers. The horse became frightened at something and started to run away. It had gone about a half a block when Mr. Bird rushed into the street, caught the animal by the bridle, and thus prevented any damage.

PARTY FOR FRED DALY.

Fred Daly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daly, of Summit avenue, was five years old yesterday and in the afternoon he was given a lawn party in honor of the event. There was a large number of little folks present and all had a good time playing games. During the afternoon refreshments were served. Master Frederick received a number of gifts.

DETROIT MAN WEDS LOCAL SCHOOLGIRL

Miss Margaret Bray the Bride of Robert Naylon and Will Live in the West.

Miss Margaret H. Bray, daughter of Mrs. Mary Bray, of 610 Plainfield avenue, was married to Robert E. Naylon, of Detroit, Michigan, in St. Mary's church, Monday afternoon, by Rev. B. M. Bogan in the presence of a large gathering of friends and relatives. The church was decorated in green and white, cut flowers being profusely scattered about the edifice. The bride wore a gown of brown crepe de chine with a white hat and carried an arm bouquet of bridal roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Anna L. Bray, who was gowned in golden brown crepe de chine with a hat to match and carried an arm bouquet of carnations.

John Tunny, a close friend of the bridegroom, was best man, and the ushers were John L. McDonough and Lawrence A. Bray. The gift from the groom to the bride was a diamond broach and her gift to him was a pair of gold cuff links. The bridesmaids each received diamond lavaliers from the couple and the ushers and best man were presented with pearl stick pins.

Following the wedding ceremonies a reception was held at the home of the bride which was elaborately decorated in pink and white. Following a short wedding trip through the West the couple will reside at Detroit where the bridegroom is employed by the Studebaker Automobile Company. Guests were present from New York, Newark, Orange, Stanford, (Conn.), and this city. Miss Bray is well known in this city, having recently graduated from St. Mary's Commercial School, where she took an active part in all of the school enterprises.

CANVAS THE BORO ON WOMAN SUFFRAGE

Local League Aims to Learn Sentiment on "Votes for Women" Question.

For the purpose of ascertaining the real sentiment for and against woman suffrage, representatives of the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield comprising a committee, yesterday started a house-to-house canvas in North Plainfield. They talked with many women who had not yet considered the question seriously, many who believe that women should have the vote and according to the report of the committee, met with but one real rebuff. That was from a woman who was sweeping her sidewalk and who greeted the committee who addressed her with, "You don't need to talk to me, for I don't want to know anything about it."

The committee met at luncheon at the Ritz, where it was the guest of Mrs. Champlain L. Riley, president of the league. A long table was set at the far end of the room, attractively decorated with yellow flowers strewn about. The windows of the Ritz store were also all in yellow. Over a good luncheon the hungry workers discussed and compared notes and congratulated each other on the morning's success. The canvas will be continued today.

Beside Mrs. Riley the guests were Mrs. A. B. Jones, Miss Mueller, of Buffalo; Miss Dunwell, Mrs. Benjamin Akin, Mrs. Allan Cowperthwaite, Miss May Rodman, Mrs. F. O. Ball, Miss Vermilye, Mrs. Lamar Van Syckel, Miss French, Mrs. Green and Mrs. Corey.

ALLEGED STOLEN SHOES LEADS TO BOY'S ARREST

Identified by Roundsman Charles Flynn as the alleged looter of Frank Rowley's drug store in West Front street, Tuesday night, by a pair of shoes which he wore and which it is alleged by the police had been stolen from that establishment, Samuel Hannigan, 16 years old, of 520 West Third street, is confined in a cell at the local police station, charged with breaking and entering. He will be arraigned tomorrow morning before City Judge DeMeza.

The local drug store has been the victim of petty thievery several times, but the miscreant has always managed to escape detection. It is probable, however, the police say, that evidence will be secured to implicate Hannigan in these affairs. The latter was noticed wandering aimlessly along West Front street yesterday afternoon by Flynn, whose attention was attracted by the shoes worn by the boy, and which were much too large for him. Questioning the youth, Flynn is said to have secured a confession.

M'RORIE PUTTING UP BITTER FIGHT

Prosecutor Produces Many Witnesses to Show Alleged Relations With Girl.

LAWYERS HAVE TILTS

Former Assistant Prosecutor, Police Chief and Others Tell of Signing of Confession—State's Case May Be Finished Today.

Elizabeth, June 26.—The prosecution in the case of the State against Willis S. MacRorie, the suspended Methodist minister, who is being tried here before Judge James C. Connolly and a jury, made substantial progress this morning, when a number of witnesses were examined. The case was opened yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock with the selection of a jury. Of the twelve men, William G. Brokaw and Raymond C. Burdick, are from Plainfield.

MacRorie, as well as Miss Edith Nelson, the principal witness, is being defended by Former Governor Foster M. Voorhees, William C. Gebhardt, clerk of the Supreme Court and Col. Robert Hare, of New York, while the State's case is in the hands of Prosecutor A. A. Stein.

Soon after the opening of the case yesterday when the prosecutor sprung a surprise by calling Miss Nelson as the first witness, there was a sharp tilt between Mr. Stein and the array of counsel on the other side, with the result that the court upheld the prosecutor in his contention that those who represented MacRorie could not enter objections and those that represented the girl could not give her the benefit of their services while she was a witness.

Hugh B. Sweeney, of the Plainfield Business College, where Miss Nelson was a student; Mrs. Catherine J. Schaffer, of West Front street, Plainfield, with whom she boarded while a student; Police Chief Kiely and City Judge W. G. DeMeza, also of Plainfield, were the witnesses this morning, their testimony as to the alleged confessions of MacRorie and Miss Nelson being corroborative throughout on the part of Chief Kiely and Judge DeMeza, supporting similar testimony given yesterday by former Asistant County Prosecutor Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., before whom the former minister made his confession.

There was another sharp tilt between the lawyers this morning when Prosecutor Stein attacked Mr. Gebhardt for his part in the case, especially as he is clerk of the Supreme Court. Mr. Gebhardt "came back" at the prosecutor with a declaration that he thought his attack not only improper but damnable. The argument was the climax to one in which the prosecutor was trying to determine the rights of defendant's counsel in the case.

Mrs. Schaeffer testified as to the frequency with which MacRorie brought Miss Nelson to the former's home, and she said that she had made a remark that "she didn't like MacRorie." She said that she reported her suspicions to Mr. Sweeney, representing the business college. The letters which are alleged to have passed between MacRorie and Miss Nelson were admitted as evidence in court, it being understood that there will be further argument about them later on.

Police Chief Kiely testified that he saw MacRorie sign the alleged confession, supporting the testimony of Mr. Hetfield in that particular, and it was impossible for the defendant's counsel to shake his story. Chief Kiely further stated that while at police headquarters in Plainfield, MacRorie told Mrs. Mason, mother of Miss Nelson, "I am sorry for this. I am responsible, don't blame Edith."

It will probably take the prosecution the rest of the day to finish its case and in that event the defendant's case will open tomorrow. There was such a crowd in the court room when the case was called that the court was obliged to exclude practically everyone who was not directly interested in the case.

HAND-IN-HAND.

Within the next few days tens of thousands of survivors of the Blue and the Gray will gather at the Battlefield of Gettysburg, the scene of the bloody three days' conflict where the high water mark of the Rebellion was reached. The occasion will be the observance of the fiftieth anniversary of the three days encounter between the Union and Confederate forces and the "Johnny Rebs" and the "Yankies" with clasped hands will be the guests of their "on ecountry and one flag." The day of the "bloody shirt" feeling has happily passed away and the survivors of that terrible civil strike that freed the slave and placed the name of Abraham Lincoln high up in the roll of the world's greatest men will join together in a meeting of thanksgiving.

This remarkable event naturally leads some to ask how many of the veterans are still among the living. The question is answered from information obtained from the Pension Bureau and it is herewith given in detail:

CHRISTIAN CONFERENCE.

The most notable gathering of Christian workers ever held in America will be opened in Portland, Oregon, on Sunday, and will be continued through the coming week. The gathering will be the second World's Christian Citizenship Conference, for which preparations have been going forward for nearly two years. The National Reform Association has conducted the preparations, with the indorsement and cooperation of many of the national church bodies. Statesmen, philanthropists, sociologists, preachers, missionaries, educators and other leaders of Christian thought and action will take part in the conference and exchange views on the big social problems of the day. England, Ireland, France, Italy, China, Japan and other foreign countries, as well as the United States and Canada, will be represented.

Among the problems to be discussed at the conference are peace and war, education and religion, capital and labor, socialism, intemperance, family and divorce, the ethical values of Christianity, prison reform and social service, the social conscience and personal character, claims upon society of its delinquents and dependents, child labor, the observance of the Sabbath, Mormonism, and social evils and their preventives and remedies. World plans are to be adopted for the solution of these and other problems of their kind. An authentic history of the attitude of the different countries of the world and their governments towards these problems is to be prepared. The data thus secured, together with the addresses delivered at the conference, will be printed for general distribution.

To the end that there be a proper celebration of a "safe and sane" Fourth, the Plainfield Playgrounds Commission is raising a fund by popular subscription. The purpose is to give band concerts and a big display of fireworks as well as to provide other attractions appropriate to Independence Day. A contribution of $150 has been made by the city and a total of $350 is desired, of which $32 has already been subscribed. Every patriotic citizen, who can afford to do so, should give something to this fund.

Acting Governor Fielder has reason to be proud of the reception accorded him on the occasion of his first visit to Plainfield on Tuesday night when, as a candidate for the gubernatorial nomination, he spoke on jury reform. To fill a large hall for a political meeting at this season of the year, it requires an unusual attraction and Fielder proved a great drawing card.

The commission plan of government goes into effect at Portland, Oregon, next Monday. Almost every week some municipality accepts the modern plan for the administration of local affairs.

MISS MARIAN GAYNOR CHRISTENS FIRE BOAT

Elizabeth, June 26.—Using a bottle of champagne wrapped in an American flag, Miss Marian Gaynor, daughter of Mayor William J. Gaynor of New York city, yesterday afternoon christened that city's newest fireboat with the name of her father at the New Jersey dry dock in this city. Miss Gaynor came here on board the fireboat New Yorker. Her father was unable to attend the launching, but Mrs. Gaynor came with her daughter.

After she had christened the boat Miss Gaynor was presented with a solid gold bracelet watch on behalf of the New Jersey Dry Dock Company by Charles Culkins, one of the officials.

Among the New Yorkers who witnessed the launching were Fire Chief and Mrs. John Kenlon, Fire Commissioner Joseph Johnson, the Rev. Vincent de Paul McGlean, one of the chaplains of the fire department; Deputy Commissioners George W. Alvaney and Philip Farley. Fire Chief Henry Masters, of Boston, was also a spectator.

GRADED UNION TEACHERS ENJOY ANNUAL PICNIC

The annual all-day picnic of the Sunday-school Teachers' Graded Union was held yesterday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Frank French, on Washington avenue. The members gathered about 11 o'clock in the morning, each bringing her own luncheon. At noon the repast was served on the lawn, there being a feast of good things. The women spent the afternoon doing fancy work and having a social time.

Mrs. French, the hostess, provided a pleasant surprise by having some of the members of the Dutch Arms Concert Band present to render a number of popular seleetions.

WESTFIELD LOSES SUIT.

Trenton, June 26.—Judgment recovered by Lucy C. Worth, as guardian of Julia P. Worth and Mattie H. Worth, against the town of Westfield, has been sustained by the Court of Errors and Appeals. The verdict was for damages caused by changing the grade of a street in front of the Worth property in South avenue, Westfield. A number of shade trees were destroyed.

MANY EXCURSIONISTS GO ON FIRST OUTING

1,500 Pleasure Seekers Brave Threatening Weather Conditions.

Despite the threatening weather conditions a crowd of 1,500 excursionists took advantage of the first opportunity to enjoy a trip to the seashore and left here at 8.30 o'clock this morning on the three sections of cars provided by the Sunday-schools of the First, Grace, Monroe Ave. and Dunellen Methodist churches, Grace, St. Stephens and Heavenly Rest Episcopal, Wilson Memorial and Evona chapels. Everything is open at Asbury Park and Ocean Grove now, the season having been officially ushered in on Decoration Day and the pleasure seekers from this city found all of the amusements at the popular Jersey Coast amusement center opened when they arrived at the shore.

A little delay was experienced in starting this morning, the many New York trains coming in at the North avenue station at that hour holding up the first section until after 8.30 o'clock and it was nearly nine before the last section left the local depot. A number boarded the first train at the Grant avenue station and as a result it was full when it arrived in Plainfield and the committee sent the first section through without stopping to take on passengers at North avenue. Returning, the excursionists will leave Asbury Park at 7.10 o'clock, arriving in this city about 9 o'clock. On the return trip all trains will stop at all stations in Plainfield and Dunellen.

REACH SEMI-FINALS FOR P. C. C. TITLE

Miss Gates and Miss Beers Are Survivors to Play for Championship Cup.

By superior playing on the tennis courts of the Plainfield Country Club this morning, Miss Pauline Gates, the Plainfield High School singles champion, and Miss Edith Beers, established a right to compete in the final round for the club championship and silver loving cup on the same courts tomorrow morning. Miss Gates worked her way to the final round by defeating Miss Leila Hedges in two well played matches in the first round when she won by scores of 6-4 and 7-5, and scoring another victory at the expense of Miss Louise Patterson in the second round with scores of 6-0 and 6-4. Miss Gates' playing against Miss Hedges was of a sterling brand and she was exerted to the limit in winning out over a worthy opponent. Although the first set between these two rivals was won by Miss Gates in the regulation number of games, the second set went for twelve games before Miss Gates managed to get a winning advantage. Miss Patterson was easily beaten with a love score in the first set of the second round and Miss Gates won the second set in the regulation number of contests although her opponent put up a stiffer fight in that session.

Miss Edith Beers in reaching the final round defeated Miss Clara Neuman, the Plainfield High School champion of 1911, in the first round by scores of 9-7, 4-6 and 6-3, and Miss Alison Williams in the second round with scores of 9-7 and 7-5. Miss Beers had to exert herself a great deal more than did Miss Gates in conquering her opponents as is evidenced by the fact that each of the first sets in both rounds went for sixteen games.

The summaries:

First round—Miss Louise Patterson defeated Miss Helen Patterson, 6-1, 6-0; Miss Pauline Gates defeated Miss Leila Hedges, 6-4, 7-6; Miss Edith Beers defeated Miss Clara Neuman, 9-7, 4-6, 6-3; Miss Alison Williams defeated Miss Marion Coon, 6-2, 6-4.

Second round—Miss Pauline Gates defeated Miss Louise Patterson, 6-0, 6-4; Miss Edith Beers defeated Miss Alison Williams, 9-7, 7-5.

OBSERVATION PARTIES WILL TOUR CONTINENT

New York, June 26.—The first of several parties organized to tour Europe this summer for the observation and study of social and industrial conditions abroad, sailed from here today on the steamship Tietgen. The trip is made under the auspices of New York University and is under the direction of Dr. Edward Ewing Pratt, lecturer on statistics in that institution. The party will visit the chief centres of Germany and the Scandinavian countries. Investigations will be made of city planning, municipal ownership, housing, penal and vagrant colonies, social problems, private philanthropy, public relief, children's work and jevenile courts.

A second party also under the auspices of New York University, will make a similar tour, but will concern itself chiefly with labor problems, labor unions, social insurance, labor exchanges and industrial betterment in stores and factories. Still another party, headed by Prof. S. W. Gilman head of the School of Commerce in the University of Wisconsin, will sail on the steamship Patricia, Saturday, on a similar mission of investigation. The Gilman party will tour England, Belgium, Germany and Switzerland and will confine its investigation to the methods of work in the great industrial plants in those countries.

TALLEST INLAND BUILDING DEDICATED AT CINCINNATI

Cincinnati, O., June 26.—With former President William H. Taft and a number of other prominent guests in attendance, the magnificent new building of the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce was formally dedicated today. The dedication exercises were preceded by a parade of the members from the old building to the new.

The new building which is located at Fourth and Vine street, is said to be the highest inland building on the American continent. The tower portion of the building consists of thirty-eight stories, four of which are below street level. The total height from sub-basement floor to the top of the tower is 535 feet, while the height above the street level is 495 feet. The tower is surmounted by a lantern fourteen feet high.

The building contains 5,715,000 cubic feet of space and 216,000 square feet of rentable area. The cost of the building alone was $2,500,000, while the total investment, including the lot, amounts to over $3,000,000. The Chamber of Commerce will occupy the second and third floors of the building.

SLAYER ON TRIAL.

Shreveport, La., June 26—Charged with the murder of her husband, Mrs. Della Stroud, known as the best horsewoman in northern Louisana, faced trial today in Judge John R. Land's court. From a plunging horse, Mrs. Stroud shot her husband in the public road near Vivia. The woman alleges that she had been attacked by her husband and that she shot in self defense.

Mrs. Stroud had been riding with Edward Beeler, a friend of the family who shared her love for horses. The husband is alleged to have been jealous of the attention paid his wife by Beeler and on meeting them as they were returning from a ride, dismounted and began beating his wife with a strap. As the horse she was riding became unmanagable and as he could not get close enough to continue that form of chastisement he drew a revolver, it is said, and was about to fire when his wife brought her own weapon into play. Despite the unsteadiness of her seat her aim was true and Stroud was killed instantly with a bullet through his head. Many prominent persons have been called as witnesses to testify as to the character of the defendant.

STATE'S PLANS AS TO ARMORIES.

Trenton, June 26.—Final plans for the Bridgeton Armory, for which an appropriation of $25,000 was made, have been approved by the State Military Board.

The board has also received tentative plans for the armory of the Orange Battalion, which is to cost $100,000. The general plans prepared by the State architect were approved and will be completed before final acceptance.

Upon recommendation of Colonel John D. Frazer, of West Orange, the board has sanctioned the making of a number of repairs to the First Regiment Armory in Newark.

Approval was also given for the purchase of additional land needed in connection with the Passaic Armory.

TEACHER KEEPS MARRIAGE A SECRET FOR 18 MONTHS

Belvidere, June 26.—Although Miss Viola Searles, daughter of former Mayor Ambrose B. Searles, and Roderick P. Schenck, son of Jacob Schenck, were married eighteen months ago while the bride was teaching in the Midvale public schools, they kept their wedding a secret until Tuesday. Mrs. Schenck continued teaching after her marriage.

The bride is a graduate of the Trenton State Normal School. Mr. Schenck is employed at Factoryville, Pa., on a cut-off which is being built by the Lackawanna Railroad.

HOBOKEN YOUTH, HEIR TO $60,000, HELD FOR THEFT

Hoboken, June 26.—John W. Carr, of 508 Hudson street, the eighteen-year-old son of the late John Carr, who made a fortune out of horse racing at the Guttenberg track, was before Recorder McGovern in the police court yesterday, on a charge of having stolen his sister's $40 gold watch. He was paroled until Friday, his sister not being in court to press the charge.

Young Carr, when he is twenty-one, will come into $60,000. His sister, Miss Grace A. Carr, executrix of the estate, says her brother has made repeated demands on her for money. Once, she told the police, he struck her.

NEWARK MAN, TOSSED FIFTY FEET BY TRAIN, IS UNHURT

Metuchen, June 26.—Isaac Diamond, of 80 Morton street, Newark, was thrown fifty feet and his wagon was smashed to flinders Tuesday when the Chicago Limited hit him as he was driving across the Pensylvania railroad tracks at Sucker Brook Crossing, near Iselin. Diamond was unhurt.

The engineer threw on the emergency brakes with such vigor that the passengers in the train were thrown from their seats. The accident tied up traffic for half an hour, delaying the twenty-hour Chicago Special.

A freight train prevented Diamond from seeing the approaching express. The engineer was unable to see Diamond and his wagon until he was almost upon the crossing.

The wagon was a pile of kindling wood, caught about the nose of the big locomotive. Diamond landed in a soft patch of earth. The crossing is not protected by gates or flagman.

REJECTS RAHWAY PAVING BIDS.

Rahway, June 26.—Bids for the paving of Irving street with brick were rejected by the Common Council. City Engineer Franklin Marsh was ordered at once to readvertise for the paving of the street, with brick or asphalt block.

Councilman Valentine said he thought the city of Rahway had been discriminated against, as the same work is being done in Newark at $2.15 per square yard, while Rahway is charged $2.35, as per the bids received. Mr. Valentine said Mr. Potts, the engineer, had advised him that the plans for the proposed disposal plant had been completed. The Council ordered that Mr. Potts be instructed to file the same with authorities at Trenton.

On the recommendation of Mayor Thomas A. Fyffe, Harry J. Orr was appointed to the position of chanceman on the police force. On motion of Mr. Valentine the ordinance increasing the chancemen from six to eight men was adopted. The appointment of Benjamin A. Hughes as chanceman was revoked.

The city treasurer reported the following balances: Contingent, $7,677.05; road, $9,046.32; fire, $257.86; poor, $1,569; police, $8,372.20; light, $4,469.65. Bills to the amount of $3,847.26 were ordered paid.

REUNION OF HOOD'S BRIGADE.

Temple, Texas, June 26.—Deeds of valor were retold today at the forty-second annual reunion of Hood's Texas Brigade. The thrilling part played by this portion of Lee's army at Gettysburg was reviewed by John H. Kirby, of Houston, and other speakers who addressed the white-haired veterans who formed such a pillar of strength fifty years ago. A large number of the veterans are preparing to leave after adjournment tomorrow for the Gettysburg reunion and celebration. Nearly all of them will see the field for the first time since the memorable night of July 3, 1863, when, battered and disorganized by the larger force and superior artillery of the Federals, Lee turned his army southward.

SCHOOL'S CORNER-STONE LAID.

Jersey City, June 26.—Commission Mayor Mark M. Fagan laid the cornerstone of a new public school building at Warner avenue and the Hudson boulevard Tuesday afternoon. There were songs by pupils and an invocation was offered by Rev. J. E. Heindel, of the Lutheran church of the Redeemer. The school is to be an addition to Public School No. 34. It will cost about $134,000 and will contain eighteen rooms. The old portion of the school has ten rooms.

THE FORUM.

DIAMOND HILL SCHOOL.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

So much has been said and written concerning the old Diamond Hill School, that I now beg to submit the actual facts in the case, taken from the records of the Board of Education of New Providence Township.

If my political enemies and the friends of the ungraded school think "they have got it on me" for closing the Diamond Hill School, the last ungraded schoolhouse in Union county, in other words "The last of the Mohicans," they are blinding themselves by their own stupidity.

The little gentleman, Willis Fletcher Johnson, over in the valley, the editor of the New Providence News, who has been hammering at me every week for the last three years, in his "penny dip;" and has never had the manliness to sign his name to any of the articles which he has written, and ought to have brains enough to know that I left the Township of New Providence last December to take up my residence in Plainfield, and that he shows gross vindictiveness, lack of tact and ignorance in continuing his covert attacks upon me, after my departure from the township.

This little gentleman and I were known to be at odds by everybody in the valley and one of the things we differed about was the Diamond Hill School. He wanted it continued and I closed it. The State and county authorities and the Board of Education, of which I was president, ratified my action in closing it. Now the next thing to do is to forget it.

The following statement in chronological order ought to satisfy everybody that the reopening of the Diamond Hill School, thereby re-establishing the ungraded schools in Union county is a physical impossibility.

Aug. 19, 1912—Letter from Dr. Savitz, to William Jeffery, president of the Board of Education: "By all means close the Diamond Hill School. It will be a great saving in many ways, etc."

August 26—Legal voters of the township voted down the proposition to raise $700 to make alterations to the Diamond Hill School to conform with the State requirements. Forty-one votes against the proposition, 10 for, and 4 blank ballots, total of 55 ballots cast. Immediately after the election before the voters adjourned, on motion of Thomas Rogers, seconded by Harry Lucas, that the Diamond Hill Schoolhouse shall not be reopened. Carried unanimously.

Sept. 11—President William Jeffery closed the Diamond Hill School, the last ungraded school in Union county.

Sept. 12—Adjourned meeting of the regular September meeting. Board ratified the closing of the Diamond Hill School, unanimously. Dr. Savitz said at this meeting, "If I lived across the way from this school, I would not send my children to it. There is no class spirit in an ungraded school."

Oct. 7—Letter from Assistant Commissioner J. Brognard Betts, State Board of Education, stating that the Diamond Hill School building could not be re-opened, was read, re-read and ordered filed.

June 26—School still closed.

Yours very truly,

WILLIAM JEFFERY,

Ex-president, Board of Education, New Providence Township.

Sunbonnets Useful and Fashionable.

Sunbonnets have always been useful ever since they were first worn; but they have not always been fashionable. This year they are both. Some of the exclusive dressmakers have made sunbonnets, of checked ginghams, with gingham parasols to match, and charming little Empire frocks of figured crepe or voile, trimmed with shirred taffeta bands, to go with them for garden wear when milady goes forth in the morning, rose scissors in hand, to shear her garden of its blooms. The sunbonnet, too, is a model for some of the most attractive of the season's bathing caps.

With the fashionable world in their favor, sunbonnets ought to be popular. Never was a piece of headgear devised which provided such good protection for the face and the back of the neck. And any needlewoman can master the making of a sunbonnet.

When To Use Them.

On the beach sunbonnets are especialy serviceable. The broad slatted extension shades the eyes from the glare of sand and water and helps to keep the sun from burning the face, and the ruffled back protects the neck, which is even more sensitive to sunburn than the face and which, in these days of collarless frocks, has little enough protection. In the garden, or on walks through country fields, the sunbonnet comes in for more use.

Sunbonnets can just as cheaply be made to match cotton morning frocks as they can be made of unbecoming brown and white or blue and white gingham, for there is almost always enough material left over from a frock to make a sunbonnet with.

Patterns for sunbonnets can be bought, of course, but on old sunbonnet, resurrected from some attic trunk, can be ripped apart to be used as a model.

Some Cookery Suggestions

PREPARING SWEETBREADS.

DINNER MENU.
Vermicelli Soup.
Sweetbread Pie.
Creamed Asparagus.
Scalloped Potatoes.
Dandelion Salad.
French Rolls.
Chocolate Eclairs.
Coffee.

SWEETBREADS make a light and tempting food for summer. They should be cleaned and prepared carefully.

Fried Sweetbreads.—After the sweetbreads are parboiled and cold cut them in pieces the size of large oysters. Wipe dry and dip in beaten egg, then in breadcrumbs. Fry in hot butter, seasoning with salt. Serve hot and garnish with parsley or watercress.

Baked and Stewed.

Baked Sweetbreads.—Parboil a pair of sweetbreads in salted water for fifteen minutes, place in a buttered baking dish and add one small onion sliced, three whole cloves and a bit of bay leaf. Scatter small pieces of butter over the top and dust the whole with salt and a little pepper. Pour in half a cupful of hot stock, bake in a hot oven and baste often. Serve with stewed celery.

With Cauliflower.

Sweetbreads and Cauliflower.—Take four large sweetbreads and two cauliflowers. Split open the sweetbreads and remove the waste. Soak them awhile in lukewarm water, put them into a saucepan of boiling water and set them to boil ten minutes. Afterward lay them in a pan of cold water to make them firm. The parboiling is to whiten them. Wash, drain and quarter the cauliflowers. Put them in a broad stewpan with the sweetbreads on them, season with a little cayenne and a little nutmeg; add water to cover them. Put on the lid of the pan and stew one hour. Take a quarter of a pound of fresh butter and roll it in two tablespoonfuls of flour, add this, with a teacupful of milk, to the stew and let it boil up and no more. Serve hot in a deep dish.

A Culinary Hint.

Sweetbread Pie.—First line the sides of a round pie dish with good puff paste. Then take three or four sweetbreads which have been scalded and cut all into square pieces of convenient size. Add forcement balls, a few canned oysters, and half a dozen chopped mushrooms, with the yolks of three hard boiled eggs. Season all with pepper and salt and pour in sufficient good gravy to cook, cover with light puff paste and bake in the oven.

MOTHERS' WORK

Conducted by the Plainfield Mothers' Association. Every Thursday

Contributing Staff.

Mrs. G. Stuart Simons, Mrs. Jos. Smith, Mrs. Wm. M. Sandford, Jr.

The Daily Press for Thursdays containing the column on Mother's Work will be sent by mail for one dollar a year, in advance.

St. Mary's church will hold an old time parish gathering on the school grounds three nights of this week with Saturday afternoon especially for the children. The grounds have been enclosed, a dancing platform built and a dinner for Saturday night has been planned.

A grammar school alumni association will be organized at a meeting to be held in the Franklin School on Friday night, June 27. There are a large number of pupils who leave school upon completing their grammar school education and it is thought the organization will keep the schoolmates in touch with one another, the same as with the High School Alumni. All graduates of the grammar schools are invited to attend the meeting.

Winston Churchill pays this tribute to mothers in his new book, "The Inside of the Cup:" "Unless there be in the background a mother, no portrait of a man is complete. She explains him, is his complement. Through good mothers are men conceived of God; and with God they sit, forever yearning, forever reaching out, helpless except for Him; with Him they have put a man into the world. Thus, into the supreme canvas came the Virgin."

Why children like to repeat an act over and over. "And yet how many times it happens to us in ordinary life to repeat the very thing we know best, the thing to which some living force in us responds. We love to sing musical phrases that are very familiar, which we enjoy because they form a part of the fabric of our lives. We love to repeat stories of things which please us, which we know very well, even though we are quite aware that we are saying nothing new. No matter how many times we repeat the Lord's Prayer, it is always new. No two persons could be more convinced of mutual love than sweethearts, and yet they are the very ones who repeat endlessly that they love each other. But in order to repeat in this manner there must first exist the idea to be repeated; there must be a mental grasp of this idea, which is indispensable to the beginning of repetition. In the repetition, not in the mere grasping of the idea, consists the exercise which developes life. When a child has attained this condition of repeating an exercise, he is on the way to self-development, and the external sign of this condition is his self-discipline.—(Maria Montessori in McClure's.)

NURSES BELIEVE COLLEGE WOMEN SHOULD DON CAP

Atlantic City, June 26.—Nursing offers a better field for college women than law, medicine or other professions, in the opinion of the speakers at Tuesday's session of the National Organization for Public Health Nursing, held in connection with the American Nurses' Congress at the Chalfonte Hotel. Settlement nursing was strongly urged

In reply to the statement by a nurse from the West that "if nurses did not look so haggard, worn and plain the profession would be far more acceptable to high school and college graduates," Miss Henderson, of Chicago, aroused great applause when she praised the delegates as being "brighter, fresher, and, if possible, prettier than a year ago."

CHARGE OF MANSLAUGHTER MADE AGAINST AUTOIST

Trenton, June 26.—After surrendering himself to Prosecutor Devlin, William Trudel, a barber of Pennington, who drove the automobile that ran down and fatally injured Mrs Wright Eckersley at Pennington Monday afternoon, was charged with manslaughter Tuesday afternoon and placed under $10,000 bail, pending the action of the October grand jury.

The complaint of manslaughter was preferred against Trudel by County Detective Kirkham and prepared by Justice of the Peace David L. Kelsey, while Judge Gnichtel fixed the amount of bail.

County Physician Frank G. Scammell performed an autopsy on the body of Mrs. Eckersley Tuesday and determined that her death was caused by a fracture of the skull, which developed hemorrhage of the brain. Coroner Bower decided to hold an inquest in the case at Pennington on Thursday morning, July 3.

NEW PROVIDENCE RESIDENTS WIN 10-YEAR WATER FIGHT

New Providence, June 26.—The ten-year fight by residents of Passaic street for city water and fire hydrants on that thoroughfare ended when the Borough Council ordered the water and light committee to accept a proposition from the Commonwealth Water and Light Company of Summit to supply Passaic street with water.

At almost every Council meeting for the last five years there has been a delegation from Passaic street demanding the installation of water mains. A new contract signed last month by the town and the Commonwealth company enabled the petitioners to win.

The chief of the fire department was authorized to buy new hose. Councilman Jarvis J. Badgley reported that a new liberty pole had been bought.

AOTOISTS' CASES UP BEFORE COMMISSIONER LIPPINCOTT

Trenton, June 26.—The driver's license of Benjamin Harris, of 97 Bruce street, Newark, was restored by Commissioner Lippincott, of the department of motor vehicles, yesterday. The license was suspended last week because of the failure of Mr. Harris to appear in answer to a complaint charging him with failing to bring his car to a stop in the rear of a standing trolley car, which he passed at a rate of eight miles an hour, thereby endangering the lives of those who were alighting from the car.

Mr. Harris explained that his nonappearance was due to absence on his honeymoon. He also gave a satisfactory explanation of the circumstances surrounding the incident upon which the complaint was baised.

For using manufacturers' licenses on touring cars a reprimand was administered by the commissioner to "Gus" Barfuss, of Dunellen. He assured the commissioner that in future he would comply with the law.

The United Motor Company of Camden appeared yesterday in answer to a charge of lending licenses to other persons. The defense was that C. W. Moore, proprietor of the garage in which they stored their cars, refused to turn over their registration markers to them. Commissioner Lippincott directed an agent of the department to have Moore taken before a city magistrate and prosecuted for driving without a license.

The commissioner dismissed a complaint against Dr. Good, of Alloway, who was charged with permitting his seventeen-year-old daughter to drive his car. Dr. Good denied the allegation, and the complainant failed to put in an appearance.

Daddy's Bedtime Story— The Wise Dog Learned To Keep Quiet.

The Miser Came Out With a Gun.

OUTSIDE the window Sheppie was barking loudly. "Shall I tell him to keep quiet, daddy?" Jack asked.

"You might put your head out of the window and see what is the trouble," daddy suggested.

Jack did so. Then he drew in his head and said: "It was the Greens' cat on the fence. Sheppie always barks at strange cats."

"That is no more than can be expected," said daddy. "Our Tabby has always chased them away, and I suppose Sheppie thinks he is taking her part in doing the same.

"A well brought up dog doesn't bark unless he has some reason to do so. It's just as well to find out what that reason is before you tell him to keep quiet.

"Once on a time a cross, crabbed old miser bought himself a dog. He wanted it to watch his house so that no one could come about without his knowing it. He was afraid some one would steal his money.

"He brought the dog home and tied him up near the house. Then he went to bed. The dog began to bark, and the miser got up and took down his gun. Then he went out to find out what his dog was barking about.

"Though he searched all about, he couldn't find any one. Then he gave his dog a beating and went back to bed.

"The next night the dog began to bark again, and again the miser went down and looked around, but could see no one. Again he beat the dog and went to bed.

"The third night the poor dog was so discouraged that it kept quiet when a man in a black mask came creeping out of the clump of bushes. The man had hidden there for two nights waiting for a chance to get into the old miser's cellar, where his money was said to be hidden.

"'I will only be beaten for my trouble,' the dog said to himself, and so he did not bark this time.

"The robber opened the cellar window and crawled in. He didn't find any money in the cellar, for the miser didn't keep it there.

"When the miser got up he found that some one had been in the house and the dog had not barked. He was going to beat it again when a passing neighbor asked him what was the matter. The miser told him.

"'You dunce,' the neighbor said; 'I've seen a stranger prowling over there in the shrubbery for the last couple of nights. The dog was barking at him. No doubt the man was hidden somewhere each time you came out. How can you punish the dog for keeping quiet last night when you punished the poor beast for his faithful watchfulness on two former nights? It is his stupid master who should be punished.'"

Sporting Editor:

Query—Is there any law preventing the sale of firecrackers in Union county? D. R.

Answer—By the revision of 1877, it is made unlawful to sell firecrackers in this State. The penalty is $10. By the law of 1910 the governing body of any municipality is empowered to pass an ordinance regulating the sale of fireworks. In the absence of such an ordinance the sale is illegal.

Answer—Your debt amounts up as follows: $75 for three months, from September 1, 1907, to December 1, 1907, $150 for five years and seven months, from December 1, 1907, to July 1, 1913. "IRON MAN" WALSH PURSUED BY PLANK

"Kalsomine King" is Not Living up to His Reputation This Year.

Edward Armstrong Walsh, Comiskey's Man of Steel will have to get busy shortly with the whitewash brush or he will lose his title of the Kalsomine King. The Chicago spitballer entered the present campaign owning 55 shutouts, which was seven more than possessed by any other American League hurler. Now the man who almost won the Chalmers American League trophy last season has only a four game advantage over Eddie Plank, of the Athletics, who had blanked his opponents forty-eight times before the championship race started and who has since fed them on goose-eggs on three occasions. The Gettysburg southpaw twirled his fiftieth kalsomine event on May 22, when he subdued the Tigers by a score of 7 to 0.

G. Harris White, of the White Sox, ranks third among the American League wielders of the whitewash brush. He has fitted jackets of white on his opponents forty-five times. Walter Johnson's position is fourth, the Idaho phenom having executed thirty-eight neat kalsomine jobs. George Mullin, lately shifted from Detroit to Washington, follows with thirty-four blankings and then come, in the order named, "Chief" Bender and Jack Coombs, with records of 29 and 28 respectively.

The seven men mentioned are the only pitchers who have passed the quarter century post in whitewashes. Six other artillerists have rolled up double figures, these being Tom Hughes, with 21; Joe Wood, with 23; Cy Falkenberg, with 12; Edgar Willett, with 12, and Ray Collins and Jim Scott, each with 11.

Three pitchers own ten or more shutouts over one club. The men with this record are Walsh, White and Hughes. The Chicago fishbrander has kept the Boston Red Sox away from the plate on fifteen occasions; the Sox southpaw has twelve times denied the Tigers a run and Tom Hughes had fed the Naps goose-eggs in ten combats.

Below are figures showing the number of runless games pitched against each club by the thirteen American Leaguers who have ten or more blankings to their credit:

Walsh, Chicago, 55—Against Boston, 15; Washington, 9; Philadelphia, 8; Detroit, 7; Cleveland, 6; St. Louis, 6; New York, 4.

Plank, Philadelphia, 51—Against Detroit, 9; St. Louis, 9; Boston, 8; Chicago, 8; Washington, 7; New York, 5; Cleveland, 4; Milwaukee, 1.

White, Chicago, 45—Against Detroit, 12; St. Louis, 9; New York, 8; Washington, 7; Cleveland, 5; Boston, 3; Philadelphia, 1.

Johnson, Washington, 38—Against New York, 9; Cleveland, 6; St. Louis, 6; Chicago, 5; Philadelphia, 5; Boston, 4; Detroit, 3.

Mullin, Detroit-Washington, 34—Against Washington, 9; Cleveland, 8; Chicago 7; New York, 3; St. Louis, 3; Boston, 2; Philadelphia, 2.

Bender, Philadelphia, 29—Against St. Louis, 8; Chicago, 5; New York, 5; Cleveland, 4; Detroit, 3; Washington, 3; Boston, 1.

Coombs, Philadelphia, 28—Against Washington, 7; St. Louis, 5; Cleveland, 4; New York, 4; Boston, 3; Chicago, 3; Detroit, 2.

CLASSIFICATION OF EVENTS AND NUMEROUS PRIZES OFFERED FOR PARKER FIELD MEET

One of the most complete and attractive array of prizes ever offered for athletic competition in this city has been gathered together by George W. Wriston, the supervisor of Parker Field, who is arranging the mammoth field and track meet to be held on Parker Field on July 4. All of the local athletes who have seen the awards in Schwed Brothers' window on West Front street have been enthused to a point where they canot help but enter the events offered and many Plainfield runners and jumpers can be seen every night on Parker Field and on the local thoroughfares loosening up stiffened muscles that need just this kind of an inducement to force them to great athletic achievements.

Several of the local factories that foster athletics have banded their representatives together in the hopes of making a stellar combined showing and it is safe to predict that some of the factories will cop some of the prizes. A number of junior athletes have also signified their intention of entering and as there will be no fees or athletic union restrictions the list of entrants will probably exceed that of any other meet of this kind ever held in this city.

LOCAL ATHLETES IN BRUNSWICK EVENTS

Jack Fritts Has Entered the Mile and Five Mile Road Races for That Meet.

At least one Plainfield athlete will be a starter in the athletic events to be held on Nelson Field, New Brunswick, on the Fourth of July, and present indications point to a number of other local runners and jumpers handing in their John Hancocks before the time for entries to close. Jack Fritts, who has done a lot of starring in athletic meets in this vicinity under the colors of the Pastime A. C., has entered the meet and will be a starter in both the one mile and five mile runs. Silver loving cups are offered for first place in these events and the local long distance man is optimistic of his chances to gain one of the trophies through superior running. He is training regularly for the events and will be in the best of condition for the affair when it is pulled off on the Rutgers College athletic field in conection with the Fourth of July festivities at New Brunswick. Athletes from all parts of the State have handed in their names for entrance and Fritts will undoubtedly have to face a speedy field of runners in the two events he has chosen.

Among the other Plainfield representatives who have signified their intention of entering are Alfred Day, of the Y. M. C. A. and high school, Morris Mann, of the Y. M. C. A., and Tones Denison, of the high school. Day and Denison are long distance men, while Mann is a jumper.

PHILIP CARTER REPLACES STUART CONNOLLY AS METROPOLITAN JUNIOR GOLF CHAMPION

Playing the most sensational brand of golf ever seen in a junior tournament, Philip V. Carter, of Nassau, defeated Stuart D. Connolly, of Rockland, the present title holder, for the Metropolitan junior golf championship on the Plainfield Country Club links yesterday afternoon. The event was the final one of a two-days' tournament held under the auspices of the Metropolitan Association and the finals attracted golf enthusiasts from all parts of the State who watched with interest the progress of the juvenile brassie wielders. The second annual title was won by 4 up and 3 to go after an unusually close race over the fair greens of the local country club's links in which the rivalry was intense at all times and the two players were cheered on to their best performances by local bands of visiting players who had divided into two factions for the sake of spurring on the competition.

It would be impossible to describe the real article of golf displayed yesterday afternoon by the new champion but it is enough to say that old and experienced followers of the "bally game" were amazed at his prowess. He took the first hole from Connolly and only once, on the seventh, where he lost his ball, did he allow the Hudson river lad to sink the small white pellet in the iron cup first. Carter's versatality and ability to play a dashing game had the former champion completely bewildered and although Connolly played the same excellent style of golf that he exhibited here last year, the day was conceded to be Carter's from the tee off. To off-set the sterling work of his opponent the new champion negotiated several holes below par and never let up in his remarkable pace.

At the fourth Carter came close to a birdie 3 on his chip shot, and three times he reeled off holes below par without apparently no exertion. Connolly was defeated by a brand of playing that fell little short of youthful perfection and he died fighting. At the first hole he took three putts and on the third his ball lipped on a twenty-foot putt, while at the sixth he missed his drive. Getting into the bushes and then beyond the green cost him his twelfth, especially as the ball belonging to Carter was tucked safely away in the cup in two. Three putts lost him the thirteenth and after that two halves in the strick allowance closed the encounter.

There were two additional attractions in the form of an approaching and putting contest and an eighteen-hole medal play handicap. Richard Stiles, of Forest Hill, won the former event with nine strokes, while second place went to E. B. Grier, Jr., Elizabeth suburban, and Kimball Atha, of Baltusrol, who tied with ten strokes. Frank Dyer, of Montclair, won the handicap with a card of 76, 9-67. A. D. Prentiss, of New Brunswick, also had a 67 net, but won another prize.

The summary:

Championship division:

Final round—Philip Carter, Nassau, defeated Stuart D. Connolly, Rockland, 4 up and 3 to play.

Second eight:

Final round—Leonard Church, Plainfield, defeated A. L. Pierson, Montclair, 1 up.

Third eight:

Final round—Alvanson Prentiss, New Brunswick, defeated B. R. Redman, Apawamis, 10 up and 8 to play.

Fourth Eight:

Final round—Carlos M. Feteroff, Upper Montclair, defeated Alvan Eggers, Canoe Brook, 3 up and 2 to play.

Fifth eight:

Final round—Kenneth McKenzie, Plainfield, defeated John Potter, New Brunswick, 1 up.

Handicap—Frank W. Dyer, Montclair, 76, 9—67; A. D. Prentiss, New Brunswick, 84, 17—67; E. B. Grier, Jr., Suburban, 78, 10—68; Kimball Atha, Baltusrol, 83, 13—70; Richard Potter, New Brunswick, 102, 26—77, Sherman Trowbridge, Flushing, 100, 21—79; Roger Jones, Canoe Brook, 88, 9—79; Fred W. Butler, Jr., Plainfield, 98, 18—80; C. M. Fetteroff, Upper Montclair, 93, 13—80; Alan Eggers, Canoe Brook, 9, 18—81; J. B. Beals, Jr., Wykagyl, 93, 14—84.

assure them comfort and entertainment while at the celebration. H. Craig Smith receives a supply of identification cards this morning which he will distribute among the local soldiers who make the trip. On one side of the card there is a place for the name, address, age and further means of identification of the individual and when properly filled out this will be carried on his person in case of accident or sudden sickness while away from home. The government has provided a large emergency corps of physicians and nurses and if the aged veterans, who average seventy-three years in age, become suddenly sick or are injured they can be easily identified by the nurses or doctors.

Among the features of the celebration will be an oration by President Wilson on the Fourth of July and ceremonies attending the laying of the Peace Memorial Cornerstone. The ceremony will be terminated by a gorgeous display of fireworks in the evening.

Among the notable characters to go from this city is Bennett Britton, who celebrated his 100th birthday on June 16 last. Mr. Britton was among the first to signify his intention of making the trip and is one of the sturdiest of the many who will leave here Sunday morning.

FIREWORKS COMMITTEE NEEDS ADDITIONAL CONTRIBUTIONS

An additional $10 has been received by the Playground Commission to defray the expenses of the fireworks display at Parker Field on the Fourth of July, $5 from Louis K. Hyde and the remainder from Joseph Tate. This, with the amount previously acknowledged, and the $150 appropriation of the Common Council, brings the total up to $182. GIRL MARRIES EARLY TO KEEP UP FAMILY RECORD

MR & MRS JOAQUIN CORDOVA

Willing to follow family traditions and marry young, Miss Frances McDonald, of San Francisco, Cal., secretly eloped six months ago with Joaquin Cordova, son of J. Cordova, a leading statesman of Ecuador and well known in the United States. Miss McDonald, who is fifteen years old, is the daughter of Dr. J. A. J. McDonald, a prominent physician, and Mrs. McDonald. Her grandmother was a bride at thirteen and her mother was married at fourteen, and Miss McDonald, who is a vivacious and pretty young woman, said that she must keep up the family record and marry young also. She and her husband were schoolmates together, and when Cordova was about to return home after finishing his course he was afraid he would lose the popular Miss McDonald, to whom he had been paying attention, and he therefore induced her to elope with him. The marriage was kept secret until recently.

FIRE DESTROYS GLASER'S PLANT

His Fat-rending Factory Uninsured and the Loss is $9,000.

ORIGIN IS UNKNOWN

The Big Blaze at Alton Discovered by the Sufferer—To Build Another Plant at South Plainfield Within a Short Time.

Fire destroyed the fat-rending plant of Theodore Glaser at Alton about 2.30 o'clock this morning, entailing a total loss of about $9,000. The blaze was first discovered by Mr. Glaser himself, he having been aroused from his sleep by the alarm sent in from Box 45, this city, for the fire at Walter Temple's coal yard in the West End. Looking out of the window, he saw his whole plant in flames.

Arousing the members of the house hold and neighbors, efforts were made to save some of the contents, but the blaze had gained such a headway that nothing could be done but let the plant burn down. The storage plant nearby was saved.

The main building which was destroyed was about 100-40 feet and was filled with hides and tallow valued at $1,000, fertilizers valued at $1,000; machinery valued at $5,000, while the building itself was valued at $2,000. The plant was located about half-mile from Mr. Glaser's home at one extreme end of his property. He was planning to remove the plant to his farm at South Plainfield in the near future, but was first anxious to dispose of his goods on hand.

Mr. Glaser cannot explain the cause of the blaze. There was a small fire in the boiler, but this he says was carefully banked for the night when the men quit work last night. Owing to the heavy risk Mr. Glaser was unable to place insurance on his plant and in consequence the loss is a total one. He will plan now to build a new plant at South Plainfield.

Gravini is over 60 years of age and from his physical appearance the sentence means virtually life imprisonment.

OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY OF THE ROYAL ARCANUM

In celebration of the institution of their fraternity, the members of Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum held a smoker in their lodge room last night. Addresses relative to the great work accomplished by the order during its existence of thirty-six years were made.

Organized in Boston, Mass., on June 23, 1877, with but nine members, the Royal Arcanum has grown until today it consists of 253,000 men, banded together for mutual benefit. New Jersey at the present time has over twenty thousand members of the order, with one hundred and twelve subordinate councils. Hospital bed funds and employment bureaus have been conducted in this State for a number of years.

Supreme Regent Frank W. Wickersham has recently issued an appeal for an increase in membership of 3,600, one hundred for each year of the order's existence. At the recent session of the Supreme Council in Quebec, New Jersey was again awarded the palm for having the greatest percentage of net gain.

ARRESTED FOR FIGHTING.

Mrs. Hattie Hoagland, alias Hattie Minor, colored, of Liberty street, was arrested last night by Patrolman Vanderweg, who charged her with disorderly conduct and fighting. It is said she was quarreling with her husband and continued the disturbance despite warnings from the patrolman. Arraigned before City Judge DeMeza this morning she was released in $10 bail for her appearance tomorrow morning in the City Court.

St. Mary's Church Societies Presented Affair in Commercial School Yard.

Fully 500 people attended the old fashioned festival held under the auspices of the various societies of St. Mary's church in the Commercial Schoolyard on Liberty street, last night, elaborate lighting effects turning the playground into a veritable blaze of brilliancy. The school grounds were fenced in on the four sides with canvas walls and within the enclosed area a crowd of pleasure-seekers found enjoyment of every kind in the numerous amusement devices presented by an enterprising committee.

A specially constructed platform afforded a place for outdoor dancing and terpsichore music was rendered by the T. A. B. Fife and Drum Corps all evening. A number of fancy exhibition dances were executed by the more accomplished and these found interest in the enthusiastic onlookers. Strings of electric lights surrounding the grounds furnished the necessary light for the various attractions. During the evening refreshments consisting of ice cream, cake and soft drinks were sold at booths.

The women in charge of the affair were Mrs. Edward Feiring, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. William Schaeffer, Mrs. Michael Caffrey, Mrs. Edward McCue, Mrs. Michael McCarthy, Mrs. La Rocke, and the Misses Alice McAffee, Mary Murray, Emma Sullivan, Mary Burke, Margaret Burke, Maria Carty, Katheryn Powers, Nellie Casey, Kate Rock Josie Murphy, Kathryn McCauley, Mrs Griffin and Mrs. Roddy.

Owing to the heavy traffic in automobiles, trolleys and horses and carriages, J. A. Smith & Brother, the grocers at West Front street and Madison avenue, made a request at police headquarters this morning that a traffic policeman be stationed at their corner. Nothing could be done in the absence of Police Chief Kiely. The firm intend to bring the matter to the atention of the Common Council.

The grocers also favor the widening of Madison avenue declaring that the thoroughfare is practically impassable during "rush hours," and that regulations should be adopted to afford relief. They claim that the corner is one of the most important in the city and believe that something should be done before there is a serious accident.

COUNCILMEN GUESTS AT CIVIC ASS'N SESSION

Councilman Leighton Calkins and W. W. Wilson were guests of the executive committee of the West End Civic Asociation at its meeting at the home of the president, Thomas C. Vail, 927 West Seventh street, last night. The committee voted to appropriate $5 toward Plainfield's "safe and sane" celebration of July 4 at Parker Field. The meeting adjourned to Monday night, July 7, at the home of J. J. Carroll, 938 West Fifth street.

Madison Avenue Widening Plan Cause of Dispute

(White lines show private property to be taken by the city for the improvement.)

The Plainfield Board of Trade believes that Madison avenue should be widened between Front street and the railroad bridge, but it is opposed to the awards of benefits and damages made by the commissioner, appointed by the Council, in their report recently filed. It objects especially to those levied on the property of Councilman Fred Endress, who owns the Jackson building, and that owned by Harry Dreier, opposite. The report of the comission has been returned for revising.

The Board is of the opinion that the Dreier estate should receive more money for damages, inasmuch as one-third of the corner building is to be removed. William Jeffery, president of the body, has had a picture prepared showing the new lines of the avenue allowing for the widening, which appears herewith.

According to the report of the commissioners, Mr. Endress, who owns 225 28-100 feet is allowed damages of $8,046.18 and benefits of $8,521.37, and he pays the city $479.19. The Dreier estate which owns the corner property is assessed $11,912 damages, $4,878 benefits, receiving from the city $7,034 after one-third of the building is removed. Another case cited is that of Mr. Mills, who has a frontage of 131 81-100 feet, who is assessed $908 damages, $1,431.51 benefits and who pays to the city $523.52.

ANDERSON SPEAKS AT REPUBLICAN RALLY

Stokes and Carey Also Address 600 Progressive Republicans in Jersey City.

William de LaR. Anderson, chairman of the State Progressive Republican organization, was among the 600 Republicans who attended a dollar dinner at Pohlmann's Hall, Jersey City, last night, when former Governor Edward Casper Stokes and County Judge Robert Carey were both boomed for the gubernatorial nomination. Governor Hadley, of Missouri, and Senator Cummins were expected to speak, but neither one appeared.

The purpose of the gathering was to bring together all the Republicans of Hudson county. All factions were represented, but it was noticed that many of the men who had been prominent in party affairs for years were absent. Mr. Stokes and Judge Carey were the chief speakers, while Mr. Anderson also addressed the gathering. He said in part:

"In the darkest period for the success of the progressive Republican principles which was immediately after last year's overwhelming defeat, a few of us who believed that these principles were identical got together and formed a Progressive Republican League in New Jersey, with the object of bringing about just that thing which was being so enthusiastically discussed this evening.

"There was no enthusiasm at that time at our little meeting, but a grim determination to bring about a situation and a realization by the rank and file that the success of principles must be looked for and not merely the success of individuals as office-seekers or an organization as an organization. We members from the different counties set to work by letter and personal interview to bring this about, and a meeting such as this amply repays us all for initiating a movement which has gained such tremendous headway."

MISS SCRIBNER BRIDE OF PROF. A. L. KIMBALL

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Julia S. Scribner, formerly of Plainfield, and Prof. Arthur L. Kimball, of Amherst, Mass. The ceremony was performed at Amherst on Wednesday by Rev. Dr. J. F. Genung, of that place, in the presence of a few relatives and intimate friends. The bride is the sister of Prof. Kimball's first wife, who was Miss Lucilla Scribner. The latter died several years ago. Mrs. Kimball has been making her home at Amherst for several years. During her residence here she conducted the school which later became the Hartridge School.

Prof. Kimball was also a resident of Plainfield during his younger days, being a son of the late Mrs. Everitt Kimball, of West Seventh street. He is one of the popular professors at Amherst College, where he has been a member of the faculty for a number of years.

MANY TO PURSUE COLLEGE COURSES

Plainfield High School Graduates Select Many Different Vocations.

WIDELY DISTRIBUTED

Thirty-nine Will Enter Collegiate Institutions in the Fall—Many Girls Undecided—One Will Teach in the Washington School Kindergarten.

Thirty-nine members of the 1913 class of the Plainfield High School have announced their intention of pursuing higher courses of study and in the fall the graduates will be scattered throughout thirty-one universities and colleges. The male members of the class have upheld the already firmly established principal of their sex in being able to make up their minds as to their futures, no less than thirteen of the girl graduates being undecided as to just what they will do in the fall and only four of the boys being in this predicament. While a large number have not as yet completed their educations as far as schooling is concerned many will go into business and some have already carried out their assertions by beginning their commercial careers, twenty-six having signified their intention of entering business. One of the boys will learn the automobile trade while still another will pursue a course in pharmacy.

Eight of the girls will take a teacher's course, while two will train for nursing, and six will attend to home duties. One member of this year's class will enter kindergartening and will be the assistant at the Washington School in this city next year, two will go to finishing school and another pair will study music.

ENDEAVORERS FETE AT WARREN CHAPEL

Big Patronage at Annual Strawberry and Ice Cream Festival in Boro.

The Christian Endeavor Society of Warren chapel entertained over 500 persons last night at its annual festival. Due to the threatening weather the event was held in the church parlors instead of on the lawn surrounding the edifice as was planned. The event was an auspicious one and was highly enjoyable. The scene of the festivities was appropriately decorated with cut flowers and rambler roses, this feature of the occasion being arranged under the direction of Alfred Everitt and Jacob Kettenring. A delegation from the Dutch Arms Band of Trinity Reformed church furnished instrumental music throughout the evening and several talented vocalists rendered selections at various intervals.

The details and general management of the festival were under the direction of Mrs. J. O. McKelvey and Theodore Martin and Miss May Bennett took charge of the proceeds. MISS CHARLOTTE TENNANT WAS QUIETLY WEDDED

Miss Charlotte Tennant, daughter of Mrs. Charles W. Tennant, of Kensington avenue, was married to Aaron Dunham Thompson, Jr., at her mother's home on Kensington avenue yesterday morning by the Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire, of the Park Avenue Baptist Church. The wedding was a quiet one, there being no attendants and only immediate relatives witnessed the ceremony.

Miss Tennant was dressed in a traveling gown and was given in marriage by her mother. Upon their return from a short trip Mr. and Mrs. Thompson will live in Madison, N. J. The bridegroom is the son of A. D. Thompson, of this city, and is engaged in the real estate business with his father in New York city.

BARN CONSUMED IN EARLY MORNING FIRE

One Horse and a Quantity of Harness Burned With a Loss of $1,500.

Fire, discovered at an early hour this morning in the barns used by Walter Temple on South Second street by William Oliver, colored, did damage to the extent of $1,500 before it was finally gotten under control by the local department. The structure was owned by the Commercial Mills and rented by Temple as a barn.

The fire was raging fiercely when the department arrived and the men found it a difficult one to fight, the material in the building being the kind that burned readily and with an intense heat. Oliver was passing the place at 2.30 o'clock and his attention was attracted by the crackling of flames and he pulled Box 45 at South Second street and Spooner avenue. In the burning barn were two horses and one of the equines was burned so badly before it was gotten out of the born by the firemen that it had to be shot.

Temple's loss is estimated at $500 including the loss of the horse and a large amount of harness, while the building was valued at $1,000. It was covered by insurance.

PLAN CELEBRATION OF INDEPENDENCE DAY

Councilman Endress and H. S. Sanderson to Provide Patriotic Demonstration.

For the purpose of entertaining the young people of the city in a "safe and sane" way, Councilman Fred Endress is arranging, at his own expense, an attractive patriotic program to be given on the morning of July 4 at Proctor's theatre. Harry S. Sanderson, of the Proctor & Sanderson, has consented to donate the use of the theatre for the entertainment.

Mayor Percy H. Stewart will make a short patriotic address to the children, and there will be moving pictures of war scenes, together with vaudeville numbers. The complete program will be announced in Monday's issue of The Plainfield Press.

COUPLE HURT BY FALL FROM A MOTORCYCLE

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Wills, who give as their place of residence Atlantic City, and who say they were on their way to Newark, were injured late last night when they were thrown from a motorcycle. The accident happened just outside the city on a country road. The machine struck some obstacle and the riders were thrown into the gutter. Mrs. Wills cut a tendon in her knee and received other slight injuries, while her husband was injured about the legs.

The couple left their cycle at a farmhouse and succeeded in reaching this city, where they are stopping at the Hotel Kensington. Dr. H. D. Corbusier found that neither Mr. ills nor his wife was seriously injured. The latter's parents, who live in Newark, were notified and the mother is expected to come to Plainfield this afternoon.

M'RORIE MAKES COMPLETE DENIAL

Suspended Minister Alleges He Was Crazy When He Signed the Confession.

RELATIONS WITH GIRL

"Big Time" With Gertrude Nelson, a Child Parishioner, Was Merely An Automobile Ride the Pastor Says on Stand.

"I must have been crazy when I signed that confession," alleged Rev. Willis S. MacRorie, in the Union County Court at Elizabeth, today, when questioned by lawyers for the defense how he came to sign a written document in which he confessed that he had wronged nineteen-year-old Gertrude Nelson. Previous to this statement, he said on the witness stand referring to a time he was sitting in Chief Kiely's office: "I was told by Chief Kiely that I was under arrest on strength of a sworn complaint made by Mrs. Amelia Mason, Gertrude's mother. I told him, 'That was bad.' The only way I looked at the case was this—it may seem silly to everyone else but it didn't to me—my wife, my child, my profession and my future were involved and I was completely overwhelmed and crushed."

Rev. MacRorie, the suspended M. E. minister, shortly before noon was placed on the witness stand to tell on cross-examination his relations with Miss Gertrude Nelson, who in an alleged confession accused him when first arrested, but who, testifying yesterday in his favor, asserting that their relations had been only as a "loving minister to a member of his flock."

The dominie looked worn and haggard as he took the stand and gave his testimony. He seemed to fully understand that his reputation was at stake. He glanced constantly at his wife, who despite the startling charges of alleged infidelity, has stood by him in his "hour of trouble."

After answering questions put by his counsel, Supreme Court Clerk W. C. Gebhardt, he said he was a veterinary surgeon previous to becoming a Methodist minister and that he was thirty-seven years old, MacRorie was asked if he every violated the law in his associations with Miss Nelson on November 19, 1912, or on any other time before or since.

He answered "I did not."

Asked to explain and describe his actions on November 19, 1912, the day claimed in the complaint that he had improper relations with Miss Nelson, he endeavored to prove an alibi by claiming that he did not see the girl on that date and told of various places he visited. Previously on the stand, Mr. Mason had testified that MacRorie attended a Ladies' Aid Society meeting in the Mt. Horeb church on the day of the alleged offense.

Cross-examined about his alleged confession the minister acknowledged his signature to the document. Asked if the contents were true, he replied: "They certainly are not and could not be."

After testifying that he must have been "crazy" when he signed the confession, he said he did not know whether he wrote the document or not and said he had a hazy recollection of some paper being laid out before him, which if he remembered right, he signedl not realizing what he was doing.

Prosecutor Stein questioned MacRorie regarding the letter which he wrote to Miss Nelson mentioning a meeting in the Beekman Woods, near Westfield, where they would have a "big time." He said he was referring to an automobile trip. Queried if he thought it was right for a minister to send money to a girl (a fact one letter mentioned), or to ask her for a kiss, the minister explained that the money was for a birthday present for "his little friend" and he said, "That's silly," referring to the kiss.

Startling testimony was given yesterday afternoon, when Dr. William F. Bullman of 2147 Seventh avenue, New York, who testified that a Miss Nelson had been brought to his office by MacRorie and "Count" John K. Van Ness, of this city, to pass a physical examination. It developed that Gertrude has a twin sister named Alice, and Prosecutor Stein raised the question that Dr. Bullman was mistaken in identity and that it was Alice that he had examined. This was refuted when the twins were made to stand side-by-side in the court room while Dr. Bullman positively identified Gertrude as the girl brought to his office.

It is probable that the jury will get the case by 5 o'clock. Among the interested spectators at the proceedings were many clergymen. MacRorie ignored them all and the compliments were returned.

Mrs. Madeleine Force Astor, the widow, received an amount taxed at $7,687,896.

MISS BEERS WINS GIRLS' JUNIOR TENNIS TITLE

Miss Edith Beers won the girls' tennis singles championship of the Plainfield Country Club this morning by defeating Miss Pauline Gates in the final round, winning two out of the three sets played. Miss Gates and Miss Beers won their way to the finals yesterday morning by proving their superiority over a large field of competitors and the finals were watched with interest this morning.

Miss Gates won the first in easy fashion by a score of 6 to 3, but Miss Beers found her stride in the second and annexed the second and third with one-sided scores of 6-1 and 6-4. With the championship goes a silver loving cup.

TRINITY PLAYS THE Y. M. A. A.

Reinforced by a squad of heralded stars and with a number of former members back in the fold, the Trinity Reformed church baseball team will take the field against the formidable Y. M. A. A. aggregation on the Centre street diamond tomorrow afternoon. Both teams possess some good material in their respective lineups and the contest will no doubt be a good one from a spectator's standpoint.

FISHING NOTES

There is good fluke fishing from the pier at Keansburg. Fluke weighing up to four pounds have been taken there this week.

Here is a good tip for a fine bass-fishing trip of a few days or more: Write to the Green Pond Hotel at Newfoundland and ask what they have to offer a city chap looking for some fishing and you will be satisfied with the answer.

The Hopatcong anglers are not saying a great deal, but they are catching more fish this year than was expected. Go to the Shady Lawn Hotel at Landing and fish where the owner tells you and you will get fish.

You can catch pickerel, perch, catfish and eels in the Passaic river at Singac. This is a good trolley trip from Newark any Saturday afternoon. Take worms for bait and you will get fish.

Eels are biting extra well along the shore of Princess Bay. Boys walk out in the water to the middle and catch eels with a six-foot line. When business is slack one youngster will stir up the bottom to attract the fish, and it works well.

Somebody is stealing powerboats at the Highlands. Two were taken from their moorings last week and one of them was recovered on Sandy Hook. It showed that an attempt had been made to remove the engine, but the culprits could not be found.

The recent captures of large striped bass along the Jersey shore are attracting attention throughout the country. The possible explanation of their presence is the cold water. Striped bass are a spring and fall fish and are native to New Jersey. They do not like warm weather or warm water. It is probably the same water condition that helps to keep the weakfish and bluefish from our coast. One of the largest bass ever taken on the Jersey coast or any other coast of the Eastern States, as far as the writer knows, was caught by Garfield Applegate Wednesday night near Deal. It weighed within a few ounces of fifty-two pounds. Twenty-two striped bass have been taken along the beach between Deal and Belmar. The east wind does not seem to hurt the fishing any, but, on the contrary, it holds the white bait, which the striped bass seek, close to the shore.

BASEBALL NOTES

The Long Branch and Middletown teams are battling at the top for the pennant in the new New York and New Jersey league.

Jack Reisigl, the former Brooklyn twirler who is now with Providence, is leading the pitchers in the International league.

The Danville (Ill.) team has a sweet hitter in outfielder Teddy Kaylor, who is leading the Three-Eye league in batting.

The wildness of Sam Felton, the Harvard pitcher, caused his battery partner, Catcher Young, to lose eleven pounds in the Yale games.

Scouts George Huff and "Chick" Frasier are trailing Pitcher Norton the crack heaver of the Hastings, Neb., team in the Nebraska State league.

A number of baseball experts, in cities other than Philadelphia, predict that Plank and Bender will crack before August 1, and then good-bye Athletics.

George Stallings' Boston Braves surprised the baseball world by their fine showing during the recent Western trip. The Braves won 10 of the 18 games played.

"Kid" Elberfeld's Chattanooga team, which has been causing quite a stir in Southern league circles, now threatens to dislodge the Mobile team from the top of the list.

Russell Ford, of the Highlanders, has been showing his old time form and pitching some good ball of late. With Rus going all right the Chance crew should do a little climbing.

Evidently Heine Zimmerman, of the Cubs, is out to establish a "given-the- gate" record. The only days that Zim is not chased by the umpire are the rainy ones.

The Texas league teams are putting up a rip-roaring free-for-all race this season. The teams are fighting it out with less than 150 points separating the first and eighth positions.

Superior, in the Northern league, the club that recently sold "Rube" Schauer to the Giants for $10,000, has a pitcher by the name of Shicken. No foul joshes go with this fellow.

The recent poor showing of the Pirates has revived the old story about Hans Wagner being all in. Perhaps Honus has slowed up a bit, but what's the matter with the young members of the Jolly Rogers crew?

WITH THE BOXERS

"Knockout" Brown and Johnny Griffiths will meet near Youngstown, O., July 4.

Sam Langford is on his way home from Australia. He has signed to box Joe Jeannette at Vernon next month.

Willie Ritchie, lightweight champion, has dismissed Manager Billy Nolan. Willie says his reasons were "personal and financial."

A Paris promoter is trying to arrange a match between Frank Klaus, the Pittsburgh middleweight, and Georges Carpentier, the French champion.

After a year's absence from the ring, Jimmy Gardner came back strong in his recent bout with Fighting Kennedy. He stopped Kennedy in eight rounds.

CRIME IS DECREASED BY WOMAN SUFFRAGE

Contrary to some published reports emanating from theorists living in States where the blessing is not enjoyed, Woman's Suffrage does have the effect of diminishing crime according to Police Chief C. E. Sebastian, of Los Angeles. This assertion was made by him at the annual convention of the International Association of Police Chiefs held this month at Washington, D. C. Garbled and distorted reports of his address printed in some newspapers conveyed the impression that the exact opposite was the result and the woman suffragists are losing no time in correcting the statement, said Mrs. Louise B. Dorr, one of the local league members, in an interview today.

"The real fact was," said Mrs. Dorr, "that Chief Sebastian, who hails from a State where women have an equal right with men to vote, strongly advocated woman suffrage for the purpose of lessening crime. Chief Sebastian declared that 'through suffrage recognition of police women in Los Angeles had been obtained, and crime had been materially reduced.' Suffrage, he added, had helped to break down the false modesty which had prevented public discussion of sex problems."

TRAVELOGUE AT HIGH SCHOOL.

Former Judge John Ulrich will deliver his travelogue in the auditorium of the Plainfield High School tonight on the subject, "Wonderful Landmarks and Beauty Spots of the World." Musical selections will be rendered by Miss Chase, Lucien Devanoz, Miss Leginska and the Philharmonic quartette.

OCEAN SPECTERS.

Phantom Craft That Are Said to Haunt the High Seas.

A CURIOUS ENGLISH RECORD.

The Log of the Warship Bacchante Under Date of July 11, 1881, Bears the Entry, "Flying Dutchman Crossed Our Bows"—The Goblin Ship.

There are numerous legends and stories of ghostly vessels that roam the briny deep, and many hard headed mariners, free from the common superstition of the ordinary sailorman, stoutly maintain that they have at least once in their maritime career encountered what was undoubtedly a phantom ship.

Best known of those mysterious craft that haunt the high seas is, of course, the famous Flying Dutchman, or phantom ship of Vanderdecken. How the story originated is doubtful, but it has been ascertained that there was a seaman of repute who many years ago sailed from Holland to the east via the Cape of Good Hope, but was never again heard of.

Some authorities say that, meeting with contrary winds off the cape, he swore a terrible oath, in consequence of which the divine wrath decreed that he should be occupied till the crack of doom in endeavoring to weather the headland. Others state that this punishment was meted out to him in retribution for a terrible murder he committed before commencing his fateful voyage.

Whatever the cause of this ancient gentleman's monotonous wandering may be, it is probably in connection with him that the most authentic and cold blooded record of any phantom exists either afloat or ashore, for it is stated that in the log of H. M. S. Bacchante while on a voyage round the world with the little princes in 1881 there appears on July 11 the entry, "Flying Dutchman crossed our bows." The log book of one of the then largest of her majesty's warships is certainly the very last place to expect to find that which is generally associated with the hysterical of either sex.

During January, 1647, a vessel left New Haven, Conn., on her maiden voyage, but was never again heard of. In the following June, just before the hour of sunset and after a severe thunderstorm, the missing ship was seen sailing up the river. The inhabitants, taking their evening stroll, were overjoyed at her return, but the most observant of them noticed that there was something uncanny about her, especially in that she appeared to be sailing up against the wind.

Then, to the consternation of all, she gradually faded away before their eyes and entireley disappeared. We may be assured that there were not wanting those who maintained that the vessel in spirit had paid a last visit to her port before resting for good on the ocean bed.

In the "Chronicles of the St. Lawrence," by Le Maine, it is recorded that on a certain day in the year a phantom ship is seen off Cap d'Espoir, in Gospe bay. Lights are seen aboard her, and her decks are crowded with men. By the foot of the bowsprit a man is conspicuously standing and facing toward the shore, with a lady clinging to his arm. Gradually the lights go out and the vessel sinks. It is said to be the ghost of the flagship of a fleet which was sent out to reduce the French forts, the vessel being lost with all hands.

To come to British waters, there are numerous instances related in local history of the visitations of ghostly vessels, the west of England, as might be expected, being most prolific in these records, says a writer in the London Globe. Indeed, Cornwall boasts of a goblin ship probably unique the world over, as she not only sails the water, but proceeds most unconcerned a good distance inland.

This is the specter ship of Porthcurno, and in Robert Hunt's book on "Romances of the West of England" are related the experiences of a local inhabitant who witnessed one of her escapades. She is described as a black square rigged single masted vessel, sometimes towing a small boat. No crew are ever seen; presumably they are down below. The personal narrative goes on to say:

"On came the craft. It passed steadily through the breakers, glided up over the sands, steadily pursued its course on the dry land as if it had been water. On it went to Bodelan, where St. Leven formerly dwelt. It then steered its course to Chygwiden and there vanished like smoke."

An Awful Blow.

"Yes," said Slithers, "Mickley was my dearest friend, and I shall never cease to mourn his death. It was a terrible blow, from which I shall never recover."

"Why—I thought you married his widow?" said Jimpson.

"Why—er—ahem!—why, yes, I did; but"—

Here Slithers subsided into a deep and uncomfortable silence.—Harper's Weekly.

Poor Comedy.

"Why did she cut you?"

"She doesn't like my comedy."

"How's that?"

"She made the statement at a party last night that she was twenty years of age, and I said, 'Yes, I knew that fifteen years ago.'"—Houston Post.

No protecting deities are wanted if there is prudence.—Juvenal.

THE FORUM.

BACK UP JEFFERY.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

With reference to the statement contained in a communication signed by Fred Endress which appeared in your issue of June 24th that the Board of Trade is a body created by Mr. Jeffery and of which he is practically the self-appointed head, we beg to say that Mr. Jeffery, at the request of about one hundred reputable men of the city of Plainfield and Borough of North Plainfield organized a Board of Trade. He was unanimously elected president by the seventy-nine (79) members present at the organization meeting.

At the request of many members of the Board, President Jeffery called a meeting of the trustees to take notice of the proposed Madison avenue widening proposition. At this meeting the trustees adopted a resolution requesting the City Council not to accept the report of the commissioners having in charge the widening of Madison avenue, but to refer the matter back to the commission for their further consideration. The City Council referred the report back to the commission on the advise of Corporation Counsel Reed.

All of President Jeffery's civic actions in this present matter, as well as in all other city matters, have been done with the sanction and authority of the Board of Trade and its committee of trustees.

VIEW SCARS OF WAR.

The advance guard of a great army of peace reached Gettysburg yesterday. It is estimated that there are already 20,000 visitors on the historic battlefield, and yet the formal exercises of the Gettysburg semicentennial celebration do not begin until Monday. Sunday morning will see the arrival of the main army o Blue and Gray veterans. A vast body of army engineers, skilled cooks physicians and hospital attendants was engaged in putting the finishing touches to the great tented city where the 40,000 soldiers will be fed and sheltered during the six days of the celebration. The camp, which was thrown open at bugle call today, is the largest military camp that the country has seen since the civil war. The camp comprises 280 acres, starting about 200 yards from the High Water Mark monument on the battlefield, and lying to the southwest of the town and partly on the scene of the first day's fight.

The arrangements to guard the health of the veterans are of the most perfect and elaborate character. At a cost of $25,000 the State of Pennsylvania has established an emergency hospital under canvas just east of the National Cemetery grounds. A United States field hospital is conveniently located in the town. In addition three good sized infirmaries have been set up. There will be many ambulances and surgeons stationed about the field ready to give first aid treatment and rush the ill to the nearest hospital.

The largest tent in the world has been raised in which to hold the exercises of the reunion. Fifteen thousand veterans may sit under the big canvas and listen to the orations of Chief Justice White, Secretary of War Garrison, Governor Tener and other notable men who will address the gathering.

It is remarkable how long and well the soldiers remember every spot, every move, every order, every incident of a battle. They may gather in groups and point to the scene of Pickett's famous charge, to the spot where General Reynolds fell, and to the line held by the Union forces along Cenetery Ridge from Culp's Hill to Round Top. They talked of reserve corps and attacks on their right; of cavalry charges and defense by the left. As they wander around they may see a monument on which the inscription would particularly attract their attention. Then they may figure out among themselves, throwing statistics to the winds, how many men were left of their companies or regiments when the battle was over.

The Blue and Gray veterans are not the only soldiers who will be there during the week. Practically every branch of the regular military service will be represented. Two battalions of the 5th Infantry have been there on guard duty for several weeks. The Signal Corps has been much in evidence establishing a complete telephone system through the camp. Yesterday a battalion of engineers arrived. A battery of the 3rd Field Artillery is there, also several troops of the 15th Cavalry. All of these troops are expected to figure prominently in the exercises of the anniversary, and will remain at Gettysburg for six weeks, afterward to participate in the maneuvers at the camp of college and university students to be conducted by the War Department Officers.

NEEDED LEGISLATION.

While there is ample legislation regulating the use of the public highways by trolley cars, there is as yet no provision made for the running of auto-omnibuses which have a fixed route and time schedule. The reason for this is that it has only been very recently that the auto-omnibus has come into use as a conveyance to compete with or supplant the trolley car.

As conditions are at present, there is no authority vested in a municipality to regulate automobile-omnibus traffic other than that provided for the ordinary conveyances, the hack and taxi-cab. These do not have any definite route and therefore are in a class by themselves. Moreover, the fee exacted for the hack and taxicab is merely a nominal one, whereas in the case of a trolley car it is levied for revenue purposes as it should be for in the latter instance the public conveyance is given a franchise to use certain streets at frequent intervals for a specified term.

The injustice of this is apparent. It permits the auto-bus company to enjoy the same rights and privileges as the trolley company and without assuming any of the obligations and responsibilities of the latter. It permits of the competition, of an unfair sort, for there is nothing to prevent the auto-bus running a line parallel with the trolley and bidding for its business. It permits of its free use of a highway as against another public service that pays a large fee for the same privilege. At the present time, moreover, the several municipalities are powerless to prohibit the use of any particular thoroughfare for this purpose.

This situation was brought to the attention of the Common Council a short time since by that exceptionally able lawyer, Charles A. Reed, our corporation counsel. So far as we have observed he was the first to refer to the matter and to point out the necessity of State legislation to regulate such business. It will be only when proper statutes are made, as Mr. Reed has said, that this and other municipalities where the auto-bus has come into use will be vested with the power to regulate them.

DUNELLEN MAN INJURED; WAS STRUCK BY AUTO TRUCK

Andrew Stork, of Chestnut street, Dunellen, received severe injuries about the head and chest early this morning, when struck at West Front street and Madison avenue by a heavy auto truck belonging to the Schmalz Baking Co., of Hoboken. The victim was riding a bicycle along West Front street and according to his version of the accident was run into by the machine as it turned the corner at Madison avenue. The driver of the truck stopped and gave his license number and name, but did not report to the local police.

MODEL TENEMENT IS PLANNED BY RABINOWITZ

Plans have just been filed with Building Inspector Doane and with the State Tenement House Department for the erection of a model tenfamily brick tenement house, with a store in the fire floor and a large family entrance. This building will make a great improvement to Plainfield avenue, West Third street and the vicinity in which it is to be located.

The owner, Morris Rabinowitz, is sparing no pains to make a model home. The building was designed by Architect George H. Fisher, Jr., and wil be three stories in height, with a light pressed brick front. Each family will have all improvements including a refrigerator.

WELCOMED A KICKING.

Odd Incident That Proved the Popularity of Dumas.

In "My Autobiography" Mme. Judith, the great French actress, writes of Alexander Dumas the elder:

"This giant of a mulatto, with his big, black, mocking eyes, his wide nostrils, thick lips, heavy chin, his crisply curling hair and his forehead with its strange bumps, like that of some unruly child who is always fighting with his comrades, was truly a representative personage, a type reflecting all the passion of the romanticists. There would have been something wanting to his time if this grandson of a negress had not been seen striding along the Parisian boulevards, if his laugh had not been heard on the terraces of the cafes or if he had not appeared playing his part with naive self satisfaction in official ceremonies and at the Tuileries ball, or walking about behind the scenes at the theater with his arm around the waist of some actress, or eating and drinking enough for four in the merry suppers at which authors and artists used to meet.

"His popularity was simply unequaled. There was a story current in my time of a singular wager made by Mery of Marseilles. Walking one day in some public garden with a friend, he suddenly said to him: 'Do you see that big, ridiculous looking fellow? I bet you 100 sous that if I kick him, no matter where, instead of flying into a rage he will make me a polite bow.'

"The bet was taken, and Mery, creeping stealthily up behind M. Prudhomme, gave him a tremendous kick in the small of his back. The man turned red with indignation, but Mery cried: 'Oh, I beg your pardon, sir; I took you for Alexander Dumas, with whom I have an account to settle.'

"His victim, only too proud to be taken for such a great man, at once relented and, taking off his hat in the most amiable manner, he said, with a bow, 'There is no harm done, monsieur.' The hundred sous were won."

ANSON SCORED LAST.

The Old Chicago Captain Made Two Plays to Dahlen's One.

Tim Hurst, the veteran umpire, told this one on Bill Dahlen when Bill was a youth toiling under Cap Anson in Chicago. Said he:

"Anson called Dahlen good and hard in a game I was umpiring in Chicago. Dahlen took it without saying a word, but a few minutes later Bill remarked to me, 'Watch me bark that old fellow's shins.' 'Ans' was not as agile then as he was in his younger days, and he stooped with much effort. All through that game Bill made great stops, only to throw the ball a few feet in front of the bag, and it was up to Anson to stop it with his shins.

"However, that was not the end of it. A few days later the White Stockings had to make a trip to St. Louis, and Anson told Dahlen he would not be taken on the trip. Bill had been told that several times and he thought 'Ans' was fooling. The train left Chicago about midnight and Dahlen was with the rest of the team.

"When the train was about twenty-five miles out of Chicago the conductor told Anson there were sixteen men in the party and he had received only fifteen tickets. Anson said there were only fifteen men and named the berths they occupied.

"'The man in berth No. 17 says he is a member of the Chicago team,' said the conductor, who was referring to Dahlen. 'He's stringing you,' replied Anson. Poor Bill was asked to cough up and couldn't. The train was stopped, and Dahlen was put off the train about thirty miles from Chicago. How he got back to Chicago only Bill himself knows, but he would not talk to anybody for a week."

Nothing to Worry Over.

"I heard something the other day that greatly surprised me, and I have been worried about it ever since."

"What was it?"

"I don't know whether I ought to mention it to you or not, but I was told that your daughter's husband was a free thinker. She's such a lovely girl! I hope it isn't true."

"Of course it isn't, or if it is it won't make any difference. Laura takes after me, and my husband was a free thinker, too, when I married him. Now he never thinks."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Inspiration and Sitting Tight.

George Eliot believed that her novels were the product of inspiration or genius. Anthony Trollope thought his was the result of "cobbler's wax, madam," or the faculty of sitting tight in his chair and turning out 250 words every fifteen minutes for two or three hours before breakfast. The method succeeded so far as to bring him a return of $350,000 and the reading public a set of novels which are being more appreciated every day.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Not So Very Much.

"You've got nothing on me," said the cook.

The mistress looked her over carefully.

"Only one hat, one skirt and two bunches of puffs," she retorted, "and you'll take 'em all off before you leave too."—Pittsburgh Post.

A Tale of Two Cities.

"I thought your minister was to have a call to Minneapolis."

"He did expect it, but he went up there to preach a trial sermon and took his text from St. Paul, so it's all off."—Chicago Record-Herald.

FRESH AIR CAMP OPENS ON SATURDAY, JULY 5

The Netherwood Fresh Air Home will be opened for another season on Saturday July 5. The work at the Home has been wonderfully successful in past seasons, and it is the hope of Miss Curry that this season will be even more successful than last. The friends who have been so loyal in the past will no doubt lend their aid again, and it is believed that many new friends will become interested.

The Home is in need of baby carriages, tables, dishes, table-cloths and chairs, and if any one has any of these articles which they are willing to give to the Home, if they will notify Miss Curry, who is at the Home now, she will gladly send for them.

The opening service will be held on Sunday afternoon, July 6. It is expected that Charles W. McCutchen will preside, the Rev. Dr. Strong, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will be the speaker, and the choir of the same church, and the Children's Choir will furnish the special music.

PLAN TO OPEN SUMMER CAMP.

An informal meeting of those interested in the work of the Netherwood Fresh Air Camp was held in the auditorium of the local Y. M. C. A. last night when plans pertaining to the opening of the summer season were discused and formulated. Miss Sarah Curry, the matron of the camp, presided at the meeting and outlined her program of work for the season which will open the first part of July.

NO CITY COURT TODAY.

Due to the enforced absence from the city of City Judge De Meza, who is in Elizabeth as a State's witness at the MacRorie trial, all prisoners in the local jail were remanded for arraignment tomorrow morning. In the cells are seven colored men who were arrested Wednesday night for fighting on a Main Line trolley car. They will have spent over forty-eight hours in the lock-up before being sentenced.

GRAND LODGE OFFICERS VISIT CENTRAL LODGE

The annual visit of the Grand Lodge officers to Central Lodge, No. 18, A. O. U. W., was the cause of a large gathering last night at Firemen's Hall, a number being present from Columbia Lodge, No. 58, of this city, and Upchurch Lodge, No. 50, of Westfield.

The evening was spent largely in speechmaking, several addresses being made by Grand Master Workman S. B. Munyon of Woodbury; Grand Foreman J. W. Bauersaens, of this city; District Deputy Charles Leighs, of East Orange; Assistant District Deputy W. H. Smith, of Newark, Past Grand Master Workman V. W. Cash, of this city, and Past Master Workman F. J. Blatz, of Central Lodge. Four candidates were made acquainted with the mysteries of the order, excellent work being accomplished by the degree team. After entertainment, refreshments and cigars were served by the entertainment committee, comprised of Theodore J. Mason, Harvey Thorne and Edwin N. Mosher.

SUFFRAGISTS' CANVAS.

The second day's canvas by the Equal Suffrage League completed the covering of about half the borough. The returns are not all in as yet from even this portion, and the canvas will be continued for a few days yet. But yesterday's showing was excellent, and the committee feel much encouraged by the very real and intelligent interest given to the subject by the women they approached. Many new members of the League were enrolled. The committee again met at luncheon at the Ritz and was composed of the same members as on Wednesday, except that Mrs. Henry C. White's name was added, and three other members were unable to be present.

MAINE POLITICTIANS ALREADY HAVE STRIFE

Augusta, Me., June 27.—Although the special election in the Third Maine district to choose a successor to the late Congressman Goodwin will not be held until September the contest already is beginning to attract wide attention. The situation as it appears at present is full of interesting possibilities.

The late Congressman Goodwin, Republican, was elected in September last over Gould, Democrat, the sitting member, by a plurality of only 709. Mr. Goodwin's victory was attributed to his personal popularity, his long acquaintance with Republican politics, and the prestige resulting from his years of intimate association with Thomas B. Reed

The September election was held while the truce between the Republicans and Progressives was in force. The Progressives had no candidate in the field, and those who desired to flock apart from the old parties had to choose between the Socialist and the Prohibition tickets. In all the minor parties threw less than 800 votes. Now the spirit of Maine politics has undergone a change, and it is expected the Progressives will have a candidate of their own in the coming election. With a three-cornered fight among the Democrats, Republicans and Progressives, the result will afford an excellent opportunity of measuring their comparative strength and of noting any changes in political sentiment that may have come over the voters since the general election of last November.

TESTED HIS NERVE

A Blind Struggle For Life In the Depths of the Earth.

LOST IN THE DARK IN A MINE.

Thrilling Experience of a Workman Who Found Himself After an Explosion Alone and Without a Light In the Suffocating Coal Hole.

To be lost in the woods or on the plains is a fearful experience, but there the victim has the heavens above him and can at least see his way about. The terrors of a similar adventure in the utter blackness of a gas filled coal mine are thus described by a correspondent of the Youth's Companion:

I was working alone in a "room" on the second south entry of the mine. It was 5 o'clock, the time for firing the afternoon blasts. The man who was "driving" the entry lighted his fuse and came back through the entry calling out "Fire!" One after another the other miners set off their blasts and came along the entry until they reached my room. I lighted my fuse, watched it sputter for a moment and went out into the entry to wait for the blast.

Several seconds passed, and there was no explosion. My fellow miners passed out of the entry and left me alone. I went back into the room and found that the blast opening was clogged so that the fire could not reach the powder. I had to remove the tamping and recharge the drill hole. By this time the mine was filled with dense, gas laden powder smoke from the other blasts.

In the stifling smoke I recharged the hole, tamped it, inserted the fuse, lighted it from my head lamp and hurried to the mouth of the room. The work was hastily done. When the powder exploded the rush of air extinguished my lamp.

The darkness was absolute, and there is no darkness so dense as that of a mine. To my consternation I found the matches in my "jockey box" so damp that they would not ignite. Then I became really alarmed. I was two miles under ground without a light in an atmosphere so heavy with gas that it would not sustain life for any length of time.

I dashed into the entry, ran against a pillar and was knocked nearly senseless.

I staggered to my feet and groped down the tunnel. In a coal mine great oaken valves or doors close the entrances to the various tunnels. The air enters through the main entry and is sucked out of the mine by great fans at the opposite end of the mine after it has been distributed through the workings by means of these valves and crosscuts situated near them.

I reached a door, pulled it open and passed through. Beyond it two tunnels came together at a right angle. One led toward the open air, the other into the depths of the mine. My sense of direction was entirely gone, and I could not tell which to take. It was all chance. I went ahead and after a time reached another valve.

If I only had a light! One glimpse of the number painted on the door would tell me where I was. I tried to feel the number with my fingers, but in vain. I pushed through the door and entered another tunnel, down which I walked for hours, as it seemed. My head was bursting with pain from the gas.

Then I heard the sound of running water. I knelt down, dipped in my hand and found that I was going up stream and consequently deeper and deeper into the mine. So I turned back, reached the valve and felt along the pillar until I found the other tunnel opening. The gas had by this time begun to affect my brain, and I reeled and staggered as I walked. I left the track and walked in the "sump" water up to my knees, keeping one hand on the wall to steady myself.

I passed through valve after valve and tried to keep count, but my brain refused to perform that simple task. At last I pushed through a valve and felt a blast of fresh, cold air. With that breath of oxygen my reason returned. With renewed courage I pushed forward. Many times in following that life giving current of air I plunged through narrow cross cuts, stumbled over masses of slate, fell into water holes and bruised myself by striking against the sharp corners of the coal vein, but I was steadily creeping nearer to the surface.

Suddenly I stumbled against a loaded coal car. That meant that I was in the main entry, but how far from the entrance I could not tell. I worked my way along the string of loaded cars and began to ascend an incline. The fresh air swept down the tunnel in a gale. I kept peering ahead, in the hope of seeing daylight, but none appeared. I wondered why. I broke into a run, and in another minute I had emerged from the mine and stood gazing at the stars. It was almost midnight, and I had left my room shortly after 5 o'clock.

The Greedy One.

Traveling through South Africa, Mr. Dudley Kidd, the author of "The Essential Kaffir," once accused a native of being greedy. The native turned eyes of reproach upon him.

"Me greedy, baas?" he said. "It takes two Kaffirs to eat a sheep in a day, but only one Hottentot. Hottentot greedy, not Kaffir."

The question every morning is not how to do the gainful thing, but how to do the just thing.—John Ruskin.

DO IT NOW!

There will be more interest taken in the contest from now on. Many new names have appeared within the past few days which leads the contest department to believe that there are at least a few who possess the effort necessary to win.

It is true that the name of the winner may not be inluded in the list at the present time. It is possible for the right kind of person to step into the contest at the present and write up a few long term subscriptions and place himself in the lead so far as subscription votes count. Subscription votes are what will win the automobiles. The candidate who made all the noise at the starting of the contest is beginning to find out that subscriptions and not noise will win and will work accordingly.

No candidate interested will, when counting his ballots, conclude he has enough to win. The number of subscriptions received up to the present by any candidate does not conform with the average number of subscriptions turned in on a proposition of this kind in which a trip to Europe or some other inexpensive prize was the highest.

The race is only between five or six both districts included. It is nip and tuck between the five as to who will win the grand prize Henderson automobile. Of course each of the five will be handsomely rewarded for their efforts after July 19, provided some dark horse does not enter the contest and with a few long term subscriptions forge to the front.

Candidates should remember that no matter how hard they have worked to secure subscriptions some other candidate has worked just as hard. When you count your votes do not come to the conclusion you have enough to discontinue your efforts. Perhaps if the vote standing was published you would have cause to change your mind.

Make this period the biggest of the contest. Bear in mind that with so few interested it will require more votes per candidate than if more were in the race.

VOTES UNTIL JULY 2

Two three month subscriptions will equal as many votes at one six month subscription.

THE ENGAGEMENT OF MISS EDITH LOGAN, DAUGHTER OF MAJOR J. A. LOGAN, ANNOUNCED

An engagement of national interest—that of Miss Edith Logan, of Youngstown, Ohio, and W. W. Dilworth, of New York—was announced recently by Mrs. John A. Logan, mother of Miss Logan. The bride to be is the granddaughter of the late General John A. Logan and daughter of the late Major John A. Logan, who met a heroic death in November, 1899, when engaging the Philippine insurgents near San Fabian. Mrs. Logan was Miss Edith Andrews, daughter of the late C. H. Andrews, of Youngstown, Ohio. Miss Logan, who was one of the most beautiful débutantes of last season, has a sister, Mrs. Henri St. Paul de Sincay, of Paris, France, and a brother, John A. Logan, known equally well in Youngstown and New York, who was graduated from Yale last year. Mr. Dilworth, also a Yale man, is known in Pittsburg and New York and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Dilworth. The wedding will take place in the fall.

HISTORIC BATTLEFIELD OF GETTYSBURG WILL SOON BE SCENE OF GRAND REUNION OF BLUE AND GRAY

To the strains of "Dixie" and "The Star Spangled Banner" six thousand veterans of the battle of Gettysburg are marking time preparatory to their march to historic battle fields where just fifty years ago the Blue and the Gray clashed in deadly combat for a cause considered right and just by both. Some of these valiant veterans are but sixty-five years of age; some are men near to the hundred year mark, for they were of middle age when they followed the drum beat of 1863.

The fiftieth anniversary of this sanguine battle will be fittingly commemorated by a grand reunion of the old survivors. There are about five thousand who wore the gray and one thousand who donned the blue who will be present on this occasion. The celebration will begin on June 29 and will continue for a week. In the absence of President Wilson, who has declared that he will not be present at the reunion, it has been semi-officially announced that former President Taft would be at Gettysburg to preside over the great gathering and to deliver the principal oration on July 4, the closing day of the anniversary. There will be a host of other prominent speakers, and the names and achievements of Lee, Longstreet, Ewell and other Southern war heroes and the valiancy of Meade, Sickles, Hancock, Reynolds and others of the Blue will be glorified in the same breath.

Historic events of the battle on Seminary and Cemetery ridges, Round Top and Little Round Top, Culps Hill and Devils' Den will be refreshed in the minds of the old warriors. General Crawford's charge on the rebel lines, Pickett's charge at Gettysburg and many other thrilling battles will be reviewed in their minds' eye.

Queries, Comment and Answers

These columns are being conducted for the benefit of the readers of this paper and all questions submitted to the Query Department will be answered within two days after the receipt of the same. Owing to the large number of questions that come to hand every morning it is practically impossible to answer all on the same day on which they are received but each query will be satisfied within the specified time. In sending letters to the Query Department be careful to write legibly and write on only one side of the paper. Also be sure to state just what you want to know in as few words as possible, signing your initials at the end. If you make your questions concise and easy to read it will enable us to handle a great many more each day.

Sporting editor:

Query—Please tell me who is the president of the Central Railroad of New Jersey? F. O. O. L.

Answer—George F. Baer, of Reading, Pa., is president of the C. R. R.

Sporting editor:

Query—In the fishing notes published in your paper the first part of the week you make reference to Corson's Inlet. Where is this place? Also, how do you get there? C. F. T.

Answer—Corson's Inlet is a fishing resort sixteen miles south of Atlantic City. You can take a train to Philadelphia and there take a trolley car or the subway to Camden ferry and the train direct to Corson's Inlet from Camden, or go to Atlantic City and take a trolley from Virginia avenue to Ocean City and a train from there over.

Sporting editor:

Query—Will you kindly give me a decision on the following as soon as possible? A bets B that it is impossible for a full game of nine innings to be played in which only eighty-one balls are served by each pitcher, and not an assist or fly is caught, and that each catcher gets credit for twenty-seven put-outs. D. R. P.

Answer—Pay the money to B. If each batter should bunt foul on his third strike the catcher would be credited with twenty-seven putouts and eighty-one balls would be delivered by the pitcher. Then, again, if the catcher on each third strike should drop the ball but recover it in time to tag the runner before he could get to first base only eighty-one balls would have to be delivered and all the putouts would go to the credit of the catcher. It would be some game, however.

Sporting editor:

Query—How can I get to Schooley's Mountain, N. J. H. S. T.

Answer—Schooley says to take the Lackawanna train to Hackettstown and take a carriage to the "Scoop" Mountains.

Sporting editor:

Query—Who is secretary of the local Playground Commission and how can I reach him? L. M. N.

Answer—Write to Herbert E. Parker, care local Y. M. C. A. He is secretary.

Sporting editor:

Query—Who was Izaak Walton? How long has he been dead? Did he ever write any books on fishing? D. P.

Answer—Izaak Walton was a noted writer of the nineteenth century. He was born in 1788 and died in 1867. He wrote the book, "The Complete Angler."

Sporting editor:

Query—A man is running to first base, but is thrown out at first base on a close play. After he passes first base he turns toward second base and the first baseman touches him with the ball. A bets he is out, B bets he is not. F. E.

Answer—The runner is out if he turns toward second base and is touched before he can get back to the bag.

AUTO-POLO PLAYING A POPULAR NOVELTY

How the Game Will Be Played at Ocean Park, Long Branch.

Auto-polo will have its premier on the Jersey coast tomorrow, at Ocean Park, Long Branch, the Park's manager, Arthur D. V. Storey, having early recognized its novelty, strength and values. The game is less than a year old but it has been developed into a standard sport and a recognized public amusement by William J. Poth, until recently manager of Madison Square Garden, until it is being played, booked and sought for in Europe, Canada and Australia, besides this season with Buffalo Bill's and Pawnee Bill's Wild West Show and at State and inter-state fairs in several States of the Union. The game is divided into five periods of ten minutes each, with an intermission of five minutes between each period.

Each team may consist of one or two cars, but more than four cars all told is considered suicidal. The occupants of each car are the driver and a mallet man. The machines used are racing cars, stripped almost to the bare frame, and geared in such a manner that it is almost impossible to kill the engine even when the car capsizes, which is not an infrequent occurrence. Heavy strap-iron hoops are mounted back of the driver's seat and over the radiator on each car. Their purpose is to protect the power plant should the car turn turtle, also to keep the weight from crushing the players should they not jump quickly enough and be caught underneath. It also serves as a self-righter, for once a car goes clear over this arch it comes right side up again. The mallet man crouches with his feet braced on the right side running-board ready to strike at the ball when the driver rushes the car into action. The steering wheels and controls are on the left side of the cars.

The auto-polo cars, three in number, one for a reserve in case of accident, have been named by their crews, "Red Devil," "Yellow Peril" and "White Weasel." The six players who daily delight in risking life and limb aboard of them are "Red-Head Jimmy Allen," Frank Corey, whose musical sobriquet is "Fiddle," and Jimmy Brady, otherwise "White Tents," who has done everything about a circus a "kid" could do, including "riding the den" with a group of five lions in street parades and "working the little bulls," otherwise acting as mahout to a herd of smaller elephants. This trio of drivers will take any chance that driving a motor car can offer. The mallet men are little "Checkers" Moran, "Welshman" Freddy Charles, with a Jack London career, and "Buddy" Shechan. The team manager is Ross Marine, dean of the training school of students studying to qualify for Poth's auto-polo teams. Mr. Marine says the teams picked to fill the Ocean Park engagement are made up of the smallest yet wiriest and lightning-like auto-polo players yet developed and possessing so high a degree of inherent scrappiness that he left the school to an understudy to supervise these players and keep them cool.

SPICERS AND ROYALS TO SCRAP ONCE MORE

Saurer Top Notchers Will Have to Go Some to Beat Fast West Ends.

CITY BASEBALL LEAGUE.

Tomorrow's games:

Spicer vs. Royal Giants (Filmore avenue field).

West Ends vs. Saurer (Clinton avenue field.)

Standing of the Clubs.

	W.	L.	P. C.
Saurer	3	1	750
West Ends	2	1	666
Royal Giants	2	1	666
Spicer	0	4	000

Two of the greatest rivals in local amateur baseball circles will meet on the Filmore avenue grounds tomorrow afternoon when the Royal Giants and the Spicer nine come together in conection with the City Baseball League race. These teams have met twice before this season and each time the game has been a fiercely contested one, the rivalry being keen and the enthusiasm great on both sides.

Saurer's claim to the top rung title will be the subject of dispute on the Clinton avenue field when the first place holders stack up against the West Ends.

QUALIFYING ROUND MEDAL WON BY SCHOOLBOY CHAMP

Max R. Marston, the youthful golfer, who won the interscholastic championship of the East on the Plainfield Country Clubs links three weeks ago, led a field of eighty-one players at Forest Hill yesterday afternoon, winning the gold medal in the qualifying round of the invitation tournament under the auspices of the Forest Hill Club. He returned a card of 37, 4-78, and Harold Slater, one of the best golfers of the home club, came in second, two strokes behind the schoolboy title holder.

The versatile Marston sailed along finely going out, reaching the turn in 37, par figures. He played poorly at a couple of holes in coming back however, notably at the eleventh, where he over approached the green on his fourth shot and required extra putts. Thrice he needed extra tries for the cup before caging the ball.

TRIO OF CONTESTS IN CENTRAL LEAGUE

Plainfield Goes to Dunellen Tomorrow Afternoon for Another Game.

CENTRAL NEW JERSEY BASEBALL LEAGUE.

Games Tomorrow.

Plainfield at Dunellen.
Bound Brook at Somerville.
New Brunswick at High Bridge.

Standing of Clubs.

	W.	L.	P. C
Somerville	4	1	.800
Plainfield	4	2	.667
Dunellen	3	3	.500
High Bridge	1	4	.200
Bound Brook	0	1	.000
New Brunswick	0	1	.000

Plainfield goes to Dunellen to clash with Bob Bogardus' clan again tomorrow afternoon and Ernest Dorflinger is out to duplicate the feat of last Saturday afternoon when the Dunellen crew was treated to a drubbing on Parker Field. If all reports in circulation bear fruit, "Chick" Boyd, a new outfielder, and Harold Schenck, a former Rutgers College player, are mentioned as possible additions to the local lineup, while the home aggregation is expected to have the same team on the field as played against the Pets last week, with Jim Wolf, the hard hitting and sure fielding shortstop, back in the lineup.

At Somerville, Bound Brook will be the attraction after a week's layoff and New Brunswick will appear at High Bridge. Both of these attractions should be good ones, as the Brunswick and Bound Brook aggregations are aching to get back into the fray after a short vacation.

S. S. LEAGUE TEAMS PLAY FIFTH ROUND

Hope Chapel Meets Park Avenue Baptist on Parker Field Tomorrow.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL BASEBALL LEAGUE.

Games Tomorrow:

First Presbyterian vs. Monroe Avenue (Hyde Field).

Hope Chapel vs. Park Avenue (Parker Field).

Standing of Clubs.

	W.	L.	P.C.
Hope Chapel	3	1	.750
First Baptist	2	1	.666
First Presbyterian	1	1	.500
Monroe Ave. M. E.	2	2	.500
Park Avenue	0	3	.000

Park Avenue will endeavor to stop the fast going Hope Chapel team of the Sunday School league tomorrow afternoon on Parker Field in what will be the best game in the Sunday-school league schedule. This contest will probably attract a large crowd as each aggregation has a host of followers who are anxious for a victory. Hope's chances of maintaining the top rung standard rely a good deal on the outcome of this contest and the strongest lineup will be put on the field including the high school players who have recently become eligible to play.

On Hyde Field the First Presbyterian aggregation will try its lot againt the Monroe Avenue scrappers and this contest should also be an interesting one as both of the contestants have shown class during the early part of the season and each is considered to be a strong championship possibility.

NO SCORE UP TO THE NINTH BUT A FUSILADE FOLLOWED

Although the score stood a scoreless tie at the beginning of the ninth inning, the Netherwood Stars managed to wallop the Intertriangle A. C. baseball team in their scheduled game yesterday afternoon by a count of 9 to 0. In this round the Netherwood nine batted the offerings of Hansen to the four corners of the lot and errors by J. Carson and Leacock at critical moments also helped along the run getting. No positions were turned in for the losing side.

GREAT BALL CONTEST ON DUNELLEN FIELD

Two Old Time Rivals Due to Clash at That Place Tomorrow Afternoon.

Dunellen—McDicken rf., Schiller 1b., Dixon c., G. Wolf cf., McLaughlin p., Giddes 3b., Coyle 2b., Washburn ss., Clough lf.

Plainfield—Craig 3b., E. Stallings lf., W. Stallings 2b., Harter cf., Nelson c., Garretson 1b., Dorman rf., Moran ss., Randolph p.

When Manager Ernest Dorflinger swoops down on Dunellen with his all-star cast of ball-players tomorrow afternoon it is safe to predict that he and his crew of fighters will be greeted by an enemy larger in proportion than any that have been met this season on Central New Jersey League circuit diamonds. Every time Dunellen plays Plainfield and every time that Plainfield plays Dunellen, it is the cause for a mammoth turnout of National Pastime fanatics who save their pennies up for weeks for the sake of warming a seat in the bleachers at this particular time, when two of the oldest rivals in central New Jersey baseball come together on the battlefield to fight with bullets of horsehide.

Every veteran of the bleacherite union makes it a point to meet and reminise with his old comrades at this particular battle and tomorrow afternoon will be one of these occasions when Queen City and Dunellen ball players can have anything they want prior to the opening of the game and the winning team can have the town after the nine innings are completed. None has succeeded in kidnapping the gold watch offered for the first home run on the Dunellen diamond this season as yet, but with a crew of eighteen hitters such as adorn the two line-ups that will battle tomorrow afternoon, the timepiece is pretty likely to change hands.

Many Plainfield fans and still more of the Dunellen nationality will take a trip to the Washington avenue field tomorrow afternoon to see Warry McLaughlin endeavor to even up matters with the hurler known as Clifford Randolph. Each team has a game to its credit to date but the one won by Plainfield last Saturday is still under protest and may be decided in favor of the Dunellenites.

GREAT CAREER OF POPE PIUS X., WHO AROSE FROM OBSCURITY

A Man of Strong Character, but Kind and of Simple Tastes.

Great Questions Solved and Tasks Performed During His Reign.

NOT long after the accession of Pope Pius X. one of his intimate friends declared, "He is the most human of all the popes."

That remark, justified by countless incidents brought to light since that time, affords a key to the character of the pontiff whose reign in many respects has been one of the most remarkable in the history of the church.

In the first few days of the reign of Pope Pius it became apparent that he would not conform to the rigid etiquette of the Vatican. He had been elected to the highest ecclesiastical office, contrary to his expectations and wishes, and he disliked the formality which ages of precedent had imposed upon his station.

It is related that a delegation of monks of some order sought an audience with the pope. According to Vatican etiquette as observed by other pontiffs only cardinals were supposed to sit in the presence of the pope. And if his holiness invited one of lower rank to be seated the invitation was looked upon as a promise of a cardinalate.

Put Visitors at Ease.

As soon as the monks entered Pope Pius asked them to be seated. Knowing the rule of etiquette in such cases, they hesitated, hardly knowing what to do.

"You do not, I suppose, expect me to draw your chairs forward for you, do you?" inquired the pope good naturedly. The abashed monks then took their seats and proceeded to make known their wishes.

Before the pope's love of simplicity was thoroughly understood members of the papal court were somewhat shocked to observe that when his holiness wished to know the time he drew forth a small nickel watch attached to a little black cord. Haste was made to present the pontiff with a magnificent gold watch, supposed by the donors to be in keeping with the station of the pope.

To the amazement of the givers Pope Pius gently waved the gift aside.

"As long as I live," he said, "I shall wear my little nickel watch. It was a gift from my mother."

The dislike of his holiness for demonstrations at solemn functions was demonstrated in the winter of 1904. The pope had finished the celebration of a solemn pontificate at St. Peters'. As he was being raised on the portable throne, to be taken back to the Vatican palace, a crowd of enthusiasts started a demonstration in his honor. Forgetting his dignity for the moment, the pope, wearing his triple crown, promptly stopped the demonstration by gesticulating vigorously and crying:

"Stop that! It is absolutely forbidden to applaud!"

Wouldn't Use an Automobile.

The European representative of a great American automobile concern once conceived the idea of associating the name of Pope Pius X. with certain things in the nature of advertising for the house. By some intelligent maneuvering the representative succeeded in getting into conversation with one of the superior prelates of the papal household.

This done, he discreetly announced that one of the company's finest high powered cars was at the pope's disposal for his trips through the Vatican gardens and that the firm would ask nothing but the pope's blessing in return.

The representative's hopes of obtaining some striking publicity were suddenly blasted, however, when Pope Pius cut short the negotiations by announcing that he did not consider a motorcar a vehicle becoming an ecclesiastic.

The great compassion and humanity of Pope Pius were illustrated by an incident that happened while he was patriarch of Venice. Only a few days after he had been elevated to that position, with the rank of cardinal, he met in the streets of Venice a young woman carrying a baby.

Helped Fallen Woman.

The young mother looked so weary and despondent that the patriarch stopped her and made inquiries. She told him, it is said, of having failed to find work and of having led a sinful life, no other way of supporting herself and her child being apparent to her.

Instantly the patriarch opened his purse and thrust several coins into the sobbing woman's hands.

"All mothers are good," he said, "and no queen is greater than a good mother."

The woman, it is related, knew by his garb that he was a priest, but was not aware that he was a prince of the church.

Joked About Name.

Giuseppi Sarto, the family name of Pope Pius X. once prompted the pontiff to make a joke. A visitor named Schneider had been shown into the pope's chambers. After chatting awhile the pope smiled and remarked:

"You and I are brothers. Your name, 'Schneider' means 'tailor.' My name, 'Sarto,' means 'tailor.' Therefore we are brothers in name."

His humor was shown on another occasion when he was talking to a famous dentist monk of Rome.

"I should like to have you pull a tooth for me, but it is impossible," said the pope.

"Why is it impossible, holy father?" inquired the monk.

"Because," said the pope, "I have none left to pull."

Giuseppi Sarto was born June 2, 1835, in the village of Riese, in the diocese of Treviso, north of Venice. His parents were peasants, and his early life was necessarily burdened to some extent by poverty.

Often Knew Hunger.

Often he knew what it was to be hungry, but Beppo, as the child was familiarly called, would share with other lads, more hungry still, his food. Later, as he had expressed a desire to be a priest, he became a student of the Bishop's seminary at Padua. Here his warm, genial and sympathetic nature made him like the very sun in the college.

He always found time to help the poor and visit the sick. He was ordained two years before the canonical age. In his priesthood the only thing he neglected was his own ill fed and ill clothed body. His sister, who was his housekeeper and only servant, had to hide away his things under lock and key, and when the dinner was being prepared she dared not leave the kitchen lest the scanty meal should be spirited away to meet some case of poverty.

In spite of the hardships of his boyhood he loved the simplicity of rustic life, and that love was not displaced by all the grandeur of the Vatican. Reports frequently have come from the papal court to the effect that Pope Pius, surrounded by all the great art treasures of the Vatican, wielding influence over millions of people and receiving the homage of great people, including temporal rulers, still longed for the simple life of the village or of Venice.

Was a Pious Boy.

Giuseppi Santo's mother saw while he was a very young boy that his inclinations were toward the priesthood. She let him plan his own career, however, but when he told her that he would go to the seminary and study for the priesthood, if he could be spared from the family, she took him up in her arms and declared that her secret prayers had been answered.

After studying awhile at the village school in Riese and under the direction of the local priest Giuseppi Sarto went to Treviso and entered the seminary. Nine years later, in 1858, he was ordained.

For the next nine years he was an assistant priest at the church of San Rafael, in the little town of Colombo. Here he entered into the lives of the people, sharing their joys and sorrows and working earnestly for the consolation and advancement of the poor. In his spare time he studied hard and sometimes wrote poetry.

Worked Among the Poor.

In May, 1867, he was appointed to the pastorate of St. Peter's church at Salcano. There he established a conference of the St. Vincent de Paul society, an organization for relief work among the poor, and the result of this work soon was felt through all Italy.

The administrative abilities of the pastor of St. Peter's church was recognized by the church authorities, and when he was forty years old he was made examiner of the clergy, chancellor of the diocese and spiritual director of the Salcano seminary. A year later he was made vicar general.

In 1884 he was given the episcopacy of the diocese of Mantua. There he continued to work indefatigably, especially among the poor. He walked through the streets and conversed with the people as freely as he had when he was only Father Sarto, parish priest. It has, indeed, been said of him, "He has always been a parish priest."

The necessity of finding a strong man to fill the important patriarchate of Venice came up for the consideration of Pope Leo XIII. in 1893. The Italian government notified the pope that it reserved the right to make the appointment, but the pontiff was firm and was permitted to make the selection. He chose Bishop Sarto of Mantua.

His Independence Manifested.

In a short time relations between the new cardinal and the Vatican became strained because the patriarch called on the king of Italy, who was visiting Venice. Cardinal Sarto, however, had his own ideas as to how to deal with any situation bearing on the so called disagreement between the Vatican and the Quirinal. His independence in this instance demonstrated his strength of character, so emphatically brought out later.

Cardinal Sarto became very popular with the people of Venice. No other patriarch as far as could be remembered ever mingled with the people as he did. It was with the deepest sorrow that the populace received the news of their beloved patriarch's election as pope, notwithstanding their approval of the choice. Cardinal Sarto himself declared he would have preferred his patriarchate had the choice been left to him.

When Cardinal Sarto departed for the papal conclave in 1903 nothing was further from his mind than the thought that he would be elected successor to Pope Leo XIII. He bought a return ticket to Venice and seemed to be intent on hastening home as soon as he had done his part of the work at Rome.

He was elected Aug. 4, after several days of balloting, during which he steadily gained in favor as a compromise candidate, agreed on by two apparent factions which then seemed to be at variance on certain points. But it is said Cardinal Sarto, of all the delegates, did not foresee the final result of the voting until his election was assured by the two-thirds vote.

The announcement of his election was followed by a most dramatic scene. The new pope walked weakly toward the altar. His face was pale, and he tottered as if about to fall. Several cardinals went to his support.

"It is a cross that I receive from you," were the first words of the man who had unexpectedly had the highest honor in the church thrust upon him.

Assumed Heavy Duties.

The news that the lowly Father Sarto, he of the frugal habits and the simple tastes, had been chosen pope brought forth a great demonstration. The bells of all the churches in Rome were rung, and all the rulers of the world cabled their congratulations.

In a short time came rumors that the new pope would abdicate because of his unwillingness to be the "voluntary prisoner" of the Vatican and also because his health seemed to be declining. But, while it is true that he had pleaded to be excused from the honor, it is also a fact that he did not shrink from his heavy duties once he had assumed the office.

One of the most important things accomplished during his reign is the codification of the canon law, the great body of jurisprudence by which the Catholic church is governed. Earlier popes had tried to simplify the great mass of disjointed and sometimes seemingly contradictory laws, but little progress had been made. Even the energetic Pope Leo XIII. declared the task was so great he could not undertake it.

Pope Pius put experts to work and personally supervised their labors, now and then issuing pronunciamentos dealing with the principal points covered by the codifications. In spite of the difficulty of the task, at the end of six years the greater part of the work was done.

Another momentous situation which Pope Pius dealt with in a powerful fashion was the rise of so called "modernism" in the church in Europe. His encyclical of Sept. 8, 1907, in which he condemned modernism as "a synthesis of all errors," has been pronounced the most sweeping and farreaching that has come from the holy see in many decades. Another encyclical against modernism was issued by Pope Pius in 1910.

Recently Selected Tomb.

Pope Pius recently selected his burial place and gave directions for the construction of his tomb. He let it be known that he wished to be buried in the crypt of St. Peter's and also that he desired the body of Pope Leo XIII. to remain there, although a tomb for its reception had been prepared at St. John Lateran's. If this desire is observed there will be no chance of an outbreak of mob violence, such as attended the removal of the body of Pope Pius IX. in 1876.

The tomb planned by Pius X. is simply a recess in the wall of the crypt, and it is being made large enough for the reception of a coffin. The recess after the latter has been put in place will be sealed by a simple slab of white marble upon which the name of his holiness and his holy offices will be carved.

The crypts occupy a space under the nave of the modern basilica and portions of them formed the crypt of the ancient church. Little change has been made through all the years. In these crypts are the tombs of several popes and a number of important personages.

Few people have been through the crypts, which are carefully guarded. Though some of the earlier popes were buried in the catacombs, it was not until the time of Leo I. that St. Peter's became recognized as a place of burial for the popes.

Old Tombs Destroyed.

Originally they were buried in the forecourt only, but later on the tombs were made in the interior. Unfortunately, some of the oldest tombs have been destroyed, but there still remain a number of ancient monuments. Most of the early popes had monuments in the old basilica, but several were removed to other churches in the city, and a few were interred in churches and chapels founded by their families.

The greater number of popes buried in the crypts are laid in the north aisle, where is the sarcophagus of Boniface VIII., with his recumbent statue. On the head of the statue is the tiara, with the double ring of gold, first used by him.

The tombs of Popes Pius II. and Pius III., whose monuments were removed to S. Andrea della Valle, are also there, and next to them is the tomb of the only English pope, Adrian IV., whose tomb is in red granite, with sculptured bulls' heads.

WINDSOR SUMMER CAPITAL.

Windsor, Vt., June 27.—Here as well as at the Winston Churchill place at Cornish everything is being put in readiness for the arrival of President Wilson and his family, who are expected late tomorrow or Sunday morning. The President expects to remain only a few days, but as soon as the important work of Congress is disposed of he will return to Cornish to spend the remainder of the summer. While the "summer White House" will be located at Cornish the real seat of the executive department of the government will be Windsor, on the Vermont side of the Connecticut river and the nearest railroad and telegraph station to Cornish. The executive offices will occupy quarters in the Windsor postoffice building and here will be the headquarters of the numerous clerks, stenographers and secret service men who will be in attendance on the President during the summer.

WEDIN BEGINS EARLY ON JURY.

Jersey City, June 27.—In order that Supreme Court Justice Francis J. Swayze may have an opportunity to look over the list before he goes on his summer vacation, Sheriff Nicholas P. Wedin is selecting names from which the next petit and grand juries for Hudson county will be drawn under the law passed at the special session of the Legislature this year. Mr. Wedin says he will select 1,600 names in all, and after he has listed them will give copies to Justice Swayze. He expects to have the lists ready early next month. The law requires that there be at least 500 names on the grand jury list and at least 700 names on the petit jury list, but the sheriff is not required to submit copies until thirty days prior to the opening of the next term of court. The September term of court does not open until September 16.

NOTES FROM LABOR FIELD

The new building being erected by Plainfield Lodge, No. 885, B. P. O. E., on Watchung avenue, is progressing rapidly and it is gratifying to know that all the work is being done by "fair" or union labor.

The new store front and remodeling of the interior of Willet's shoe store was done by "fair" crafts.

The firm of Wyman & Haberle, contractors, is placing new window and door screens throughout Mt. St. Mary College.

The store occupied by the Zeek Baking Co. was remodeled by union men of various crafts.

The Manning apartment building on Park avenue is nearing completion under union conditions. J. C. Manning, carpenter; Warren Townley & Bro., mason contractors; N. Cody, plumber; Charles Dutcher, steam fitter; Philip Jahn, sheet metal worker, have the several contracts.

The tenth anual convention of the New Jersey State Council of Carpentors and Joiners of America has adjourned after a busy progressive two-days' cession. James Kirby, general president of the Brotherhood, gave an instructive address, and there were remarks by Arthur Quinn, general vice president, who told of the conditions throughout the country. The convention will be held in Trenton next year. The Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, with general offices in Indianapolis, comprise 1,950 local unions with a total membership of 275,000. It has paid death claims to the amount of $30, 606, showing what organized labor is doing for its members and families.

Upholsterers employed in Cincinnati furniture factories have formed a union.

The United States employs 7,500,000 persons in its 275,000 mills and factories.

The American Federation of Labor is inclined to be jubilant over the fact that for the first time in its history its membership now exceeds the 2,000,000 mark.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen has voted in favor of admitting to membership all employes engaged in the operation of electric locomotives.

A handsome monument to the memory of the late Matthew J. Hate, president of the National Federation of Cloth Weavers of America, has been erected over his grave in New Bedford, Mass.

United States Consul General John L. Griffiths, of London, believes that no more efficient agency than the Government Labor Exchange has ever been devised in England to relieve the congestion of labor by securing for it a more even distribution.

Coal miners are already preparing for the joint conference next year to make a new wage scale for the competitive States. Ohio miners have declared for payment on the mine-run system, for a six-hour day and a working week of five days.

Salt Lake City is preparing to entertain the annual convention of the Amalgamated Association of Steel and Electric Railway Employes of America, which is to meet in that city for a five days' session during the first week of September.

The members of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners and of the Amalgamated Society of Carpenters and Joiners are about to vote on a "plan of solidification," which it is hoped will dispose of a jurisdictional question which has caused much annoyance in years past.

The Labor party of South Africa which is based upon the principles of socialism, like the labor parties in other countries, is reported to be making rapid progress in politics. At the present time the party has one member in the senate, five in the lower branch of parliament, several in the Transvaal state Legislature, and numerous others holding offices in the municipal governments. The vote of the party has been increasing very rapidly in the larger cities.

Burglars were active at North Branch Depot on Tuesday evening. The office of George W. Field, proprietor of the creamery there, was broken into, but little of value was taken. There was some money in the safe and Mr. Field is positive that he left the safe unlocked the night before, and after the visit of the burglars it was found locked and the money was safe within. It is the supposition that when the thieves went to open the door of the safe they jarred the combination and locked it. An attempt was also made on the postoffice in this place, but the miscreants had evidently been scared away, although they had cut a panel from the door.

This Firepot Doesn't Clog

SQUARE POT BOILERS owe much of their great heating power to the peculiar form of their firepots. These are round at top but square at bottom. Each time the grate is turned accumulated ash slips from them free and easy into the capacious ashpit below, leaving a live fire fully opened to fresh oxygen. This causes perfect combustion, minus clogging, choking and "dead fire."

Round firepots do not possess these advantages, nor can they give "results" as quickly.

Because of this complete combustion, SQUARE POT BOILERS use a minimum amount of coal and require little attention. Let the dealer nearest give you a demonstration.

When You Go Bathing.

Fresh or salt water bathing, in river, lake or sea, is one of the joys of summer. It is only about a hundred and seventy-five years ago that sea-bathing became popular among modern people; but since that time its popularity has grown until it extends around the world.

An authority on bathing in running water—river, lake or sea—says that such bathing should be indulged in only once a day, should, if possible, be done before one in the afternoon, that you should exercise by swimming if you know how, and that you should not remain in the water for more than five minutes—if you don't know how to swim—or fifteen minutes—if you do—at a time. Leave the water and sun yourself, then go back for another dip.

One precaution often taken is unnecessary, according to the authority quoted. Many persons do not go into the water when they are very warm or overheated. Unless you are tired, however, plunging into the water when you are hot can do you no harm.

Arenation.

The habit of burying the body in dry, warm sand after the bather has come from the ocean is as old as the hills and is called arenation. Anyone who has ever indulged in this delightful practice knows that it leaves the body invigorated and comfortable. In fact, so good are the results of warm sand that it is to be had in some of the big European cities much as sea salt and other skin tonics can be bought at the corner drug store. So, if you get a chance this summer, bury yourself in hot, dry sand.

New Suits For Children.

The newest bathing suits for children show bloomers of mohair, and sweaters of wool. These are especially sensible, as the abdomen should really be protected by wool, even though it be thin, as a precaution against cramps.

Some Cookery Suggestions

IN HUCKLEBERRY TIME.

HUCKLEBERRIES when in season make delicious desserts. They are berries that taste especially nice in pies and puddings.

Most huckleberry desserts may be served with sugar and cream.

These berries make excellent jams and jellies and may be dried for winter use.

A Tempting Pudding.

Baked Huckleberry Pudding.—Cream two cupfuls of light brown sugar with three-quarters of a cupful of butter; then beat in four eggs, one at a time. Pour in one cupful of sour milk, one-half teaspoonful of baking soda, and one quart of stewed huckleberries, drained well. Add enough flour to make a batter as thick as cake batter. Bake in the oven until done. Serve with hard sauce.

A Popular Pie.

Huckleberry Pie.—Take a deep baking dish and after greasing it line the sides with a crisp puff paste. After picking the huckleberries fill the center of the dish with them. Add about a tablespoonful each of flour and water, a lump of butter and sugar to taste. Flavor with a little lemon juice. The pie may be covered with a crust or with a lattice formed by strips of the puff paste. Bake until done. Serve sprinkled with powdered sugar. This may be eaten with cream like a pudding if you like it that way.

Summer Fruit Cakes.

Huckleberry Cake.—Take four ounces of butter, a cupful of sugar and cream them together. Then take half a pint of milk, a pint of flour, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder and add them to the sugar and butter. Place a pint of picked and washed huckleberries in a dish, sprinkle with sugar and stir them so that the sugar is rubbed over them; then mix in the cake batter. Bake in shallow pans. These may be served with cream.

Huckleberry Griddlecakes.—Take a pint of flour, crush and sift into it half a teaspoonful of salt and a teaspoonful of baking soda. After mixing thoroughly add a pint of sour milk or cream and beat well. Beat the yolks of two eggs and stir them into the batter; then add the beaten whites. When these ingredients have been well combined pour in a pint of huckleberries which have been picked and rolled in flour. Bake on a well greased griddle.

The Flood Overturned Houses.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—The Revenge Of the Angry River King.

"NOW," said daddy, "keep very quiet and I'll tell you a story about the river king."

"Why, we didn't know the river had a king!" Jack and Evelyn exclaimed.

"Didn't you?" laughed daddy. "Well, I'm telling a story, and I want to tell it in my own way. This was a very big river. It started way up in the mountain, where the river king had a lovely palace in a waterfall and went tumbling down over rocks until it came to dark old forests. Through these it went more slowly, and then it swept on through wide plains on which were many fertile farms and where in time big cities grew up.

"The river king loved to go sailing down his wide river, looking here and there to see that everything was well in his watery kingdom. There were fish in the deep waters, and along the shores the muskrat, the mink and the beaver built their homes. In shady pools timid ducks taught their young to swim, and kingfishers sat at their doors watching for the unwary salmon. Sometimes the wild deer or the bears would come down from the mountains to drink, and with all these the river king was on the best of terms. As to human folk, he did not know them or understand their ways, and after a time he began to like them less and less, for when they builded their great ugly cities they went out into the woods and cut down the beautiful trees that lined his shore, so that sometimes for miles and miles his waters had to creep along under the hot summer sun.

"And as they builded more cities and needed more wood they took more of his trees, and so he grew angry with the woodcutters.

"He tried to warn them to let his trees alone by sometimes sweeping up on their shores with his foam crested waves, but now he planned a real revenge. He would show both town and country people that he was a power to be feared.

"He waited until the summer rains came sweeping down in the mountains. The torrents fell one over the other, but the trees that used to hold back the water by drinking it up with their thirsty roots were gone. One torrent joined another until the river overflowed its banks and spread out over the country. It tore up crops and sent the people scurrying to the upper parts of their houses. Sometimes it dragged a house from its foundation and washed it on toward the sea.

"All that night the people, cold, hungry and frightened, perched on their roofs or huddled in the upper floors of their houses.

"Then the river god, who was not really cruel, gathered the waters back between the banks."

PRETTY WICKER VASES FOR THE GROUPING OF LARGE FLOWERS

WICKER FLOWER VASES.

A SUMMER novelty is the use of large wicker vases to match the wicker furniture for bungalow or porch. They are closely woven and are stained moss green. Glass vessels filled with water to accommodate the stems of the plants are placed inside the vases. An odd touch is the use of wicker handles at the sides and on top of the baskets. By means of these the vases can be more conveniently lifted about. In these days, when there are so many amateur basket weavers, these vases might be duplicated by the home handicraft worker. Vases of this sort are just the things in which to group large flowers like peonies, American Beauty roses, chrysanthemums, asters, dahlias, hollyhocks, etc.

COOKERY NOTES.

Apples can be stewed with a little leftover canned fruit, such as blackberries, and the result will be a pleasant change.

A left over dab of mashed potatoes can be made into a cupful of good soup with the addition of milk, a bit of butter and some celery salt.

The white of an egg whipped stiff with a ripe banana makes a delicious cream to be eaten on a simple gelatin pudding.

Sandwiches prepared in advance of serving time can be kept as fresh as when made by wrapping them in a napkin wrung out of hot water, then placing them in a cool place.

Always cover newly baked bread with a clean cloth, preferably an old tablecloth, to keep it free from germs and dust.

Charming Evening Frocks.

So charming are the evening fashions of the season that girls look prettier than ever in the ballroom. A dress in soft silk just reaching the ankles and left wide enough to dance in may be in white, with a draped tunic of cherry colored ninon carried up under a belt to the shoulders, where it is turned back with revers of cerise. In some of these a lace or embroidered basque is introduced. On others the effect of a tunic is given by a band of jeweled embroidery passing round the skirt some inches below the hips and furnished with deep points in similar jeweling. One of the prettiest of these is in reseda, veiled with black.

Dainty Fans.

Attractive fans have plain sandalwood mountings and spreads of flexible soft satin in delicate tones edged with a fine vine in handwork. Somewhat more expensive are fans of beautifully carved sandalwood with tops of silk embroidered and hand painted with a cherry blossom design.

COMFORTABLE SEASHORE TOGS FOR THE SMALL BOYS AND GIRLS

CHILDREN'S BATHING SUITS.

JULY and August are the ideal months at the seashore, and the choice of bathing costumes for the little ones should be a matter of importance. Those which are most comfortable are apt to be the most becoming. Boys and girls under six wear bifurcated bathing togs, the boys generally wearing knitted garments, while the little girls don full knickers of worsted or mohair. The little girl's suit illustrated is made of red flannel, and the boy's suit, like his daddy's, is blue, with white bands.

SWAT THE FLIES
and Kill the Germs in Your Clothes

When sending your clothes to be pressed have you ever realized, and every clean minded man would shudder with disgust at the thought, that the pressing cloth has just previously been used to press the suit of a man suffering from disease, filthy habits, etc. The cloth in the interim being wet and rinsing out in a pail of probably DIRTY WATER, especially so toward the end of the day's work.

To overcome this we have installed on up to date
SANITARY STEAM PRESSING MACHINE

A garment that passes through this machine is disinfected as no germs or microbes can exist under the temperature as high as the dry steam we inject; at the same time it removes any odor, takes away that grimy appearance, raises the nap, revives the colors and imparts to the garment that freshness desired by all good dressers.

FOUR CYLINDER ENGINE WANTED

Council's Fire Committee Against Larger Type of Automobile Apparatus.

ASK FOR BIDS AGAIN

Some Talk of Employing a City Electrician—More Fire Hydrants in Center Sections Likely to Be Recommended Later.

The Councilmanic fire committee at its meeting, last night, decided to reject all bids received for an automobile fire engine and to re-advertise for a four cylinder machine. The other bids were for a six cylinder apparatus, which the committee believes to be too heavy and expensive for a city the size of Plainfield. In the opinion of the committee it would be better to secure two or three of the four cylinder machines, buying one at a time, than to purchase one large engine.

It is estimated that a six cylinder apparatus would cost between $8,000 and $9,000, while the four cylinder can be secured at a saving of about $2,000 and it is said that it would answer every purpose.

Recently, manufacturers have been directing their attention to eight cylinder machines, but these are used chiefly in the largest cities. Consulting with experts the committee has been advised that the smaller machines will give entire satisfaction for less money.

The question of recommending the employment of a city electrician was discussed and the committee favors such a plan, believing that the city could save a considerable sum of money over the present plan. This matter came up once before at a meeting of the committee and it is quite likely that some recommendation will be made soon. Such an employe would be expected to look after all the city's electrical work, such as fire alarm and police systems and to make inspection of electrical work in public buildings and other places where such inspections are thought to be necessary.

The committee discussed the question of locating additional fire hydrants in certain sections of the city and probably some recommendations will be made within a short time.

CRIME IS DECREASED BY WOMAN SUFFRAGE

Contrary to some published reports emanating from theorists living in States where the blessings is not enjoyed, Woman's Suffrage does have the effect of diminishing crime, according to Police Chief C. E. Sebastian, of Los Angeles. This assertion was made by him at the annual convention of the International Association of Police Chiefs held this month at Washington, D. C. Garbled and distorted reports of his address printed in some newspapers conveyed the impression that the exact opposite was the result and the woman suffragists are losing no time in correcting the statement, said Mrs. Louise B. Dorr, one of the local league members, in an interview today.

"The real fact was," said Mrs. Dorr, "that Chief Sebastian, who hails from a State where women have an equal right with men to vote, strongly advocated woman suffrage for the purpose of lessening crime. Chief Sebastian declared that 'through suffrage recognition of police women in Los Angeles had been obtained, and crime had been materially reduced.' Suffrage, he added, had helped to break down the false modesty which had prevented public discussion of sex problems."

MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL APPROVED BY LOCAL FIRM

The case of the Metropolitan Lumber Company aganist L. C. Van Nest which was brought up in the county courts on a motion made by the lumber company's attorney for a new trial was decided in favor of the defendant who was represented by Swackhamer and Bird, of this city.

It was the contention of the counsel for the defense that new evidence had been found but it was shown that the evidence was not of such a character as was likely to change the result and that the plaintiff had not made a reasonable effort to secure it for the first trial.

CONVICT LABOR FOR COUNTY ROAD WORK

Somerset's Board of Freeholders Decides to Try the Experiment.

Somerville, June 28.—At a meeting of the Somerset County Board of Freeholders, at Bound Brook yesterday, it was voted to employ convict labor from the State Prison on the roads of the county, and the first experiment will be made in the southern part of the county. The vote to employ the convict labor was in response to requests from State Commissioner of Roads Stevens. On the motion three freeholders, Poulson, Dilts and Remsen, voted against it and Freeholder Kirch refused to vote.

The meeting was held at Bound Brook, and was for the purpose of viewing the bridge over the Middle brook, which had recently been repaired by F. W. Schwiers, Jr., & Company at a cost of $1,232. It was voted to pay the contractors and accept the work, which was pronounced entirely satisfactory.

Smith, Kirch, Remsen, Opie and Director Douglass then viewed a site at Bound Brook offered as a proposed site for a tuberculosis hospital, and the committee will make a report at the next regular meeting.

O. A. R. MOTOR COMPANY WILL ERECT NEW GARAGE

In response to the increasing demand for a model up-to-date garage necessitated by increasing business, the O. A. R. Motor Company, a corporation now doing business at 421 Sycamore street, has had plans drawn up for the only absolutely fireproof garage in this city. In speaking of the new project, Oliver A. Reed, manager of the company, said that it would occupy a space of fifty feet square and would be a one story affair constructed entirely of concrete and steel. There will be nothing in the building that will burn and all cars stored in the new garage will be protected against damages by fire by the modern methods involved in the construction.

It will be situated on South avenue, a few hundred feet east of Woodland avenue, and the garage will be combined with a factory which will manufacture parts of the machines sold by the O. A. R. Company. The building of this structure under the supervision of Mr. Reed recalls an incident involving him that happened sixteen years ago in the city of Providence, R. I. At that time country wide attention was attracted by a novelty in automobiles, a four-wheeled vehicle of the cycle type with a naphtha engine. Oliver Reed and a man by the name of John J. Donovan, made the initial trip on the new machine and it was the first 100-mile journey ever taken by a motor-driven vehicle.

In the construction of the machine ordinary 30-inch wheels were used and the seat, motor, gasoline tank, pedals and steering handlebar were the same as in the tricycle motor cycle which was a fad at that time. It was built for two persons and the first 100-mile trip was made in three hours and ten minutes without stops, at a cost of about 75 cents for gasoline, or about three-quarters of a cent per mile. Reed stated that with a straight stretch nearly thirty miles an hour could be made and maintained and it climbed hills easily, provided the roads were smooth. Reed worked the levers that controlled the gas engine and he explained the workings of the "man driven devil" to the many curious persons who traveled miles to see him and his friend spin through the town at a speed that was then considered marvelous.

ORGANIZATION POSTPONED.

Owin to the small attendance of grammar school graduates that turned out to assist in the organization of a grammar school alumni association in this city at a meeting called in the Franklin school auditorium last night it was decided to postpone the formation of such a body until next Thursday night. No place has as yet been selected for the meeting but this will be announced the first part of next week.

END DISPUTE ON TWPS. BOUNDARY

Decision of Commission a Victory for North Plainfield Township.

WARREN IS DEFEATED

Territory in Question for Over Thirty Years Does Not Belong to Warren Township—Anderson Says It Is All Right.

The question of establishing the boundary line between North Plainfield township and Warren township, which has been in disqute for the past thirty years, has been setled by a commission comprising Hugh K. Gaston, A. A. Cortelyou and Edward Garretson, who were appointed for the purpose by former Judge Clarence E. Case.

The commissioners bore out North Plainfield Township's contention that the line should be a straight one between a point in the road back of Bound Brook and a point on the farm of Thomas Rogers, which point is the source of Green brook. The commissioners, however, favored Warren townsnip in the location of the point on the farm of Mr. Rogers, which is caried southward about 800 feet into North Plainfield township's territory.

This gives Warren township an amount of new territory which will counter-balance in a great measure the new territory gained at other points by North Plainfield township. William de LaR. Anderson, chairman of North Plainfield township, in speaking of the decision today, said:

"The decision is entirely satisfactory to North Plainfield township, as we were not at any time after new territory, but an accurate location of the boundary line. The few hundred dollars which our township will receive annually in taxes will be spent so that Warren township will get just as much benefit as at present. The only difference being that the extra amount of money will be administered by North Plainfield township, instead of Warren township.

MANY ATTENDED RECEPTION IN WASHINGTON AUDITORIUM

Over 100 persons attended the weekly reception and dance under the auspices of the Dunbar Social and Educational Club in the Washington School auditorium last night and enjoyed the program of dancing and music provided by the organization's committee. A new feature was introduced last night, drums being added to the orchestra, rendering the terpsichore music and the innovation proved to be a great success.

Announcement was made this morning for the benefit of those who expected to hear a social program rendered last night and were disappointed that a regular program will hereafter be presented. The meeting of the committees originally set for last night was postponed until July 11, and it was decided to have the regular Friday reception on the Fourth of July.

"OVERLOAD"

N. P. H. S. WALKERS' IMPROMPTU RETURN

Borough Hikers Decided to Conclude Their Long Trip in Gentleman Fashion.

Frank O. Dunning, Jr., Lester Chandler and Charles Beckman, the remaining trio of a group of four pedestrians who set out on a trip to the central part of Pennsylvania a week ago, returned to their homes in North Plainfield last night, footsore and weary having decided to make the last 100 miles of their proposed trip via the railroad. Carroll Taylor, the fourth member of the party, was afflicted with sore feet on the second day of the trip and took the train back to Plainfield from Durham (Pa.).

The North Plainfield High School athletes covered a distance of about 200 miles, reaching Tamaqua (Pa.), and visited Paul A. Mertz, a teacher in the Borough High School. The boys spent the nights in haylofts and fields and sleeping in a hayloft at Louisville was the direct cause of the hikers having to make the remainder of the journey by train. Lester Chandler, in trying to get down from the mound, slipped and fell, striking his leg on a wagon below. The injured member stiffened up and he could not walk, so the rest of the party concluded it best to negotiate the rest of the distance with him on the train.

Arriving in Philadelphia last Thursday afternoon the boys went to the home of Chandler's uncle, Dr. William Chandler, where they spent Thursday and yesterday. Thursday afternoon they witnessed the double header between the Brooklyn and Philadelphia National League teams.

Edmund B. Osborne.

will enter the campaign. Besides reiterating his faith in the initiative, referendum and recall and the recall of judicial decisions, the short ballot, a constitutional convention based on population, a graduated inheritance tax, fixing utility rates based on physical valuations, and legislation regulating the employment of men and women, Mr. Osborne also declares in favor of abolishing all taxes on all personal property, including household furniture, machinery, merchandise and livestock, and all improvements on land declaring that such a method has passed the experimental stage and is in successful operation in many of the larger Canadian cities.

"I propose that the Progressive party shall undertake to destroy privilege in every form, and to abolish industrial slavery," says Mr. Osborne. "To those who fear the growth of socialism, I submit that socialism will go right on growing unless those who are opposed to it stop the reasons for its growth."

Mr. Osborne is president of the Osborne Company, manufacturers of art calendars. ULRICH TRAVELOGUE DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR

Musical Program an Added Feature of His Entertaining Lecture.

The lecture and concert program rendered in the Plainfield high school last night was truly an entertainment de luxe. The wonderful landmarks and beauty spots of the world were described and illustrated by former City Judge John Ulrich and were made unusually interesting by natural colored stereopticon views. In fact it was an evening entertainment in story, song and music. Miss Ethel Leginska was the pianist and Miss Ruth Chase, a vocal soprano soloist of note, charmed the audience by her clever rendition of different compositions. Maurice Ebez again proved his popularity playing the violin.

The Program: Part one—overture, "William Tell," Rossinni, by the Philharmonic Quartette; narrative, "Egypt, the Land of Mystery," and "A Trip Down the Nile;" violin accompaniment, "The Traumerei," by Maurice Ebez; narrative, "Greece," "The Land of the Liberal Arts and Science," and "A Trip to Athens," by Judge Ulrich; narrative, "Rome, the Eternal City of the Hills," by Judge Ulrich; piano interlude, "Etudes," and "La Campella," by Miss Ethel Leginska; narrative, "European Castles and Landmarks," and "A Trip Down the Rhine," by Judge Ulrich; soprano solo accompaniment, "The Lorelei," by Miss Ruth Chase; narrative, "Famous American Beauty Spots," by Judge Ulrich, projected in color scenes by George F. Clifton; scenes, Niagara Falls in Splendor and Action.

At the conclusion of this part of the program a delightful after-lecture concert was rendered, the program of which follows: prelude, Roi D. Y.'s, Lalo, by the Philharmonic Quartette; piano selections, "Les Deux Allouettes," Leschetizky, and "Arabesque of the Blue Danube Waltz," Schutzboler, by Miss Ethel Leginska; song, "Thine," Bohm, by Miss Ruth Chase; violin solo, "Humoreske," Dvorak, by Maurice Ebez; postlude "Calot," Ambroise Thomas, by the Philharmonic Quartette.

ASSAILANT DISCHARGED.

In the borough court this morning Judson Campbell was arraigned before Recorder Gano on a charge preferred by Joseph Mills claiming that the defendant had assaulted him. Swackhamer and Bird, who appeared for Campbell, admitted that their client had struck the complainant, but the circumstances under which the offense was committed would not warrant holding the offender for the Grand Jury and he was accordingly discharged. John P. Owens appeared as counsel for Mills.

LEADERS FOR SERVICES.

In planning for the evening services at Temple Baptist church during August, while Rev. E. C. Conover, the pastor, is away on his vacation, the Y. P. S. C. E. is engaging a number of men of State and national prominence in Christian Endeavor work. John Sproul, president of the State Union, will be the speaker at the first of these services on August 3. The other leaders to be announced later.

HELD ALLEGED THIEF.

In holding Robert Wilson, of West Fourth street, for the Grand Jury, this morning, for stealing a bicycle, City Judge DeMeza told the prisoner and his counsel, Samuel S. Swackhamer, that he regretted that it was not in his jurisdiction to send every bicycle thief to State's prison.

JURY DECLARES MACRORIE GUILTY

Suspended Dominie to Be Sentenced on Friday and May Take Appeal.

NELSON GIRL CRIES

Newark M. E. Conference Committee Returned Verdict That He Was Guilty of Unbecoming Conduct and Merely Suspended Him.

In the Union County Court in Elizabeth last night, Rev. Willis S. MacRorie, deposed pastor of the Mt. Horeb and Springdale M. E. churches, was found guilty of improper relations with nineteen year-old Edith Nelson, the complaint originally having been made by the girl's mother, Mrs. Amelia Mason. The indictment had been found shortly after the Newark Conference of the M. E. church, had declared him guilty simply of "unbecoming conduct." As to Rev. Frederick J. Hubach, pastor of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church and to Rev. Dr. Charles M. Anderson, pastor of the First M. E. church, who were MacRorie's accusers at the conference trial, the verdict of the jury completely sustains their charges.

Asked by a Daily Press reporter what he thought of the verdict, Dr. Anderson said: "Well, you can imagine how I feel, by the fact that I was one of the ministers who preferred charges against MacRorie to the Conference. Of course, I would never had made those charges if I had not been satisfied of his guilt. I never thought the committee of the Conference gave a just verdict."

Rev. Dr. D. B. F. Randolph, superintendent of the Elizabeth District of the Newark Conference, was asked if steps would be taken to have MacRorie again arraigned before that body, and replied: "It has not been decided." Although it is against the laws of the Conference to try a clergyman on the same charge twice, MacRorie's case being such an unusual one, the Board of Bishops of the Methodist church might reopen the case and have MacRorie again brought before the Conference.

MacRorie's fate was placed in the hands of the jury at 5.30 o'clock, yesterday afternoon after the summing up of Prosecutor Alfred A. Stein for the State, and Supreme Court W. C. Gebhardt, for the defense. The jury rendered its verdict after about three hours deliberation. It was shortly before 9 o'clock when Juror No. 3, Percy Faulkner, notified Deputy County Clerk Neil McLeod that he and his colleagues had reached a verdict. Moses Boaz, foreman of the jury, was overcome with the heat, which necessitated the substitution of Faulkner, as foreman, who in clear tones announced that the jury had found MacRorie guilty but recommended mercy.

MacRorie, accompanied by his trio of lawyers, Gebhardt, Colonel Robert E. Hare, of New York, and former Governor Foster M. Voorhees, sat unmoved in the courtroom as the jurors filed in. When the verdict was announced, the defendant, who was plainly making an effort to keep from breaking down stared straight in front of him seeming utterly bewildered. The courtroom audience contained many clergyman, the majority of whom nodded satisfaction at the findings of the jury. After the formalities of renewing bail to assure his appearance before Judge Connolly on Friday, when he will be sentenced, the prisoner left the chambers with bowed head. The girl, Edith Nelson, cried slightly. Mrs. MacRorie, who has stood by her husband throughout his ordeal, brushed a tear away as she tried to encourage her husband.

It is probable that an appeal will be taken by MacRorie's lawyers.

The closing testimony given at the trial was from the lips of MacRorie, who denied everything "bad" that was charged against him. His memory seemed decidedly poor, and when Prosecutor Stein, questioned him he would shake his head in a dramatic tiresome way. He said he was so confused when he signed a confession admitting his guilt following his arrest that he must have been crazy.

Questioned regarding the confession he signed he admitted his signature to the document, but staunchly claimed the contents were untrue and that he did not know what he was doing at the time.

After MacRorie had left the stand late in the afternoon, some townspeople from Mt. Horeb, testified that he had attended a Ladies' Aid Society meeting on Nov. 19, 1912, the day mentioned in the complaint that he had improper relations with Miss Nelson. Among these witnesses was a fourteen-year-old boy. Harmon P. Tunison, a Mt. Horeb farmer, claimed however, that he had seen MacRorie in Somerville several hours before the latter had claimed to have been there, which was the only link missing in the chain of evidence that formed a complete alibi.

Want a reliable kidney remedy?

Don't have to look far. Use what Plainfield people recommend. Every street in Plainfield has its cases.

Here's one Plainfield man's experience.

Let C. L. Treat, painter and paperhanger, of 411 East Third street, tell it.

Says Mr Treat: "I suffered for a long time from kidney trouble and for years could not get relief. My back ached constantly and there was pain across my kidneys. My kidneys were in bad shape and I became all run down, in fact, was almost a physical wreck. Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a supply and they made me feel like a different man. I got this remedy at Randolph's drug store and my experience was so satisfactory that I cannot make my endorsement of it too strong. I simply would not be without a supply of Doan's Kidney Pills on hand."

OVERLOAD!

In my work as a minister of the gospel I am dealing all the time with one form of trouble. This particular disease has a general origin, but appears in its most acute form in the individual. No class escapes. In the one-room tenement on the East Side, among the sturdy noble class class of American ancestry in town and country, and especially among those who are supposed to have leisure—everywhere the same condition exists, the same cry for help is heard.

We accurately describe the disease in its causes, symptoms and results when we say that people are over-loaded. Every farmer, teamster and engineer knows the meaning of this word. A horse can pull a certain load with ease. Pile on another quarter of a ton and his work becomes a strain. The strain develops into torture and at the first piece of rough road the poor brute stops, discouraged in mind because over strained in body. Hitch a three horse power engine to a five horse power load and soon your engine is stalled, while your work remains undone.

It is no use to accuse the engineer or teamster of being pessimists. Nor does it change the facts to exhort the man to "smile." You cannot raise even a horse laugh from the situation. The animal and the machine are stalled because they are loaded beyond their strength. Give them a burden within their capacity and they will not need elaborate philosophies of life, nor exhortations to "smile," nor rebukes for being pessimists.

The whole modern world is over-loaded. Our machinery is too big for our engines. We must either reduce the load or increase the power. Personally I believe we ought to do both of these things and because they ought to be done they can be done.

There is a condition of financial depression throughout the world. We blame it on the trusts, and the unions, and the tariff, and the banks, and the stock exchanges, and the middleman and the devil. But the simple fact is that we are trying to do too much with the capital available. There is probably enough capital in the world to support the world's work without undue strain and without recurrent crises. But there is not enough capital to support the world's work and the world's war and waste at the same time. If even a part of the money tied up or wasted in ornaments, drink, municipal, state, corporate and personal inefficiency, debasing luxuries, preventable diseases, the gratifying of unworthy ambitions and unnecessary wants were put back of industry there would be no lack. There is money enough for work but not enough for work and waste combined.

Now while our social engine threatens to slow down or become stalled the individual has already reached that condition. For a hundred years science has been developing the external machineries of life for the use, pleasure and profit of the individual. But the power of the individual to sustain the burden of life has not increased. Every new thing brings new care and new expense. Care wears down the nerves and when the nerves go the man is useless.

I believe that this condition can be cured. No man can change the general situation which affects nations and societies, but he can change his own circumstances sufficiently to remove the crushing overload. When my horses give up under their work I do two things, I take better care of the horses and cut down the work. And men as working agents must do the same for themselves. We must do some thinking. Let us see just how much of our heavy load is necessary and worth while. Any thing that does not minister to manhood, that does not make for health of body, mind and soul, is not only unnecessary but positively wrong. A big man in a small house is infinitely better than a small man in a big house. The house does not make the man, but the man gives dignity and glory to the house. Let us transfer our activity from external things to things of the mind and heart. Instead of seeking pleasure by the costly machinery of locomotion, let us find pleasure in the quiet brooding of great thoughts and noble ideals. Let us give up trying to do what with our strictly limited strength cannot be done and let us try to be what we all can become. There is a limit to what a man can do. There is no limit to what in character, in love, in peace, in joy, in satisfaction of soul he can become. The striving to do so many things unnecessary and not worth while requires money, care and nerve energy. The effort to become requires only time and the exercise of those forces of mind and will which otherwise lie dormant.

ARCHDEACON STUCK.

Successfully Led Expedition to the Top of Mount McKinley.

The Rev. Dr. Hudson Stuck, the Episcopal archdeacon who successfully led an expedition to the top of Mount McKinley, is well known in New York, and many New York churches have invited him to speak from their pulpits this fall, when he will be in New York for the Episcopal general convention. Dr. Stuck graduated from King's college, London, in 1883. Ten years later, having come to America, he made his mark in scholarship at the University of the South and went at once to the extreme ends of Texas, then a missionary field. After two years there under Bishop Johnston in 1894 he became dean of St. Matthew's cathedral, Dallas, where he served ten years more. In 1904 he surprised everybody by giving up fine prospects and going to Alaska, where he has been ever since.

Retreat of Lee – Clearing the Battlefield – Consecration of National Cemetery – Lincoln Present – Numbers Engaged in Battle – Organization of Grand Army and of Confederate Veterans.

It was the Fourth of July—the Natal Day of the great Nation which the Civil War then at its height had threatened to split asunder. The terrific conflict at Gettysburg was over, and whilst the nation was rejoicing throughout the Union forces over the repulse of Lee's movements of the day before it was tempered with overwhelming sorrow at the price in human blood paid for the victory. The heavens were weeping in torrents as if trying to wash away the evidence of the dreadful carnage of the three days' strife, and as if protesting against the renewal of the battle which proved to be the most destructive of the whole war. On the one side was the Army of the Potomac unconscious at that time of the extent of its victory, and on the other the legions of Northern Virginia somewhat dismayed at the failure of the previous day but yet unconquered. For the present Lee determined not to attempt further battle, and a retreat to Virginia was decided upon. Calling General Imboden he placed him in charge of the wagon trains carrying the wounded. "We must return to Virginia," said General Lee. "The wounded must be taken home." "When I began to speak of the fight," said General Imboden, "Lee was a picture of mental suffering, and 'Oh, too bad! too bad!!' was all he could say. It is really the saddest incident I recall of the War."

Then came the retreat with all the attendant horrors of carrying the wounded over rocky roads in wagons without springs. The rain poured in torrents and the canvas covered wagons afforded little protection to the suffering men. Scarcely one in a hundred had received medical attention and many of them died on the way. When Williamsport, Maryland, was reached about noon on the Fourth of July, General Imboden was compelled to halt as the rains had turned the Potomac into a raging flood, and crossing was impossible. The men who had died on the way were given a decent burial and the wounded taken from the wagons and attended to houses. The entire town assisted in cooking food and doing all they could to make the wounded comfortable.

A council of war was held in the Union camp on the evening of the fourth after General Meade had learned that Lee had left the field. It was decided not to follow direct. The cavalry was sent out and they recovered the Confederates near Williamsport and on the defensive, for a time this part of the infantry had joined the wagon train. A brisk skirmish occurred on July sixth between Kilpatrick and Stuart.

For months after the battle the field at Gettysburg bore marks of the terrible conflict. The soil was drenched with blood and the little streams ran red with the blood of the wounded and slain. The Emmittsburg road was impassable for days owing to the dead bodies of men and horses covering the roadway. The ground over which Pickett's men had so gallantly charged was now a field of dead, and the ground covered by the First Minnesota Regiment in their remarkable fight was covered with a silent host of broken, battered human forms. Down in the Wheatfield they found a Confederate and Union soldier side by side—the Union man holding his canteen close to the mouth of the Confederate. It seemed that his last act must have been giving the Southerner some water—a silent example of that old saying, "Death makes all men brothers." In the Peach Orchard they found a fair-haired drummer boy with his battered drum by his side. Death had come swiftly, and the boy seemed like one asleep.

The work of burying nine thousand dead and removing twenty thousand wounded to comfortable quarters was a herculean task, for the Confederate as well as the Union dead had to be interred as the former had about all they could do to look after their wounded. The Confederate prisoners were pressed into service to bury their fallen comrades. This they did cheerfully, digging long trenches and placing the men side by side. "Many times we have made the Yankees do the same thing for us," they said as they covered the boys from the Southland with the cold earth of the North. Whenever it was possible the graves were marked but the earth was soggy and the rains which followed washed many of the marks away and even opened up the shallow graves. Governor Curten, the Executive of Pennsylvania, came upon the scene one day and was so struck by the sorrow of several relatives of a dead soldier over the manner in which the exigencies of war had compelled the burial of the dead son that he determined some place must be found where the dead heroes could be suitably buried. A plot of some seventeen acres of ground on Cemetery Hill was purchased—on the spot that the Union line of battle had rested. Eighteen States joined in the enterprise. The grounds were laid out with wide lawns dotted here and there with shrubbery which forms beautiful vistas showing the prominent points of the field.

The work of re-interring the dead began on the 27th of October, 1863, and was completed on the 18th of the following March. The number reburied was thirty-five hundred and seventy-five. This does not mean that even half of the dead were found, for the whole field was dotted with graves. In re-interring the bodies in the cemetery every effort was made to discover the indentity of the men and this in many cases was done and the relatives of the dead soldier had his remains taken home, the identification being made through articles found on his body. An entry of each article found was made. These things are kept and numbered to correspond with the number of the gravestone of him upon whose body the articles were found. The following is an example of the record:

John Sykes—ambrotype of a young girl; sixty cents; comb.

Unknown — Pocketbook; lock of brown hair; picture of man supposed to be his father.

The cemetery grounds were consecrated on November 19th, 1864. Mr. Edward Everett, the noted orator being chosen to deliver the oration of the occasion, the dedicatory address being reserved for President Lincoln. "Mr. Everett had spoken for nearly two hours," says an old resident of Gettysburg, "and the people had listened attentively but in a cold, stolid fashion, but after Mr. Lincoln had spoken only a few words a wave of emotion swept over the audience and everybody was in tears." A delegation of fifty soldiers of the Army of the Potomac, who were recovering from their wounds, were present, and when Mr. Lincoln began to speak they pressed forward listening intently to the President, and when he reached the well known words of that famous speech—"The world will little note nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here," great tears rolled down the bronzed faces of the soldiers. When the President finished there was a profound silence broken only by the sobs of the women, many of whom had been widowed by the battle. Then Mr. Everett stepped forward and shaking the President's hand, said, "Ah, Mr. Lincoln, I would gladly give my forty pages for your twenty lines!"

There has been much diversity of opinion as to the numbers engaged at Gettysburg and the casualties on the part of the South. Longstreet says that about seventy thousand Confederates were in the battle, but as Lee was obliged to leave strong guards all along from Winchester to Gettysburg the ranks were somewhat depleted. General Meade testified that when he took command the army amounted to one hundred and five thousand men, including the eleven thousand of General French which he, Meade, did not bring up. This reduced the ranks to ninety-four thousand. The losses on both sides in the three days' fighting were enormous. On the Union side General Meade in his official report says they amounted to twenty-eight hundred and thirty-four killed, thirteen thousand, seven hundred and nine wounded and sixty-six hundred and forty-three missing — in all, twenty-three thousand, one hundred and eighty-six. General Lee in his report declares that it is not in his power to give a correct statement. It has been estimated by the Union officers that Lee's loss was over five thousand, and allowing five wounded to one killed, which is the usual proportion, there were twenty-seven thousand, five hundred wounded. A well-known war writer places the Confederate losses —killed, wounded and prisoners, at thirty-four thousand men.

In 1895 the Gettysburg Battlefield Memorial Association transferred its grounds (about eight hundred and fifty acres) together with the monuments which had been erected to the care and protection of the general Government. The battlefield is now under the care of the United States Government by Act of Congress of 1895. Already five hundred and three monuments have been erected by different States, excellent carriage roads have been built so it is now possible for the tourist to ride to every point on the field. Five iron and steel observatories have been erected and from these one may view the entire battlefield—now a vast park dotted with costly marble and bronze tributes to the men who gave their lives to the cause of liberty.

It was not long after the close of the war that the men who fought in the Union army began to consider the feasibility of forming an association. They talked together and sent out letters to other regiments until finally the Grand Army of the Republic was formed, Major B. F. Stephenson organizing the first G. A. R Post at Decatur, Illinois, in 1866. Major Stephenson prepared the ritual of the organization and became its first Commander-in-Chief.

The United Confederate Veterans was organized in New Orleans, Louisiana, in 1889. The object of the society, which is composed of men who fought in the Confederate army, has been to unite in a general federation all associations of Confederate veterans. The main object of the society is to aid veterans and their widows and orphans and keep alive the memory of the men who gave their lives for the Lost Cause. They also collect authentic data for an impartial history of the war between the States and preserve relics. The number of Confederate veterans at present is between 150,000 and 200,000.

Forty Thousand Blue and Gray Veterans To Be Guests of Pennsylvania – How They Will Be Fed and Housed – Battlefield Now a Park – No North, No South – OUR Country

In 1909 the State of Pennsylvania decided to entertain the veterans of both armies on the fiftieth anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg, and a bill was passed by the State Legislature appropriating a certain sum for that purpose. At the time it was not known how many veterans would come, and in order to interest the old soldiers in different parts of the country the State of Pennsylvania asked the Governor of each State to appoint a Commissioner to represent his State, the Commissioner to include Confederate as well as Union men. This was done, and the greatest enthusiasm was aroused among the old veterans over the coming encampment. Meetings were held at Gettysburg from time to time by the Commissioners and the plans for entertainment formulated. Extra appropriations have been made until the sum has reached $415,000.00. This includes $150,000.00 from the War Department which is in charge of the camp. The immense amount of work required in preparing for the accommodation of the visitors can be readily understood when it is known that forty thousand old veterans are expected.

The work was under the direction of Major J. E. Normoyle, the Chief Quartermaster of the United States Army, but owing to the disastrous floods in the West Major Normoyle has spent very little time in Gettysburg, being compelled to give his time to relief work, and Major W. R. Grove, his assistant, and Captain H. L. Dalton, of the Quartermaster's Corps, have been in charge of the work at Gettysburg for several months. Their task, which at first appeared colossal, has been brought to a successful conclusion, and the advance guard of veterans have found everything complete.

The camp covers two hundred and seventy-eight acres and thirty more are available if it should be found necessary at the last minute to use more ground. A part of the land used is owned by the Government and other plots were leased from farmers. Captain Dalton arrived on the scene early in December. A month later Major Grove came. A house on Baltimore Street in Gettysburg was rented and offices were opened. The plan of the camp was drawn up and work began, streets were laid off, poles were set up and telephones and electric light wires were strung. Over one hundred and fifty miles of trenches were dug and a sanitary sewerage system was put in. The regular army tents and furnishings are used—regulation army cots, basins, buckets, lanterns, etc. Five thousand of these tents have been put up, each containing eight cots—one for each man. Two lanterns, two washbasins and one bucket are furnished to a tent. The buckets are of the usual galvanized type, light in weight yet strong and durable; the washbasins are made of the same material. Pure water for the camp was obtained only after considerable labor — four wells being sunk, one of which is five hundred and one feet deep. A rigid analysis of the water has been made and the officers are satisfied that the water is pure. Several tanks, each holding fifty thousand gallons, were built to supply the numerous sanitary drinking fountains which are set up in camp. Sixteen hundred cooks will be required to prepare the food. They are, of course, working under the army cooks who will oversee this department. The bread is being baked at the regulation field bakeries which are set up at all encampments where the "regulars" are in charge.

Rest stations have been erected in different parts of the field where the veterans who stroll about may rest or take shelter from the sun and rain. There is a large tent—in fact, the largest tent in the world, set up in a field near the scene of Pickett's charge where the different organizations will have their meetings and reunions.

The camp streets have been given to different G. A. R. Posts in the Union section, while in the Confederate plot the different United Confederate camps have been assigned to a certain section—that is, the men are in camp just as they were during the war. In a company so large there is sure to be some illness, and arrangements have been made to care for any who may be so unfortunate. A regulation army camp hospital has been erected where the best care will be given the veterans. It is in charge of army surgeons and hospital corps nurses. Twelve ambulances will be within call at all times. The camp is strictly for veterans and no outsider may eat or sleep in camp so the relatives who accompany the old soldiers must obtain quarters elsewhere, and owing to the limited number of accommodations of the town rooms will be at a premium during the encampment. The veterans are expected to bring their own towels, soap and toilet articles, everything else being furnished except their transportation to and from their homes. In several instances State appropriations have been made to cover this.

There will be special features for each day. July First will be known as Veterans' Day, when a number of reunions will take place; July Second will be Military Day, with drills and speechmaking; July Third will be Civic Day, all the Governors and their Adjutant Generals have been invited; July 4th will be National Day. Ex-President, William H. Taft, will make an address to the veterans, and after other patriotic speeches, the encampment will end with a magnificent display of fireworks at night.

The people of Gettysburg have always been intensely loyal, and the veterans have found the spirit of the town little changed since the war. Gettysburg has kept up with the times as a town, for she has several fine hotels, fine public buildings, well stocked stores, up-to-date newspapers, well-kept streets and a trolley line running over parts of the battlefield. Houses showing bullet marks are to be seen on several of the streets. The owners of these houses love to display these evidences of the battle for in one of the new houses, which replaced an old one which had been struck by a bullet, appears the bullet in the same relative position with an American flag stuck up beside it to call attention to the fact.

The battlefield at present is a beautiful spot. It is easy of access, for it has a network of splendid roads. A large amount of money has been expended in replacing stone fences as they existed at the time of the battle and five and one-quarter miles of these have been rebuilt on the exact location of the old ones. Three hundred and twenty-four guns have been mounted, four hundred and sixty-two tablets have been erected and more than seventeen thousand trees planted. The trees are planted on ground that was covered with woods during the battle. Altogether more than a million dollars has been expended in monuments, tablets and roads on the field at Gettysburg—eighteen States contributing to the amount.

As far as possible, the lines of battle are marked and by following these the old soldiers who are already at the camp have found little difficulty in locating the position of their companions during the battle, and today they are walking or driving over the battleground telling camp-fire stories and exchanging reminiscences of the days of '63. Many of the men are renewing old acquaintances with the Gettysburg folks.

A number of army officers who have inspected the camp pronounce it ideal in every way. There is, of course, a striking contrast in the camp of today and that of the Civil War, for new sanitary arrangements are used, comfortable cots and electric lights add to the comfort of the men, and good, fresh bread has taken the place of hardtack. It is only the tent like which reminds the old soldiers of the Civil War.

But the veterans are not coming to Gettysburg on the fiftieth anniversary to open old wounds, but to join hands for the common good of their native land, and the man from the South will cheer "Marching Through Georgia" with as much gusto as the Northerner will applaud the strains of "Dixie"—thus proving that sectional feeling has been wiped out.

"No North, no South, no alien now;
Form for one Cause, one Flag we stand.
Hearts melted into sacred flame
For God, and Home, and Native Land."

BRIEF FASHION NOTES

All signs point to red and yellow as the most popular summer colors.

Elaborate petticoats of china silk and lace are being worn with summer negligees.

An attractive belt is made of scrim, embroidered in colored silk in Bulgarian style.

Lace and chiffon or lace and tulle are favored for sleeves and the upper portion of decollette waists.

The new style skirt has a deep set-on hem finished with stitching or piping and softly gathered about the waist.

A very pretty hat for the summer is of black straw trimmed with a pleated frill of maline and wreaths of blue and pink flowers.

Some of the new wraps of black chiffon are embroidered with roses in pink crimson and gold and lined with two layers of pink chiffon.

A corsage bouquet for summer gowns is made of roses and leaves of lace, which are either white or tinted to match the color of the gown.

A novelty for outing and traveling is the snakeskin serge, in dark gray, with dots of red, black and blue over its surface.

Flowers are being extensively employed to adorn the hats of straw, chiffon, crepe and lace designed for dress occasions.

A new favorite in millinery is the hat of changeable silk or satin veiled with tulle and trimmed with flowers.

The color displayed beneath the lingerie dress may be repeated in a taffeta souple or figured crepe de chine short bolero fronted jacket mantlet.

A round collar made of embroidered white net is cut in points all the way round. A short frill of the net is placed on top, with a tiny velvet band outlining the neck.

Among the new and most attractive dresses are those worn with the high-neck ruffles of pleated tulle and lace. The sleeves are trimmed with similar ruffles of tulle strapped with bracelets of ribbon.

Butterflies of lace or gauze are to be used extensively this summer to trim the lingerie hats, while many of the smartest gowns have a butterfly bow finishing the girdle at the back.

Finely tucked net forms the foundation of a charming fichu, cut in flat-collar form ovr the back and shoulders and gradually sloping toward the front, where it terminates in two sharp points.

A smart jacket frock is developed of finest white serge and the short-waisted coat has a vest of flowered silk, which disappears beneath a broad girdle of black satin.

The realm of footwear has been invaded by the Bulgarian note, and low shoes of silk crepe or dull silk are found in Persian or Bulgarian designs. Stockings of the same color as the silk are worn with these shoes.

The summer evening wraps are very oriental in effect, and are made Brilliant eastern colors, embroidered with huge golden dragons or large flower designs, are lined with chiffon.

Of Interest to Women and the Home

The Housewife's Daily Economy Calendar

FRANCES MARSHALL

Over a Hot Week-End.

Ice has a distressing habit of running low just when the warmest weather comes. It seems to some housewives that ice always melts more rapidly on Sunday, when the supply cannot be refreshed and there is more food to keep cool, then it does on any other day.

There are a good many ways besides increasing the supply of ice which may be done to keep food cool and in fit condition to use.

For one thing, when the weather is warm, keep the vegetables which are not on the ice on the floor. The air near the floor is always cooler than that higher up, and there is a draught along the floor even on warm days.

Green vegetables will keep well if they are washed and then wrapped in cloth or paper. Lettuce and other salad greens should be chilled for half an hour on the ice before they are served; but if there is no ice at all, put them in a pan of running water and they will become crisp and cool.

Butter, Milk and Meat.

Butter, too, can be cooled, if it is put in a pan of running cold water. The water will wash away some of the salt and will harden the butter to such an extent that it can be cut in blocks or formed into balls.

Milk, of course, needs ice or a cold cellar to keep it fresh for any length of time in really warm weather. But if neither of these is at hand, it can be kept fresh for a short time by standing it, covered bottles, in cold water.

Meat can be kept fresh if it is wrapped in a cloth wrung out of vinegar. Rinse it before cooking it to remove the vinegar taste.

If you would keep berries over night, carefully sort them, and put all the sound ones back in the box. Wrap the boxes in parrafin paper. Cooked meats, too, can be kept for thirty-six hours wrapped in parrafin paper.

Some Cookery Suggestions

DAINTY GOOSEBERRIES.

THE gooseberry makes especially toothsome pies and tarts. This fruit is a favorite with the English, and their cooks can use it to perfection in many tempting desserts.

Two Gooseberry Pastries.

Gooseberry Turnover.—Make the crust with half a pound of flour, three ounces of butter, a dessertspoonful of powdered sugar and water to make a paste. Pick a pint of gooseberries. Roll out the pastry; lay the gooseberries wet and rolled in powdered sugar in the center. Fold over pastry like an envelope. Brush with white of egg or water, sprinkle with powdered sugar and bake.

Gooseberry Pie.—Canned gooseberries may be used for this. Take a can of them and sweeten to taste. For each pie to be made beat the yolks of two eggs, mix with the gooseberries and place in the pie dishes, which should be lined with a crisp puff paste. Only one crust should be used, the top being covered with a lattice formed by strips of the puff paste put on crosswise. While the pies are baking beat the whites of two eggs and add a tablespoonful of sugar. Spread this over the pies and set in the oven to brown.

The eggs are used to take away the bitter taste from the gooseberries.

Light Desserts.

Gooseberry Cream.—Take one quart of gooseberries, one ounce of butter, one pound of white sugar, four eggs. Cover the gooseberries with cold water. Simmer over the fire until soft, strain through a sieve and heat the pulp. When hot stir in the sugar and butter. Beat the eggs till light and beat them into the fruit pulp after it is cold. Serve in glasses.

Gooseberry Sponge.—Take one quart of gooseberries, half a pound of brown sugar, one cupful of custard, a slice of stale sponge cake, one cupful of whipped cream and half an ounce of pistachio nuts. Pick the gooseberries, then wash them, put them in a stone jar with the sugar and let them cook slowly until tender and soft. Arrange the slices of sponge cake in a glass dish, pour over the fruit, then the custard, leave until cold, whip up the cream until it will just hang on the whisk, sweeten and flavor it carefully, then heap it up roughly on the custard. Boil the pistachio nuts in boiling water for three or four minutes, shell and chop them and sprinkle them over the cream.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

Robbie Wasn't Asked to the Fairy Ball.

"What kind of a boy is he?" asked the queen.

JACK had been rather slow in doing an errand for his mother, and daddy had heard her speak to him about it.

When Jack and Evelyn came up for their story daddy pretended to be taking a nap, and he yawned until they thought he would never be able to have it finished before the bedtime hour.

"Once upon a time," daddy began, "there was a little chap named Robbie. Robbie had one very bad habit, but perhaps by the time I have finished my story you will know what it was.

"Robbie lived in a dear little house on the edge of the woods. Now, though Robbie did not know it, there were some lovely fairies living in that forest. Every midsummer night they held a splendid ball.

"'And what mortal shall we ask to our ball this year?' the queen of the fairies said to her court one day.

"'There is little Robbie, who lives in the vine covered cottage on the edge of the woods,' one little fairy spoke up.

"'This is well,' the queen said after hearing different fairies tell what a nice, kind little boy Robbie was. 'There is, however, the test which every mortal child asked to our midsummer ball must stand.'

"First she sent Fairy Bluebell to Robbie's house. Robbie was eating his breakfast when the fairy got there.

"The fairy whispered into the ear of Robbie's mother, and she looked up from the sewing on which she was working.

"'Run upstairs, Robbie, and bring down my scissors from the table in my room,' she said.

"But Robbie poked so long over the breakfast that at last his mother had to go upstairs and get the scissors for herself.

"Fairy Bluebell went back to the fairy queen looking very sad.

"Then the queen sent Fairy Columbine, and the fairy whispered into the ear of Robbie's grandma, who had a toothache. Robbie's grandma wanted him to go to the drug store and get some medicine for her tooth, but Robbie waited until after supper, and then grandma's tooth was so bad she had to go to the dentist and have it pulled.

"When Fairy Columbine went back to the queen and told her that the queen said: 'I just won't have that boy at my ball. It's about as bad to be disobedient in obeying as to be downright disobedient.'

"And so poor Robbie missed the fairy ball and all the lovely favors which were given out by the queen. And I'm sure if Robbie had known what he missed he would have started being promptly obedient right away."

FASHION HINT

By JUDIC CHOLLET

The blouse that is worn over a guimpe is very fashionable this season, when so many contrasting fabrics are used. This one can be made in several different ways, each one being so distinctive as to suggest a separate model rather than a variation. In the cut it is made of a plain crepe de chine over accordion plaited chiffon.

AN ATTRACTIVE WAIST.

For the medium size the waist will require two and three-eighths yards of material twenty-seven inches wide, with three-quarters of a yard of material forty-four inches wide for the plaited guimpe.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes from 34 to 40 inches bust measure. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 7899, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

ANTI-SUFFRAGE

Conducted by Plainfield Branch New Jersey Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage.

LETTER FROM MISS CHITTENDEN

Those of us who are actively opposing woman suffrage are often asked by our friends, "Why do you carry on a campaign against woman suffrage? Why do you feel so strongly on the subject?"

Our answer to such questioning is, that in the first place, the demand for woman suffrage does not accord with sound governmental principle, since a large voting population which could not enforce its own laws would be a decided menace to the State. All law would be but a feeble instrument at best, were it not for the knowledge that there is force back of it.

The usual suffrage reply to this assertion is, "that women can fight as well as men. Unfortunately we know that women can fight, but the question is, should they? Should they be placed in a position where they might have a fight to enforce a law they may have been responsible for enacting, or let it stand as a dead letter on the statute books? Is a fighting Amazon or even an assertive, abusive Xantippe a high ideal of womanhood?

But aside from the governmental objections to woman suffrage, and there are others I have not mentioned, we are opposing it because we recognize that it is a phase of the present feminist movement with its very dangerous tendencies. The time has surely come for men, as well as women, to look this question squarely in the face. To study what this freedom for woman means, and where it will lead if carried to a logical conclusion. It takes a well-balanced man or woman to hold back from the step or act by which freedom degenerates into license, and license quickly leads to decadence. Women are temperamentally more extreme than men. Sir William Ramsey, the English scientist, says, "One thing is certain. No nation can stand permanently higher than the level of its women. On them depend the ideals, and the aims of the next generation."

Those of us who believe this, and who recognize that the general lowering of the standards of our social relationships, manners and customs is coincident with the demand on the part of women for freedom, feel that the future of our beloved Republic is in jeopardy, for we are not unmindful, that the decline of Rome's power coincided with the license accorded its women.—Brooklyn Life, June 21st.

ALICE HILL CHITTENDEN.
Hotel Vancouver,
Vancouver, B. C.
June 8, 1913.

Miss McIlvaine, in her very inspiring address before the regular meeting of the Anti-Suffrage Association, began by insisting on the point which Miss Chittenden emphasizes above, namely the danger to the country of this suffrage movement. "It is not," she said, "merely a question of 'Votes for Women,' but goes far deeper and attacks the very nature of our social system." The tendency of this movement is to obliterate the essential difference betwen the sexes and virtually to array one against the other. The foundation of organized society is the family not the individual. Neither man nor woman alone is complete; it is only when joined together they work in harmony that we find the best results. And it will not do to pick out individual cases to show that women can do all that man can or that certain very precious qualities which we generally think as peculiarly feminine are found in some men and reason from these individual cases as to general qualifications. There are manly virtues and feminine ones. There are manly defects and feminine ones and curiously enough in both cases they often seem complimentary of each other, and they are also characteristic of the parts men and women have been, so far, generally called upon to play in the history of the race.

Frederic Harrison says: "Out of this dualism or double part of the two sexes in human life, a dualism that results in part from the organization of the sexes, and in part is the accumulated effect of infinite ages of habit and social institutions—there has grown up a complex distribution of parts in life, some natural, we say, to women, some natural to men. And the future of civilization will enforce and increase this distribution of parts instead of effacing it, inasmuch as it tends to develope the higher nature of men as well as of women. In this age when all possible opinions about human nature are thought equally plausible, and when all synthetic habits of treating human nature as a whole are told in the habit of special analysis, in solvent criticism of detached details, it is argued that every distribution of parts should be a perfectly open question, always to be decided for each individual case by the private judgment of each individual."

As he goes on to show this is all very well when these judgments relate solely to personal matters, but when it has to do with social matters it is quite a different thing. But as he forcibly says:

"The moral and social value of institutions depends on their being institutions—creations and forms of society beyond personal caprice, and independent of individual fitness in the particular case." As was pointed out last week in the extract from the "Sun," it is the welfare of the State that must be studied, not any individual's special right. This works injustice in some instances, doubtless. It is irritating, to say the least, to have an unreasoning or uninterested majority block for a time the wheels of reform. But if history has taught us anything, it is that lasting reforms have generally come very slowly and have come in reply to a demand urged by the public conscience. And in this awakening of public conscience lies woman's strength. Legislation, not backed by public opinion, is worthless, sometimes even, when excellent in itself positively injurious, for a law that is not enforced tends to bring discredit on laws generally. For instance, Mr. Owen Lovejoy, secretary of the National Child Labor Committee, in his report of the proceedings at Birmingham, Alabama, says:

"The States which do not require proof of the child's age or at least any proof worthy the name are Colorado, Florida, Louisana, Nevada, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, Virginia, Wyoming Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Idaho, Wisconsin, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennessee.

"Our agents have frequently found eight, nine and ten year old boys applying for work in these States upon affidavits certifying them to be fourteen or sixteen years of age.

"When we lay upon the greedy parent the temptation to deceive in order to secure employment for a child we are guilty of placing the burden upon the weak, where it does not belong and promoting perjury by process of law."

A well considered law would have provided for corroborative proof or for such inspection as would have rendered the temptation to perjury much less. This is not the time to discuss child labor laws, but one can easily see that a father or mother needing the money a child's work could bring in might be tempted to swear falsely as to the age.

Sporting Editor:

Query—In Chicago pool B claims that when one party gets 61 points, irrespective of balls left on the table, he gets the game. A says that the game has to be played until all the balls are rolled off. Who is right? P. L.

Answer—B is right, when a man gets 61 points he is out regardless of the number of balls left on the table.

Sporting Editor:

Query—In a game of auction pinochle A and C are partners and B and D are partners. A and C have 76 and B and D have 96. C bids 16 and melds 16. B and D meld 5. C plays trumps until he takes in 7 points. Then B takes in a trick and calls out, but C says he has no right to call out. Who is right? T. S.

Answer—The bidder goes out, if he makes sufficient points.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Kindly tell me what United States department I should address in order to find out something about irrigation; also are those who do irrigation work for the government under civil service? C. R. T.

Answer—For full information write to the Department of Agriculture, Washington.

Sporting Editor:

Query—What is the charge to go to the top of the Woolworth building and what time of the day are visitors allowed to go up? A. T.

Answer—They charge fifty cents for taking passengers to the Woolworth tower and you can go up any time of the day.

Sporting Editor:

Query—How do you get to the Bronx (N. Y.) from Plainfield? F. R.

Answer—Take the Central Railroad to Jersey City and cross to the New York side. You can get a train at 125th street on the subway and 126th street on the "L" (Third avenue) which will take you to the Bronx.

Sporting Editor:

Query—I am seventeen years old and am training for the athletic meet on Parker Field the fourth of July and would like to get a few points from you on how to become a sprinter or distance runner. I can already run seventy-five yards in six and one-half seconds. D. B.

Answer—As you have already broken the world's record for that distance what need have you for "points" from me? Your sprinting form must be perfect now.

Sporting Editor:

Query—What is used before going into the sun to tan the skin? H. S.

Cocoa butter rubbed on the skin before going into the sun may take the skin out and help the tanning process. Many people, though, tan naturally, while other just burn and blister, "and can't seem to work up a nice olive complexion, nohow."

Sporting Editor:

Query—Is there a fire apparatus in New York city that could throw a stream over the Metropolitan building? J. A. M.

Answer—Not from the ground, Jam.

Sporting Editor:

Query—How far back was the game of baseball played? O. L.

Answer—Baseball was played as far back as 1840 and the old "rounders" games as far back as 1825.

FIVE MILE ROAD ROUTE.

Jack Fritts, the local long distance man, who has entered the five-mile road race to be held at New Brunswick on July 4 in connection with the holiday athletic meet at that place will cover the following course which has been mapped out by the committee in charge: start at Neilson Field, across Landing Bridge to River road, down River road to Albany street bridge, to Albany street, to George, to Bayard, to Schuyler, to French, to Easton avenue, to Somerset street to College avenue and back to the field where the competitors will make one lap of the track. The entries for the meet close tomorrow.

FANS GO TO NEWARK.

A number of local baseball fans went to Newark this afternoon to witness the "Harry Smith Day" celebration and game between Rochester and Newark. Jack Martin, of this city, will play short for the Rochester aggregation and his many friends in this city will be well represented on the special occasion arranged for Smith.

PETS WILL PLAY SUNDAYS.

Manager Ernest Dorflinger, of the Plainfield baseball teams, is negotiating for a series of three games with Dave Driscoll's New Brunswick aggregation to be played on Sunday afternoons. The winner will take the full gate receipts on each occasion and it is understood that the Plainfield team will have nearly the same lineup as faced Elizabeth last Sunday.

ENTRIES COMING IN FAST.

George W. Wriston, the supervisor of Parker Field, who has charge of the Fourth of July field and track meet, to be held at that place, is receiving many entries for the affair and it is expected that the largest list of junior entries ever compiled will be in his hands by the time the meet falls due. A number of junior runners and jumpers practice on the field every afternoon and evening and some good performances have been noted.

NETHERWOOD'S SUNDAY GAME.

On the Netherwood team's ground tomorrow afternoon the Bound Brook baseball team will appear for a game with the Netherwood A. C. ball tossers. The home nine will lineup as follows: Mullin, rf; Luthman, cf; Moore, lf; Dood, c; Schinkle, 3b; Miller, 2b; Trotter, ss; Hoffmister, 1b; Denny, p; Henzel, substitute.

THREE AMERICANS LOST AT TENNIS

McLoughlin Only Player From This Country Left in English Championships.

Maurice E. McLoughlin, of San Francisco, tennis champion of the United States, is the sole survivor of the American quartet in the English lawn tennis championships. Wallace F. Johnson and Clark Griffith were defeated by British players and R. Norris Williams, who was drawn against McLoughlin, retired when the score stood 2 sets to 1 in favor of the young American champion. The American representatives suffered a further reverse when Craig Biddle and Harold H. Hackett were eliminated in the doubles.

The defeat of Biddle and Johnson, while not entirely unexpected, in view of the calibre of the players left in the tournament, furnished somewhat of a surprise owing to the comparatively easy victories of their opponents. Both American players were defeated by 3 sets to one, and in each match they totally failed against the Britishers. McLoughlin is expected to play through the tournament, and if he does so, he will be required to play against the title holder. A great gathering was present to watch the playing of the Americans.

LOCAL Y. M. H. A. TEAM WILL PLAY SECOND GAME OF SERIES

Captain Jake Abrams, of the Plainfield Y. M. H. A. baseball team, is padding up his aggregation for the diamond battle to be played against the New Brunswick Y. M. H. A. nine at Riverside Park tomorrow afternoon, and expects to have an all-star cast on hand for the battle. New Brunswick was defeated in the first game of the series by a score of 8 to 5 and the combination of that place are out to even up the series on this occasion.

The Plainfield team will play for the first time in their new uniforms tomorrow afternoon and the advent of donning them will be greater inducement toward widening the gap between them and the New Brunswick team's score Sunday afternoon. If the weather is fair it is expected that a big crowd of local rooters will go to Riverside Park with the Plainfielders.

BRUGGY BACK IN THE GAME.

Frank Bruggy, the former Bound Brook catcher who was beaned by a pitched ball while playing with the Lawrence team of the New England League against Providence last Wednesday, celebrated his return to the game yesterday by cracking out a home-run batting against the Lynn aggregation. He also had a single to his credit, while Carlstrom, who, formerly played short for the Plainfield team, and who is now performing for the Lawrence combination, got a hit and one run.

Happenings Due Next Week

Washington, D. C., June 28. During the greater part of the week the eyes of the nation will be turned toward Gettysburg, Pa., where, fifty years ago, was fought the great three days' battle that ended the Confederate invasion of the North. The semi-centennial is to be made the occasion for a mammoth reunion of civil war veterans and a five days' celebration that will include addresses by prominent men of the North and the South, together with the unveiling of memorials, etc.

With the beginning of the Government's fiscal year next Tuesday a number of legislative acts of the last Congress and several important new regulations of the several departments of the Government will become operative. Of most general interest, perhaps, will be the introduction by the Postoffice Department of the C. O. D. service of the parcels post.

Reports from all sections of the country tell of elaborate preparations for a "safe and sane" celebration on Friday of Uncle Sam's 137th birthday. Congress and the departments of government in Washington will take a recess from Thursday until Monday. President Wilson expects to spend the holiday with his family at Cornish, N. H.

A statue of Zachariah Chandler, twice Senator from Michigan and Secretary of the Interior under President Grant, will be unveiled in Statuary Hall in the Capitol on Monday. The statue is a present from the State of Michigan.

Wednesday is the date set for the beginning of the aldermanic "boodle" trials in Detroit. The defendants, including nine members of the Board of Aldermen, were indicted last July on charges of accepting bribes and conspiracy to accept a bribe for their votes and influence in the passing of a measure affecting city property transferred to the Wabash railroad. "Honest Tom" Glinnan, president of the board, will be the first of the defendants to be tried.

Representatives of the educational interests of the entire country will begin to assemble in Salt Lake City at the end of the week for the annual convention of the National Educational Association. Other large gatherings of the week will include the Christian Citizenship Conference in Portland, Ore., and the opening of the National Conference of Charities and Correction at Seattle.

Events of the week abroad will include the Henley Royal Rowing Regatta on the Thames River, the Royal Agricultural Society show at Bristol, England, the military centennial celebrations in Germany, the French amateur golf championship tournament at La Boulie, the opening of an international exhibition of sport and travel at the Hague, and the annual congress to be held in London by the International Bureau for the Suppression of the White Slave Traffic.

Not a home in this city but has its quota of discarded furniture, rugs, stoves perhaps, a wheelbarrow maybe.

The act will show three times a day; and there are other big vaudeville acts with the best feature and photo plays in black and white. Proctor's is always open at the right time.

EN ROUTE VETERANS REVIEW BATTLE TALE

Captain Hand Had Charge of Plainfield Boys and Chief Doane Was on Hand.

Among the thousands of veterans of the Union and Confederate armies gathered at Gettysburg for the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg, are about seventy-five old soldiers from this city. They left Plainfield about 5:30 o'clock yesterday morning, and despite the early hour of departure there was a large crowd of friends and relatives at the North Avenue station.

Captain William Hand, who is in command of the Plainfield company sent Past Department Commander William C. Smith ahead to arrange accommodations at the "United States Hotel" in Camp Gettysburg. The following were received by The Daily Press from a member of the Plainfield party en route for Gettysburg:

"Here we are at Easton, Pa., all well, about seventy-five strong, full of fight, bound for and anxious to get to Gettysburg to attack the 'Johnnies.' Captain Hand, in command, sent Past Department Commander W. C. Smith ahead to engage accommodations at the 'United States Hotel' in Camp Gettysburg.

"H. C. S."

"8 a. m., just left Easton, Pa., following the Lehigh river. Fine weather, cool. Beautiful country. Boys all appear to enjoy the trip so far. All are paired off and are engaged in discussing the events of fifty years ago today. Captain Hand is keeping his 'eagle eye' on the company. Fire Chief T. O. Doane and Past Commander I. L. McVoy are still talking about the war, while Chief Doane keeps one eye on the lookout for fires. Comrade McVoy is officer of the day and he is watching the soldiers to see that none go astray.

"H. C. S."

"Just left Allentown, Pa., 8:50 a. m., by express special. There are now ten coaches on our train. I believe by orders of commanding-general Captain Hand's company will be brigaded with this special army corps to be rushed through to Gettysburg as the grand fight is on with the 'Johnnies' and we are being rushed through to flank them. The orders read to come through quick by way of Carlisle, leaving Harrisburg to the North.

STEERAGE PASSENGERS OF TITANIC PREFERRED

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

London, June 30.—In the King's Bench Division of the High Court, today, Justice Bailsache delivered judgments against the White Star Steamship Company on the important technical point as to whether the tickets issued to steerage passengers on board the Titanic conveyed an adequate notification to the passengers of the condition that the company did not assume any liability for any loss or damage which they might sustain. The judgment is regarded as a highly important one, inasmuch as it governs some hundreds of cases of claims made by steerage passengers against the White Star Company in respect of the loss of the Titanic.

PATRIOTIC SERMON BY REV. A. E. WILSON

Pastor of All Souls' Explains Symbolic Meaning of Old Glory's Colors.

"There is no flag more beautiful than the stars and stripes, nor under whose folds the blessings of life lie thicker," declared Rev. Arthur E. Wilson in a discourse on "Patriotism," at All Souls' Unitarian church, yesterday morning. "The colors of that flag symbolize three things: Brotherhood, purity and liberty. Red is typical of the same red blood that flows in the arteries of all mankind and makes a universal brotherhood; white is for purity that should exist in both private and public life, and blue for freedom, a freedom not without restriction of law, but laws expresing our highest ideals and then obedience to them.

"We honor the patriotism of the past which has made possible our land of brotherhood, opportunity, self-help, with ideals of righteousness justice and liberty. He who would today corrupt this patriotism or who would put reproach upon our national symbol deserves to go down to the dust from whence he sprung, 'unwept, unhonored and unsung.'

"When we are asked as were Jonah by those boatmen of old, 'What is thy country and of what people are thou?' may be prompt to answer, 'The country of the free, where law and order prevails, a land of true human brotherhood, of idealism, of a genuine religion which loves and serves both God and man, and a people, progressive, cultured, virtuous, prosperous, filled with love toward one another, bearing aloft the torch of a patriotism enlightening the world."

In response to an appeal of the American Constantinople Relief Committee, for help for the starving Mohammedan women and children, victims of the late war, over $25 was given to the pastor.

MISS MABEL LAMBERT IS NOW MRS. COOPER

Miss Mabel Lambert, daughter of Isaac Lambert, of East Orange, and Wiliam T. Cooper, of South Sterling, were quietly married at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Rev. Dr. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiated, at his home in The Bristol, on West Front street.

The only attendant was Miss Maude Allen, of Newark, who was the maid of honor. After the ceremony the couple returned to South Sterling, where they will live. Mr. Cooper is widely known in Somerset county. He is engaged in the crushed stone business.

The prisoner went over to his wife, Mrs. Josephine Jackson, threw his arms about her and gave her a smack which resounded throughout the court room

A TIMELY "OLD TIMER."

A most timely exhibit is on display in the windows of The Daily Press office in the shape of the issue of the New York Herald of July 3, 1863, containing a graphically written account of the Battle of Gettysburg, then in progress. Its fiftieth anniversary is now being observed by thousands of veterans who fought in that terrible conflict. In addition to the story of the battle there is a map showing the lines of battle. The paper, an original copy, has been on exhibition only this morning, but hundreds have stopped to examine and comment upon it.

UNION CO. CRUSADE AGAINST MOSQUITO

Young Schenck Swamp Work Chief and Other Local Boys House Inspectors.

Under the leadership of Chief Inspector Russell W. Gies, the campaign against the mosquito pest is being vigorously waged and it seems probable that the joke of the "Jersey Mosquito" will soon be a joke no longer, at least in regard to Union county. As the work has been planned, it is being carried on in two divisions one the house inspection work, which aims to destroy all artificial breeding places and the other, the swamp inspection, which purposes to do away as far as possible, with all natural haunts of the mosquito. In the local district the house inspectors are Russell Miller in the West End of Plainfield, Frank Putnam in the East End, and Otto Vogler in Fanwood and Scotch Plains. The swamp work is being conducted by Harold W. Schenck, who has a squad of laborers at his disposal.

It is the plan of Mr. Gies to make as quick work as possible of the inland districts, and then to devote still more efforts on the salt marshes near Elizabeth, where the problem is the greatest, and where the nature of the ground renders necessary the construction of a great number of ditches. The house inspection work includes the surveyance of every yard in the county at least once every two weeks, with the intention that the people will become thoroughly awakened to the necessity of a continual warfare. The methods employed at present in the mosquito war include the oiling of such places as defy any other possible means of treatment, the draining of all large swamp areas, the filling in of other places, and the cutting of brush so that low moist lands may have a good opportunity to dry out.

The former idea that it is impossible to exterminate this troublesome and dangerous pest has been well disproved once and for all, by the work of "Uncle Sam" in the Panama Canal Zone where the health of the laborers and the completion of the work demanded the annihilation of the mosquito, which carried the deadly yellow fever and malarial germs By the use of such methods as are now being adopted by the Jersey warriors, the United States government has now made the pest as rare as a Panama snow storm, and the death rate has been reduced to two per cent.

The small appropriation from the State renders absolutely necessary the hearty co-operation of all property-owners who possess low or swampy lands, or other liable breeding places on their premises. Notices have already been served to all such persons in this district, and it is the desire of the commission that such property-owners join at once in the mitigation of a nuisance, which it is of community interest to destroy. Thus will the "Queen City" not only be made still more attractive but the property values greatly increased.

Already much has been accomplished, and if the extensive plans now underway evolve successfully, the problem will soon be one of the past. A large swamp hole near South Second street and Rushmore avenue has been filled in by the Manganese Safe Company The City of Plainfield has appropriated $500 to drain the lowlands near Rock avenue and at the base of DeKalb avenue into Green brook. It is hoped that soon the series of swamps extending back of Woodland avenue off Randolph road, will be drained. At the present time Mrs. M. E. Truett is working jointly with the commission to abolish two small ponds that were breeding mosquito larvae, in this vicinity. Plans are on foot for the clearing up of the extensive swamp areas running along Green brook between West End and Clinton avenues, also for the marsh at the end of Arlington avenue, and for the lowlands in Fanwood township, near the Westfield Golf Club links.

Sanderson, of Proctor & Sanderson, has kindly donated the use of the theatre for the entertainment. The program will open with the "Star Spangled Banner," by an orchestra, the audience rising and joining in the song. There will be a short address by Mayor Percy H. Stewart. Martin A. Korff will give a violin solo and then will follow motion pictures and other forms of entertainment.

PASTOR MAKES ADDRESS AT OPEN-AIR SERVICE

Speaking at the open air services yesterday afternoon on the lawn of Grace church, the rector, Rev. E. Vicar Stevenson, delivered an instructive discourse sounding a warning against carelessness. He asserted that many people in life care nothing for the trouble of others, not even those whom they are responsible for. "If there is anything that saps the essentials of the life of a human being," the speaker continued, "it is carelessness" The rector gave several Biblical illustrations for his remarks.

Judging by the attendance at yesterday's service, devotional meetings outdoors during the summer months are decidedly popular. Chairs for the congregation were provided as usual and the vested choir took part.

TWO MEN INJURED IN RUNAWAY MISHAP

Mynard Smith and Martin Blazier Victims of Accident at Warrenville.

Maynard Smith and Martin Blazier, well-known residents of Mt. Horeb, were injured yesterday afternoon in a runaway acident at Warrenville, and both are now under the care of a physician. They were engaged in unloading milk cans in front of the Warrenville postoffice, when the noise of the cans frightened the team attached to the wagon.

When the horses ran away, the wagon was upset, throwing Mr. Smith out. Mr. Blazier, in jumping, was caught between the body of the wagon, which became detached, and the whiffletree, and was dragged several hundred yards, before the spirited team was caught by Harry Schaff and Irving Toms, who rushed from the Fairview Farm. They succeeded in releasing Mr. Blazier, who was in a semiconscious condition. Both he and Mr. Smith were taken to their homes and a physician summoned. Their condition is not serious.

FOUR FIRES WITH LOSS ONLY $300

St. Mary's Commercial School Damaged the Most at a Sunday Noon Blaze.

EXCITEMENT PREVAILS

Fire on East Fourth Street Results in Arrest of Occupants of House—Will Be Given a Hearing Tomorrow Morning—Two Debris Fires.

Four fires, entailing a total loss not exceeding $300, occupied the attention of the local fire department over the week-end, three of the blazes being recorded on Saturday and a fourth broke out yesterday noon. All four caused a large amount of excitement, having been discovered in the congested districts of the city and no causes have been definitely assigned for any of them. The most serious of the four fires was discovered yesterday noon in St. Mary's Commercial School, where a pile of debris had become ignited and threatened for a time to assume large proportions. A number of parishioners who were near the church when the fire broke out secured the hand extinguishers in the school building and used these in putting out the blaze which they had under control when the firemen arrived. A stream from the chemical engine was used in extinguishing the flames, which did damage to the extent of $200.

A great deal of excitement prevailed for a time on East Fourth street, Saturday afternoon, when the firemen answered a call from Box 23 to put out a fire that had been discovered in a house owned by Kalman Rothberg. The occupants of one side of the house, which was a double affair, refused to leave the premises when ordered off by Patrolman Cornelius McCarthy, who was on duty and he brought them to police headquarters amid loud protests and dire threatenings from the mob of sympathetic neighbors who surrounded the officer and his prisoner. Owing to the danger from falling glass near the house in which the fire was raging, McCarthy ordered the bystanders away, but Thomas Starr and his wife, Mary, refused to leave, claiming that they lived in the house and had a right to be there and when McCarthy threatened to lock them up it served to evoke a volley of harsh language from Starr, who was greatly wrought up. Following certain insinuations, McCarthy placed Starr and his wife under arrest and they resisted him, which resulted in the officer using his nightstick to good advantage on the head of Starr. In the local police court this morning, Judge DeMeza remanded the prisoners for a hearing tomorrow. The fire started in a bed on the second floor of the house and did slight damage to the furniture, most of which was directly caused by smoke.

A telephone call from the home of Fred Lounsbury on West Second street, Saturday afternoon, brought the firemen to his home, where a pile of debris was burning. The fire was quickly put out with little damage.

At 11 o'clock Saturday night a slight fire was discovered in the grocery store at 305 Madisan avenue and this blaze was put out with practically no damage resulting.

JUDGE SCORES WIFE WHO MADE COMPLAINT

When James J. McCann, a plumber working in Newark, but living with his wife at 115 East Second street, came home from the New Jersey metropolis Saturday night to spend the week-end he found a boarder, Alton Davis. According to the police, words followed between the husband and wife and the latter came to headquarters where she swore out a complaint against Mr. McCann, charging him with being disorderly and intoxicated.

The evidence taken showed that McCann was neither intoxicated nor disorderly. Judge DeMeza dismissed the charge against him, after telling Mrs. McCann that her actions warranted a term in jail.

A number of local tennis players are planning to enter the doubles tournament to decide the Union county championship, which is scheduled to be held on the courts of the Elizabeth Town and Country Club next Friday and Saturday. Many Plainfield tennis players have paired off and are practising for this important tourney and this city will in all probability be well represented.

The championship matches will be conducted under the auspices of the United States Lawn Tennis Association and the rules of this organization will govern all play and the tournament committee has been empowered with authority to decide all disputes. Prizes for first place and runner up have been offered and drawings will be made July 3 at 8:30 o'clock in the evening.

FACTORIES WILL ENTER TEAMS IN FOURTH OF JULY EVENTS

A number of local factory athletic associations have announced their intention of entering athletes in the Parker Field athletic meet which is being arranged for July 4 and many stars of the track and field, some of whom appeared in the Y. George W. Wriston, who has the meet in charge, is receiving many entries and the list of athletes who will appear on Plainfield's popular playground on Friday afternoon will probably be the largest ever compiled for an event of this kind in this vicinity. The prizes are now on exhibition in Schwed Brothers' window on West Front street and range from wearing apparel to toilet necessities.

A. athletic meet held on Parker Field last Fourth of July, running in the three mile event again competed against each other Saturday afternoon in the Far Hills meet. Racing for honors in the one mile junior championship the two New York men finished the same as they did in this city and Joyce thus won the junior title from his little opponent who attracted so much attention in this city.

LIVINGSTONE SERVICE AT MONROE AVE. CHURCH

Honoring the memory of the famous African missionary, an impressive Livingstone service was conducted by the Epworth League at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church last night, when the League meeting and the evening service were combined.

Papers on the lives of Livingstone and Stanley, dealing with their daring trips of exploration into the interior of the dark continent, were read by the Misses Miriam Hofer and May Stafford. Rev. F. J. Huback gave a short address on the results of the work of Livingstone, and spoke of the great work now being accomplished in Africa through the medium of the Methodist Episcopal church of this country. He touchingly referred to Melville B. Cox, the first missionary of his denomination to enter this field who soon feel a victim to a fever which has claimed 195 other men since who had responded to the same call. Two recitations, "Droop, Half-Mast Colors" and "A Missionary Call," were beautifully rendered by Miss Anna Leigh and Miss Alice Lude.

Plainfield, N. J., June 30, 1913.

OUR FOURTH.

Plainfield is setting about in a modest way to make the celebration of the Independence Day anniversary be what it should now that a "safe and sane" ordinance has been ordained. The observances will be begun at 9 o'clock in the morning of that day. At that time, through the courtesy of the manager, Harry S. Sanderson, Proctor's theatre will be thrown open to all the kiddies, Councilman Fred Endress being the host. Mayor Stewart will have a few words to say to the juvenile audience as to the spirit and meaning of Fourth of July and then there will be a first class entertainment. At 10:30 there will be another free performance for the youngsters.

In the afternoon, Parker Field will be the scene of the demonstration and besides baseball and other sports, there will be a band concert. But the real show will take place at night and at the same public playground for a glorious display of fireworks has been arranged and as an added attraction, the band will play patriotic airs.

The Parker Field demonstration is being planned by the Playground Commission and as a necleus for the necessary fund, the city has contributed $150. The rest of the money, some $200 or more must be raised by voluntary subscription and of this amount approximately $40 has been given. If you have enough patriotism and enough of the "wherewithal," a contribution no matter how small will be appreciated by the Commission. That dollar bill will be welcomed. Why not send it now?

EXPEDITION READY.

Unless some unforseen delay occurs, the Newfoundland whaling steamship Diana will pull out of her berth at the New York Navy Yard before the end of this week with the members of the Crocker Land expedition on board. The last of the stores and equipment have been taken aboard the staunch little vessel and only a few minor details are to be arranged before the ship is ready to sail on its long and perilous voyage to the Arctic region. The chief object of the expedition, as already announced, is to explore Crocker Land, the mountainous tops of which were seen across polar seas by Peary in 1906. Other regions will be explored southwest of Axel Heiberg Land and north of the Parry Islands.

The expedition is under the auspices of the American Museum of Natural History and the American Geographical Society, with the cooperation of the University of Illinois and the assistance of the United States Navy Department and other Federal departments as well as many educational institutions. The leader of the party is Donald B. MacMillan, who accompanied Peary on his trip to the North Pole. The other members of the party have been selected with particular reference to their fitness for the work assigned them. They will include a surgeon, a practical navigator, a wireless operator, a general mechanic, an engineer and physicist, a geologist and botanist and a zoologist.

After landing at Sydney, the expedition will go as far north as the ice will permit, procuring on its way dogs for the sledges and walrus and whale meat. It will land on the south side of Bache Peninsula, Flagler Bay, where the party will make their headquarters. A powerful wireless station will be erected and here, under the ideal climatic conditions experiments will be conducted in order to solve the important problem of directing the Hertzian waves. The coming autumn and winter will be utilized in sledging supplies across Ellesmere Land to Nansen Sound and up to Cape Thomas Hubbard at the north end of Axel Heiberg Land, where the second base of supplies will be established.

With the return of dawn in 1914 the expedition will make a dash from Axel Heiberg Land across the sea ice to Crocker Land, where the party will divide into three squads, one going northward, the second southwestward and the third northeastward into the interior of Crocker Land. Studies will be carried on in glaciers, sea ice, tidal observations, soundings, and the fauna of the region.

Late in the spring, before the sea ice breaks up, the party will return to its base and geographical work will then be carried on around Ellesmere Land and Grant Land. The main party will return to Crocker Land, if the region proves to be what is expected, in the early spring of 1915, for additional exploration. But in case Crocker Land does not yield work to the extent expected and it should not seem advisable to return to it a second time, the second field season, in 1915, will be devoted to an expedition eastward from Inglefield Gulf to the great summit ice cap of Greenland at its widest part, the work supplementing that of Peary and other explorers.

Inspired by the action of the Chicago authorities, Mayor Fitzgerald, of Boston, has placed the ban on the "animal" dances and no longer will he tolerate in public halls, restaurants and fashioable hotels such degrading and demoralizing acrobatic dances as the "tango," the "bunny hug," the "grizzly bear," the "kitchen sink," and the "subway." Like most sensible people he says they are indecent and he has called upon the women of Boston to aid in the crusade against them.

Politicians are now looking for an early declaration from Mr. Stokes as to whether he will run—Trenton news dispatch.

Will he run? Not much, he'll break the speed records.

What long and wonderful memories those veterans will have at Gettysburg this week.

Four more days before they make that Eagle scream.

DUBOIS FIGURES IN A WHITE SLAVE CASE

Frank DuBois, who was charged with being implicated with Miss Irma Bendotti, who lived at the Mt. Bethel Hotel, in a scheme to swindle a wealthy Californian out of $7,500, and who was arrested several months ago, has promised to give valuable information regarding "White Slavery" in California, esecially in reference to the Diggs-Caminetti cases. It is said that he was personally acquainted with both Caminetti and Diggs.

FIGHTING IN THE BALKANS.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

London, June 30.—A despatch from Belgrade says that severe fighting has broken out between the main army and the Servian and Bulgarian troops near Uskub. A despatch from Uskub today stated that the Bulgarians attacked the Servians at Wallandona, where a bridge was blown up with dynamite. The fighting then became general all along the line.

WIFE AND FRIENDS LOYAL TO MACRORIE

Convicted Minister's Bondsman Willing to Defray the Expense of An Appeal.

Despite the verdict of guilty rendered by the jury which tried Rev Willis S. MacRorie, of Mt. Horeb, on the charges preferred by the mother of nineteen-year-old Gertrude Nelson, his wife, friends and even members of the Mt. Horeb and Springdale churches, of which he was pastor, have never swerved from their staunch belief in his innocence. It is known that his bondsman, Manning F. Coddington, a wealthy farmer, is willing to stand the expense of an appeal providing MacRorie's lawyers decide to take such a step. Otherwise the convicted and suspended dominee will be sentenced by Judge Connolly, Friday, July 11.

The Methodist Conference is almost sure to reconsider its decision in proclaiming MacRorie guilty of but "unministerial conduct," in connection with his relations with Miss Nelson, and that he will be unfrocked looks certain. According to reliable information the Board of Bishops of the Methodist Church have MacRorie's conduct under consideration and will take steps against his continuance as a legalized minister of the gospel.

IS JOE LANE NOW IN MOVIES BUSINESS?

Jumps From Boat When Dynamite Explodes and Has Narrow Escape.

Joe Lane, of this city, for several years an advance man for traveling theatrical shows, who with a party of friends was boating at Leechburg, Pa., yesterday, had a narrow escape from being killed. Some one threw several sticks of dynamite near the boat. Mr. Lane and his companions jumped just as the dynamite exploded and after considerable difficulty succeeded in reaching shore not much the worse for their experience, outside of a good wetting. The boat was wrecked.

The matter was reported to the authorities and an investigation is being made for the purpose of catching the guilty party. There were several other boating parties on the water, but luckily they were a considerable distance from the point of the explosion.

RECORD CROWD ATTENDED CLOSING OF FESTIVITIES

A crowd of pleasure seekers that surpassed those of the previous two nights of the St. Mary's festival attended the closing of the affair Saturday night and enjoyed the program of dancing and other out-door amusements arranged by an enterprising group of the church workers. As on the first two occasions all of the different phases of the festival were well patronized and the merry makers found enjoyment of every kind within the canvas area of the Washington school yard.

The scene of the festival was lighted by hundreds of electric globes that converted the grounds into a blaze of glory. A specially constructed platform on one side of the yard served as a place for dancing and music rendered by the T. A. B. fife and drum corps accompanied the terpischore.

STORY OF A FAMOUS SONG.

A Dismal, Rainy Day Moved Dan Emmet to Write "Dixie."

"Dixie" was written by Dan Emmet, both words and music. It was sung for the first time Monday, Sept. 19, 1859, on the stage of Bryant's minstrels at 472 Broadway, New York. There has been much controversy over the question of authorship and over the music. The known history of the song has been carefully compiled by Gustav Kobbe in his "Famous American Songs," as follows:

"On Saturday night, Sept. 17, 1859, after the performance one of the Bryants told Emmet that a new walk around was wanted in time for rehearsal on Monday. The minstrel replied that, while the time was very short, he would do his best. That night after he reached home he tried to hit upon some tune, but the music wouldn't come. His wife cheerily told him to wait until morning. He should have the room to himself so that he could work undisturbed, and when he had finished the walk around he could play it for her as a sole audience. If she liked it the Bryants would and so would the average listener.

"Next day was rainy and dismal. Some years before Emmet had traveled with a circus as a drummer. In winter the warm southern circuit was a popular route with circus people, and those who were obliged to show north would say when the cold weather would make them shiver, 'I wish I was in Dixie.' The phrase was, in fact, a current circus expression. On that dismal September day, probably the beginning of the equinoctial, when Emmet stepped to the window and looked out the old longing for the pleasant south came over him, and involuntarily he thought to himself, 'I wish I was in Dixie.'

"Like a flash the thought suggested the first line for a walk around, and a little later the minstrel, fiddle in hand, was working out the melody which, coupled with the words, made 'Dixie' a genuine song of the people almost from the instant it was first sung."

LISZT AND HIS CIGARS.

Why the Great Musician Said He Would Quit Smoking.

Liszt was in the habit of smoking one cigar a day. But that one cigar was an exceedingly choice one. When he was starting on a journey he told his valet how many days he would be away, and his valet put into the valise a corresponding number of those cigars.

Once when Liszt was going to Italy the chief customs officer at the frontier post of Chiasso asked him if he had anything to declare. The musician, with his thoughts centered on his music rather than his cigars, made signs to the effect that he had nothing. The officer opened the valise without the traveler agitating himself over the search. Presently a number of cigars were brought to light. The whole lot was confiscated, and he was ordered to pay a fine of $100.

When Liszt reached Milan he told his agent of his unpleasant adventure. Ricordi laughed at the whole affair, took a stroll to the Italian treasury and recovered the cigars and the fine. On returning to the artist he offered him, with a smile, one of his own precious cigars.

"No, my dear friend," said Liszt. "I have taken a vow never to smoke again so as not to expose myself a second time to such a humiliation."

Ricordi says he kept his vow. Other authorities recall Reger's visit to the virtuoso in 1870.

"Liszt smoked and offered me a cigar," said Reger, "and while I took my ease he walked up and down, sending out clouds of smoke in the direction of certain terra cotta figures."—New York Sun.

Superstitions on Crickets.

The cricket on the hearth is still a welcome guest in those English households that he deigns to visit. His coming is a harbinger of good fortune, while if he leaves the house that is an infallible sign of imminent disaster. A correspondent in Notes and Queries refers to a belief prevalent in Lancashire "that crickets are lucky about a house and will do no harm to those who use them well, but that they eat holes in the worsted stockings of such members of the family as kill them. I was assured of this," adds the writer, "on the experience of a respectable farmer's family."—London Spectator.

The Richest Street.

The Chandni Chowk, or Silver street, is the main bazaar of Delhi and one of the richest streets in the world. Many of its shops are occupied by jewelers, whose hoards of precious stones are said to represent fabulous sums. Native princes enrich their collections of state jewels through the dealers in the Chandni Chowk, and some of the diamond experts who live in its dingy wooden buildings are known all over the world.

The Reply.

A woman of advanced age required the services of a page boy and advertised, "Youth wanted."

One of her dearest friends sent her by the next post a bottle of Blank's celebrated wrinkle filler and skin tightener, a pot of fairy bloom, a set of false teeth and a flaxen wig.—London Opinion.

Why It Was Flat.

"This story of yours is flat," announced the editor.

"Well," explained the aspiring author, "I read a book called 'Advice to Young Writers,' and the very first thing it tells you is not to roll your manuscript."—Judge.

COUNCILMANIC BOODLERS TO BE PUT ON TRIAL

Detroit, Mich., June 30.—Trials in the so-called aldermanic boodle cases in which nine members of the Detroit board of aldermen are under indictment, are scheduled to begin this week. The cases have been pending since last July, when the accused aldermen were indicted and arrested on charges of accepting bribes and conspiracy to accept a bribe for their votes and influence in the passing of a measure affecting city property transferred to the Wabash railroad.

Rumors of graft among the aldermen had been in circulation for a long time before the exposure came. As a result of these rumors Mayor William B. Thompson sought the services of detectives and Andrew H. Green, a prominent manufacturer, agreed to finance the problem. After the investigation was begun, the Wabash railroad applied for the closing of a street on the grounds that it wanted to erect a warehouse and otherwise increase its shipping facilities. The application was held up in Council for a time. Then suddenly the Council granted the application by vote of several members who had previously opposed the measure.

Meanwhile a Burns detective, who represented himself to be land aganet for the railroad, had been at work. He had entered, according to the charges, into negotiations with the secretary of the Common Council committee. Eventually it was decided, it is alleged, that several who had been opposing the street measure would withdraw their opposition for $100 each. Some of the aldermen, however, are said to have held out for more.

The first of the accused aldermen to be placed on trial is Thomas Glinnan, president of the Council, and alleged to be the boss of the boodlers. Glinnan is known as "Honest Tom." He has long been prominent in Detroit politics and at the time the charges were made against him he was mentioned as a possible candidate for mayor.

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

For the plunge into the heated term, Proctor's Fifth Avenue Theatre has prepared a bill of refreshing novelities sure to please the fastidious summer spectator and aimed to delight the army of devotees of a safe and sane Fourth. The feature, de luxe will be the appearance of The Modern Svengali, a hypnotist, who exercises his occult powers on a beautiful singer, just as Du Maurier's creation, manipulated the vocal powers of Trilby. Prior to entering the next big Winter Garden show, Conroy and LeMaire will disport themselves for another week in vaudeville, while other features of a smart program will be the Paulham Team in polo and basketball on bicycles; William Sisto, Italian-American monologist; Two Roses, expert instrumentalists; Willie Gardner, skatorial terpsichorean; Lombardi and Knoll, operatic soloists; McMahon, Diamond and Clemence, singers, dancers and comedians; Hong Fong and Company, Chinese funmakers in American antics; Valveno and La Nore, eccentric tumblers and as an added feature, the Broadway debut of the Scottish comedienne, Jane Weir and Company in the joyous bit of aria persiflage, "His Last Offense."

TAPS FROM THE GAVEL.

Plainfield Council No. 711 Royal Arcanum, will entertain grand lodge officers at its meeting of July 24.

The regular initiation of Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., has been postponed from next Thursday night to the following week, owing to the installation of officers.

A lodge of L. O. O. M. will be instituted at Rahway tonight. Plainfield Lodge, No. 310, will send a large delegation to the meeting. The degree team of Elizabeth Lodge will conduct the initiatory work.

Camp No. 1, Patriotic Order of America, will hold a picnic tomorrow on Grant avenue. Any member of other patriotic lodges desiring a day of pleasure is cordially invited to join Camp No. 1, each to bring eatables along. Large tables will be spread for luncheon, decorated with the National colors. Those attending may take the Fourth street car to Grant avenue, where a large flag will designate the lawn on which the picnic is to be held. Games and other amusements will be featured during the afternoon. This will be the first annual picnic of the camp.

Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, I. O. O. F., will meet tonight at the Babcock building.

START CHURCH IMPROVEMENTS.

Workmen took possession of the First Baptist church today, starting the work of extensive repairs to be made during the next two months. This will include entire new decorations in the main auditorium, a new floor of cork composition, new stained glass windows, etc. It is possible that the window facing front street may be of a memorial design, as suggested by Rev. Philip B. Strong at yesterday morning's service.

The Housewife's Daily Economy Calendar

In winter left-over meats may be converted into stews, ragouts and hashes that are delicious on cold and crisp days. But in summer the heavy gravies and highly seasoned ragouts that are appetizing in winter seem only tedious. The economical housewife must devise other means of presenting left-over meats.

Salad from Corned Beef.

One of the best dishes ever devised, in the way of a left-over meat, is corned beef salad made in the following manner: Trim all gristle and fat from the meat and cut in half inch dice. Mix a tablespoonful of terragon vinegar with a tablespoonful of celery seed, a tablespoonful of capers, a saltspoonful of pepper and two of salt. Mix this with a pound of the diced meat and let it stand in a covered dish for an hour. Then grate half a small onion over the meat, add a dash of Worcestershire sauce, and mix with mayonnaise dressing. Serve on a bed of crisp lettuce leaves.

Left-Ove Ham.

Ham is one of the most appetizing meats when made into left-over dishes. Ham sandwiches can be made from the dryest and nost scraggly parts of a cold boiled ham. Trim all fat and gristle from the meat, and put it through a vegetable chopper or else mince it very fine with a chopping knife. Moisten a cupful of it with two tablespoonsful of cream and two of butter, and season with a saltspoonful of mustard, a dash of paprika and a little salt.

Potted ham is made with minced ham, as finely minced as possible. To ham, as nely minced as possible. To two cupfuls of the minced meat add a quarter of an ounce of mixed spices —mace, cloves, a litle grated nutmeg, and red pepper. Add also an ounce of butter. Mix all together thoroughly. Put the mixture into little jars, cover each jar with waxed paper, firmly tied on, and keep it in the refrigerator until wanted.

Beef and Lamb.

Instead of stewing or hashing left-over roast beef and roast lamb, broil them. Cook them rarely for the first service. Then cut them in neat slices half an inch thick, and broil them over or under a very hot flame until they are heated through. Slip the slices on a hot platter, garnish with parsley, sprinkle with salt and pepper and a little melted butter, seasoned with Worcestershire sauce or celery salt, and serve.

If the pieces are not rare enough or big enough to broil, cut them in small dice, and st w them slowly, with the bones of the meat broken, an onion, a chopped green pepper, and water to cover, for three hours, very slowly. Then remove bones and gristle, add a teaspoonful of gelatine, moisten in cold water, bring just to the boiling point again, season with salt, pepper, cayenne and mace, and pour into a bread pan. Serve the resulting jellied meat with a mayonnaise salad.

UNUSUAL ways of serving asparagus are here suggested.

Baked Asparagus.—Boil the asparagus until tender, then drain it, but do not let it cool. Prepare a pint of white sauce, to it add the beaten yolks of three eggs and three ounces of Parmesan cheese, stirring over the fire just long enough to cook it hard. Lay the asparagus in the dish, add the sauce and cover with buttered crumbs and a little grated cheese. Bake a nice brown and serve hot.

A Vegetable Delicacy.

Asparagus Tips Creamed.—Wash and cut the asparagus into half inch pieces. Cover with boiling water, add one teaspoonful salt and one teaspoonful cut onion; boil slowly thirty-five to forty minutes. Rub through strainer, then add one cupful of milk to each cupful of stock, one teaspoonful butter rubbed until smooth with one teaspoonful flour and boil five minutes. Instead of serving bread croutons with this you can serve one or two asparagus tips on top of each plate or cup.

An Excellent Omelet.

Asparagus Omelet.—Take six eggs, a cupful of creamed asparagus, a teaspoonful of salt, a fourth of a teaspoonful of pepper. Beat the whites of the eggs until stiff and the yolks till they are lemon colored. Then add the asparagus and seasonings to the yolks and fold the mixture into the egg whites. Turn into a warm omelet pan in which is two or three tablespoonfuls of melted butter and cook slowly till brown on the bottom. Finish the cooking in the oven, letting the omelet stay there until it is firm on the top, then fold it over. Serve garnished with asparagus tips or sprigs of parsley.

In Bread Cases.

Asparagus In Cases.—Trim the crusts from slices of bread. Cut these into squares three or four inches in size. With a pointed knife take from the center of each as much crumb as possible, leaving a small square box. Fry a golden brown in a kettle of hot fat; drain them. Fill the centers with cooked asparagus tips. Spread over them any good sauce.

The King Visited the Miller.

Daddy's Bedtime Story — The Jolly Miller and The King.

JACK came into the room, merrily warbling the old rime about the jolly miller who lived on the River Dee. Evelyn joined in at the chorus.

"I think I shall have to tell you the story of the jolly miller," daddy said. "There was once a real miller who owned a mill beside the River Dee, in England.

"At his work he was always singing merrily as a bird. No matter what happened, he was good tempered.

"At last the king heard about him, and as he was not a very happy man himself he said:

"'I will go and talk with this happy miller,' said he. 'Perhaps he can tell me how to be happy.'

"So putting on his plainest clothes, which were nevertheless very grand indeed, and mounting his favorite horse, he rode out into the forest, followed only by his faithful page.

"He rode over the hills and across the quiet valley until he came to the beautiful River Dee and the old white mill of the jolly miller.

"The miller was filling up his sacks with meal and singing his favorite song when the king stopped at the mill door.

"The laughing miller came out, took off his cap and bowed civilly to the king.

"The king got down from his horse and stepped inside the mill. 'Tell me,' said he, 'what makes you so gay and happy here in this dusty mill.'

"'Ah,' laughed the miller; 'I can easily tell you that! I earn my own bread, I owe not a penny, and I have a good wife and children whom I love and who love me. Here is the River Dee that turns the wheel that grinds the grain that is brought to my mill and thus feeds my babe and me. What more could I wish to make me happy?'

"'Say you so?' said the king. 'Then indeed you have reason to be happy. That dusty cap of yours is worth the golden crown I sometimes wear, and this good old mill is better than any of the moldy palaces in which I have to live. Your mill does more for you than my kingdom does for me, and you are more the king as your wheel goes round than I am when I sit on my throne. I thank you for your good words, friend miller. May good fortune ever be with you, and so fare you well.'

"Then the king mounted his splendid horse and the little page boy sprang on his, and they rode home through the twilight woods, and as they rode there came rolling after them the jolly miller's song:

"I'm as happy as happy can be,
For I live by the side of the River Dee."

BATTED TWIRLER OUT BUT LOST THE GAME

New Brunswick Bowed to High Bridge Saturday Afternoon at Latter Place.

With Louis Slocum, a local boy, doing the mound honors for New Brunswick in the scheduled Central New Jersey League clash with High Bridge Saturday afternoon, the Brunswick boys had to be content with another minus score after putting up one of their usual strong and hard fought battles. The final score was 8 to 7, both teams getting a majority of their counters in big sessions at the platter.

In the absence of a twirler, Manager Dorflinger sent Rus Stewart to High Bridge to oppose Slocum on the mound, but the light local product could not compete with his fellow citylte in the box and was forced to give way to Maddleton, a new comer, in the beginning of the eighth inning. This latter heaver showed what he had on the ball during his short sojourn on the hill however, by holding the heavy-hitting Brunswick boys scoreless in the final two rounds after they had garnered a quintette of counters from Stewart's delivery in the seventh and very nearly rang up a victory.

SOMERVILLE STILL SETTING THE PACE

Defeated Bound Brook in Rather Easy Fashion Last Saturday Afternoon.

Somerville won out easily against Bound Brook in its scheduled Central New Jersey League game Saturday afternoon, although the first trio of runs were garnered via the easy route, up to the seventh inning, when two runs were pulled across the platter, and the Somerset county lads thus sewed up what was originally carded to be a fast and close contest. Bound Brook grew weaker as the contest progressed, but the home players on the other hand, rallied considerably and when the onslaught was terminated they were getting decidedly the better of the argument.

Bound Brook put up its greatest fight in the sixth inning when the greatest number of men faced Kraft than at any other time during the game. Eddie had apparently slacked up a trifle and the visitors set out to take advantage of this fact but he soon tightened up and Bound Brook was unable to overcome the home nine's lead.

Kraft upheld his strikeout reputation and added to his already long string by fanning every one of the Bound Brook team with the exception of Malloy at one time or another during the nine rounds of play. Lew Wiltse was spiked in the first half of the sixth inning and Frentz, the Scotch Plains player, took his place on the initial corner.

Great excitement prevailed when the visitors tied the score in the sixth inning but the Bees broke loose and was soon squelched and the last what hope they had garnered in the following round when Somerville piled up a couple of counters and victory all at once.

EASY TITLE VICTORY FOR VAN ZANDT AND BELLOWS

By defeating Eynon White and Fred Kromin the finals for the tennis doubles championship of the Grace Church Young Men's Club Saturday afternoon, Stanley Bellows and Arthur Van Zandt not only won the title but a pair of solid gold medals that goes with it.

Bellows and Van Zandt won their title with comparative ease by scores of 6-3, 6-2, 6-1. In the three straight victories the vanquished team was never really dangerous and the winners smashed the canvas covered spheres at will with bewildering speed and rapidly which won the contest for them handily.

HERE'S A REAL "UMP."

Frank McTague, a real live umpire, who knows the game from A to Z and can tell a play when he sees it, is looking for a job officiating in some minor league or in semi-professional games in this section. McTague hails from Newark, where the umpire has to be on the "square" or he is canned, and as he has survived many a close contest in the Metropolis of New Jersey it might be well for some of the Central League officials to get on his trail and try to corral him while he is running loose. Central League managers claim that they are willing to give the public a square deal by hiring competent officials but cannot find any to sign up. Here's an opportunity to get in touch with a human being blessed with the virtues of an "ump." Address George Firstbrook, at the Newark Evening Star office, Newark, N. J.

DIXON WILL PLAY IN MINOR LEAGUE

Dunellen Catcher Considering an Offer From the Brunswick Aggregation.

Louis Dixon, the mainstay of the Dunellen Central New Jersey League team behind the bat has announced that he will go to Brunswick, Ga., this week in response to an invitation from the manager of the Brunswick baseball team in the Empire State League, where he will receive a tryout for a catching berth. During the two years Dixon has played with Dunellen he has done some remarkable batting as well as timely and hard clouting and without his services the Dunellen team will be weakened materially in every department.

If he should decide to accept the offer, Saturday afternoon's game against Plainfield would serve as a fitting, winding for his Central League career, he having been the whole show on that occasion. Not only did he uphold the knights Warry McLaughlin to perfection during the nine rounds, eight of which were scoreless and hitless ones for the opposition, but he got two of his seven five hits, scored the first run, drove in the other two and had seven putouts and three assists with one error and that one came on a return by back of the plate that he misjudged. Dixon's cracking double with two down and two men on bases in the eighth sewed up the game for the Dunellen team and prevented an extra inning battle as Plainfield secured one counter in the final stanza.

At Brunswick Dixon will be a member of the same team that Tommy Mullin, another local lad, is playing with, and reports have it that this organization is one of the fastest minor leagues in the country today. Before joining Bob Bogardus drew Dixon caught for the West End N. C.

REAL UMPIRES NEEDED IN CENTRAL LEAGUE CIRCUIT

One deplorable feature of the baseball games played in the Central New Jersey League this season and a situation that has probably been the direct cause of a large falling off in the various clubs' attendances, is the rank umpiring that has evidenced itself, especially in the past three weeks. On the Plainfield diamond two weeks ago Dunellen protested because of alleged unfair rulings, and on the Dunellen diamond Saturday afternoon it was a case of "getting even" or Plainfield on the down-trodden end of the official's mind.

Of course, excuses can be offered and squealers unearthed in every crevice on the earth, but when it comes down to real genuine exhibitions of throwing games and sticking them up as a result of untimely, though probably not intentional, bad reasoning, the Central League's umpires are certainly the most deficient corps as far as judgment is concerned that could possibly be unearthed. Loud protests from the fans at Dunellen Saturday afternoon and still more frantic howls from the players were outward evidences of inward feelings that could no longer be subdued. This matter of hiring incompetent officials because they come at low prices has reached its limit and unless the fans are recompenced for the ball-dosing they have been treated to in the past, certain club's are going to play to empty grandstands in the near future.

This article does not seek to reflect in any way on the character of any of the league officials, all of whom are perfect sports, but a few of them certainly do not know the game of baseball, at least not well enough to appear in league company.

HOPE'S COLORS ARE STILL ON THE TOP

First Presbyterian	1	2	.333
Park Avenue	0	4	.000

Hope Chapel continued its winning streak Saturday afternoon by putting another one over at the expense of the lowly Park Avenue Baptist players who have yet to annex their first victory. By virtue of this victory, Hope Chapel increased its top notch lead and looks like the one best bet for championship honors again this year at the present time.

By defeating the First Presbyterian aggregation by one of the most top heavy scores rung up in this organization this season, the Monroe aggregation crept a little nearer to the First Baptist boys who were idle Saturday afternoon and now but sixty-six points separates these contenders.

Spicers	0	5	000

A tight race between the Spicers and Royal Giants has been started in the City Baseball League and these two aggregations will probably have a little fight all their own during the next few weeks. The Spicer team cannot seem to find its stride and although that combination presents many strong players and is putting up good ball, a jinx seems to be following in its wake and refuses to be shaken.

Although the former aggregation came across with another, the management left town suddenly and as a result no box score of the contest is obtainable. All we know is that the saurer team won and held tight to its first place encampment and the score was something like 8 to 7.

CENTRAL NEW JERSEY BASEBALL LEAGUE.

New Brunswick	0	2	.000

Dunellen did the inevitable Saturday afternoon by putting one over on the Plainfield team in connection with the league race, and Somerville hung on to first place honors by putting one over on Bound Brook. At High Bridge the New Brunswick nine was defeated after some close playing by the score of 8 to 7.

To date neither Bound Brook nor New Brunswick has won a single encounter in the league race while the first division is being monopolized by the same trio of clubs. At Dunellen Saturday afternoon Warry McLaughlin proved his right to be dubbed the best heaver in the league by holding the Pets runless and hitless for eight lone rounds.

SCOTCH PLAINS NINE IS HANDED A DEFEAT

Danbury Scores a Victory by a Margin of One Run—Speedy Game.

Before a record crowd, the Scotch Plains semi-pro ball tossers were beaten, yesterday afternoon for the second time this season by the Danbury, N. Y., baseball team, in one of the fastest exhibitions given this year on the local lot. When the dust from the battle had cleared away the scoring tableau showed the locals had been defeated by the score of 3 to 2. Although Warry McLaughlin pitched his usual steady game and Manager Joe Alberts had Louis Slocum warmed up ready to do the relief stunt at any stage of the contest, the visitors bunched their bingles when hits meant runs, and sent their base runners across the rubber.

Although Danbury played in almost big league fashion, the 'Plains nine would undoubtedly have won the contest but for errors by Frentz on first base and Gray in the outfield. Misplays by these players allowed two runs, and lost all opportunity to obtain revenge for the initial defeat at the hands of the New Yorkers.

Fitzgerald, the diminutive second sacker of the visitors, played a star game throughout, making sensational one hand stops and handling swift bounders with apparent ease. The battery work of the home team should come in for special mention and had "Warry" and Hand received flawless support from their colleagues, the score sheet would undoubtedly be marked a "win" for Scotch Plains instead of a victory for their opponents.

The attraction for next Sunday on the Scotch Plains diamond will be the Dover baseball representatives. As the Doverites have defeated some of the best teams in this vicinity, it can be assured that they will make the 'Plains boys hussle to come out on top.

MANY ERRORS LOST FOR PARK AVENUE

Hope Chapel Still an Invincible Combination in S. S. League Race.

Although little hitting was done in the Hope Chapel-Park Avenue Baptist baseball game Sturday afternoon the latter players spilled a sufficient number of opportunities to let the Hope contingent creep to the fore with another victory and maintain their top rung standing, the final score being 6 to 1 in the Chapelites' favor. Five hits were made by the victors against four by Park, but the real cause of the victory for Hope, was the many slips which they took adantage of.

Schott, as usual, twirled a steady and strong article of bail for the league leaders but Mills was not far in arrears, and had he been accorded the same degree of support that was given Schott the result might have been reversed. Tommy Heron was the star hitter of the contest, being the only man to annex a brace of safeties and one of his was a two-base hit.

HARD HITTING WON FOR GIANTS' TEAM

Spicer Could do Nothing With the Offerings of Hall and Are Again Beaten.

Consistent scoring won another contest for the Royal Colored Giants in the City League, Saturday afternoon, this time the Spicers being the ones to drop a 7 to 4 contest to the dusky ball heavers who are now traveling pennantward at a steady clip. Hard hitting and still harder base running earned the victory for the Royals who touched up Montross' offerings for thirteen of the safe kind while the Spicer boys could garner but five at Hall's expense.

Kline, Carter, Maiden and Ford did some good sticking for the winners while Scott and Baldwin were the only ones to connect with Hall's speedy slats with telling effect. Carter get a clean home run and another single.

M'LAUGHLIN NEARLY GETS NO-HIT GAME

Veteran of Many Contests Allows Only Two Bingles of the Game in Ninth.

After holding the Plainfield Pets scoreless and hitless for eight long rounds, Warry McLaughlin, of the Dunellen Central New Jersey League team, had his near no-hit, no-run record obliterated in the final stanza, when Eddie Stallings poled out a two base hit, the visitors' first safety of the encounter. Bill Stallings then followed with a single, scoring the opposition's lone tally, making the score 3 to 1, with the home nine on the bigger end of the card. Both teams put up a stellar article of the National pastime from start to finish but frequent threatenings levied on the head of the umpire marred the contest to some extent.

Plainfield was robbed of its most promising opportunity to count in the first inning when a mix-up at home plate allowed the Dunellenites to chalk up a double play with practically no effort, or in other words, a gift from the umpire. For Dunellen, Dixon was easily the whole show, scoring his team's first run in the fourth inning and driving home the other two with a two base hit in the eighth.

Dunellen's first registering was done in the fourth when, after Schiller had flied out to Dorman, Dixon got a hit, went to second on Randolph's error and scored on a fielder's choice of McLaughlin's easy roller. Wilcox, the umpire, first called him out at the plate and then reversed his decision, claiming the runner safe. In the eighth, with two down, McDicken got a base on balls, Schiller got a single, sending him to second, and both scored on Dixon's clean two bagger to deep left field.

Plainfield's run came in the ninth, when Eddie Stallings led off with a two bagger and scored on Bill Stallings' hit.

EXCITING MATCHES IN CHAMPIONSHIP

Extra Holes Necessary to Decide Winners in Golf at Country Club.

The first round of the club championship was played at the Plainfield Country Club, Saturday, and was marked by some exceptionally good matches. Probably the best match of the day was in the first sixteen between J. R. Shoemaker and C. B. Morgan. The match went five extra holes and then Mr. Shoemaker only defeated his opponent 1 up. It took an extra hole for W. A. Engeman to defeat Morris J. DuMont 1 up in the same sixteen.

Another match almost as exciting as the one between Mr. Shoemaker and Mr. Morgan, was that of the second sixteen when J. E. Erickson defeated Burnett C. Kenyon 1 up in twenty-one holes. The result of the play follows:

First sixteen—J. R. Shoemaker beat C. B. Morgan, 1 up (23 holes); R. G. Morse beat H. E. Butler, 3 and 2; W. Lester Glenney beat J. Whitney Baker, 5 and 3; W. A. Engeman beat Morris J. Dumont, 1 up (19 holes); R. S. Rowland beat S. T. Perrin, 3 and 2; H. D. Hibbard beat H. R. Stockeon, 4 and 3; F. O. Reinhart won from L. G. Carman by default; Will T. Glency beat D. O. Rogers, 4 and 3.

Second sixteen—R. H. Cox beat C. E. Lipscomb, 5 and 4; S. H. Patterson beat C. M. Church, 2 and 1; L. H. Gates beat D. H. Rowland, 3 and 2; H. G. Lapsley beat G. M. Holstein, 2 and 1; J. E. Erickson beat Burnett C. Kenyon, 1 up (21 holes); Dr. F. B. DuBois beat C. C. Riggs, 4 and 3; J. P. Murray beat Clifton Wharton, Jr., 3 and 2; H. F. Fox beat H. A. Fiske, 4 and 3.

Third sixteen—R. C. Blancke, Jr., drew a bye; C. W. King beat N. H. Morrison, 1 up; T. S. Wheeler beat C. C. Burke, 3 and 2; W. F. Merill drew a bye; H. G. Phillips beat James Middledith, 5 and 4; A. W. Kleinecke beat J. V. Beekman, 6 and 5; W. W. Coriell beat W. L. Righter, 4 and 3; R. C. Brown drew a bye. This play will be continued on Friday and Saturday.

These scores were returned for the golf sweepstakes:

C. W. King, 91, 24—67; H. G. Phillips, 98, 27—71; C. E. Lipscomb, 97, 24—73; J. E. Erickson, 86, 13—73; W. D. Cook, 98, 22—76; J. P. Murray, 97, 19—78; W. W. Coriell, 106, 27—79; H. E. Butler, 92, 11—81.

PITCHED GOOD GAME BUT WAS DEFEATED

Newell Accorded Ragged Support by Presbyterian S. S. Leaguers.

One of the most one-sided games yet played in the Sunday School baseball league was won by the Monroe Avenue ball tossers Saturday afternoon when they slammed out a 12 to 2 victory at the expense of the First Presbyterian team of the same organization. Consistent and hard hitting, coupled with nine errors made by the Presbyterian fielders spelled victory in the broadest sense of the word and the Monroe's romped off with the contest without exertion.

Gawler and Hefti did some good sticking for the visitors while their team mates did equally as well in their speedy playing completely bewildering the First Presbyterians. Newell twirled good ball for the losers but was accorded discouraging support at crucial moments and the beating he received was due to the ragged work of his fielders.

I. T. A. C. MANAGER'S SIDE OF THE BASEBALL QUESTION

Sporting editor:

In Friday's Press the score of a game between Netherwood Stars and Inner Triangle A. C. was wrong. J. Carson was given errors while he did not make any. The score stood 15 to 10 in the eighth inning in favor of I. T. A. C., when Leacock got a two-bagger but was called out for not touching first base. Paterson and Leacock got sore heads and quit. Since we had been playing with eight players it now made it impossible for us to continue and therefore we gave them the game.

Yours truly,
ARTHUR ADAMS,
Manager I. T. A. C.

J. F. WATSON LOW MAN IN GOLF TOURNEY

There was a large field out at the Park Golf Club Saturday to take part in the weekly competition for the President's cup and many low cards were returned. J. F. Watson made the low net score, 77, scoring three points, while the second and third honors went to U. G. Tingley and Clarence J. Hand.

In the competition for the "goats' cup," William P. Taylor and Royle T. Phillips, holders, defeated J. V. Beekman and Charles B. Morse, challengers, 1 up (20 holes), it being one of the best matches on the local course this season.

These scores were posted for the President's cup:

J. F. Watson, 100 23—77; U. G. Tingley, 96, 15—81; C. J. Hand, 112, 30—82; H. H. Woodland, 98, 15—83; C. S. Eddy, 108, 24—84; W. E. Lough, 100, 15—85; Charles B. Morse, 97, 11—86; Oliver B. Hill, 116, 30—86; J. V. Beekman, 102, 16—86; Dr. H. K. Carroll, 97, 11—86; W. P. Taylor 85, plus 5—90; Royle T. Phillips, 119, 21—99.

TRINITY LOST BUT DIDN'T LIKE FIELD

Conger's Remodeled Strip of Mother Earth Turns Easy Rollers Into Bingles.

Twenty-two runs and twenty-three hits with the aid of a field that, according to the church boys, could not be rivaled for a corn patch or water falls provided there was water enough to cover the bumps, won a ball game for the Y. M. A. A. baseball nine on the Center street field Saturday afternoon when they rung up twenty-two fares during the nine rounds, against five registered by their opponents, the Trinity church nine. While the church boys were loud in the protests against playing on such a diamond they endured the nine stanzas when they once got started and but three errors were made by those foreign to the field against the eight credited to the home performers.

Many were the runs that sallied across the platter, at least one in every inning, and still more were the hits, but the Trinity lads, although plainly outclassed, stuck it out for the whole nine rounds and are now anxious to take another cack at the Y. M. A. A. bunch. Leading among the bingleists was Hadley, who knocked the sphere on six different occasions for a safe trip to the initial corner and sometimes further.

The score:

TRINITY.

BIG ATHLETIC MEET MAY BE HELD HERE

Has Been Proposed by Orange Club for Parker Field on Labor Day.

Following the announcement that the Irish-American Athletic Club of New York is planning to hold an athletic meet on Parker Field under the auspices of the Watchung Council of the Knights of Columbus, comes the announcement of another meet that has been proposed for the same place and date by the Imperial Athletic Association of Orange in which a number of local athletes are interested. Unless the I. A. A. C. does something definite before tomorrow night when the playground commission meets it is probable that the field will be given over to the Orange athletes and the Irish-Americans will have to select another date besides Labor Day.

A number of local business men have already signified their intention of fostering such a field and track event as proposed by the Orange athletes and it is more than likely that the meet will be run off as proposed. The Imperial A. A. is an athletic organization whose members are some of the best colored performers in the Metropolitan district and have set creditable marks in many Greater New York and New Jersey club meets during the seven years it has been in existence. The Plainfield athletes who sport the silks of the Orange organization are John Gates and Harry Gordon, two fast sprinters who run on the relay team, and Henry Lewis.

In the event of the playground commission seeing fit to grant the use of the recreation field in this city for that occasion the pick of the athletes from the New York and New Jersey clubs will probably be secured to compete and the affair will be conducted under the supervision and in accordance with the rulings of the Amateur Athletic Union. It will be opened to white athletes as well as colored and the prizes will be a set of the handsomest ever offered for local competition.

"SMITH DAY" A BIG ONE FOR LOCAL BOY

Jack Martin Pounds Out a Homer and Single on Special Occasion at Newark.

The few Plainfielders who went to Newark Saturday afternoon, to attend the "Harry Smith Day" celebration and incidently watch the performance of Jack Martin, a local boy who is playing short for the Rochester team, that opposed the Indians on that occasion, were amply repaid for their trip for the Queen City representative covered himself with glory on the special festival. Jack pounded out a home run and a single and handled nine chances with but one error and that one did not figure in the Newark team's run getting. Newark won, 13 to 6. According to the official batting averages of the International League Martin is now batting .264, having taken part in thirty-eight contests. He has scored twenty-one runs, thirty-eight hits, or one for each game; has stolen three bases and pounded out five sacrifice hits.

It was "Harry Smith Day," a baseball holiday in honor of the popular manager of the Newark team, which is leading the International League's pennant race. A happy crowd numbering close to 10,000 fans turned out and there was music, singing and presentations with a victory over Rochester thrown in. Smith was presented with a fine gold watch and chain, from which an Elks' emblem dangled, and a purse containing $150 in gold, all cheerfully subscribed by the Newark fans as a token of their appreciation.

721 Three-Piece Suits of $20, $22 and $25 Grades for $11.50

Place—The New Store for Men, John Wanamaker's Specialized Lower-Price Men's Clothing Store, Broadway corner Eighth, opening at 8:30 in the morning.

295 of these suits are fresh from the workrooms. Crisp, well-cut suits of all-wool, tailored to serve well, and to satisfy at their regular prices.

426 were finished less than a month ago: We couldn't get them at that time at a price which would permit us to sell them at $11.50.

The majority of the suits are three-piece sack suits, half or full-lined; some are silk-lined. There are a few two-piece suits and a few Norfolks.

In the lot—sizes 33 to 46—are all colors and grays; some plain blue serges and plain grays.

NOTE—A few young men who are courageous enough to be different, will find in the sale some $25 suits of London brown, and some suits in an uncommon shade of purple—not many.

Take Notice, You Who Are Strangers

that this New Store for Men, by reason of the confidence the public reposes in it, has become the GREAT DISTRIBUTING CENTER for the better grades —all-wool—of men's and young men's suits that come to New York from this season's overstocked manufacturers, to be sold for less than their true worth. College men, business men, men who can make good use of several suits in a season—for motoring, country wear, and for travel—are among the wise men who are availing of this season's very extraordinary economies in the New Store for Men.

MEN'S $4 SILK SHIRTS, $2.59

A specimen value from Macy's new and much improved Men's Haberdashery Shop, now on the Main Floor, Broadway, at 35th St.

This offering consists of twenty-one hundred of the smartest and most desirable heavy tub silk shirts that we have seen this season.

But the word "silk" is not the whole story. There are $5.00 and $6.00 "silk" shirts around New York that are skimped in material, badly cut, worse finished and of entirely haphazard proportions.

Macy's Silk Shirts at $2.59 are perfect in cut, fit and finish, and are proportioned with extreme care to keep the correct relations between sleeve, chest, girth, neck and length.

The shirts are all coat model, all have the popular soft "French" double cuffs, and are in neck sizes 13½ to 18, with choice of 34 inches and 35 inches sleeve lengths to each neck size.

The colorings are in narrow, wide and extra wide stripes in quiet, yet rich tones of tan, helio, blue and gray upon white grounds.

Main Floor, 35th St.
